IN MINING CIRCLES.

Colonel Sheridan of Chicago Looking Into Bingham Properties,

A PURCHASE MAY BE MADE.

He Is Representing a Syndicate of Chicago Capitalists—The Mammoth May Come Do Middleside.

For several days past Colonel N. J. Sheridan, a member of the Chicago board of trade and a potent factor in mining circles there, has been out this way looking into some properties in the Old Reliable district, his capacity being that of representative of a syndicate of wealthy men in that city. These men have their eye on a certain property located in Bingham and as they are about to enter into negotiations for its purchase, Colonel Sheridan was sent out here to ascertain the true status of affairs and report at his earliest convenience. Tonight he goes home and it is believed that he returns with a favorable report and with recommendations to his clients that the purchase of the property in question will be a step in the right direction.

This belief is based upon a conversation had with the Colonel today when he stated to a News man that the gentlemen whom he represented had implicit faith in the Old Reliable district as a mining center and in fact they had the same opinion of the entire state, the line of which he also had. His strain of conversation was such as to indicate that his visit hit here had been fraught with satisfactory results and that he homeward journey would be the immediate forerunner to the purchase of the property in question. The Chicago people are not experimenting with Utah properties, as they have already tried them and have never found them wanting. The romance now sought after is not known to the News, but its identity will shortly be learned if anything comes of the colonel's visit here.

In talking of failures in mining stocks, Colonel Sheridan said that it was very lax throughout the whole country. As a member of the Chicago exchange he spoke with authority when he said that not for a number of years had business been so dull. A few months back the Chicago exchange did a business of from 200,000 to 300,000 shares daily, but recently it had narrowed down to 2,000 and 3,000 shares and had finally become so bad that only a day or two ago the daily calls were suspended entirely.

Politics in Chicago savor of a Bryan victory in the city but in the country Mr. Sheridan thinks McKinley has a majority, "or he seems to be highly thought of by the agricultural theisaboute."

DALY'S NEW MOVE.

The Park Record Says the Ontario Will Be Used for Ore Transportation.

A force of men were put to work this morning in the Ontario 600 drain tunnel for the purpose of lowering the track through the entire length of the same and putting it in shape for the transportation of Daly West, Daly and Ontario ores. At least that was the answer given the writer Saturday morning by a prominent employe of the Ontario company in answer to a query as to what was the object of the work in the tunnel. The movement is a most important one, and while it will work a hardship to several important interests of the camp, it will be the means of greatly reducing the cost of production to the companies. While not yet given out, there is little doubt but that the track will be extended to the sampling mills and provisions made for transporting coal and other supplies to the mines. The work in the tunnel will be crowded as rapidly as possible.

Developments at the Vallejo mine during the past week have been very promising and Foreman Duncombe is to be congratulated on the excellent showing he is making. After getting matters shaped up at the mine and making a careful inspection of the property Saturday and sat, Mr. Duncombe decided to drive the prospect tunnel straight ahead, evidently believing, as many other miners have said, that the vein, where cut, was not in place. He did not drive very far, however, but he broke into what is undoubtedly the true fissure from whence come the decomposed ore that was first encountered in the tunnel. Several fine specimens of the ore are on exhibition at the office of Attorney J. M. Lockhart, Hickens Bros' store and John Fenton's saloon, and assays show that it averages 29 per cent copper, 10 to 14 ounces in silver and from $6 to $18 in gold and a heavy per centage of calcined iron, making a very desirable class of ore.

At the next regular meeting of the company on Friday, Mr. J. Dale of the Daly West mine will present a petition asking the council to grant him a trackchute allowing him to cross the main streets in the First Ward with a wire rope tramway, the same to be twenty-five feet above the surface of the ground.

Charles E. Ford left for Silver City Thursday afternoon to take the management of the Independent-Tecora property, and the gentlemen of Park City friends feel assured that he will soon develop that mine into a regular shipper.

W. J. Wilson, who is working the Aurumont group of claims belonging to Smith Kooper, upon which he made a two years' lease, has a fine showing in an 8-inch streak of carbonate of lead ore that is steadily improving with developments.

