FRAGMENTS.

COUNTY Attorney Moyle is still rusticating at Soda Springs.

THE Harrigan Co. in "Old Lavender" is the next attraction at the Theatre.

THE Territorial Supreme Court will meet again on Thursday, September 1st.

THE Sixteenth Ward excursion trains to Syracuse leave the Utah Central depot at 9 a.m. and 2:15 p.m. to-morrow.

THE suit of J. F. Kiesel & Co. is against John W. Clark, the saloon keeper, and not J. W. Sharp, as stated yesterday.

FATHER SAMUEL NESLEN, of the Twentieth Ward, is seriously ill, and there is no prospect of his recovery. He is in his 80th year.

THERE were no arrests by the police last night, and consequently Justice Pyper was able to devote some attention to civil business.

THE September term of the Third District Court commences on Monday, September 12th. On that day an open venire will issue for grand and petit jurors for the term.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY PETERS is expected to arrive in Salt Lake on Sunday evening next, with his wife and two children. He will reside in the Eighteenth Ward.

BY reference to the stock report in to-day's NEWS, it will be seen that silver is higher to-day than it has been for a long time—97¼ being the quotation.

COMMISSIONER NORRELL, Judge Rosborough, Attorney Burmester and Mr. Worthington, propose starting out to-morrow morning for a four days' out in the Oquirrh mountains, above Tooele.

PERSONS wishing to obtain permits for students to the Salt Lake Academy will please call on W. Done at the Social Hall basement, on Friday and Saturday, between 9 a. m. and 2 p. m. The school opens on Monday next, August 29.

ARTHUR BARRETT was arrested yesterday and brought before Justice McAllister, charged with shooting fish. He plead guilty to the charge and was required to give $200 bonds to await the action of the grand jury.—Utah Journal, Aug. 24.

THIS morning a nine-year-old girl named Annie Perry made a complaint against another girl a few years older than her, and whose name was given as Mary Sterling. The complaining witness said the larger girl "thrashed her till she couldn't see." The case will be heard by Justice Pyper.

MR. J. N. LOUDER, merchant and attorney of Silver Reef, after a few days sojourn in this city, returns to the hatred sand and precocious soil of Dixie. He reports all things as looking well there, which we are pleased to state he does also. We wish him a pleasant trip and safe arrival.

T. J. WILLIAMS, a gentleman from San Francisco, will leave for his home this afternoon. He came to Salt Lake in search of his son, whom he has not seen for six years, and who ran away from home when he was quite a boy. Mr. Williams was successful, and feels highly elated at being able to return with the long lost youth.

SIDNEY JACOB SMITH is a small boy who rode on the back step of an Eleventh Ward street car yesterday, without paying his nickel therefor. One of the results of his action was manifest in the Police Court to-day, when a complaint was made against the street car driver, Henry Love, charging him with battery. The boy, who is about nine years of age, exhibited four large welts across his back, which he said were made by the blows from a whip in the hands of Mr. Love. He alleges that Love got off the car, and when he jumped and ran, the car driver followed some distance and struck him several blows with his whip, saying that he would teach "the kids" better than to hang to street cars. The case will be tried before Justice Pyper, when Mr. Love will have an opportunity of giving his version of the affair.

Opening of the University.

The first term of the academic year 1887-8, of the University of Deseret, will open on Monday morning, Sept. 5th. Persons desiring information relative to terms, curriculum, etc., should write or apply to Dr. John R. Park, president. By applying to Dr. Park, students may obtain half fare tickets over either road leading into this city.

Lightning in the Hay.

Last Sunday evening some stacks of hay lying between Paris and Dingle, in Bear Lake Valley, were burned, the fire originating from lightning. About 100 tons were destroyed, the property of Stephen Kelsey, of Paris. A correspondent apprises us of the occurrence.

Transporting a Building.

It is something of a rarity to see an entire depot, 24x80 feet, raised up bodily, put on three flat cars, hauled a third of a mile and safely landed in a new position. But that has been done here, and at noon Tuesday, with a big engine carefully steaming along, the Deer Lodge depot left its old position and was located at the foot of Second Street. It is now in position again, and will soon be ready for occupancy. —New Northwest, (Montana), Aug 20.

Inspecting the University.

Chancellor O. F. Whitney, Regents John T. Caine, James Sharp, W. W. Riter, Elias A. Smith, A. W. Carlson and D. C. Young, paid a visit of inspection to the University to-day. They were much pleased with the neat and tidy condition in which they found things, the result of Janitor Harris' industrious labors. The floors and doors of all the apartments in use have been thoroughly cleaned and freshly painted, the furniture revarnished, the windows cleaned and painted and all necessary work done, preparatory to the opening of the institution for the fall term on September 5th.

Fell From A Train.

