FIGHTING CHINAMEN.

Peace Disturbers, Petty Larcenists, Inebriates and Other Violators of Law.

Hong Gong and Ong Gon, a couple of Chinamen, engaged in a dispute on Commercial street last evening, over a small amount of money alleged to be due one from the other for services rendered. A crowd was soon attracted to the scene of the disturbance and an effort was made to quiet the natives of the "Flowery kingdom," but they were bent on settling the matter then and there and proceeded to pummel each other in a brutal manner. They were finally separated and turned over to the police and placed in the city jail where they made sleep impossible to the other inmates. This morning they were natured into the presence of Justice Goss and fined ten each.

James Cassady awaits arraignment on a charged petit larceny, and Lewis Larsen plead guilty to disturbing the peace, and was mulcted in the sum of $10.

D. Hayes is held to answer for the alleged commission of a similar offence.

Richard Thompson, a chronic inebriate, also plead guilty to drunkenness. Sentence was suspended.

Annie Hogg, a fallen woman, was run in by Detective Dagget last night on the usual charge. She is now incarcerated in the city jail.

Amusements.

"Cleopatra" was given last night at the Salt Lake Theatre by the Fanny Davenport company. The audience was normally large and earnestly, though decorously, enthusiastic. The presentation of Egypt's historic queen by Miss Davenport is a veritable revelation in the dramatic art. Her interpretation of Sardou's idealisms is such that the great French writer himself would have been delighted. The staging of the play is magnificent. It is doubtful if anywhere now anything in stage art and scenic grandeur could excel it.

The first act shows Cleopatra's barge "The Sink of Venus." It realizes truthfully Plutarch's description of the vessel. It is rich in all beauty. The second act shows the home of the Queen, with Antony lately in the net. In this act Miss Davenport displays her vocal ability to as great extent as the prevails on Antony to accompany his Roman friends to the battle. But in the third act, where she appears crowned with her lover, she does some of her best Antony she does some effective and well stirring work. This act closes with the determination of Caesarion to see Octavia, the wife of Antony. The fourth act shows the palace of Actium, the fifth the Temple of Isis, with its storm scene. The praying priests, the exhorting Queen, the prostrate Romans, the warring elements, all combined, made a picture the like of which can be seldom seen. The audience here broke into repeated rounds of applause. The sixth and last act portrays the pining Octavia and her soldiers, the death of Antony and Cleopatra.

Mr. MacDowell was a splendid Roman. Certainly he realizes all that the historians say of Antony. Mr. Roberts as Euphron was also excellent. The chorusses were well trained and worthy of unstinted praise. Tonight "Cleopatra" will be presented again, and for the third time tomorrow night. At the Saturday matinee "Fedora" will be given and "La Tosca" Saturday night.

Today a complete change of programme goes into effect at "Wonderland" for the ensuing week. Miss Stingaree, a freak who uses her toes in place of her hands is a wonder in herself. Catalle exhibits his famous illusion the Egyptian princess. Professor Martin and his trained dogs, Meagrare and Pepelle, the Dolon comedians, and the boneless man are among the other features of the programme.

SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION.

The Semi-Annual Conference of the Organization.

The semi-annual Conference of the Deseret Sunday School Union was held in the Tabernacle, at 7:30 p. m., October 4th, 1891. The general attendance was good, and most of the members of the board were present.

Meeting was called to order by Assistant General Superintendent George Goddard.

The choir and congregation joined in singing:

Come, come ye saints,
No toil nor labor fear;
But with joy wipe the tear,
Our light begins to appear, dim.

Assistant General Superintendent George Goddard spoke in substance as follows: I have been requested to give a synopsis in brief of the labors of the Deseret Sunday School Union during the last six months.

Our bodies having run out, we have just taken a reprint of the shortage needed, which can be had at the Deseret Sunday School office.