Bishop Hardy who holds a lease and bond on the White Rock and California claims in Thurston's canyon has abandoned the same and Tom Rose camp is making preparations to work the ground himself.

Following are the ore shipments from the McHenry mines during the present week: Silver King, 700,000; Silver King concentrates, 180,000; Valley, 15,000; total 895,000.

TODAY'S MINING CALL.

A Sale of Richmond Anaconda Marks the Week of the Brokers.

Had it not been for a chance sale of 1,000 shares of Richmond Anaconda at today's Mining Exchange, a "blank week" would have certainly been recorded. As it was, however, the week just closed was dull and slow, 21 cents, thus averting such a "calamity." The quotations on the stocks remained about stationary and no material change of advance or retrogression.

The closing figures were as follows:

At the close of the call the brokers conferred their loans and saved for some time over Mr. Bacon's second proposition of settlement wherein he offered his creditors a Bingham Land stock at the rate of 31 per cent. After considering it decided the value of the members present was rather low with the result that proposition No. 2 was rejected and returns to the courts thereby suspended. A meeting of the creditors will be called to pass upon the matter finally.

On Willard Hill.

According to the Bingham City Bugler several claims have been taken to the tops of the mountains east of Willard are still being worked. Within a radius of a mile there are probably a dozen good prospects, considerable work having been done on many of them. The Surprise, for instance, has a shaft some 300 feet deep, which extends over 200 feet. A tunnel is now being run into the side of the mountain to tap the bottom of this shaft, when a great quantity of valuable ore will be taken out. Over $10,000 have been expended on this claim and still the owners are so encouraged that they continue to pick it.

North Brigham Mines.

A force of fifteen or twenty men is now employed on the Consolidated Mines group of Brigham, says the Brigham City Bugler. The great tunnel is in to a depth of 2,200 feet. It is said to be considerable gold ore is being exposed along the main tunnel and small streaks. It is said that the object of the owners is to expose as much of the property as they can in the mine for inspection and sell. Work on the proposed $10,000 tramway has already begun. It will probably be two miles or more in length from the mine down the mountain side and across the fields to the U. P. railroad track. Men are already at work grading and cutting the way for this great structure.

THE MAMMOTH COMPANY.

A Rumor Current That Dividend Payment Will Be Temporarily Ceased.

The Mammoth Mining company declared its regular monthly dividend of $25,000 late Saturday afternoon. It is payable on October 1st and raises the total of dividends paid to date up to $2,060,000.

It is intimated in mining circles and by people who believe they know, that this will be the last dividend that the company will distribute, for a few months at least. While conditions are quite satisfactory at the mine it is known that the company has been retrenching a little for some time past, and it is stated that in the event of any unfavorable report will cause a temporary cessation of dividends. The above although not official is looked upon as almost a certainty.

Stockham Bulletin Notes.

In its weekly account of the mines and mining operations in the Old Reliable district the Bingham Bulletin says that a dozen assays of ore from the new openings in the 200 level of the Wisconsin, show an average value of about 22 ounces silver, $2.25 gold, 41 per cent lead and 22 per cent iron. There is no doubt but that this is a development area of immense importance, or that the new company will ultimately demonstrate that the old mine has not yet been exhausted. The latter may be said of the Wasatch and Dixon, former famous producers.

A specimen of gray copper and ruby silver from the Hopeblown mine, assayed by Cowan Tuesday, showed 155 ounces silver, 0.35 gold per ton. It was not tested for copper, though evidently carrying about 50 per cent. Mr. Tomlinson has run the upper tunnel recently begun on the Reliable lode, about 115 feet, and is following a streak of ore which when first struck was three inches and has now widened to 1 foot. The ore was a picked specimen, but it is all good truck. There is about eight tons of it on the dump.

Notwithstanding some of the big producers have practically closed down owing to the low prices for lead and silver, much activity prevails throughout the district, prospecting and a large number of promising claims are being opened up, including some that are outpanning gold ore of high grade. Three producing silver-lead ores will as a rule let it lay in the bins for the present.