Yesterday a gentleman who accompanied the First Ward excursion to Lake Park had a narrow escape from a serious accident. The train was about half a mile from Lake Park, and was going at a high speed. The gentleman was standing on the step on the outside of the car, and went to move to let a young man pass, when his foot slipped, and he was hurled from the train. He landed on his face, alighting in the soft mud alongside of the track, and clear of the train. He was considerably shaken up, but was able to get up, when he was gratified at realizing that he was not seriously injured. He walked down to the Park, but had been so shocked by the fall that he was unable to participate in the enjoyments of the day.

A HAND AMPUTATED.

A Little Girl's Hand Mangled in a Machine.

A correspondent furnishes the following account of a casualty that occurred at Swan Creek, Bear Lake Valley, on Thursday last, in the carding mill of Alonzo Cook:

"Little Annie Cook, aged about eight years, was in the mill with her mother, carding wool. Another little girl was also present and was talking to Annie, who had just gone around to the back of the 'picker' to pull some wool out of the machine that had got clogged up. Her attention was taken by the other girl and she got her hand in too far. The sharp teeth of the cylinder caught the back of her left hand, pulling it in and tearing it terribly. She pulled her hand out and her mother ran to her and carried her down to the house, and held her arm to keep her from bleeding to death, holding her for four hours, until assistance came. Word was sent to Brother Cook who was at his ranch quite a distance away, and Dr. C. A. Hoover of Montpelier was telegraphed for. But not getting a correct message he did not get over until the next day when he received another message. He drove over in very quick time, making about 30 miles in two hours and a quarter. He examined the hand and found that some of the joints of the fingers were pulled out and said that he would have to amputate the hand. He administered ether to the child and amputated the hand just above the wrist, which was very successfully done. In the evening the parents started out for Montpelier, where Dr. Hoover will have the child under his care. She is a smart and bright little girl and endured the pain with great fortitude, but felt very bad when she found that her hand was taken off."

Raiding Vigorously.

There has been a renewal on the part of the Marshal's office of the vigorous raiding for persons accused of living with more than one wife. Many of these incursions have been unsuccessful, but in some instances arrests have been made.

This morning two more parties accused of unlawful cohabitation, and whose names had been handed in by spies, were wanted by the officers. These were W. E. Wilcox, and Thos. Porcher. The first named resides in the Sixteenth Ward, and early this morning Deputies Franks and Sprague called at his home. Mr. Wilcox did not happen to be in at the time, and those present were subpœnaed to appear before the grand jury. After waiting for some time for Mr. Wilcox, who evidently had no desire to meet the deputies, the latter retired with the warrant unserved.

Mr. Porcher lives in the Twenty-first Ward. He has already served one term in the penitentiary for unlawful cohabitation, on his refusal to bind his future conduct by any promise in court. To day he was wanted on a similar charge, the offense being alleged to have been committed since Mr. Porcher's release. Deputies Vanderccok and Pratt went to serve the warrant, but not being able to discover Mr. Porcher's whereabouts, they returned after subpœnaing the family to appear before the grand jury.

An Extensive Establishment.

An inspection of the various departments of Dinwoodey's furniture store, on First South Street, shows it to be a very extensive establishment, amply prepared to meet the demands both of the wholesale and retail trade. Among the many attractive features of the stock may be mentioned a few, as follows: Combination bedstead and sideboard, a convenient, handsome and unique article; some very elegant and beautiful bed-room sets in costly woods; Vienna bent wood goods; office furniture in great variety; carpets from 22½ cents to $3 per yard; the largest line of wall paper in Utah; lace curtains in great variety and a large quantity of upholstered goods, the manufacture of which, on the premises, is an important home industry. Mr. Dinwoodey calls attention to his goods in a display advertisement in the NEWS. In the lines mentioned he carries articles ranging from the cheapest to the costliest.

J. H. Ridges Arrested.

It is now two years since a warrant of arrest was first issued for Joseph H. Ridges, of the Nineteenth Ward, on a charge of unlawful cohabitation. Frequent attempts have been made by deputy marshals to discover Mr. Ridges' whereabouts, until the case has acquired considerable notoriety. These attempts proved futile until yesterday, when a "spotter" hastened to the Marshal's office with the information that Mr. Ridges was employed as a carpenter at the Sierra Nevada Lumber Company's shops. Thither the deputies wended their way with eager haste yesterday afternoon, and arrested Mr. Ridges. He was taken before Commissioner Norrell and placed under $750 bonds to appear for trial at the September term of the Third District Court, on a four-count indictment found against him under the infamous Dickson regime in 1885.

Badly Bruised.

