SECOND EDITION.

NINE hundred people came up from Utah county and other points, over the Union Pacific today and went out to Garfield.

J. A. MUNROE, General Freight Agent of the Union Pacific and, Erastus Young, auditor of the same road, are in the city today.

YESTERDAY'S clearings in the Salt Lake Clearing House amounted to $[illegible], as against $227,[illegible] for the same day last year.

THE regular meeting of the Fourth Quorum of Elders will be held in the Seventh Ward on Monday evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

THE Humane Society is a worthy organization for a worthy purpose. See what its managers have to say in a special notice today.

THE Union Pacific excursion to Provo on Tuesday next promises to be largely patronized. The low rate of $1 for the round trip has been made.

THE members of the Second Quorum of Elders will hold their regular monthly meeting in the Tenth Ward meeting house next Monday evening, Aug. 8th, 1892, at half past seven o'clock.

THE Third Quorum of Elders will hold their regular monthly meeting in the Ninth Ward meeting house at 7:30 p. m. next Monday, August 8th. All Elders in the Second, Third, Eighth and Ninth wards are invited to attend. J. B. Higgs, Sec'y.

THE stockholders of the Home Life Insurance Co. have unanimously resolved to disincorporate and dissolve the corporation. A committee of three, consisting of Vice-President Heber J. Grant, Secretary W. J. Bateman and Director E. A. Smith, has been appointed to prepare a statement of the assets, disburse same and wind up the company. The disincorporation does not apply to the fire insurance business, which will be carried on as usual.

THE attention of the proper authorities is hereby called to the stench arising from the manhole of a plugged up sewer pipe on upper Main street, opposite the Temple block. For several days past the nuisance has existed, much to the annoyance of persons residing in that vicinity, but not until today was the cause of the nauseating odor discovered. The health commission and superintendent of sewers were promptly notified, and the latter promised relief at once.

A NEWS representative had the pleasure of meeting ex-Senator McConnell, of Idaho, this afternoon. He is en route to the Knights Templar conclave at Denver and has not been in this city for thirty-two years. At that time he drove a mule team through Emigration canyon toward the Golden Gate. Of course he notes many marvelous changes since then. He was one of Idaho's first senators, being elected for the short term. He is strongly talked of as a candidate for governor of Idaho at the next election, on the Republican ticket.

SHORTLY after 7 o'clock last evening a team attached to a farm wagon with a hay rack on, took fright at a State street car on east South Temple street. At the head of State street they turned south on that thoroughfare at a lively rate. The driver—a young man—held firmly to the reins and succeeded in preventing a series of collisions. When midway between First and Second South streets one of the animals fell on the new pavement, breaking its right hind leg. It was afterwards shot by Policeman Lund at the request of the owner, Mr. N. A. Gage, who resides on Third South street.

Tuesday, August 9th—Twenty-first Ward will go to Garfield.

Same date—Third Ward of Ogden will go to Syracuse.

A Horrible Sewer Stench.

Today people who were in the vicinity of that part of East Temple street which is parallel with the east side of the Temple Block, were seized with nausea. The cause was a most horrible stench, which permeated the surrounding atmosphere to such a degree of density as to suggest the idea of those enveloped in it being compelled to cut their way out should it become many degrees thicker. Investigation disclosed the fact that the obnoxious effluvium emanated from a sewer manhole on the street, adjacent to the west gate of the Tithing office. Word was sent to the City Hall, and men were dispatched to flush the sewer, through which no regular stream runs. Even after the flushing was done, a most offensive odor still came up through the perforations in the iron cover of the manhole. This is a pest-breeding nuisance that requires thorough and permanent, and not temporary, abatement.

Amusements.

The Ezert Opera Co. endeavored to present that charming opera, "The Chimes of Normandy," at the Theatre last night, but did not achieve a pronounced success. The attendance was exceedingly slim, the performance was similar. The company would do very well for some country towns—outside of Utah, but before so critical a people as Salt Lakers are in musical matters, the effort, to tell the truth, was a failure. Miss Emma Berg, however, makes a very good soubrette and sings prettily; the rest are not adapted to opera. The tenor's appearance is not attractive and his voice is more adapted to the street than the stage. Phil Roy made a very good Gaspard and exhibited considerable talent as an actor. There are amateur companies in Utah that can far outshine the Ezert Co. Before a less critical audience it might gain more applause than greeted it last night. This evening "Olivette" will be produced and the engagement will close.

TOWNS.

Beaver River, Elsinore, Heber, Huntington, Kanab, Monroe, Midway, Salina, Santaquin and Scipio.

Priesthood Meeting.

The Priesthood of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion convened in the Assembly Hall, Salt Lake City, today (Saturday), August 6th, 1892, at 11 a.m., President Angus M. Cannon and Counselors presiding.

