

Mrs. Reed Smoot gave a pretty dinner party on Monday evening in honor of the birthday anniversary of their son, Harold. In the center of the table was a beautiful birthday cake surrounded by dainty spring blossoms. Covers were laid for eight.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Thurman announce the engagement of their daughter Lydia to Mr. Clare W. Reid. The marriage to take place early in June.

LEHI.

One of the most pleasing and leading social events of the season was the reception tendered Mrs. Mosiah Evans by the Ladies' Literary Club, at the home of Mrs. Barbara A. Bush last Saturday evening. Mrs. Evans has been one of the leading members of the club, but will soon depart for Garland, Utah, where her husband, Hon. Mosiah Evans, who is resident manager of the Utah Sugar company there, has built a palatial home. The floral decorations were beautiful and the mantels were laced and chandeliers loaded with beauty and fragrance. A program of games had been arranged, which was very entertaining and amusing. The most amusing feature of the evening was a millinery contest by the gentlemen, the ladies having the pleasure of appearing under the hats trimmed by their partners. The hats were closely judged by a committee of ladies, and while many of the gentlemen displayed undreamed of artistic taste, the laurels were won by Mr. Jas. H. Gardner, who was awarded a bunch of carnations. A guessing contest was indulged in, the prize for which was won by Mrs. R. E. Steele. A unique menu was presented, consisting of numerous delicacies, under assumed names and was served on silver decorated with floral designs and apple blossoms. The serving was done by Misses Elsie Bush and Hazel Evans, who were prettily attired in white with sprays of apple blossoms. The guests present were: Hon. and Mrs. Mosiah Evans, Hon. George Austin and daughter, Emma, Mr. and Mrs. John Y. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Childs, Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Steele, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Taylor, Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Stookley, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Wade, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Laben, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Ingalls, Mr. and Mrs. G. I. Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Welch, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Friel, Mrs. Sarah T. Evans, Mr. Joseph Wing, Mrs. Harling, Mrs. T. R. Cutler, Jr., Mrs. Walter L. Webb, Mrs. B. A. Bush, Mrs. Mattie Quinn, Mrs. Astell and Misses Marie Bush, Cherry, Elsie Bush, Essie Evans and Hazel Evans.

IN WOMAN'S WORLD.

An improvement on the work bags made entirely of silk are new ones made on a foundation of basket work. The little flat trays to be found in all sizes at Japanese shops are chosen, and the silk sewed on the inside rim. The basket is first laid and slightly padded with sachet if desired. The silk is gathered in bag fashion at the top, making a pretty and substantial receptacle for sewing materials or embroidery.

All the tedious skimming and straining of soup can be avoided if one takes the precaution to put in a small unpeeled onion at the very start and permit it to remain until one is ready to thicken the soup. When lifted out it will be found that this vegetable has served as a magnet to draw to itself all the floating sediment, leaving the broth as clear as crystal, yet in no wise impairing its nourishment quality.

Celery, parsley, lettuce or watercress can be kept fresh and green an indefinite length of time by being thoroughly sprinkled with water each day, put into a brown paper bag to keep it from the air and place on ice. Celery, especially grows mellow under this treatment.

In making lemonade, increased richness and flavor can be obtained by stirring granulated sugar into the lemon juice until a thick syrup is formed about two hours in advance of one's need. This should be placed in a refrigerator until wanted, when shaved ice is to be added and stirring resumed. Just before serving pour in water, still stirring while letting the water drip in slowly from a funnel.

Baked bananas are delicious with breakfast. According to a What-To-Eat recipe, the bananas should have a section of their skin removed, and a seasoning of salt, and should be baked for fifteen minutes. They will be quite black.

In California there is a fad for eating abalone, a large mussel, which furnishes the beautiful shells used for ornamental purposes. The Chinese have eaten them for years, but until recently Americans scorned them as food. Now abalone chowder, soup, and even abalone steaks are considered great delicacies in San Francisco. Doubtless the people will find their way to New York markets before long.

Fruit from South Africa is becoming a common sight in city markets. Peaches and plums are especially fine. The fruit travels first to England, and from there to New York, and it is hard to see where the profit to the grower comes in, after paying for the careful packing, the long transportation, and the import duties. Large peaches sell in this market for fifteen cents apiece.

SALT LAKERS IN GOTHAM.

NEW YORK, May 2.—At last we can truly say that that most beautiful of all seasons, spring, is once more with us. Many spots of green have already been noted in the park and it is indeed a pleasure to gaze at them after the long wet winter that has but recently departed. Salt Laker contemplating a visit to the metropolis will see the city at her best if they plan their arrival during the present season.

Perhaps the largest and best entertainment given by the Mutual Improvement association of the Brooklyn branch, was the one held Friday evening to mark the close of the association's work until fall. It was doubly interesting, as it was the last appearance of a number of the colony who will take their departure this week for Zion. The affair was a success in every way and the program was one that pleased the old as well as the young.

