Randall made a point of order which, after discussion, was over-ruled, and the resolution was reerred to the committee on rules. Cessna also offered a resolution to change the rules, providing, in addition to a rule substantially the same as the one offered by Hale, that the judiciary committee may report bills of a public character on Tuesdays and Thursdays, and that the Heuse may, by a majority vote, dispense with the further reading of the journal after its reading shall have normal after its reading shall have occupied thirty minutes.

Randall made a point of order, but the speaker overruled it, and Randall and Beck presented a written appeal from the decision, which the speaker refused to entertain because, he said, it was in an unusual form, and was incorrect. He then presented his decision in writing, and finally, on motion of Kassen

Bills to be Introduced. WASHINGTON, 1. - Representative Houghton will introduce, tomorrow, a new bill to encourage telegraphic communications between America and Asia. It authorises the laying and maintenance of cables between these coasts, by Clear Moreno; and directs the Sec-retary of the Navy to place one or more steam vessels at the disposition of the company for surveys and laying the cables. The bill grants no other privileges, and makes no regulations as to the tariff of charges.

Representative Luttrell will, tomorrow, introduce a bill for the protection of settlers, providing that whenever any railroad company is granted permission by Congress to change its location, all the lands originally granted to it shall be forfeited, and become subject to the homestead and pre-emption laws. Both the foregoing bills were pre-pared for introduction to-day, but the call of States was abruptly ter-the minated by the centreversy over proposed new rule. The Transportation Question. The caucus of republican sena-tors, to-day, adopted a preamble and resolutions on the transporta-tion question, and they will be reported in the senate to-morrow. The preamble sets ferth the power of congress to regulate inter-state commerce, and while so doing to provide for the improvement or creation of channels of commerce; that among the improvements now necessary are the improvement of the Mississippi river, including its connection with the lakes by means of the Fox and Wisconsin river improvements, and the Illi-nois and Hennepin canal improve-ments between Lakes Superior and Huron, and Erie and Huron, and the improvement of the Ohio and Kanawaha and Tennessee river, and that the committee on commerce be instructed to insert in the river and harbor bill an application for such sums as in their judgment, having due regard to the recom-mendations of the Chief of Engi-neers, and of the commission appointed to report upon the mouth of the Mississippi river, can be ju-diciously and economically expend-ed during the next fiscal year upon the improvements above indicated.