To increase the attendance of the children at the Sunday school we have issued what is called a "visiting book," wherein the teacher who goes round his beat or district every Sabbath morning to insure the attendance of every pupil enters the name of each delinquent school goad in his beat, and it his duty to see that every child each Sunday. If he or she should be absent it is marked in this book, and the next Sunday the teacher calls upon the absentee and finds out the cause, etc. We have found this plan an excellent one, and it enables the superintendent to keep a close watch upon the number and ages of children in his ward.

We have our own article procure pictures of paintings of the important events in the early life of Nephi, etc., which formed the basis of the Book of Mormon charts, which we expect will be ready for sale about February, 1892. We have ordered 1,000 sets of twelve pictures each, and they will be a great aid in teaching the children of Zion the truth and history of the Book of Mormon. It was for this purpose—that of aiding us in rising means—that you were called upon to donate, at least five cents from each school, teacher and superintendent. To this there has been a very generous response.

In the past six months the members of the board have visited nearly two-thirds of all the States of Zion. Their visits have been interesting and profitable, but it was at times when our views or jubilees were held and we could not get at the true labor of the students. A review should be one, and not recitations, songs, etc., foreign to Sunday school work. It should consist of an epitome of the exercises that have been gone over by the students. And in all these reviews, all the pupils as much as possible should be brought in to use, that it may be a benefit to all. It should be well arranged to have the Athens of Faith responded to by all the school, the Words of Wisdom repeated in the same way, and thus every lesson upon the young the cardinal principles of the gospel.

Where it can be done, schools should be graded into the primary, intermediate and theological classes. Where this has been done, we find the progress very marked indeed.

The importance of the Sunday school labor demands that we try and employ the best talent, means, and exert the most influence along the young. There are nearly 700 officers and teachers now engaged in this cause; there are over 50,000 children among us between the ages of six and eighteen years. What a loss for the future of Zion!

Reports should be furnished completely by February of each year. Blanks will be sent you for this purpose, and all should see to it that they are properly filled out and returned by the date named.

In some places the Stake superintendents find themselves cramped for means to enable them to travel without it being a hardship upon them. I would suggest that a fund be established in each Stake for traveling expenses, and that it be raised by means get up good concerts and charge a small admission fee.

The superintendent Richard Ballantyne of the Weber Stake made some interesting remarks on how he had increased the attendance of the children at school by the use of the Union books. He rejoiced to see the progress in the Weber Stake in the last twenty-eight years, during which time he had been their superintendent.

The Twenty-first ward choir, under the management of Elder Thomas Molyneux, rendered in style, "Sabbath Welcome."

General Superintendent George Q. Cannon then addressed the audience.

Elder George Reynolds presented the general officers of the Union as follows: George Q. Cannon, General Superintendent; George Goddard, First Assistant Superintendent; John Morgan, Second Assistant Superintendent, and the above with George Reynolds, Abraham H. Cannon, J. W. Summerhays, Thomas C. Griggs, Levi W. Richards, Francis M. Lyman and Heber J. Grant constituting the general board; George Reynolds as general Treasurer and John M. Whitaker as general Secretary of the Union. The vote was unanimous.

Apostle F. M. Lyman then followed, making some timely and good suggestions.

Lib. complete in seven, was beautifully rendered by the male choir from the Twenty-first Ward.

Benediction was pronounced by Elder George Reynolds.

Conference adjourned for six months.

JOHN M. WHITAKER, Clerk.

ARTICLES of incorporation of the "Fern Gold and Silver Mining and Milling Company" were filed with the county clerk this morning. The officers are: Jeremy Stone, president, Franklin D. Richards, vice president, A. Milton Musser, secretary, Bernard H. Schoetz, treasurer, John S. Ferris, Joseph W. Sylvester, Thomas Weaver and Barlow Ferguson, trustees.

DIED IN THE MOUNTAINS.

John Minter Loses His Way in Farley's Canyon and Perishes

WHILE HUNTING FOR STOCK.

His Faithful Dog Keeps Watch over the Remains of His Dead Master for a Week.