The meeting commenced with singing and prayer, after which the roll was called and responded to by a goodly number of the presiding officers of the various quorums of the Priesthood.

All the wards of the Stake were properly represented excepting the Second and Thirteenth city wards, and Riverton of the country.

Eleven young brethren, upon the recommendation of their respective Bishops, received certificates authorizing their ordination to the office of Elder, on condition of their promising to honor and magnify their office and calling if ordained.

Bishop John R. Winder, of the Presiding Bishopric of the Church, gave a detailed report of the progress being made upon the Salt Lake Temple. He stated that this building would be completed by the time specified, viz. April 6, 1893. Two hundred and twenty-five men were now employed, and they were working with a vim and zeal seldom if ever witnessed by such a large body of men. They were doing faithful, honest and reliable work. The amount required to finish the Temple has been greatly under-estimated. This is owing to extra work and finishings overlooked at the time the estimate of expense was made. But the greatest care is taken with the means furnished by the people, every cent being made the most of.

President C. W. Penrose referred to a misunderstanding that prevailed in one quorum of Elders as to the ordinance of administering to the sick. The idea was entertained that there must be two or more Elders in officiating. The error arose from a mistaken idea as to the letter of the revelation concerning those who had not faith. They were to be nourished with herbs and mild food, but not by the hand of an enemy and two Elders or more were to lay hands on them. But in the case of those who had faith it was different. One Elder or more might administer, according to circumstances. Even those who had no priesthood might lay hands on the sick in faith. It was through faith that the sick were healed.

President Joseph E. Taylor endorsed these remarks and spoke of the prevalence of disease, the abuse of medicine, the proper rearing of children, the selection of suitable food and the necessity of a closer observance by all, old and young, of the Word of Wisdom, also the cultivation of faith and obedience to the law and counsel of the Lord.

President Angus M. Cannon elaborated on these subjects, showed the folly of the idea that one Elder could not administer to the sick, related some of his personal experience of God's answer to prayer and administration, inveighed against the employment of unknown doctors and reliance on man instead of God, deprecated man worship and advised dependence upon the Lord through faith. He spoke also of the evils of too much amusement and unrestricted dancing, and advised greater care in the supervision of our young people, in the observance of the Sabbath.

Bishop Winder read a letter from the First Presidency to show that the Temple could no longer be open to visitors.

Meeting adjourned until the Stake Conference, Saturday, September 3rd, at 10 a. m.

Benediction by Bishop J. R. Winder.

REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN.

Secretary Foster Addresses a Large Assembly.

VERMILLION, Ohio, Aug. 6.—Republican Presidential campaign was opened here this afternoon in Linwood Grove, in the presence of a great throng of people, mostly farmers, and Hon. Chas. Foster, Secretary of the Treasury, who came from Washington for the purpose, delivered the principal speech of the day, on the currency of the country.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Erie County Agricultural Society. In opening, Foster said it was not permissible for him to enter on a political discussion. His talk was therefore largely historical and free from partisanship.

Said he: "Since I commenced the investigation of this subject, one great party of the country has in effect declared in favor of rehabilitation of the present unrecalled system of State banks. If my hearers should think he exceeded the bounds of propriety in what he should say on the subject, of the proposed substitution of the State bank system, for the present National Banks, the blame, if any, should rest upon the convention and not upon the speaker."

The secretary then gave a historical account of American currency from the revolutionary times, speaking of currency he maintained that the experience with continental currency showed the folly of paying national debts in greenbacks. The cost of the revolutionary war fell on patriotic people who received the currency while the tories who refused to accept it, were the only ones who escaped ruin. The speaker then reviewed the condition of the circulation prior to sixty, described the panics of 1814, 1837 and 1857 and said the derangement of the paper currency was an important factor in each. The banks issued money encouraged by wild speculation, thereby greatly aggravating the results. Then he gave an interesting account of the war circulation and means used by the government to raise money to carry on the contest. Next he dwelt at length on the national bank account of 1863 and the change it wrought in the character of the country's paper circulation, and said that instead of being subjected to extortions of note shavers, as under the State bank system, the holder of the national bank note found it equally good in all parts of the Union. No money had been lost to the people through the failure of any national banks. The secretary next gave an account of the resumption of specie payment, extolled the wisdom of Congress which provided for it. The secretary then referred to the restoration of the standard silver dollar, the increase in volume of money in circulation and presented tables showing the amount of money in the United States. On August 1st, 1892, there was two billion three hundred and sixty million thirty-four thousand four hundred and eleven. The amount in circulation at the same date was one billion six hundred and one millions nine hundred and forty-nine thousand three hundred and twenty-five. The money per capita was $[illegible], and in circulation per capita $[illegible].

