A KEELEY CONVENTION.

Proposition for the Graduates of That Institution to Meet the Latter Part of May.

Mr. F. K. Morris has retired from the general direction of the Salt Lake Keeley Institute and has been succeeded by Dr. Arthur L. Graves, who is sending out circular letters to graduates in which he says:

"I desire to bring to your notice a matter which has been suggested to me by several of the graduates of the Institute, and to obtain from you an expression of opinion regarding it. A number have advanced the thought that it would be a good thing to have held, here in Salt Lake City, some time in all the graduates of this Institute, and have suggested that some time in the latter part of May, or earlier, would be a fitting time. The Salt Lake Theater is chosen as the place of meeting, and that two days be devoted to the convention proceedings. That the first be called to order at 2 o'clock on the first day, and that an evening session be held. The afternoon of the next day would also be devoted to the business of the convention, and in the evening a banquet at one of the leading hotels would close the affair most happily. An address or other program will be arranged, and the speech will be one not only of interest to us all, but to the general public.

"The promoters of the enterprise, realizing that expenses will have to be cut as low as possible, have pledged themselves to securing a rate of one fare for the round trip on all lines of railroad, and that the hotels will make rates to all is already promised.

"I desire to hear from you all in this matter as soon as possible to prove that I may get a tangible idea of what I need to do to make this convention a success. Do not delay in writing, but sit down now and tell me what you think of the scheme, and and whatever ideas you may have regarding program, etc.

"If we undertake the plan we should make it a success, and I believe that we can do this. I am sure that when the convention is over that we will all be unanimous in saying that it has been a good thing for us all."

Rubbish Burning.

The city marshal and fire chief propose to enforce the law on rubbish burning and call the attention of the public to the following from the ordinance governing the same: "It shall be unlawful for any person to burn in the open air any hay, straw, or any other rubbish or substance, within the limits of Salt Lake City, except between the hours of 8 o'clock in the morning and 12 o'clock at noon. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding $10 for each offense."

Court Jottings.

Sheriff McQueen last night conveyed to Provo an insane patient named Annie H. Lewis of Montague court, Third West street, between Ninth and Tenth South. The examination was conducted by Drs. Meacham and Worthington and Judge Blair made the necessary order for the young woman's removal to the asylum.

Thomas Griffin, an accomplished crook has been released from the county jail on a writ of habeas corpus, Judge Zane granting it because the prisoner had served six months. But he was immediately rearrested by Chief Paul for a burglary committed last May at the Salt Lake Foundry & Machine shop, and returned to his quarters.

J. B. Conley and A. E. Franklin, charged with burglarizing the Bishop yard office on March 13th, had a preliminary hearing in Commissioner Greenman's court yesterday afternoon. After hearing the evidence the Commissioner said he did not consider the evidence sufficiently strong to warrant him in holding the defendants, and ordered their discharge.

Nave & McCord filed an attachment suit against the Driver Mercantile company in Justice Gee's court yesterday afternoon to collect $132.

A. Schilling & Company have also begun attachment proceedings in Justice Gee's court against the Driver Mercantile Company to recover $110.95.

Before Judge Hatch yesterday afternoon the suit of John J. Montague vs. George McCarroll et al., was dismissed as to all defendants except the first named and order of reference vacated.

Margaret Kelly et al. vs. L. W. Clark et al; counsel for plaintiff argued and submitted motion to receiver proceed with up to adjournment.

Charles Havens vs. S. P. Carlson; judgment for the plaintiff.

Collins Pine & Co. began attachment proceedings against the Driver Mercantile company in the Third district court yesterday afternoon to collect $[illegible].

AS TO WHEELS.

THE OLDEST WHEELED VEHICLE IN EXISTANCE.

A duplicate of probably the most ancient wheel vehicle in existence has been received at the World's Columbian exposition. It is a duplicate of a chariot that was exhumed from the ruins in Egypt, and is now in the museum in Florence, Italy. The transportation department could not get the original, but had one made that in every particular is as perfect as the original. It is presented at the expense of the Exposition company, and will be exhibited in the vehicle division.

Of course there is no telling how old this car is, as it was buried in the ruins many years before Christ. It probably lay in the Lava beds for at least two thousand years. One strange thing about it is that everything is as perfect and free from decay as it could have been when it was buried. Even the rawhide strings that support the footboard have not decayed. A close curious nature is that the wheels are not materially different from the wheels used at the present time. The spokes are tenoned into the felloe the same as they are done at the present time. Of course there is no tire on the felloe, but the spokes instead of being driven in the hub, as they are made at the present time, were glued in, forming a solid piece. The spokes are sawed out of large pieces of wood, so that the ends of the spokes are long, and when glued together, form the hub. The axle is of wood, turned round, making a very good arm, and the wheel is going on by the ordinary linch pin.

Probably the first attempt of modern vehicles at the Exposition will be made by the well known firm of Studebaker Bros. Mfg. Co. at their factory, the largest in the world, they are now building a line of work for the Columbian Exposition, which will rival in magnificence any vehicle display ever made.

The Salt Lake branch of this establishment is making a fine display of novelties during conference week and visitors are invited to look over their stock.

The Nassy Hawks Sulky with low wheels and pneumatic tire is shown, also a full line of wagons and buggies at prices that are right.

One Thing Forgotten.

"John," she said, as they were leaving the Baltimore and Pohoacodaisie, "have you got my valise?"

"Yes."

"Got the shawl?"

"Yes."

"Got my new umbrella and the lunch box?"

"Yes."

"And Uncle Hedry's field glasses and the cushion to sit on while we see the race?"

"Yes."

She thought for a while and then exclaimed:

"Oh, John! where's the baby?"

"Well," said John slowly, "I met owe up, Maria, I did forget the baby."

And he went back to recover the one thing that escaped his attention.—Washington Star.

Rich Red Blood

Results from taking Hood's Sarsaparilla

Mr. Chas. Walker
Of San Francisco.

"For several years I have been troubled with Rheumatism and pimples on my face and body, which were very disfiguring. I tried many sarsaparillas, and also other medicines, but they did not seem to benefit me. Last fall a friend advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was delighted after the first bottle.

A Thorough Trial.

After using two bottles, my skin returned to its normal state. I still use it, as it gives me strength and vigor. Never had a better medicine. Never knew a medicine to do so much good in so short a time." H. P. FULLER, No. 76½, Second South St.

Being=Beautiful

Is the least of being—that's all right for us hardware folk; we only think of being good and of how many nails we can give for a dollar. But with the women it is important to be too sweet for anything, and the MAJESTIC RANGE or RELIABLE GASOLINE STOVE will sweeten the temper of any woman. They too have wound their way into the hearts of many a housekeeper solely on their own merits.

They may not be as beautiful as some, but who looks for beauty in a range? It is quality and price that are looked for, and the Majestic Ranges and Reliable Gasoline Stoves possess both, something never before found.

When not too busy drop in on us and we will tell you the little we know about steel ranges and gasoline stoves.
