MINING, BUSINESS AND STOCKS

MINING SHARES IN BETTER TONE.

Day's Business Was More Active And Figures Generally Remained Firm

LOWER MAMMOTH IS STRONG.

New York Also Advanced and Sold Above 27—Con. Mercur Finds Takers at 55

The stock market was in better tone today, figures generally being firm and trading more active than the day previous. Lower Mammoth grew exceeding strong and sold up to 3¾, while New York also advanced and was a favorite in the trading between 26 and 27. A surprise of the call was the sale of 1,000 shares of Con. Mercur at 55, with the stock firm in the bidding at 55. Uncle Sam continued strong at 30 cents, while Star Con. sold at 11 and had a closing bid of 10½. United States Mining fell off a little, but Boston Con. remained firm at $7.50, and Victoria was wanted at $3.00. During the call the shares sold numbered 10,700, for which buyers paid the neat sum of $3,621.

The closing figures were as follows:

DALY-JUDGE MIDDLINGS.

Teams Busily Engaged Filling 2000-ton Contract—Silver King Con.

In its review of the week's doings at the Park, the Record says that at the Daly-Judge mine and mill activity is everywhere apparent. The ore bins at the mill are chock full, the truck sheds are being put in good condition, and it certainly looks though there is going to be "something done" very soon. Teams are busily engaged hauling the zinc middlings from the dump at the mill, to fill the 2,000 ton contract with the Western Ore Separating company's plant in Salt Lake.

Foreman Matt Connelly informs the Record that work is progressing steadily at the Ontario drain tunnel and that good headway is being made. The drift around what is thought to be the last cave is now in 150 feet and it has been possible the past week to go all the way through the tunnel with a lighted candle, the air being good.

The Scottish Chief company has levied an assessment of one cent per share on its capital stock. This will net the company $1,000 which is needed to defray the expense of development during the coming winter months, during which time it will be impossible to make shipments, profits from which have so far been big. Some ore is being taken out right along and this will be stored.

C. E. Lawrence is prosecuting work with all possible speed at the Jupiter. He now has 10 men employed who are busy timbering and laying track in the lower tunnel. It is his intention to incorporate his lease and bond, which will give him ample means to push active operations on the ore recently uncovered. This is the most promising proposition in Thaynes canyon.

A Record reporter visited the old Ontario this week and found there a scene of great activity. Besides the small force of men employed on the upper levels of the mine, a large crew is at work on the surface, taking to pieces the great old Cornish pump, which for many years has lain idle, and which, since the fire, has been good for nothing but scrap iron. As such it is now being sold.

Superintendent Jack Keetley of the Silver King Consolidated, went to the city yesterday afternoon, leaving the mine in very fine condition. The station on the 300 level will be completed this evening, and after the pump has been lowered and placed, and the shaft put in condition, sinking will be resumed and interesting developments may be looked for.

THE MINES OF DIXIE.

Paymaster and Dixie Showing a Good Grade of Copper Ore.

Manager S. L. Adams of the Paymaster in the vicinity of St. George, is in the city with a number of samples, showing the class of ore from which his company derives its profits. The ore affords an average of 47 per cent copper, and is taken from an extension of the Dixie ledge, which has been followed to a depth of 150 feet. The new tunnel, says Mr. Adams, has been pushed a distance of 250 feet, nearly all of which shows a good grade of copper ore. Mr. Adams also reports the Dixie in good shape, and says that that region gives great promise of becoming one of the richest copper-bearing zones in the state.

STARTLING STRIKE.

That in the Famous Reilly Lease Goldfield's Very Best.

A strike, eclipsing any yet made in the history of Goldfield and which bids fair to outrival anything yet heard of in the history of mining, was made the day before yesterday in the famous Reilly lease on the Florence property, says the Goldfield Sun. A large ledge carrying values that range many thousands of dollars to the ton has been opened up on three different levels, and three breasts of ore literally sparkling with gold are facing the miners who, with pick and drill, are working night and day to excavate as much as possible before the lease expires, 50 days hence. Mr. Reilly is said to have offered the Florence people yesterday $75,000 and all royalties for an extension of 30 days in his lease.

Both hoists on the property working continuously and are unable to raise the high grade ore now being broken by the miners underground, and huge heaps of milling ore are everywhere scattered through the workings.