On Tuesday last, as Brother James T. Wilson was engaged, with others, in carting logs down the Wasatch side of the Big Cottonwood divide, he met with a serious accident. He was driving down with a cart on which rested the butt ends of four long timbers, the other ends dragging. During the descent, with the quickness of lightning, the cart upon which Brother Wilson was sitting was upset, and he was thrown violently to the ground, producing a severe shock. Both shoulders were hurt, as were the upper portions of both arms. The bone of the right arm, near the shoulder, was split and fractured. The patient is up and around and is fast recovering from the effects of the accident.

The Stake Academy.

This institution will begin the first term of its second academic year in the Social and Eagle Gate halls on Monday, the 29th inst.

The tuition will be $5.00 per term for the lower, and $6.00 for the higher department.

Those desiring to attend this school should apply to Willard Done at the Social Hall basement, on Friday, Aug. 26th, between 9 a. m. and 2 p. m. for permits. As the number of seats is limited, it would be well for applications to be made on that day, as after that time it may be too late to obtain permits.

Those desiring circulars from which to get further information, may obtain them at Dwyer's book store.

Fire at Paris, Idaho.

A correspondent says that, on Sunday afternoon last, at Paris, Idaho, while a German meeting was in progress, a little boy announced to the congregation that Brother Tueler's sheds and hay stack were on fire. The people turned out and were soon at work with buckets, forming two lines. They soon got the fire under control. The loss was not much, as the fire only partially burned the stable and a part of a small hay stack. A large hay stack in the next lot had a narrow escape from the flames, but was saved by throwing water on it. The cause of the fire is supposed to be children playing with matches.

European and Eastern Excursion.

Parties contemplating going on the Spence-Rossiter excursion which leaves here September 3d, should loose no time in securing their passage, as the date of its departure is now drawing near, and it is necessary to get the names of the parties who expect to take advantage of this trip, in order to secure accommodations on the steamship, and Pullman car berths. See advt.

For the Benefit of the G. A. R.

E. J. Swaner has donated a handsome silver tea set, to be sold at auction to-morrow, Friday, at Lake Park, the proceeds to go to the J. B. McKean Post, G. A. R.

Riggley Lodge No. 9, I. O. O. F. has donated a beautiful triple plate mirror, to be added to the list of prizes, and Mr. Young has donated two splendid photographs of Castle Gate and Royal Gorge respectively, two grand pieces of scenery on the D. & R. G., to be added to the list also.

Alex. Burt Arrested.

This afternoon Deputy Marshal Pratt arrested Alexander Burt, of the Sixth Ward, on the charge of unlawful cohabitation. The complaint is made by E. A. Igeland, and is dated Nov. 19, 1885. It alleges that the defendant lived with Mrs. Alex. Burt and Harriet Hilton as his wives. The warrant was made returnable before Commissioner McKay. The defendant was brought before Commissioner Norrell for a hearing, but up to 3 o'clock all of the witnesses considered necessary had not been found.

The Theatre.

There was a very slight diminution in the attendance, but none whatever in the enjoyment and demonstration of approval at the Theatre last evening; in fact, in the latter respects there was considerable of an increase, for a more noisily delighted audience we do not remember to have seen. "Nancy & Co." is one of those delightful comedies which are just adapted to this kind of weather—so light that no perspiration is caused by sitting and seeing it through, and not so light as to be trivial or trashy. The numerous contretemps in which "Nancy" and her coadjutor are placed; the narrow escapes; the confusion of the seekers after developments; and the gradual unfolding of the very satisfactory denouement, furnish material which is skillfully and properly used. The company were as before excellent from first to last. They left for the east to-day.

Don't Like Dickinson.

An Omaha dispatch of August 22nd says: "The locomotive engineers of the Union Pacific road are said to be indignant at the arbitrary conduct of General Superintendent Dickinson, who, they claim, has for years, while superintendent of the western divisions, been antagonistic to their order and invariably waging war against them. His recent promotion to the general superintendency has engendered a feeling among the brotherhood which will probably hamper Mr. Potter's administration as long as the present organization of that particular department exists. An instance is cited wherein an engineer from one of the western divisions who had served the company some 15 years got into some trivial trouble and came to Omaha to explain his side of the case. He met the general superintendent upon the street and told him he had come to Omaha to explain matters in his case, whereupon he was informed by the official that he wanted nothing to do with him or his troubles. The engineer has been 'discharged and blacklisted,' and that settled it. The engineer in question reported his story with tears in his eyes, and said he had a big family to support, and at least expected kind treatment by the officials. He returned home very much discouraged. Another instance: A few days since the order of railway conductors decided to have a grand picnic at Fremont. Their committee waited on the general superintendent, so it is said, and requested a few passenger coaches for their party to Fremont and return. They were informed that they could have some of the emigrant cars known as 'low bellies.' This rather incensed the members of the order, and it is said they have decided not to accept the emigrant cars, and resent the insult by making their trip to Fremont via Blair over the Fremont and Elkhorn Valley road, which company very kindly placed at their disposal a special train of first-class coaches."

