OUTLOOK AT THE FRISCO MINE

The Antelope at Bingham Sold to Eastern People—The Work Going On In the Tintic District.

At the "mass" of the bulls and bears on 'change today, no business whatever was transacted during the call of listed stocks, although most of them received fair quotations. The unlisted stocks were handles with better grace as far as trading was concerned and two of them—Dalton and Buckeye—met with transfers. The former was dealt in to the extent of 2,000 shares, while the latter was received at 1,000 shares.

TINTIC'S MINES AND MILLS

Operations for the Week as Recorded by the Eureka Reporter.

The Murray Hill group of claims that lie in the vicinity of the Yankee Girl and other rich Silver City properties, will be worked extensively during the balance of the year by the owners.

The new shaft at the Genova is now down 25 feet. The boiler and engine are in place and the buildings will be put up as soon as lumber arrives, ten carloads of which are on the road.

Manager Hudson Smith is pushing development work on the Brooklyn mine without interruption. A drift is being run from the 75-foot level through very favorable ground that assays in silver and gold.

Burns & Nelson have completed the assessment work on the Cable mining claim, and will at once begin upon the Equator and Jumbo, which claims will be consolidated for the purpose of the annual expenditure.

We understand that the Centennial-Eureka has purchased a water right and mill site near the Warm springs, between Santaquin and Goshen, and the company has under consideration the erection of a mill plant at that point.

A strike of more than usual importance was made in the face of the 1000-foot level of the Gemini Thursday. The ore body is in virgin ground and demonstrates that the rich ore above, which has made that property famous, continues to the deep.

Foreman Newton Dunyan has resigned his position with the Centennial-Eureka, with which company he has been actively connected for the last seven years and will for the present devote his time to the development of some promising properties in Deep Creek district in which he is largely interested.

Work on the Cleopatra mine at Silver is being pushed forward with a full force. The shaft is now down something over a hundred feet and substantially timbered the entire distance. The Cleopatra adjoins the South Swansea and no doubt will develop the same valuable ore body when depth is reached.

The Morning Glory mine that has been worked during the past year under lease to H. S. Brooks, will be operated in future by the owners, H. W. Lawrence and associates, who will at once erect a home within and sink the main shaft another 100 feet. This is one of the old-time producers and can be relied upon as a regular shipper.

President John Beck and Simon Bamberger of the Bullion-Beck mine, and Gen. Freight Agent W. E. Haim, accompanied by Messrs. Beck, Bamberger and Haim, came out Friday evening by special. After visiting the Beck mine they went over to Mammoth and Silver Saturday morning, returning to the city the same evening.

The gratifying announcement is made that the Eureka Hill company has its new well at Homansville down through the wash 260 feet and struck a large flow of water on bed rock, sufficient for all present milling purposes. We can now look for the great plant to start up its full 100-stamp battery which has in part been hung up during the past month for want of water.

It is good news to learn that the Humboldt smelter at Murray will blow in its stacks tomorrow and resume business at the old stand. This will leave all three of Utah's great smelters in active operation for the present. The Mingo people may decide not to close down when they cool off a little and see that they haven't the ability to seriously cripple the infant industry by their contemptible action.

A shooting contest is arranged to be pulled off on the 15th inst., between 2 and 6 o'clock p. m., on the public square at Mammoth, between Barney Smith and J. U. Chase for a purse of $50. The conditions call for a back-hand hole, change hands with hammer every thirty seconds, contest to last fifteen minutes. A $10 forfeit is in the hands of Dan Falvey as stakeholder. A lively contest is expected and no doubt considerable money will change hands on the result.

THE FRISCO MINE.

A Bingham Property Which Is Now Showing Splendid Ore.

The owners of the Frisco mine at Bingham are quietly but systematically developing their property and have at last got into ore which promises to yield them handsome returns. A car of this stuff came from the mine yesterday and it showed to the tune of 54 per cent silver, $2.50 in gold and 27 per cent lead. Ten men are now engaged in development work and upon the arrival at the mine of $9,000 worth of machinery already ordered, the Frisco promises to fall into line with other incentive producers of the Old Bellefide district.

Sale of the Antelope.

George W. Kosi of the Butterfield mining company has just succeeded in closing a deal by which he and a party of eastern capitalists come into possession of the Antelope, a group of claims located in the Bingham district. The consideration for the property is said to be $100,000 and the erection of a complete reduction plant is one of the first moves to be made by the new owners. Messrs. McNally, Harrington and McDonald were the former owners of the group.

