IN LEGAL RANKS.

The Cost of a Ride To and From the Penitentiary.

ONE YEAR FOR GRAND LARCENY.

Trials of Civil Cases Before the Judges of the Third District Court.—The Martha Turner Suit.

In Judge Zane's court this morning, Attorney Barlow Ferguson, who on Thursday last was appointed by the Court to defend Wm. Brannan, indicted for burglarious breaking, now stated that the defendant has furnished him with the names of certain witnesses whom he wished to have subpoenaed at the expense of the Territory. Counsel has therefore prepared an affidavit to this effect, and asked the Court to grant an order for Brannan to be brought down from the penitentiary on Monday, so that he might swear to the document.

Judge Zane declined to make the order, remarking—The U. S. marshal charges $5 every time he brings a prisoner down. A street car ride to and from the penitentiary, so you will have no difficulty in reaching him.

ONE YEAR EACH.

On Thursday, also, two young men named J. W. Radcliff and J. W. Hapgood plead guilty to being concerned with two others in stealing sections of a trolley belonging to one Nicholls. On the suggestion, however, of the district attorney, Judge Zane appointed Judge McKay to confer with the defendants, there being some doubt as to whether they rightly understood the nature of the charge against them.

Judge McKay this morning announced that when he first conferred with them they decided to withdraw their former pleas, plead not guilty and stand trial; and he thought they ought to do so under the circumstances, as stated to him. Upon his meeting the defendants now, however, they both seemed disposed to waive a trial, and were ready for sentence. The judge went on to state that the grievance from which the latter was stolen are should near the Hot Springs, and among other property there was this cast iron trolley, in sections, which had lain outside the place for the last twenty years. Portions of old machinery, both inside and outside the building, had been picked up by people from time to time and carried away. The guilty person in this case was a man named John Sox, who had since skipped away, and these men and their two confederates who have proved not guilty were employed by him to help haul away the trolley with Johnson's team.

Radcliff, in answer to the court, said he was 22 years of age, and had lived in this city ten months. By trade he was a baker.

Hapgood is 21, and described himself as a "licensed vendor of vegetables." He has resided here about nine months, but said that when he first came to Salt Lake he did not know the other defendants.

Judge Zane sentenced them to a year in the penitentiary.

SATURDAY MOTIONS SHELVED.

In answer to Judge Sutherland, Chief Justice Zane said he did not expect to hear any of the usual Saturday motions today, as the case of Martha Turner vs. the Lauke et al., would probably occupy the whole of his time.

GRAND JURY CAME IN.

The grand jury came into court about 10:15 and made a report. They had found one indictment under the laws of the territory, but inasmuch as the person named as it not as yet in custody, the name was withheld from the public for the present. At the request of the district attorney Clerk Stallings issued a special warrant for the individual's arrest.

The charge of adultery against Mark Hizzer was ignored.

When asked by the court whether they had anything further to do in the grand jury room, Foreman Conklin replied—We have caught up with our business and thought of adjourning now until May 22nd.

OVERRULED.

In the case of the United States vs. Aurelius M. Richardson, charged with violating the internal revenue law, the demurrer submitted yesterday by Attorney J. A. Williams was overruled and an exception taken.

THIS MEETS THE SAME FATE.

T. D. Beatty vs. Andrew Stevenson. Motion to set aside order dismissing appeal in this case heard on affidavits and overruled.

FOR THE PLAINTIFF.

In the suit of A. Levy et al. vs Geo. Parkin et al., by consent judgment was entered for the plaintiff for $425.

TO VACATE JUDGMENT.

Lawrence vs. L. D. Kinney. Motion to vacate judgment set for hearing three weeks from today.

BEFORE JUDGE BARICH.

In the case of John E. Billings (assignee) vs. E. H. Parsons, tried yesterday, a stay of ten days was allowed, on motion of the defendant, to make a showing.

John W. Snell vs. Chas. L. Scanlon. Ten days from this date allowed to answer.

The case of Rufus A. Beattie vs. John J. Byrnes, administrator, et al. was called up for trial. It is a dispute in regard to the forfeiture of a twenty-years' lease, the consideration being $100 per month rental.

