BLOCKED THE STREETS.

Rio Grande Trainman is Fined Ten Dollars for Obstruction.

In the criminal division of the city court this morning three railroad men, employed by the Rio Grande Western, were arraigned on the charge of obstructing the streets, or violating the street ordinance. The men are accused of permitting a string of freight cars to remain on the crossing on Second south and Fifth west streets for 15 minutes, thereby preventing street cars and teams from crossing the street.

The men arrested are W. J. Lemmon, A. L. Houston and E. R. Pearson. The first named took until Monday to plead and the case of Pearson went over until that time. Houston pleaded guilty and was fined $10.

Numerous complaints have been made recently against trainmen blocking the streets, and it is claimed by the city attorney that the men do it deliberately. The railroad company has refused to furnish counsel for defense in such cases and has tested bulletins to the effect that those arrested for such offenses will have to stand the consequences personally.

CHANGED HIS PLEA.

A young man named Pat O'Connor, charged with stealing a coat from a Commercial street pawn shop, was tried this morning for petit larceny. Two witnesses testified they saw O'Connor take the coat. At this point the accused said he would change his plea of not guilty to guilty. Judge Dight then sentenced the man to pay a fine of $75 or serve 15 days in the city jail.

There is no change in the strike situation. About 12 men left camp this morning for Salt Lake, where they will look for work.

The aerial tram of the Ontario mine, which was broken several days ago, has been repaired and will start hauling ore again tomorrow.

NEWTON CASE MONDAY.

The case of Atty. William Newton, charged with receiving stolen property, was to have been settled in Judge Dight's court this morning. The defense had made a motion to dismiss on the grounds that the state had failed to make out a case, but the court took the matter under advisement again and will decide the question next Monday morning.