The Hawk-Nutrey, under lease to B. J. Gilmer, is looking way up and now showing four feet of ore, assaying 18 to 20 ounces silver, $2 gold and 42 to 50 per cent lead. The ores are about 20 miles of this class in the bin. Mr. Gibson will soon extend the Black Dog road around Markham hill to the mine, but will ship as one the fall weather there is a radical improvement in the market. "He don't have to."

Dips and Spurs.

The Mercur paid its September dividend today.

The directors of the Gold Dust are scheduled for a meeting at 5 o'clock this evening.

Brigham City Bugler: The work on the proposed big tramway from the old Garfield mine down the mountain side is causing some talk around Brigham. By contract it is said to have been let; also that the work will have several thousand dollars in town.

Payson Globe: The stockholders of the Stockton Silver Mining Co. have held a meeting in the bank Wednesday night and decided to send a man down to the mine to employ men and work the property. Henry Fairbanks will be sent down in a few days.

EDWARD STEVENSON ILL.

A Telegram from Baker City, Oregon, to That Effect.

Dr. C. F. Wilcox, His Son-in-Law, Will Leave for That Point on This Evening's Train.

A telegram to the office of the First Presidency this afternoon bore the regrettable intelligence that Elder Edward Stevenson was lying seriously ill at Baker City, Oregon. The nature of the illness is not stated, nor is it known how long he has been attacked. Dr. C. F. Wilcox, Elder Stevenson's son-in-law, will take the train for that city this evening.

Readers of the News are doubtless acquainted with the fact that for some time past, Elders Stevenson and Cowley have been making a tour of Oregon and northwest, preaching the Gospel and establishing branches of the Church in their towns. This work is one which Elder Stevenson always took a delight and it is likely that his present illness has been brought on by over-exertion. He is also well advanced in years.

The wheel went passed diagonally over the girl's hips and back, doing considerable damage to the pelvic bones and internal organs. The injured child will be spared, it is hoped, completely; but the doctor fears she will have a weak back the rest of her life.....A very sad accident occurred in connection with A. Lonnie at Midway, while leading his horses on Sunday morning by, got to playing with some of them, slicing him on the head and right shoulder. It was feared some of his bones were broken, but on examination by the doctor it was found they were found; but symptoms of hemorrhage in the membranes or membrane of the brain, showed very decidedly that there was the pressure of a clot of blood on that organ, which, the doctor thinks, will be relieved by a short time leaving the gentleman in a good state of health.

LOGAN.

LOGAN, UTAH, - - SEPT. 21, 1896.

The Hurricane in Cache.

A terrific windstorm raged in Logan on Friday night and did great damage to property. Trees were blown down by the hundred, and in their fall demolished fences and tore down electric light and telephone wires all over town. Nearly all of the tin roof of the Temple was blown off, and many of the ornamental trees on the grounds were blown over. Nearly every tin roof in town was damaged, and many were entirely stripped. Four large plate glass windows were blown out of the Opera house, one large window was blown out of the Palace hotel, and the number of windows destroyed in other parts of town to make a harvest for the glaziers. The entire roof was taken off one wing of a house owned by a fellow named Jensen, in the Fourth ward, and hay and grain stacks were entirely blown away. Early in the evening Mr. Ek. Emelie was riding a horse, when a falling tree carried an electric light wire down on the animal's neck, killing it almost instantly. Mr. Emelie had considerable difficulty in extricating himself from the horse, in avoiding direct contact with the wire. As it was he experienced a considerable shock. At Mill ville the roof was blown off the Pacific mill, and three large barns were blown down. Providence suffered considerably from the storm, one large tree, of which the trees were almost entirely stripped. This was the case in every settlement touched by the hurricane. Fruit, Fern and Smithfield were badly damaged, and at Richmond, in addition to the extensive damage to private property, the new 10,000 school house was blown down. It was the most violent storm for at least thirteen years, and the damage will run well up toward six figures.

Political.