THE MINNIE BARTON MATTER.

The following cases (consolidated) in which Martha Turner is the plaintiff and the Union National bank, Wells Fargo & Co., and the Utah Title Insurance & Trust Co. are the defendants, have been against trial in Judge Zane's court today. It is claimed, entered in these cases one yesterday, that on February 20, 1893, one Minnie Barton, now deceased, assigned to Mrs Turner all her personal property which consisted mainly of certain moneys in the banks, viz., Union National bank, $2000; Wells, Fargo & Co., $2000; Utah Title Insurance Trust company, $633.57. She now sues in a demand for these sums. Attorney Clarence Hall, as administrator of the deceased's estate, is the nominal party in the suit, and it is treated that even if it be true the assignment was made, upon proceeding was the fault of an illegitimate, and that the deceased was not of proper mind at the time it was executed. Hulda Hutch, a very fashionably dressed woman of thirty-five or forty, was the first witness called to the stand this morning, and she was severely cross-examined by Attorney E. W. Tulock, of counsel for the defense, particularly with regard to the dying words of the deceased woman, Mrs Barton, and as to what if improper influence to the so-called assignment of her property to plaintiff. The case is being fought contested and will run through today and probably part of Monday.

Probate Court.

Judge Blair made the following orders yesterday afternoon:

Estate of Elizabeth Very, deceased; order made appointing appraisers and publication of notice to creditors.

Estate of John H. Romel, Jr., deceased. Hearing on petition for family allowance and order made as prayed.

In the matter of the guardianship of Frank H. Mosier, a minor, a hearing was had on final account. Order made allowing account and discharging guardian.

It was Against Parsons.

The case of Arthur Pratt vs. E. H. Parsons (a claim for services as deputy United States marshal at Ogden) succeeded in Judge Zane's court yesterday afternoon. As all the jury came into court with a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $[illegible]—signed by eleven jurors.

After the Board of Education.

The Builders and Traders' association have an eye on the city Board of Education, and began dissecting supposed weak points in the law's armor last evening by passing the following:

Whereas, the Board of Education has authority under law to be constituted the Oquirrh school by the superintendent in direct violation of the school law of the Territory of Utah, which requires six wards to be allowed twenty days and to be the lowest responsible bidder, therefore,

Resolved, That the Builders and Traders' Exchange protest against the illegal action of the Board of Education, and hereby notifies that body that it will take legal proceedings to stop said work, if commenced, as authorized by the Board of Education at its meeting of April 20th.

Information Wanted.

Information is wanted of the whereabouts of William Aspinall, of light complexion and moustache, age thirty-nine, about five feet three inches in height. He was last heard from March 19th, 1893, from Denver, Colorado, and said he was going to Utah in about a month from that time. Any information regarding him will be gladly received by his anxious parents. Address, William Aspinall, 37 Palmerston street, Little Bolton, Lancashire, England, or E. D. Brown, Hurricane, Washington county, Utah.

Suicide of Will B. Erb.

Word reached Salt Lake last night to the effect that Will B. Erb, son of Major Erb, formerly proprietor of the Walker house in this city, had committed suicide at Butte, Montana, yesterday.

The suicide was about twenty-four years of age, well educated and accomplished. The body will be forwarded to Omaha for interment.

En Route Home.

Hon. J. C. Ames, ex-mayor of Chicago, Illinois, and a leading banker of that city, accompanied by his wife and two children, arrived in Salt Lake today, and are guests at the Temple. They have been spending the winter in northern Mexico, and are now en route home from San Francisco.

THE CURFEW ORDINANCE.

Mayor Baskin Keeping up His Reputation of Knocking Some Legislation Into Smith Form.