Elder Woods, the president of the association, was master of ceremonies, and too much can not be said in praise of his efforts in making the Mutual what it now is, and also for the pleasant social that have occurred at different intervals during the past winter. The program in full follows: Prayer, President McQuarrie, vocal solo, Mrs. Lennie Savage Elder, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Reuben Clark; Mrs. Elder was forced to respond with an encore, the next number, a song by Miss Bertha Crawford, was heartily encored; Miss Zella Smart gave a reading in most pleasing style and showed that she has marked ability in this line of work; Phyllis Thatcher rendered a violin solo that was warmly applauded; Miss Nelson was pleasing in a whistling act. She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Phyllis Thatcher. Lulu Gates' appearance was the signal for much applause, as it was the last opportunity afforded the colony to hear her splendid voice; she sang two numbers; Prof. Wardlaw, a member of the "Way Down East" company, gave some clever imitations; Miss Blanche Thomas, who closed her theatrical season last week, gave a recitation in her charming way which demanded an encore. President Arthur Weiling pronounced the benediction. It will be unnecessary to state to the many who have been in attendance at one of these gatherings that conversation and a general hand-shaking all round was indulged in for some time before the janitor was able to lock up for the night.

President McQuarrie of the Eastern States mission arrived Friday evening from Salt Lake where he went to attend the April conference; upon his arrival he immediately made his way to the entertainment above mentioned, where he was enthusiastically greeted.

The exodus of part of the colony begins this week, when a number will leave for their mountain homes to spend the summer months. Miss Emma Lucy Gates and Bertha Crawford and Messrs. Cecil Gates and Irving Snow have their departure scheduled for this (Monday) afternoon. They go direct home without stopping at St. Louis, as they say they are so anxious for the moment to arrive when the conductor announces "Salt Lake" that it would be out of the question for them to enjoy any of the many attractions at the fair. However, they expect to make the stop there when they return in the fall.

Mrs. George W. Thatcher, with her daughters, Mrs. Elsie and Miss Phyllis, and niece Miss Gladys Spencer, leave on Tuesday for their home in Logan. They have spent the past year in New York where all three ladies have studied their different professional lines.

Miss Phyllis will be missed at the Sunday services, where she has acted as organist during her year's sojourn here, and it will be hard to replace her.

Mr. Wesley Early, who had planned a most delightful trip with Mrs. Early, and the notion of which has been previously made, was detained at the last moment by one of his clients for whom he is putting through a large deal, and in business is business with Mr. Early, he couldn't very well, under the circumstances, make the trip without leaving his affairs in better shape. He returned from Philadelphia Friday, where he was called on business.

Mr. Hyrum Woolley, who has been in New York since February promoting his inventions, left April 22 for his home in Paris, Ida. He stopped at the Grand hotel during his stay.

Mr. George H. Gillette, husband of Viola Pratt Gillette, recently returned from Cuba, where he has been for some time in the interests of his company, which is one of the largest rubber tree concerns here. On Friday the directors of the company of which he is secretary, gave a large dinner at Delmonico's.

Nearly every Sunday paper yesterday morning had Leona Darmon's (Leona Pratt) picture as one of the principals in "The Two Little Sailor Boys," a new production that follows William H. Crane at the Academy of Music tomorrow night. Miss Pratt will soon be as noted as Maud Fealy for having her picture in the papers, if she keeps on at the present rate. Last Tuesday's Journal devoted a three-column heading to her, and in a very thrilling article told how she nearly met death while taking a Turkish bath at the Hoffman House. A large half-tone reproduction accompanied the article, and also an illustration showing the rescue. The whole affair was nothing more or less than a "pipe dream" of a press agent. Miss Pratt had no knowledge of its appearance until shown a copy of the paper.

Mrs. T. F. Mulloy, well known to Salt Laker, is making New York her home. Mrs. Mulloy came here last September, and while she is very well pleased with New York yet, like many other Utahns, she often sighs for the refreshing mountain breezes of Zion. Mrs. Mulloy is comfortably located at 200 West Ninety-second street.

Miss May Critchlow, the popular German teacher of the high school, has been visiting with Mrs. Mulloy for some time. She expects to start for the west in a few days, but will not reach Salt Lake until August, as the many stops she has planned embrace Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago, Omaha and Denver.

The conference of the Latter-day Saints has been in session today, and representatives of New York, Brooklyn, Jersey, Newark, East Orange and Oceanide have been in attendance. Three meetings have been held today, all of which were crowded. At this afternoon's session, President McQuarrie delivered a stirring address that occupied most of the time. President John M. McFarland was the other speaker, and he compared in a very vivid manner the difference between the valley of Salt Lake 57 years ago and what it is today. His remarks were especially interesting to outsiders, as it showed to them what the "Mormons" had accomplished with practically nothing to start with.

Charley Johnson, the photographer, who has been in the orient for some time with Madame Mountford, the noted lecturer, getting material for an exhibit they intend to make at the St. Louis exposition, passed through here recently en route to that city, where he will remain all summer.

Elder H. Leslie Crandall, who has been laboring in the Pennsylvania conference, arrived in New York yesterday on his way home to Driggs, Ida., where he has been called by the sudden death of his father. Elder Crandall has been very unfortunate since leaving home, as he has also lost an older brother. He leaves for his home tomorrow. C. C. S.
