LOGAN.

LOGAN, - - June 20, 1897

Cache Valley Notes.

One of the most pleasing and brilliant social events in this section took place in a number of homes at Logan, was the Osmond-Lloyd wedding reception at the residence of Mr. J. A. Hendricson last Wednesday evening. The groom was Judge Osmond of Bear Lake, and the bride Miss Annie Lloyd, a popular school teacher in Logan. It was first intended to hold the reception out on the spacious lawns surrounding the house, and many preparations were made to this end; but the long-looked for storm came, and made it necessary to change the place and have the affair inside. The grounds and house were alight by the especially adjusted electric lamps (only lately done) long tables to seat hundreds were arranged, orchestra and brass band were engaged, invitations were sent out over Cache county, and a happy company assembled in honor of the auspicious event.

The new B. Y. college building is being pushed along in a most satisfactory manner. The foundation is complete up to the grade line, and an army of men are dressing the stones, to carry it up nine feet higher, to complete the basement story. Pres. Orson Smith, who is devoting much time to the work, says the outlook is very encouraging, and that the advancement made is much greater than they had hoped for. One hundred thousand cream colored and pressed brick are in the kiln, and just as soon as the rock work is finished the brick work will commence, and will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Mrs. Christine Erickson of Logan was visiting her son's family at Newton last week, and while out driving was thrown from her buggy with the result that her shoulder was fractured. The lady is 84 years old, and suffered a great deal in being brought to Logan for surgical attendance.

Miss Clara Kenyon, who, ever since the Agricultural college was first opened, has acted as instructor of elocution and physical culture, left last Friday for her home in Indiana.

Last Tuesday the thirteen year old son of Lars B. Christiansen of Hyrum was kicked in the head by a colt, and had his skull fractured. Up to a late hour last night the boy had not regained consciousness, notwithstanding the best of surgical aid has been in attendance.

Henry Thatcher, a son of John R. Thatcher, of Gentile Valley, had the index finger of his right hand amputated the other day, as a climax to an accident which befel him some years ago, and from which he had not recovered.

Hon. Lyman R. Martineau, Jubilee commissioner for Cache county, has appointed Miss Hattie P. Tanner to represent this county at the Jubilee.

Miss Florence Nightingale Calue sojourns at present at Logan; she is the guest of her brother, John T. Calue Jr.

Miss Parkinson is visiting with Miss Maud Guyon of Montpelier.

Miss Josephine Bowtes has returned from a prolonged visit to Salt Lake.

Growing Children

SOME CHILDREN grow very slowly. They look healthy, are active, but do not develop as they should. They are very fretful, restless, and cannot sleep well. Such children need a tonic, and the best of tonics is cod liver oil, which is now made palatable to children of every age by but the remedy for growing children. It gives sound body, makes strong bones, healthy nerves.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites
