wife upon my instruction, together with others."

MET MORRIS IN CHICAGO.

The witness further testified that Morris came to Chicago in January of this year and called upon him and they afterwards fixed up the mining contract which was to be used in the defense of Morris on the furniture matter. The paper was introduced in evidence and read to the jury. The witness identified all the letters and papers alleged to have been recorded during Morris's visit to the windy city.

ROUGHER THAN FOOTBALL.

The witness was visibly nervous when Prosecutor Whitlemore said, "Take the witness," and Judge Powers opened up a fusillade that proved to be a handling of Mr. Hayken in a manner with which a football game is a lullaby. Hayken's testimony at the former trial was reviewed and the witness's recollection refreshed so to his answers at that time as compared with his replies to similar questions today. Mr. Hayken's "you know" was frequently sprinkled through his answers and was a very familiar expression to those who had heard him testify before.

Judge Powers was continuing his cross-examination of Mr. Hayken this afternoon. After this witness is disposed of an attorney from Chicago, who was consulted by Hayken in regard to the mining deal and other "dishonest papers," will be put in the witness box.

WILLIAM LEWIS.

His Sanity or Insanity Being Investigated by Judge Street.

William Lewis occupies the position of being an insane prisoner in custody of the State. Four years ago he shot and killed a barber at Sandy and was brought to trial on a charge of murder. At the trial the fact developed that the prisoner was then insane and had been so at the time the crime was committed. Lewis was sent to the insane asylum and after four years of confinement and treatment at that institution he has apparently regained his reason. Today he is before Judge Street undergoing an examination as to his sanity. If he is adjudged to have his proper senses now, Lewis will be obliged to stand trial for murder; so he enjoys the unenviable position of being adjudged crazy or guilty of a crime of the first magnitude. It is likely, however, that if his sanity at the present time is clearly proven the trial on the charge of murder will occur only as a formality for the purpose of taking the case from the court records and clearing Lewis.

Size and Costs.

Daniel Lambert and Ephraim Lauritzen changed their plea of not guilty in the Federal court today. The charge against them was that of unlawfully cutting timber on United States lands. Each was fined $100 and costs.

THE GREEN BAG.

Louis Jergensen and Engeborg Mary Wang drew a marriage license today.

Circuit Judge Hanborn is expected to arrive soon to hear the Oregon Short Line case in the Federal court.

A notary's certificate was issued today to Mons Monson at Sanpete; also to Wm. R. Preston Jr. of Cache.

Judge Hitchie was engaged today in hearing the case of Emery Ward vs American Natural Gas and Fuel company.

James Welch was being tried in the police court today for the alleged unlawfully cutting timber. The case was being argued late afternoon.

Judge Street gave the sheriff leave today to withdraw summons in the case of Wells, Fargo & Co. vs George B. Margetts et al.

MINES AND MINING.

The Ontario Dividend and Something Of the Mine.

TODAY ON THE STOCK EXCHANGE

Mining On Buckskin Mountains—Placer Mining In Idaho—Pollock's Weekly Review.

The Ontario Mining company has declared its regular monthly dividend of 10 cents a share, the same to be paid on Monday. With its payment the company will have the handsome sum of $13,240,000 in dividends to its credit. This sum is about 40 per cent of the aggregate paid by all the mines in the State up to the present time, and shows to an extent at least, the greatness of the mine operated by the Ontario company.

The Ontario mine has its location in Park City, and is a property which it has passed the most expert geologists to account for. Its hidden depths have revealed ore in unlimited quantities, and during its operation miles of tunneling and drifting have been carried on. It is a producer of rich silver ore, and while its working force at present is nothing to what it has been, the mine is still yielding rich returns and promises to do so for years to come. It bears the distinction of being the greatest silver mine in the world.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

One Hundred and Twenty Shares Sold During the Call.

It was not until near the close of today's call that trading was commenced, the first transfer coming in the shape of a 20-share sale of Dalton stock at 3 cents a share. The sale was a strictly cash proposition and the money was turned over to the seller just as soon as the transaction was announced. Northern Light also figured in the trading and gave forth 100 shares at 50 cents. The stocks for the most part were fairly firm in tone closer, but no appreciable advances were brought out during the call.