One week ago yesterday John Minter, a German cattle herder, who has been employed on the ranch of Crosman and Reid, at the mouth of Farley's Canyon, in company with two other herders, named Jensen and Richards, started into the mountains in search of cattle. The three men proceeded on foot, owing to the steepness of the trails over which they were compelled to travel. They left the ranch early in the day and succeeded in scaling the heights for which the herd had gone. By this time the wind was blowing a gale and dark and heavy clouds indicated that a storm was approaching, but the men went merrily on. By mutual consent they separated, each going in search of a certain number of animals. At nightfall Jensen and Richards returned to the ranch, but Minter did not put in an appearance. It was thought that under the circumstances, as it was believed that he had come to this city to secure the services of Chief Pedro, Deputy Mr. Hale went to the ranch and on searching for Minter, learned that he had not been seen for a week. He immediately set out for the place, ascended to the mountains in search of the missing man, thinking that he had perhaps lost his way and fallen over a precipice and thus met his death.

On the summit between Farley's and Mill Creek canyons, Jensen and Richards were startled by the barking and moaning of a dog. Knowing it to be Minter's, they hastened to the spot and found the object of their search lying on his back, with his knees drawn to his head, killed in such a manner as to serve as a pillow.

An investigation showed that the man was alone, having apparently been frozen to death. At his feet was his faithful shepherd dog, gaunt and hungry, keeping vigil over his master.

The two men carried their dead companion down the steep mountain side to Farley's ranch, where he was placed in Mr. Reid's buggy and brought to this city last night.

The remains were in a good state of preservation, though it is evident that the unfortunate man had died in the terrible snowstorm during the night which followed the day on which he was lost.

The body was taken to the undertaking establishment of Joseph E. Taylor, where an inquest was being held this afternoon.

The deceased was a German by birth and has resided in this Territory nearly twenty years. He was known as a sober and trustworthy man, and was about fifty years of age. He leaves no relatives in this Territory.

A SLEEK THIEF.

Hunted Down by his Victim and Landed in the City Jail.

About ten o'clock this morning, an individual of uncouth movements, entered the Salt Lake Equitable Co-op. on First South street, and asked to be shown a suit of clothes. After he had been waited on by an obliging clerk for some time, he said he had concluded that a pair of pants was all he wanted. This article of apparel he selected from a large number of others that were displayed on the counters. He was shown to a dressing room in the rear of the establishment where he removed his old trousers and replaced them by the new.

In the meantime the clerk waited on another customer, but occasionally glanced towards the dressing room, expecting to see the purchaser of the pants emerge therefrom. But the fellow did not appear least not as expected. Investigation showed that he had left the building by the back door. The individual's clerk and another attache of the store at once took the trail and followed the fellow by a circuitous route to the western part of the city, where he succeeded in overhauling the man. He was then hunted down and South Temple street, where he brought back to the store, wearing the stolen goods. When accosted with stealing the clothing he replied that he was innocent and had forgotten to pay the clerk. On refusing to make good the purchase price, a police officer was called in. On the arrival of the "hurry up" wagon he was taken to the City Hall, where he gave the name of Murphy, and said that he was aged 19, and was an Irishman by birth. He was booked on a charge of petit larceny.

A Bigbee Divorce Case In Which the Husband Is Petitioner.

Judge Zane this afternoon granted fifteen days' time to answer in the case of Emma Smith vs. Charles Smith.

In the case of the Godbe-Pitts Drug Co. vs. Joel F. Allen et al., a motion to dissolve attachment was argued by counsel and submitted. The demurrer to complaint was withdrawn.

John Taylor et al. vs. Joel F. Allen et al. Motion to dissolve attachment in this matter was likewise argued and submitted.

L. F. Hoal vs. Utah Central Railway Company et al, ten days' time allowed to answer in this case.

Charles Priest, administrator, vs. James Lewis. Continued on motion of plaintiff.

John Tribe vs. George F. Adkins et al. By consent an order was made by his Honor granting forty days to answer in this action.

MARRIAGE A DECIDED FAILURE.