This, he said, was the greatest per capita circulation the country ever had. Concluding the secretary said, To me it seems perfectly clear, if this country is to have any kind of paper money issued by banks, the national bank system is undoubtedly preferable to that of the banks under State authority. If more bank issues are needed they can easily and safely be had. At present there is no profit in the circulation of banks. If our five hundred and fifty millions four per cent bonds were extended fifty years at two per cent., relieving the banks from taxation beyond the cost to the government of issuing the notes, maintaining increase, complexion of currency and permitting them to issue notes up to par of the bonds of the banks. I think it would freely take these bonds, issue notes upon them, and thus furnish currency to any amount required by the business interests of the country, and at the same time reduce the rate of interest one-half to the extent of the bonds taken for such purposes. I am not advising that this be done, but I express my opinion as to the preference of issue of bank notes by the national banks as against the proposed rehabilitation of the old State bank system.

AN ULTIMATUM.

The Situation of the U. P. Telegraph Service.

DENVER, Colo. Aug. 6.—The situation in the telegraph department of the Union Pacific is serious. Grand Chief Telegrapher Ramsey, of the order of railway telegraphers issued the following ultimatum: "To all concerned: Mr. Dickinson has requested the extension of time and it has been decided to grant him until 2 p. m. today to communicate with the president and directors. If his answer is unfavorable, final instructions will be wired to you."

If the ultimatum is ignored it is believed that there will be a strike involving not only the order of railway telegraphers but also the federation of railway employes, as it is claimed by the operators that the latter organization will support them if necessary to at once enforce their demands. There are 600 operators between Portland, Oregon, and Kansas City on the Union Pacific, and should they be ordered out, the road will experience great difficulty in moving a great number of special trains during the Knights Templar conclave. Every operator in Denver is employed by the Union Pacific. Already 50 are out and say that individually the railway trainmen are in sympathy with them.

Dervishes in New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Howling, whirling dervishes, on their way to Chicago to perform religious rites for the public amusement, gave a performance at Madison Square garden. The spectacle was shocking. Many went away disgusted. The howlers abused themselves with sharp-pointed instruments, ate glass, tortured a live snake and then ate it. The whirlers swung about in a circle till they were so dizzy that they nearly swooned at the feet of the high priests.

A War in Passenger Rates Looked For.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—The Great Northern railway people are impatient to enter the Pacific Coast. The [illegible] line is now completed to Spokane, but it will take two months to reach the coast. The management is trying to make traffic arrangements with the Union Pacific for placing a through service on line at once. This would precipitate a sharp competition between the Great Northern and Northern Pacific trans-continental traffic. A consultation with the Union Pacific officials looking to the proposed arrangement is now progressing at Omaha. If effected, a war in passenger and freight rates is looked for.

Delegates to the Monetary Conference.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The President, before leaving for Loon lake, selected five delegates to represent this country in the international monetary conference, but the names are not announced. Senator Jones, Nev., is known to be on the list, which probably includes H. W. Cannon, N.Y., F. A. Walker, Mass., ex-Senator Hill, Col., and Senator Carlisle, Ky.

Jealousy Was the Cause.

GUTHRIE, Ok., Aug. 6.—At midnight Kate Patterson, of Crescent city, walked in her night clothes with a double-barrelled shotgun to her lover's house, called him out, and shot at him. She then placed the muzzle of the gun in her mouth and with her bare foot pulled the trigger and blew her brains out. The lover was uninjured. Jealousy was the cause.

Knights Templar Off for Denver.

OTTAWA, Ill., Aug. 6.—The Ottawa Commandery of Knights Templar, left for Denver this morning, bearing what is claimed to be the first American flag ever carried on the pilgrimage by any Knights of Templar commanderies.

Pinkertons Denounced.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 6.—The international convention of iron moulders, this morning, adopted a resolution denouncing the Pinkerton system and condemning the Carnegie steel company; sympathizing with the Homestead strikers. The government is called on to see justice done. The militia is denounced as always arrayed on the side of capital against labor. The moulders are directed not to connect themselves with any military organization.

Calling on Denver Citizens for Assistance.

DENVER, Aug. 6.—Mayor Rogers this morning issued an address to the citizens, reciting that great numbers will be present at Knights Templar conclave and calling on all citizens to assist in entertaining the guests, as without such assistance it would be impossible to house and feed the throngs.

WILL THEY STRIKE?

The Union Pacific Telegraphers Here Awaiting Union Orders.

The union has informed the company that unless their demands for an increase of wages are acceded to by 2 o'clock tonight a strike will follow. There are nearly 100 operators on the system besides train dispatchers most of whom are union men. The telegraphers here are waiting for the company's answer with a great deal of interest.