The closing figures were as follows:

ON BUCKSKIN MOUNTAINS.

History of the Recently Organized Mining Districts.

"J. M." is willing to the St. George Union, has the following to say with regard to mining on Buckskin Mountain: This district was organized on the 6th day of April, 1896, and is known as the Warm Spring Mining District, in Mohave county, Arizona. Was organized by nine mine owners of said district. These mines were discovered and located by Oscar Boyle and several others in March, 1895, who done some work on a few claims and abandoned them, although reported having received $3,000 money on some of the ore. The principal ledge is a blue copper, or at least the surface showing, and it being so far from railroad facilities, they deferred doing any more with the mines until a more convenient time, and thereby lost their claims, some of which E. L. Robertson repossessed and has held up to the present time.

In February, 1896, the Miller boys of Shoshebury and Gara DeMille were informed of these properties by Oscar Boyle and encouraged them to inspect them, and on the first of April following started and arriving in Prescott on the 3rd, were informed that there was a rush on mining claims about Jacobs Lake, on the Buckskin mountains, which caused their curiosity still more, but they did not exhibit it and slowly turned their journey on to the previous goal, where they arrived on the 4th and were cordially met by several excited prospectors who were stalking through the forest of lofty pines, expecting everything but that a party of any kind, but evidently failed to secure the locust desired, as the Miller boys were fortunate enough to secure quite a few good claims among that used already been located. As soon as the Prescott prospectors saw that the last arrivals were business and only desired equal rights, the latter were kindly treated and when they had located sufficient for themselves and their friends they also assisted the district was organized, and C. F. Cox was elected district recorder, and appointed a committee to draft a code of district mining laws.

They have since done about $1,000 worth of assessment work on mining claims in said district.

Some have thought the ore was a blanket vein but it seems to have been deposited in southwest and is found eighteen feet below the surface in the Mammoth mining shaft, sunk by the Five Mining company, which is known as the Arizona Mining and Milling company. Another company called the Firebaugh Mining company, and also one called the Shoesbury company have been organized.

The assays on the ore run from $1.50 to $28.75 gold and 10 to 37 per cent copper and was reported by all who have examined it, to be very valuable properties.

Placer Mining in Idaho.

Idaho City correspondence to the Boise Statesman says:

During the past two weeks we have had either rain or snow almost every day, which will prove of great benefit to our placer miners next spring.

Wilmon G. Heeds is still doing development work on his Gem group of mines, and will commence work on others in the same district soon. The properties are under bond to a Denver company.

Supplies for the winter are now all in at the New York, and the tunnel to develop the vein at more than a depth has been started. By spring the mine will have been developed to considerable depth, when the necessary will be able to determine as to the size of mill that will be needed.

Smart and Pierce are doing development work on mines near the Gold Stripe, six miles south of the place. They have taken some very good ore out of these mines, and think of erecting a small mill early in the spring.

POLLOCK'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

The Market Strong With Higher Grades of Stocks Leading.

James A. Pollock says in his weekly mining stock market letter under date of today:

The week's market was extremely strong with the higher grade of stocks leading on large transactions. The volume was big, quotes and declines and the market displayed a steadier tone than has been characterized for months past. As encouraging into-the-inspiring memory as to revenue and local strong interests are taking advantage of market conditions to quietly absorb stocks.

There is but little sentiment in the buying, the paramount influence being apparently, to get in before stocks reach a higher level of values. I trust that the market is not overreaching itself and that the genial effect of improved trade conditions will be reflected in a permanent strength well maintained.

Alta was slightly lower in the close to-day, with only a small amount of the stock out. Some splendid shipments of good grade ore are coming from the property and others are looking very well. Again did Anchor and Alliance remain inactive, with absolutely no inquiry for the stocks. Bullion Beck continued strong and quotations ended the week fully one dollar above the market price of three weeks ago. The splendid showing at the mines and anticipations of many performances such as that given by the company on Monday are keeping the stock both active and strong.

