LANDSLIDE CAUSES DROWNING.

"Doping" Race Horses With Sponges in the Nostrils—Painters Strike—New Gold Finds.

Tuesday morning the union painters at work on Hunter's dry dock, San Francisco, stopped and decided the building trades council, which came out on a strike by Business Agent Mulvey of the Building Trades Council. The reason is that they were required to work nine hours instead of eight.

An insignificant landslide, in which not more than sixty cubic yards of earth was detached, destroyed a small cabin on the banks of the Feather river, near Portland, Utah, on Friday night and threw William Weiss and his five companions into the water. Weiss was drowned and his companions escaped with difficulty. Weiss was about 35 years of age, and a native of Missouri.

Martin Kelly, a poor prospector, accidentally stumbled across a fortune Tuesday while resting on the roadway at the foot of Lookout mountain, on the banks of the Columbia river, near Trail creek, British Columbia. While seated on the edge of a huge boulder of fifty 60,000 tons weight, his attention was attracted to the glint of gold on one exposed section of the rock. Testing it with a pick he found the exposed boulder to be composed of the richest quality of quartz. Samples assay as high as $61 to the ton.

The excitement caused by the rich gold strike at Pinto's ranch, Cal., a few days ago has not abated. A man who was on the ground Tuesday says he saw more gold than he ever saw before in its virgin state. He was shown several hand-cans full of glittering specimens. Yesterday a copper claim was worked just a few yards from the present find, and in making excavations at that time a large boulder containing more free gold was found. The copper company was notified, but returned the peculiar reply that it was not hunting for gold, but intended to pay earnest attention to its copper connections.

Omaha Bookman, April 28: Mr. A. A. Miles, agriculturist at the experiment station of the Utah Agricultural College of Utah, sent in a collection of cereals and soils that has been fed at the station. The show was all between on wheat, were six-rowed stock and were in preparation stage for market and sold along with selected stock of equal grade. The western country is being interested in stock raising more and the authorities of the different states are devoting considerable time and money toward developing the live stock business and are using all means in their command to improve the quality of live stock of all kinds.

A daring and almost successful attempt to "dope" an odds on favorite, and thus defraud the betting public of thousands of dollars was detected at the bay district racetrack, San Francisco, Tuesday. In the last race on the card Frank Pinto's speedy mare, Marjorie, a daughter of Hopeless, was looked upon as a "mortal stinch," and was heavily played all over the ring. The field of horses which came pounding in on the last stretch caused her jockey to recede from 7 to 5 to 8 to 5, but there is small much in the sal price of money stood in money, who could see no other animal in the race. Although in grand condition in the morning, the mare warmed up greatly stiffness, and showed signs of having been "doped." The officials in the stand were immediately advised of her condition and, after some deliberation, all bets were declared off, and Marjorie was scratched. Not satisfied with the condition of his favorite, owner Pinto took a veterinary surgeon through examination of the animal. Noticing the watery condition of one of her eyes, the surgeon inserted a probe in the nostril and was rewarded by the withdrawal of a fine silken sponge that had been skillfully inserted therein, and not seriously injurious with the Rip's breathing. The sponge was saw out of the trap. Then it was discovered that on Friday last the generally warm favorite, Dolphine, had been drugged in a similar manner, and not finished in a degrading last. Dolphine was brought out, and yesterday, after much trouble, succeeded in removing a sponge more saturated with opium from one of the more distressed nostrils. The disclosure has created a sensation in turf circles.

Sure of It This Time.

"John! John!"

Mr. Billus roused moving.

"What's the matter, Maria?"

"There's a man in the house. Listen!"

"What?"

"I heard a heavy foot on the stairway. Listen!"

Mr. Billus listened a minute.

"I don't hear anything."

"I do. There—I heard it again!"

There was no response but a snore.

"John!"

Another snore.

"John Billus, are you afraid to get up?"

No response.

Mrs. Billus lay down again.

"If you are afraid to leave the house robbed," she exclaimed wrathfully, "I am."

At the end of half an hour she spoke again:

"John!"

No answer.

"John Billus!"

"What's the matter now?"

"I was mistaken. There wasn't any man in the house. And there isn't any man in the house now, either. Hear that, do you?"—Chicago Tribune.

Glory Sufficient.

The barber's trade is everywhere recognized as honorable, but The Commercial Bulletin tells a story of one man who had peculiar reason for magnifying his office.

There was once a barbershop in Boston which numbered among its patrons many gentlemen of the medical profession. Coming, when operating upon one of them, he broke forth in great glee:

"Cut you dish, Doctor! I had been to the hospital, and while I was to go up and cut a man's hair I saw marble busts of dr doctors. Once was Doctor Pierce and once was Doctor Hodgkins and the way I shave for him does worthy praise, is marble. Think of me! You of my rise in marble!"

Cobwebs

are easily swept aside when a woman has more than enough to do; that all her time and strength are utilized in doing honest work; that she doesn't use GOLD DUST WASHING POWDER. If she did use this great cleanser, her heavy work would be so lightened that the little things wouldn't be neglected.

GOLD DUST WASHING POWDER

gives a woman time to rest, time to go, time to read, and time to see. Every housewife should have a supply of this great help.

Say, Here is A Pointer!

Money is the root of all evil. Just a desire to save a few cents is the root of all working evils. We buy our clothing from manufacturers who have a reputation for making honest goods. We buy good goods just as cheap as we know how for cash—and then put a close cash price upon them. There is meaning of a few cents here and there to make the goods squeeze into the price. The goods are made right first and the price made right afterward.

No Squeeze in the Tailoring.
No Squeeze in the Trimmings.
The only Squeeze is on the Price.
One Price to all—that the Lowest—consistent with Honest Quality.

This policy is pursued in not only the clothing department, but in every department of our Clothing, Furnishings, Boys' Department, Shoe Department, Hats, Caps, etc.