The divorce suit of Albert Belcher vs. Dora Belcher was next called on, and the petitioner (for whom Colonel Ralph appeared) was still on the stand giving his testimony when our reporter left. The parties have resided at Bingham, and it would appear from the husband's statement that he has substantial reasons for taking steps to completely sever the marital knot. He alleges that his wife, wholly forsaking domestic ties, has for some time past abandoned home for pleasure, that she on more than one occasion declared to him that "one man is as good to her as another," and he further avers that he has caught her with strange men in a compromising manner.

Back from Britain.

This morning we had the pleasure of meeting Elder Fred Sonnet, who returned on the 1st inst. from Great Britain, where he has been on a mission. Brother Sonnet has been absent from Utah since November 17th, 1889. Owing to the recent illness of his father—President A. O. Smith of Utah Stake—President Woodruff released him from his mission that he might return home. His chief labors were in the Church office at Liverpool, where he conducted the business department. He was, however, traveled so opportunely afforded, attending conferences at various points and preaching the Gospel. He also made a tour of several weeks on the continent of Europe, visiting several of the leading countries. He was active and diligent in the discharge of his duties and performed a good work.

A Pleasant Affair.

A pleasant affair occurred last evening in the west wing of the Assembly Hall. It was a meeting of the veteran Democrats who have been labouring among the Mormons of New Zealand. Invitations had been sent out to a large number of them, and about sixty of them had their friends assembled.

A feast was prepared and served in regular Maori style, the food having been cooked in the native oven.

President William Paxman was unanimously chosen master of ceremonies and the company enjoyed themselves until a late hour in speech-making, singing, etc. A permanent committee was appointed and the event is to be celebrated each year. Many reminiscences and bits of experience were related, and the result is an increase of the already warm feeling which exists among them.

Primary Conference.

The Central Board of the Primary Associations held their annual conference in the Assembly Hall on Monday afternoon, October 5th. There was a very fair attendance.

The meeting was opened in the usual manner. The minutes of the last conference were read and approved.

A condensed report of the States and the financial and visiting report were also read and approved.

A very interesting address on the organization of the Primaries was delivered by Sister Amelia S. Rogers, President of the Davis Stake.

Remarks were made by President Louie B. Felt and Counselors Lillie T. Freeze and Clara C. Cannon.

A meeting of the Stake officers was also held on Sunday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, at the residence of C. R. Felt, 135 north Main street.

This was a very interesting session. Each officer had an opportunity of presenting her ideas and methods of conducting the primaries in the different Stakes, and listening each other's experience would be able to improve their own. It is expected that we will hold a conference and an officers' meeting every October.

MAY ANDERSON, Sec'y.

A River to Be Preserved.

Can't Help Thinking of the Money.

DUBLIN, Oct. 8.—The Evening Press the McCarthyite organ, says: "The death of Parnell is a terrible loss to those who thought that the Irish nation should take his life as a loss of Ireland's safety. They almost pretended he was God-like and undying. We cannot forget, even at this moment, how they calculated coldness that the death of McCarthy, would place Parnell in possession of the Parliaments. Let blame the faithful people in possession of the Parliament. Let blame the faithful people who did not fail to see that the cause of Ireland passed away with him, Ireland's cause would yet be fulfilled."

A BATTLE OF GIANTS.

A Debate Between Campbell and McKinley.

ADA, Ohio, Oct. 8.—For weeks a joint debate between Governor Campbell and Major McKinley has been referred to as impending. The battle of the giants and the discussion today fully demonstrated that they are honest practices as exponents of high and low tariff, respectively. The little town was smothered in bunting and decorations. The people and surrounding state came from all over the State and while much enthusiasm was displayed it was in friendly rivalry. Mr. Kinley's statements in his budget were offset by Campbell quoting: "American wool 24 cents, on account of the McKinley bill."

About thirty thousand people are in attendance. The two candidates arrived at noon and were driven to the residence of Prof. Lehr. J. M. Cornwell, chairman of the Hardin county Democratic committee, introduced Governor Campbell, who began the debate. After he has finished, Major McKinley will be introduced by J. C. Howey, chairman of the Hardin county Republican committee.