There is practically no Centennial-Eureka in this market at present. Would-be buyers have about given up their endeavors to secure any of the security at old time figures. The company is making the usual shipments of very high grade ore and pays regularly the usual dollar per share monthly in dividends. Black Jack and Grand Central looking for that anticipated quarterly dividend which should have come on Wednesday, and which may yet come on Wednesday, quarterly payments. It seems that the dividend paid in August was declared in 1895 and neglected. N. A. Natural Gas and Fuel continues to be treated and to be obtained at the best offers. The company is solidly well capitalized, and the management firm. Daly West was firm, with buyers and sellers and very close together. Dalton was slightly stronger in the close. Jo Dandy has come from the properties for some time.

Galena was about unchanged, with very limited inquiry in the city. Several shipments of high grade ore from the properties were on the market. Lexpar has about completed its mill that case. The mill will give the company a capacity of 100 tons per day. Tetrick was not very active but remains firm. Hard ore continues slow. In the East there is reported increased inquiry for the stock with advancing figures. In Lily Bill continues firm, with only inquiry.

Continuing in its course of the past several weeks, Mercur advanced to-day and the advancing work in the close cuts a bright reading, a very limited amount of the stock changing hands in the close. Parties knowing of ore at the mines of the company are better than ever satisfied of the great worth of the company's property, a exceptional record for economical operation and increased production. An indication of the work to be the case, Magnolia issues its November dividend. This as has been discussed by holders, now over, and the stock did not change materially. It is now likely that payments will be deferred for one or two months more. Improvements being made at the properties are satisfactory. Northern Light continued quite strong at the fifty cent mark. The mill is now enclosed. Omaha has declared its November dividend of 10 cents per share. It is reported that the Sacramento will find 30,000 shares of its treasury stock at once. This company's properties adjoin those of the Mercur, and are equipped with a cyanide plant in superfluid quantities.

Sunbeam was in good demand, but at moderate quotations, while Tecumseh seemed to slightly higher figures. Silver King was very strong, with extremely tight offerings. Sunshine and Columbus Rexford showed at about last week's forms. A silent increase in interest was noted. Official statements are to the effect that the showing of ore was very gratifying and that the mill is working quite satisfactorily. No steps have been taken to carry out the promised increase in capacity. Utah was unchanged. The manager reports a very favorable showing at the properties, with supplies of high grade ore having been made.

How Mines Are Found.

Under the above heading the Inter-Mountain Review says:

The first gold found in Cripple Creek was not made by hand and the united mine sold.

Frank Wilson's April Fool mine at De Lamar, Nevada, is the result of an April Fool's Day joke.

A sinking mule exposed the first piece of mineralized rock in what is now the famous Marion district in Utah.

An unsophisticated Swede rolled down the slope of Mount Daisy and struck a boulder of value, which led to the discovery of the Dalton and other gold properties.

A hail fight was the cause of the discovery of mineral at Kamloops, British Columbia, the animals having torn up the ground so that valuable quartz was exposed.

The principal claim of the Midland Mining company of Bingham is represented as the Dampbell, one of the prospectors having so designated his partner when the latter started to look there for mineral.

Bips and Spurs.

John J. Daly will go out to the Daly-West in the morning.

Several mining people spent Thanksgiving in the Tintic district, including John Justice We-ger and his associates in the Mayday Mining company.

Reports from Mercur indicate that a large body has been encountered in the Hecla. The strike was made in a drift about 40 feet from the shaft.

The Bryan mine in Big Cottonwood canyon, owned largely by Felix J. Stark, is closed down for the winter on account of there being too much snow to permit of operations.

During the past summer activity was rife on the claims located near Alta in Little Cottonwood canyon, but since snow has began to fall the miners for the most part have abandoned their properties until the return of spring. Some few, however, have erected cabins and will peg away all winter.

Ketchum, Idaho, Keystone: By a miner reported from Custer we learn Hunsaker & McCormick, of Salt Lake, have bonded the Montana mine on Mt. Estes, a few miles from Custer. The property is reported about 300 to 900 in shipping ore. It is opened to a depth of 60 feet, and has a large vein of mining ore and gold ore exceedingly developed. Also, that the Lucky Boy mine at Custer is at present showing as much rich ore as at any time in history. It is now owned and operated by Trewett, Hunsaker & Co., of Salt Lake.