The Argus.

The Argus, a new mining and milling company has filed its articles of incorporation. The company has a capital stock of $200,000 divided into 2,000 shares and the incorporators are John W. Jones, Marshall R. Thompson, J. J. Curran, Samuel Rizer and Catherine E. Jones. John W. Jones is president, Marshall R. Thompson, vice-president, J. J. Curran, treasurer, and Samuel Rizer, secretary. The company owns a group of mining claims in the West Mountain mining district.

Tintic Miner Notes.

J. A. Hunt and G. T. Bridges are doing assessment work on the Maggie & No. 2 claims near the Opohra.

The Buckeye commenced hauling ore Tuesday, and will send out four or five carloads of good grade in a day or two.

V. P. Strauss, deputy U. S. mineral surveyor, came down last Friday night and has since been making the survey of the Eureka Standard. Mr. Strauss states that the work will occupy him for about ten days yet.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Apex Gem Mining company held at the company's office in Eureka on Wednesday, the following were elected as a board of directors of said corporation: J. A. Hunt, G. T. Bridges, Fred Nelson, W. H. Kleinger and R. G. Wilson.

R. Dominick and C. W. Morse of the Brooklyn Mining company came down from Salt Lake Sunday evening and spent Monday inspecting the operations on the company's property north of Eureka. Four men are now at work on the Brooklyn, and we are advised that the company is in good financial condition for continued development.

Shipments from the district for the week are as follows: From the Bullion-Beck mine 20 carloads ore, from the Bullion-Beck mill 10 carloads concentrates, from the Centennial-Eureka 8 carloads ore, from the Ajax 10 carloads ore, from the Utah 5 carloads ore, from the Silver mill 5 carloads concentrates, from the Four Aces 1 carload ore, from the Northern Star 3 carloads ore, from the Dragon Iron mine 2 carloads ore daily.

Operations at the West Cable were discontinued last Saturday night by order of the board of directors. Manager Ryan states that he knew nothing of such an action being contemplated, until the receipt of the order to shut down, and that he was not aware of any reason, as the company has plenty of money on hand to continue the work. The indications are, however, that the property will be closed down until after election.

The new hoisting works at the South Swansea are about completed and a new ore house is being built. Development of the property is going forward as usual both in the stack and in the north and south drifts. A big strike has been made in the south drift on the 250 level, there being a two-foot vein of solid ore running 67 per cent lead, 114 oz. silver and $4 gold. Considerable of the ore is necessarily being taken out in prospecting but at present prices shipments will be extremely light.

Developments at the North Eureka are reported to be most encouraging. The drift in the bottom of the shaft is in quartz which has assay enough to be pay ore, and its quality is steadily improving. One of the best indications of the extension in which the property is held, by those who are acquainted with it is the fact that the miners employed in its development are offering their wages to buy up the home stock at the latest quotation. Capt. Deprich expresses the greatest confidence in the thrift of the North Eureka, and says he will surely make a mine of it.

TEACHERS ASSEMBLE.

City Pedagogues at the High School and County at the Joint Institute.

The first general meeting of the city teachers was held at the high school building this morning. After an hour spent socially, the meeting was called to order by Superintendent Millgangh, who spoke in a general way, giving some directions as to the work of the year, after which he gave an address of about half an hour's duration, in which the nobility of the teacher's profession, its responsibility and achievements were clearly and fully set forth. At the close a meeting of the high school took place, and at 10 o'clock meetings of the teachers in the different parts of the city were held, in which directions pertaining to the work of the year were given.

At 10 o'clock this morning a meeting of the Salt Lake County Teacher's association was held in the office of Superintendent Vandell. The time was given to a consideration of the essential features of the work of the year, after which supplies for the schools were distributed to the teachers.

Sandy Saloon Burned.

Birkenshaw's saloon at Sandy burned to the ground about 5 o'clock Friday afternoon. The fire was caused through sparks from a passing engine, and although 100 citizens formed a bucket brigade and turned out, the blaze gained such headway that everything in the saloon in a very short time. The efforts of the citizens, however, saved a building belonging to Mr. Schurling, now containing the fact that a stiff south wind was blowing all the while. Chief Dwyer was called upon for hose and reported, but he probably to secure that convenience his going to the scene impossible. The loss will be about $2,000 covered by $1,000 insurance.

AFTER A FIG RANCHER.

Sanitary Inspector Greenwald Finds a Place That Stinks from "Sea to Sea."

—Charges Are Served.