The Democrats of Cache county held their convention on Saturday and nominated their candidates for the county offices. Hyrum Haylett, Wm. Sparks and Martin Weall were nominated for county commissioners, Hyrum J. Malmrose was nominated to succeed himself as clerk, Miss Beatrix Morehead secured the nomination for recorder, E. M. Mehn was renominated for assessor, and Aaron F. Farr for treasurer. Sheriff Turner will, if Democracy is triumphant, succeed himself, and Edward Hansen will be surveyor. No date has yet been set for the Republican county convention, and when it does occur doubtless Eight hours senator McKinley and Bryan Republicanism is almost certain to occur, over the adoption of resolutions. The conventions will not fall over each other in the race for nominations, so to be nominated is to be assured, with only remote possibility of election.

A Tramp Gang.

Sheriff Turner and the city marshal had quite an exciting experience with a gang of drunken hobos on Thursday. They had camped just outside the city limits and during three days had commandeered large quantities of beer and succeeded in making a nuisance of themselves. It was determined to send them on their travels, a process which they vigorously resisted, and they called the officers to arrest them. One of them got his hands out of a pair of handcuffs and attacked the sheriff, who then laid the man's shoulder to frighten him. Afterwards the same man had to be clubbed almost to insensibility by officer Dale. The gang were all loaded early in the morning, and are now quite willing to depart as soon as they can get an opportunity.

LITERARY NOTES.

Many good things are given in the October number of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly. The principal features, all splendidly illustrated, are The Road to the Stage, in which Author Hardwick tells how actors and actresses are made, and something about the dramatic schools; General Lew's Last Campaign, by Major General Horatio C. King, the ninth paper in the great Lee series; the closing chapters of a new serial story, Father Abbey's Will, from the pen of Major C. E. Devoume Cutler Service, giving the history and duties of an important branch of our navy, by Johnson B. Wright; the Lounger, in which Senator William M. Stewart, being the first of two papers on The Leading Issues of the Two Great Parties, is followed next month by an article from the gold standpoint.

An account of the historic Lincoln and Douglas contest with synopsis of the October McClure's based on interviews and reminiscences gathered by Miss Tarbell at Ottawa, Freeport, Jonesboro, Charleston, Galesburg, Quincy, and Alton, Illinois, the scenes of the debates, from persons who heard them and were intimate with the distinguished. The article will be fully illustrated.

Godey's (Magazine for October contains the first chapter of a short life of Benjamin Franklin, Written by George C. Ley. "Poor Richard" has perhaps been more popular than any one among the founders of the Republic, and his labors were of the highest importance, so that the story of his life should fully fall in line with the present interest. Mr. Ley in his first chapter treats of "Franklin the Apprentice, the Printer, and the Philosopher." is a very readable sketch, and in the other chapters will take up his achievements as politician and diplomat.

OBITUARY NOTES.

MILLARD BLACK SR.

In Fillmore, Millard county, Utah, August 28, 1896, Milard Black, Sr. Brother Black was born in Ontario county, N. Y., Dewaters Mons, and was born in the town of Auriliacus, Cayuga county, New York, in the year 1818. He was about 20 years of age when he ventured on farming, blacksmithing and for four years attending on Hamilton College and final in Albany. At the age of 21 he went to Michigan in company with Alexander Armstrong, whose daughter Elizabeth he married in the 23 of April, 1837. He shortly after bought him a farm of 80 acres and lived on it and before studying the subject of religion joining the Methodist denomination. During this time he had taken a farm on his farm in Hanover, Livingston Co., Michigan, he joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints which he embraced them much persecution. A branch of the Church was shortly after organized in the district and Brother Black was ordained a Priest and appointed to preside. The spirit of gathering came upon him and he sold his farm, and he started for the city of Nauvoo, ten miles distant. He placed runners under the running gears of his wagon to make it easy, but there was two feet of snow on the ground, then he placed two sticks across the wagon box and put the wheels on those. His diary says: "We loaded on effects in the box and away we went, traveled 350 miles by sleigh when the snow left us, and in about half an hour my wagon wheels were making rapid revolutions on the Nauvoo." He arrived there February 16, 1844, and sold his wagon and harness for a house and city lot. He was much impressed with the beauty of the location of the city. Himself and wife joined the Prophet Joseph's family, who received them with kind courtesy. He went to work as a joiner and the following June he was ordained an Elder under Elder Brigham Young, and sent on a mission with Elder Spencer Smith throughout the state. He experienced the varied treatment of those days, and was sent home through the sickness of his wife, who was restored by the power of God through His Priesthood. He enlisted in Captain Israel Barlow's company of cavalry, became orderly sergeant, and was in service until disbanded in June, 1846. He saw the dead bodies of the martyrs Prophets Joseph and Hyrum Smith and experienced the sadness at that dark day. In the fall of 1844 he was ordained a Seventy and continued in the Tenth quorum of Seventy, and chosen one of the 400 men to work on the Nauvoo Temple. He helped therein in the spring of 1845, when himself and wife received their endowments in that Temple, "and then started to find a place of rest." He travelled through Iowa to the Missouri; was At Council Bluffs under the counsel of President Brigham Young, companies were organized to proceed to the Rocky Mountains. Brother Black was enrolled in President Brigham's company which came on the Mormon Trail to Fort, where orders came to winter south where in the region of country. After traveling the entire distance of 1,000 miles with a small tribe of Indians called Pottawatomies who gave a part of Nebraska, and in the spring of 1847 the company was called back to Council Bluffs, from whence they started. In the spring of 1848 he was appointed to accompany the mormon pioneers to Salt Lake City, Brother Black being one of the regiment of fifty, the company was five months and five days on the way from Council Bluffs to Salt Lake City. He helped to build the Old Fort in Salt Lake City, and in the spring of 1852 he was called to Fillmore with eleven others to build the state house, where his home has been up to the time of his death.