The M. I. League Meeting.

All members of the M. I. League are requested to meet at the League rooms (Old Scenic Hall) this evening, at 7:30 o'clock. Every member should be present.

Social Gatherings.

The Saints of the Fifth ward are not dead nor sleeping. On Thanksgiving eve the married and older people of the ward assembled in the assembly house and had a time of rejoicing in listening to the rendition of an excellent program and lounging in a social dance. On Thanksgiving night the younger people of the ward gathered together and took part in a repetition of that which took place the night before. The object of these gatherings was to raise means for the better furnishing of the meeting house and in this, the entertainments were a good success.

Returned Elder.

Elder Otis Johnson of Grantsville, Tooele county, paid the News a pleasant call Wednesday. He received his call to go on a mission to Iowa and Missouri, where he has been laboring the past two years. He left for that field on Sept. 19, 1894, and has presided over the Iowa conference the last year. He says he enjoyed good health during his service and had many opportunities of bearing a testimony to the truth of the Gospel.

Bad Each Other Arrested.

A case in which one defendant charges another with assault and battery was in progress in the police court at press time. Dick Ferguson and Fred Robinson are the principals. Both met to the New State saloon on Second South street yesterday afternoon and engaged in a genuine "scrap" after which one had the other arrested.

MINOR MENTION.

J. W. Medell, age not which was in charge of assault and battery, was fined $10 and costs in police court today for the preservation.

Rosie Indian and Squaw Indian, both of whom were arrested yesterday on drunkenness, pleaded guilty to the charge in the police court today. Sentences was suspended.

Attorney W. T. Gunter is at present filling the role of pro senior in the absence of Mr. Mimer, being now in Lisbon. Gunter handles his cases to advantage.

Harry B. Windsor, the well known insurance man, celebrated Thanksgiving Day yesterday by taking unto himself a wife in the person of Miss Lou B. McIntyre, principal of the Park City Kindergarten schools. The young couple have many friends who wish them unbounded happiness and success in their matrimonial venture.

Martin Hayden, of Ignatius county, and Nora Sam, arrived in the city from Chicago yesterday to give testimony against his erstwhile confidant, who has now absconded and who expected friend Joseph R. Morris, the ex-county selectorate.

A MISSING MONEY CLERK.

It Is Feared a Large Sum Vanished With Him.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 27.—Geo. E. Ross, the missing money clerk of the Pacific and United States express companies, has much behind at St. Louis, by the report of those who turnished his bond and is under surveillance, according to a special to the Coral paper. Officials still refuse to give information, but enough has been learned, says a local paper, to warrant the statement that evidence of collusion between certain employes to rob the express companies, has turned up. Last Sunday there was handled through the office over which Ross presided money packages containing $119,000 and always $2,500 is known to be missing. The footing checks have been coming in so regularly since the examination began that it is into the officials fear that the whole $119,000 may never have reached its destination.

NOT LOCATED.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 27.—Upon inquiry it has been found that the special report sent to a Kansas City paper that George E. Ross, the missing money clerk of the United States and Pacific express companies, had been located at St. Louis, is unfounded, so far as known here. Superintendent Miller, of the Pacific company, said he had received no information from any one concerning Ross' presence in this city.

The Kentucky Election.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 27.—The state contesting board opening of state canvass, certainly so state attorney general stated such today in canvass the returns of the recent election. Official returns give Bradley, the leading Republican vector, 218,171, and Smith, the leading Democratic elector, 227,893 votes, McKinley's official majority is 241.

Smith, who headed the Bryan electoral ticket defeats Wedding and Hoke, the two lowest McKinley electors who are tied. The electoral college will decide which of these electors shall vote. Under the state law thirty days after the canvass is given to file a notice of contest. No such notice has yet been given. Since, however, the time for filing notice has before the state board, stated to an Associated Press representative that eleven contests of seats of Republican electors will be presented on Monday.
