Determined Suicide of a Captain at Pueblo, Colorado.

JAIL BREAKER SHOT AND WOUNDED

A Newspaper Man Patiently by a Young Lady—Other Items.

Joseph Devon, a stockman on Lolata Fish, Wash., and a man in his employ have been drowned in Blake creek. They were crossing in a small boat, which was swamped by a whirlpool and overturned.

Lodi Journal: Two gentlemen of American Fork killed a mountain lion and captured her cubs at the mouth of American Fork canyon a few days ago. They had the lions on exhibition here last Saturday.

Calistoga, Cal., has a newspaper. It is conducted by a charming young lady, Miss Maud Ripley, who is editor, typesetter, mail clerk, devil, etc. It comes out regularly, twice a month, and is written entirely with a typewriter on foreign paper.

William Kinester is in jail at Black Creek, Cal., charged with practicing medicine without a license. He claims to be a German doctor. He was from Lake county. Kinester met a young lady while home in Walnutville and became engaged to her.

Judge Henry at Missoula, Mont., is after the newspapers for commenting on the Johnson whole trial, now in progress. He called them before him and gave orders that nothing but the evidence should be published. The Missoulian will take issue with the judge on this question and criticise this ruling.

In the Federal circuit court at Tacoma, Wash., a jury has returned a verdict for $5,475 in favor of Mrs. Ora Dykes against the Provident Savings Life Assurance Society of New York. The question hing on whether or not the company governing as registered by New York statute, but payments were made and payment would invalid the policy.

It is reliably reported that a big strike has been made on the Black Diamond No. 2, located one and a half miles east of the Victor mine, Cripple Creek (Col.) district. The shaft is located close to the spur of south wagon road to the Victor gold mill. A number of tons have been tested under stamps and found to pay, and the high grade is being saved for shipment. Some points of the quartz show free gold in considerable quantities. The finding of pay ledges on the Black Diamond No. 2 adds one and a half miles to the width of the Cripple Creek pay belt.

The legend of the War Dog by the Tyrgnchend Unites, says the Sacramento Bee, will probably result in an unusual fight against the Salvation Army by the twelve unions of the pacific coast. Steps are being taken to combine to accomplish this result, and copies of their manifesto calling on the members of unions to retreate from having anything to do with the Salvation Army have been sent all over the coast. It is thought by the union that Consul Bach will settle in their favor, although Editor Mihan looks confident that he will be allowed his say.

Tomas Walsh has brought suit in the district court at Denver against the Colorado Fuel and Iron company for $5,000. The suit is one of a similar tenor to the result of an accident which occurred in the Orient iron mine in Sagauche county on February 5, 1894, in which six men were killed and a number of others injured. It is alleged that the plaintiff has been rendered a cripple for life and that his injuries were received because of the negligence of the defendant in refusing necessary supports for the mine and in putting a blasts which shattered the rock and then in leaving the mine in a dangerous condition.

A dispatch from Majestic, Cal., says word has been brought from the mountains that James Lawson, who broke jail about three days, has been shot and wounded by Patrick Sullivan, an employe of Joe Goode. Lawson was discovered skulking about Goode's premises armed with a shotgun, and threatened Sullivan with death should he interfere. Goode of his whereabouts. Sullivan, upon action present, succeeded in getting in the house, where he secured a rifle and opened fire on Lawson, who fled after being wounded. Lawson fell very bitter toward Goode, as the latter had been active in trying to secure Lawson's conviction for child murder. Lawson has gone to Goode's place with the avowed intention of killing Goode, who fortunately was not at home.

The Silver City (Idaho) Avalanche has the following: "The rumors of a rich strike in the Tip Top district which have been floating around town a week or more, have been verified by the owners, running from the 200-foot level. Samples from the 200-foot level have been going on the month, and the end is now in the best ever. At a depth of 200 feet such silver lake was encountered and is the same in the bottom. This ore body has been opened and spread sufficiently to show that it has an immense strike. They are still sinking the shaft and are drifting on the 200-foot level. The ore runs from 200 to 3,000 ounces to the ton, some yet one. The mineral is in sight. We have been invited to visit the mine and before our next issue and will have more to say next week. Hurrah for Oreland."

Captain R. F. McKenna, well known in A. R. circles, committed suicide on Friday morning in the office of the Tim Avenue hotel at Pueblo, Colo. He had occupied the room until a few days, but came to the hotel a few hours before and took a seat near the office stove. The night clerk noticed that it was about time for him to go to bed, to which he replied that he would not go yet, as he had a bad cough and could not sleep. A moment later, and while the clerk was busy, he drew a pistol from his pocket and fired. The pistol was aimed in his mouth, the ball passing through the top of his head and into the ceiling above. The pistol was not loaded were valued at $500, too the man was dead before they arrived, death evidently being instantaneous. Some time ago Captain McKenna received a pension and back pay amounting to $1,200, $1,000 of which he deposited in bank, and all had subsequently been drawn out, and he was supposed to be penniless, only ninety cents being found on his person.