Brother Black was always in the front to build up the kingdom of God in the form of some kind, having acted as justice of the peace, school trustee, city councilor, and for years a member of the Legislature. He was called to a short preaching mission in the Eastern States in 1869. For many years he was an active supporter of the Fillmore second quorum of Seventies. February 16, 1895, Brother Black was ordained a High Priest by Elder F. M. Lyman, and on the following day the same Elder ordained him a Patriarch. Always devoted to the Church, he held in early remembrance the Prophet Joseph Smith.

Many good things were said about him at his funeral, by Elder A. M. Musser, Bishop T. C. Callister and others. After pulling up stream with the faithful wife of his youth for nearly sixty years he has passed down the "Valley shore" to await her coming to renew the higher life begun in these who live faithfully the restored Gospel of Jesus Christ. The companion of his joys and sorrows bore him four sons and seven daughters. The sons and five daughters survive him in Utah.

GEO. CRANE.

WILLIAM LANG.

William Lang, who was born August 6, 1826, passed away on September 1, 1896, at St. George, Utah. He was born in England and joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in his native land in May, 1849, and came to Utah in 1852 and came to St. George in 1862. He was among the first who laid out and made Virgin ditch, which caused so much labor from which so many became disheartened and left in despair. He also took an active part in the work of the Dixie Iron Works which the early settlers of this barren Dixie land had to pass through. The funeral services were held in the 8th Ward Meeting House, 2 p.m. on the 3rd inst. The speakers were Counselor Thomas P. Cottam, President David H. McArthur, Counselors D. H. Cannon and E. R. Snow, Elder Thomas Judd and Bishop James Andrus, each of whom had been personally acquainted with deceased for thirty years and upwards. They each spoke of him as an industrious, persevering man, possessed of many good qualities. He was always willing to do all in his power for providing for the poor and the needy, and died bearing faithful testimony to the truth of the Gospel of Christ. He leaves a respectable family and a large number of friends to mourn his loss.—[Com.

TURNING GRAY AND THREATENED

WITH BALDNESS

Changed to Dark Brown by Using

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

"Nearly forty years ago, after some weeks of sickness, my hair turned gray and began falling out so rapidly that I was threatened with immediate baldness. Having Ayer's Hair Vigor highly spoken of, I commenced using this preparation, and was so well satisfied with the result that I have never tried any other kind of dressing. It stopped the hair from falling out, stimulated a new growth of hair, and kept the scalp free from dandruff. Only an occasional application is now needed to keep my hair of good, natural color. I, therefore, hesitate to recommend any of Ayer's medicines to my friends."—Mrs. H. M. HAGGIT, Avon, Neb.
