Testimonial TO OUR LOW PRICES.

WE HAVE been very much gratified of late to have disinterested persons cite instances of our low selling in comparison with prices elsewhere. We were informed the other day that a lady bought a dress in the Cloak and Suit Department, identical in every particular with a similar dress which had just previously been bought at Marshall Field & Co., Chicago. Our price was $1.00 lower than the lady paid there, though the garments were identical. The lady didn't tell us herself, but told a friend, and that lady in turn informed her husband, who chanced to repeat the circumstance to the writer.

News of similar incidents reach the store, but we refer to this one because if we are $1.00 cheaper on a medium priced garment than one of the very largest houses in the world, considering that it buys in tremendous quantities, and the difference in freight rates with which we contend—isn't it sufficient to keep thoughtful buyers thinking?

CORSETS.

South Entrance, rear south aisle.

How to acquire graceful lines and curves and still conform to the laws of hygiene has become a matter of scientific study with our expert corsetiere and her assistants. To round out and make perfect the contour of the too slight figure; to lengthen the lines and give an appearance of slenderness to the stout or slightly full figure; and to preserve and emphasize the graceful curves of the naturally perfect figure—this describes some of the purposes for which the following models have been designed:

REDFERN, of figured silk batiste, in white, straw and pale blue, boned in genuine whalebone; long hip and medium low bust, finished at top with full of fine lace; for fig- 10.00

OUR SHOE DEPARTMENT

'IT IS LIKE THIS:

If I was to tell you that we had a lot of shoes in this department that were worth $5.00 per pair that we were going to sell at $1.95 you would at once conclude there was either something wrong with us or the shoes, and your conclusions would invariably be right. The price of a shoe is not what the average intelligent buyer is looking for—it is the greatest amount of real value they are getting for their money.

The value of a shoe is estimated by different persons in many different ways—the hob nailed, double sole shoe may be of great value to a man in a position to use it but becomes worthless upon the foot of a gentle maiden. IT IS LIKE THIS—

If you are looking for an attractive street boot or shoe, something in design different from the old style of last year or the threadbare accumulations of perhaps the last ten years, you would not rush into one of these cheap sales expecting to find it.

A genuine bargain in our line is a foot gearing made for this particular season, in all the late drawn out patterns, either in the fads of fashion—full dress or semi-dress ideas and carried in such profusion as to catch the eye of the most critical observer. After you have made your selection it is a pleasure to be able to find a stock where you can be fitted properly—where comfort and style dwell together.

Our stock of ladies' parlor slippers are of the finest made in America. Our shoes for Misses', Little Gentlemen, and Children are unexcelled.