TERRITORIAL ITEMS.

CULLED FROM LATEST EXCHANGES.

—Joseph R. Clary, two years of age and youngest child of Thomas Clary, of Sun River, Montana, was accidentally drowned in an irrigating ditch near their parental home on the 22d.

—Butte, Montana, is suffering from a severe attack of circus. The lemonade and the mouldy joke that tickled the ribs of our venerated ancestors are running neck and neck.

—Tempe, Arizona, is competing directly with California on the matter of hay and grain. Petersen, Armstrong & Co. have been shipping large quantities of hay and grain to Yuma. Besides being able to place it in Yuma at about California rates, the valley hay and barley command in any market a preference over the coast articles. Our barley is especially bright and plump.

—Says the Butte Miner of the 22d: Cyclone verified his name in yesterday's races at Helena, winning the quarter dash in 22, and followed up the triumph in the very next race by taking the 600-yard purse. It was a bad day for Daniel B., who was beaten in the three-quarter dash by Susie, in 1:14. It dosen't seem to have been a very exciting day on the course, but to-day is big with promise.

SLAVES IN MEXICO.

BONDAGE IN WHICH THE PEONS ARE HELD BY CRUEL TASKMASTERS.

A good deal has been told and written of the cruelties in subterranean Siberia, but I very much doubt if the situation of any convict chained in an underground galley is nearly as appalling as that of hundreds and hundreds of the Mexican peon slaves toiling within a day's journey of the land of the free. I do not say that this is true of all mines; at many of them, and particularly those owned by American or English companies, the management is humane and admirable in every particular, but it is true of some. In these it is not unusual thing for a peon to be murdered by some cruel taskmaster, in plain sight of his wife, who works by his side, hears his dying shriek and is powerless to raise her hand to save. This is no fancied picture, but a dreadful and repeated reality.

It is surprising how little is known in general of interior Mexico. There are thousands of square miles where peonage is a sacred institution and a "white man" is as great a curiosity as a hippogriff or a unicorn would be. There whole families are wearily grinding away at debts they had no more to do with than with the deluge. Some ancestor they never saw or heard tell of, drank too much mescal one day, or lost a few dollars at monte, or was tempted to buy a gilded sombrero on credit, and the mischief was done. That they live in the darkest sort of ignorance and misery goes without saying, else some fine morning they would simply quit being peons and all the powers that be, at least in Mexico, could not re-establish that old regime. —Edgar Lee-Vance, in Inter-Mountain.

"What are you doing now, Thomas?" asked the minister, patronizingly.

"I am a writer for the press," said the lad, proudly.

"Indeed, you are quite young for that. What do you write?"

"I direct wrappers."

THOUGHT THEY HAD IT.

POWER OF THE IMAGINATION OVER STUDENTS.

A family doctor tells the following amusing story in Cassell's Magazine: Prof. Blank of E—— devoted a whole week of the session to lecturing to the students on the subject of heart diseases. He had a private apartment opening off the class room, to which he was wont to retire after he had finished his discourse, in order to take off his gown and enjoy a little meditation by the fire. On the afternoon of the second day a modest knock came to the door.

"Enter," says Prof. Blank.

And, hat in hand, appeared one of his students, looking somewhat worried and pale.

"What can I do for you, Mr. M.?"

"Nothing, I fear," was the reply. "Nothing on earth can aid me. I have the very symptoms that you were to-day describing. Sound me and see, sir."

The "sounding" was soon performed.

"You're in perfect health as regards your heart."

That was the verdict. And Mr. M. went away happy. But hardly had the kindly old professor resumed his seat before another knock resounded on the door.

"Come in. Well, what's the matter with you, Mr. C.?"

"I'm a dead man," gasped Mr. C., looking wildly around as if he wanted to clutch something.

"I've got heart disease as sure as a gun."

"Not quite as bad as that, I trust. Take off your coat."

Auscultation and percussion were speedily performed; then the professor laughed in C.'s face. "Sound as a bell, man," he said. "Go home to your dinner, and don't be a fool." The doctor did not sit down again, however. No, he was afraid there would be more of them, so he hurried along through the squad, and got into his carriage. But he had two more visits at his residence the same night, from frightened students, and every day during the remainder of that week he had a visit or two of the same kind. On the following Monday he got on to fevers, and the students completely recovered from their cardiac complaints. Now, I do not mean for a single moment to dispute the fact that there is a good deal of heart complaint about—more, in fact, than there might have been in the early portion of the century, owing to the race for life and the rate at which the world runs—but I do mean to say that there is ten times more functional and imaginary cardiac ailment than there is of the real thing.