Sanitary Inspector Greenwald has his work, and there is no doubt but that he will, unless he finds it has been existing in the extreme southwestern portion of the city for over a year past will be stinted, and that at once.

The nuisance in question is quartered in Prospect Park, a subdivision located about half a mile south of Poplar grove, and consists of a combination hog, dog, horse and poultry ranch, and from all appearances a miniature edition of the Augean stables. To the eastern portion of this extremely unique establishment is a large cauldron in which, according to Mr. Greenwald's story, is boiled and rendered hogs, dogs, horses, chickens and all other kinds of animals imaginable. These are boiled into shreds and the putrefying surviving remains of the canon are strewed a fetid similar to that put up in "cheap boarding houses."

But in the foregoing does not repose the extent of the nuisance. The smell attendant upon the keeping of hogs, dogs, poultry, etc., and likewise upon the boiling of those which have died from causes both natural and otherwise, is so unlike the balmy, fragrant odors usually encountered in that portion of the globe, that the neighbors within a radius of half a mile at least, have to hamstring up their olfactory organs, lest, perchance, they might get a whiff of the stench-bearing breezes from the south when the wind is blowing northward and from the north when it is pursuing an opposite course.

The sanitary inspector's attention was first called to the existence of this establishment several weeks ago, but owing to a press of business in allaying the great amount of cases before him, he paid no attention to it until Friday, when he went out. Several days ago he received the following letter in Norwegian, but that he got from B. A. M. Frisesth, who is vitally interested to the extent of seeing the nuisance abated:

Dear Sir—The name of that man who runs a pig ranch at "Prospect Park" where is kept from thirty to forty hogs breeding disease to the whole neighborhood is Carl Jacobsen. Last month he lost his only child and I feel sure in saying that the stench from his pigs and foul is responsible for the death. The nuisance should certainly be abated. Please attend to it soon.

It might be stated that Mr. Frisesth is largely interested in realty adjacent to this celebrated pig ranch, and that he has several houses which were built for renting, but which also are in close to the "exhilarating" breezes of the locality to permit of their being positively sensitive to their surroundings to reside there. Thus it can be seen that tout gentlemen was out and injured, because he was unable to have the nuisance quickly stayed.

In accordance with Mr. Frisesth's numerous requests, Sanitary Inspector Greenwald went out to the place. "Why," said he, "never my horse to gentlemen, as I retire was the strength of the foul odors."

"When we reached the place," continued Mr. Greenwald, "we sprinkled ourselves with chloride of lime, which we always carry, lit a cigar apiece and hankered up our nasal proboscises. The smell was simply awful, in fact so bad that when I returned to the city I had all the symptoms of a sunstroke, even to the extent of going through the 'Bee-feeding act.' Why, the condition there was simply appalling and when I looked around I noticed about twenty great fat hogs grunting around the yard, while all around me were carcasses of all breeds, sizes and shapes, the whole scene being enough to drive carnivorous bears and felines of all kinds."

Today a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Jacobsen was sworn to in the police court and the defendant will be brought before Justice Wenger to explain his reasons for conducting such a filthy establishment.

It is the intention of the company to manufacture soda water, beer, cider, baking powder, spices, extracts, etc., and will also do general merchandising in this city and in Provo, Utah.

In A. Cass has commenced action in the Third district court against George Crismon et al and the Gold Mines Mining and Milling company to recover a one-fourth interest in some mining claims, mills and water rights in Idaho. The plaintiff's claim is based upon an option in the sum of $50,000 on the property which he alleges to have transferred to the defendants with the stipulation that if they made the purchase he was to have a quarter interest in the concern. The property, it is alleged in the complaint, was purchased but the defendants refused to give plaintiff the interest promised.

They offered to take the gavel he used in Utah and have it finished in an artistic manner, which some of the Executive Committee of Mr. Bryan. The offer was accepted and this is how they have done it: A silver band half-an-inch in width encircles the handle and has inlaid a gold star in the center between the bands. COVERED WITH SCALES

Eczema made its appearance on my head in the winter time, and it continued spreading until it was covered with a scaly crust, and it became a loathsome sight. I had a number of hair balls, some of them as large as a walnut, which would come out in dressing. The disease then began to spread over my face, when my mother noticed it and insisted that I should try Cuticura. My father procured a set of Cuticura Resolvent, and in three weeks the crust began to come off in scales, and the hair came out in great quantities. In six weeks I was entirely cured. The disease has never appeared since, and I have had a good head of hair ever since I used Cuticura.