Mr. Reilly himself has stated that every sack of ore now being sacked is worth not less than $1,000, otherwise $12 per pound. Men who are in a position to know give a far higher estimate, placing a valuation on every pound of ore taken out of the newly discovered ore body at not less than $40 per pound. One man on the street yesterday stated emphatically that he saw a trifle over one pound of the ore mortared and washed. The gold obtained weighed exactly $41.60.

A sample of the ore taken yesterday to Assayer F. O. Altinger for a scientific description of its characteristics, was described by him as a hard bluish conglomerate quartz showing seams of free gold. The ore is associated with stibnite, otherwise sulphide of antimony. It also shows an abundance of grey copper, with sulphide of iron, and considerable white talc. He also stated the ore contains more elements than any other seen in camp. By a rough test he can get 12 different elements.

The ore body which has created this furore through Goldfield is not entirely new in the Reilly lease. The men have been working on it for several weeks past, but it was only two days ago that the values began to assume such big proportions.

Developing Coal Prospects

Seven men, principally from Little Pinto, are employed in developing the coal prospects a few miles southeast of Page's ranch in the Pinto Iron mining district, says the Record of Cedar City. This is the property that was recently surveyed by William Houchen of this place, but the identity of the crowd that is paying for the work is being carefully guarded. The coal at this point is believed to be similar to that of the Kicker properties and is probably a continuation of the same vein. We are promised something definite for publication in a short time, but for the present every one connected in any way with the developments is bound to strict secrecy.

BOSTON CON. IS WORTH MORE MONEY

Significant Statement Made by Treasurer Shirmer Who Gives Figures.

MAKES A SPLENDID EXHIBIT.

Mine Has Immense Ore Bodies and Can More Than Treble Its Present Shipments.

That Boston Con. is worth vastly more money than has been paid for it on the Boston stock exchange, is very evident from the showing made by Treasurer F. A. Shirmer, who, in a statement just issued, does much to convince the skeptic that the stock has been squeezed when there is absolutely no reason why it should be. Mr. Shirmer's statement is backed up by convincing figures and makes mighty interesting reading. He says:

"The Boston Consolidated Mining company, with a capital of $2,500,000, is placed at $7.50 per share. The Boston Consolidated company is the owner of 400 acres of ground in the Bingham canyon, Utah. This ground has been so far developed as to disclose on one side of the mountain a mine of shipping ore which is now producing 250 tons per day. The ore bodies stocked out would enable the company to more than treble its shipments, but on account of the limited smelter capacity in the Salt Lake valley it has been heretofore limited to 200 tons per day, which has lately, because of our urgent request to the smelting companies, been increased to 250 tons per day. This limitation will continue until the American Smelting & Refining company completes its new plant which is now in the course of erection on the shores of the Great Salt Lake. On the other side of the mountain the company's properties have been so far developed as to show an almost unlimited quantity of copper-bearing porphyries containing low-grade concentrating ore, which can be cheaply mined on a large scale and which will produce profits for an indefinite period. For the purpose of utilizing these low-grade ores the company has created a bonded indebtedness of $1,250,000, convertible at the option of the bondholders into 125,000 shares at any time within 10 years. For this purpose 125,000 shares additional capitalization is authorized. This money is to be expended in the construction of a huge concentrating mill, a railroad if necessary, and other improvements to make available at a minimum cost these vast deposits of copper-bearing porphyries.

"I may state further that the Boston Consolidated is entirely out of debt, with the exception of the bonds mentioned, and has a very substantial cash reserve in its treasury from the sale of its ores, which is being daily increased.

"The shares of the Utah Consolidated Mining company are quoted at about $45, the capitalization being $3,000,000. The Utah Copper company shares are quoted at $25 with a capitalization of $4,500,000, to which they propose to add 105,000 shares, making the total share capital $6,000,000, and to all this must be added a mortgage indebtedness of $3,000,000.

"The Utah Copper company owns about 200 acres of ground in Bingham canyon in the immediate neighborhood of the Boston company's ground. This company has already developed its copper-bearing porphyries, and has, by actual mining, concentration and reduction of its ores, proved that such ores can be mined and converted into money on a large scale at a very good profit. Thus it appears that its stock, with the large capitalization of the company, is selling not above its actual value, and its prospective value is certainly very much greater than $25 per share.