Mayor Baskin has vetoed the curfew ordinance recently passed by the City Council and gives his reasons in the following language:

"I herewith return disapproved the ordinance making it a crime for children under 14 years of age to be upon the streets of public places in Salt Lake City at unreasonable hours without proper permission, which was passed by the City Council April 14th, for the following reasons:

"The ordinance provides that 'it shall be unlawful, between the hours of 9 o'clock in the evening and 5 o'clock in the morning, from November 1st to April 1st, and between the hours of 10 o'clock in the evening and 5 o'clock in the morning from April 1st to November 1st, for any child under 14 years of age to be upon any of the streets or public places in Salt Lake City unless in the care of some adult relative or authorized protector or unless provided with a written permit from the parents, guardian of other persons having control of such child or from the chief of police.'

"It seems to me that these provisions are unreasonable. Business houses, churches and places of amusement are naturally kept open after the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock in the evening, and the numerous social gatherings in the city do not break up until after these hours. Numerous business houses persons under 14 are employed, many children under that age, by permission of their parents or guardians, attend night services in the churches, and many by the permission attend the theaters and other places of amusement. I do not think it right that such persons should be required in order to be protected from arrest and enjoy the right to pass quietly and orderly through the public streets of the city to keep themselves armed with a permit or place themselves in the keeping of some adult.

"The penalty for the violation of the ordinance is a fine of $1 for the first offense, for the second not to exceed $5, and if arrested and convicted for a third offense the child shall be deemed guilty of incorrigible and vicious conduct and shall be fined not less than $5 nor more than $25. It is not to be presumed that members of twelve years have the means to pay fines. It therefore seems to me that the fines shall be exercised for, but in that the police should be instructed to escort such children to their homes, and in case any children should be found on the streets without legitimate excuse say 12 o'clock in the evening the police should be empowered to take them to their homes, and in case any should prove to be homeless and destitute provision should be made to take care of them and educate them. Punishment by fine should not be inflicted on any one except for crime, and it will surely be conceded that the exercise of the natural right by a child of being upon or passing through the public streets after the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock in the evening, without some attending circumstance which of itself is criminal, is not of incorrigible and vicious conduct."

For the Plaintiff.

The $5000 damage suit of Charles A. Dole against the Oquirrh Land & Water company, tried in Judge Bartch's court yesterday afternoon, reached the jury at a late hour. They found in favor of the plaintiff for $[illegible]. The verdict was signed by ten jurors.

Artistic.

The show window of the Walker Brothers and Fyler store at the corner of East Temple and Third South streets is a picture well worth going some distance to see. The window is fitted up in the plan of a bedroom, with elegant curtains and rich furniture, etc. In one bed there is a representation of two children who have just retired, while alongside of their couch is a lady, presumably their mother, with a night lamp in one hand and a book in the other, bidding the little ones good night. In another part of the room is a lady with an infant in her arms, standing beside a cradle's bed. Near one end of the room stands a five or six year-old boy, looking at a volume of Shakspeare on a small table. Altogether the arrangement has a pleasing effect, and attracts general attention from passers-by. The design of the window originated with Mr. Fyler, and was executed by the firm's window trimmer, Mr. Pearson, and the upholsterer and draper, Mr. Rendall, the latter a gentleman formerly with Daniels & Fisher, of Denver.

T. P. A.

A meeting of all commercial travelers who have headquarters in Salt Lake is called to meet at the Knutsford hotel at 7:30 this evening, for the purpose of forming a Utah division of the Travelers' Protective association of America. Mr. K. P. Oliver of Denver is here for the purpose of seeing the organization perfected.

Killed While Intoxicated.

The coroner's jury which made an official inquiry this afternoon into the killing of Joseph M. Carr at Sandy last evening as announced in another article in this issue, returned a verdict to the effect that the deceased came to his death while attempting to board a Union Pacific car which was in motion, while under the influence of liquor.

A Choice Temple Number.

The Co-Partner souvenir number is issued from the press, and amply fulfills the promise of its publishers. The principal article is, of course, one concerning the Salt Lake Temple and its dedication. This matter occupies 61 pages and is profusely illustrated. This article contains everything of interest concerning the Temple and its dedication, being the first complete history and description of the building and ordinances, and is a paper which the Saints should preserve for future reference.

Home Missionary Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the home missionaries of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion will convene in the Social Hall, Salt Lake City, Wednesday, April 26th, 1893, at 7:30 p.m.