"The Utah Consolidated Mining company, with its past splendid record of regular dividends, and with its enormous ore bodies, is selling readily at $45 per share. Its territory amounts to about 250 acres, separated from the Boston company's ground by a narrow ravine. Its daily output, so far as I am advised, is about 900 tons. The ore is treated in its own smelter. They have none of these copper-bearing porphyries. The market price of this stock is based upon the actual value of the property and its dividend-earning capacity.

"I think I can safely say that the property of the Boston Consolidated Mining company is of a value equal to the other companies, with a mineral territory greatly exceeding either of them, and yet its stock is quoted at the low price of $7.50 per share."

STRIKE IN THE GOLD BUG.

Oregon Mine Has Ore Body Assaying From $60 to $420 Per Ton.

Nature's Treasure Vault—American knows no term that can be more aptly applied to the Gold Bug mine, which on last Saturday was the scene of the greatest strike made in the district this season, says the Sumpter American. Following closely on the opening of a blind vein three feet in width of concentrating ore, which in itself is a mine and the very excellent results of a mill run that proved the lowest grade ores netted over $22 per ton, something that and every mining man will confirm means dividends to interested parties, the sterling property came to the front with the opening of an ore body that stamps it as one of the greatest mines not only in this district but in the west when the working tunnel broke into a body of ore over five feet wide at a depth of 240 feet that for values equals anything known by the Americans.

Allen one of the most cold-blooded sampings by one of the best qualified metallurgists and mining men of the district, the ore body returned the following values: For 42 inches, $92 per ton; the next 16 inches, $420 per ton; the next six inches lying next the hanging wall, $60 per ton, while from one to four inches is as pretty and rich specimen ore as one can see anywhere.

The size and values of the ore shoot must convince the most skeptical of the mine's real greatness, but when it is considered that this shoot has backs of 200 feet and is believed by Mr. Van Vleet to have a length of some 300 feet, based on an open cut further up the mountain side, the possibilities of the wealth that can be extracted is something bewildering.

Mining Claims Sold

Special Correspondence.

Provo, Sept. 26.—A mining deed from William B. Higginson et al of Santaquin, conveying mining property in the Eldorado mining district to Perry A. Kalbaugh of Salt Lake, has been filed with the county recorder. The claims conveyed are the Empire, the Lake View and the Lake View No. 1 mining claims. The consideration named in the deed is $500.

OLD JORDAN FIRE.

Attempt to Wreck Property and Destroy Life Was Most Deliberate.

After seeing to the safety of the miners employed in the lower workings of the Old Jordan at Bingham, and placing guards over the area affected by the late fire, Manager C. E. Allen of the United States Mining company has returned. He says the fire was one of the most deliberate attempts to wreck property and destroy life, that he has ever witnessed. On every hand could be seen evidence of this. The can of oil employed in the undertaking was left behind, as was also the axe, with which the can had been tapped, and to all appearances it was the purpose of the firebug to lead the fire to the sulphides, which would have played havoc with the mine and might possibly have led to the loss of life. However, the dastardly effort was discovered at a time which made such a result practically impossible, and the blaze is now being watched that its limits may be reduced to a minimum. The channel leading to the workings of the Bingham Con. had been corked up, so that this property will not be affected in the least. The management believes it has its hand on the parties responsible and it would not be surprising if arrests are made within the next day or two.

CONCENTRATES.

The Wall mill in Bingham canyon is running through a lot of second-class ore from the Utah-Apex.

The Pioneer sampler reported today two cars of ore from Tintic, three from Alta and two from Bingham.

The day's receipts at the Taylor-Brunton sampler amounted to three cars of ore from Bingham, four from Tintic and one from Nevada.

R. D. Rhodes, formerly with the American Smelting & Refining company, has accepted a position as superintendent of the Mammoth smelter at Kennett, Shasta county, Cal.

Ore and bullion settlements as reported late yesterday afternoon by McCornick & Co., amounted to $62,000, divided as follows: Bullion, $22,400; gold, silver, lead and copper ores, $39,200.

A party of wealthy Englishmen spent the day at Bingham examining the mines of that district. The gentlemen are stockholders in the National Steel and Wire company and are en route to the coast to visit the company's plant in California. It is said they will also build a plant at Denver.
