LIBRARY PLANS FOR SMALL TOWNS

Convention is Meeting This Afternoon at University Campus.

VIEWS OF CHAIRMAN DRIGGS.

He Holds That Educational Gap Should Be Filled in Utah Communities.

To plan a new educational movement for the state, is the object of a convention attended by people from all Utah towns at the University of Utah this afternoon.

The new movement is planned to carry education to the boy from the streets—the village youngsters who often grow up wild for the lack of something to do, and to offer to all of them the facilities of a well equipped gymnasium and reading room.

Previous to this convention the movement has received the executive approval of Gov. Cutler, who called a preliminary convention at which delegates were appointed for this afternoon's meeting. These delegates number one from each third class town, three from each second class town, and five from Salt Lake, which is the state's city of the first class.

Howard R. Driggs, of the university faculty, presided this afternoon. Music features were rendered under the supervision of Squire Coop. In calling the convention to order, Chairman Driggs placed the proposition squarely before his hearers in a concisely worded address. Other speakers scheduled were Mrs. C. S. Kinney of the Federation of Women's clubs, President of the Senate Stephen H. Love; Dr. E. G. Gowans, judge of the juvenile court, and David O. McKay, a graduate of the university and an earnest advocate of the plan to further the state educational system.

VISITING DELEGATES.

After the convention it was the plan to show the delegates through the university grounds, the Y. M. C. A. building, and the Packard public library, in order to acquaint them with the work in hand.

In outlining the movement for a string of gymnasiums and libraries throughout the state, Chairman Driggs considered all its phases, from that of the mission it has to fulfill to that of financing it.

"Your presence here," he said to the delegates, "indicates your interest in the library and gymnasium movement. We hope that you will go from this convention with renewed enthusiasm and ready to give your strength still more further to this great impulse for better things. The prime purpose of this gathering, I take it, is to get together and work for results. Library movements are not new. For years there there has been a good deal of noble effort made by individuals and by various organizations like the M. I. A., the Federation of Women's clubs, and the various literary societies, to scatter good books among the people. This great work has not brought the success it deserves, because, I believe, it did not have the force of law, and the united effort of the whole people behind it. A library might be worked up and the enthusiasm which gave it birth would carry it for a while, but because it had to depend on the warmth of the enthusiasm it could not weather the frosts that followed. So when the spirit died down, the books were scattered, and when another library enthusiast came among the people, cold water was his portion.

PLAN MUST SUCCEED.

"But the reason I feel this movement will succeed is that it has within it several new elements that make for success. This is the first time the whole state has come together to work in unison. This is the first time that we have been made to realize that we have a state law that will enable us to put the institutions on a solid basis. And never before, I think, have we considered what might be done by establishing a gymnasium with the library.

PRESENT LAW.

"As the law now stands any city of the third class or town must, on a petition of 50 citizens, call for a vote on the proposition to create a library fund or a library and gymnasium fund. If the library alone be established a 1 mill tax be allowed; if both the library and gymnasium are established a 2 mill tax will be allowed. This tax is, however, optional with the people. They may or may not create the fund. And it applies only to cities of the third class and to incorporated towns. The larger cities are not concerned with that law, but they should be just as interested in the movement, for the big cities need play grounds, and branch libraries, and gymnasiums. And the villages of our state should be reached by circulating libraries and gymnasium facilities. It is the cause of the neglected child that we have espoused. Whatever will best reach him and best minister to the development of manhood and womanhood, is, I believe, comprehended in the project at hand."

IN CEDAR CITY.

Going into the subject of the new law, Mr. Driggs stated that the tax of 2 mills would make about $2 on each $1,000 of valuation for each property holder.

In Cedar City, he said, this amounts to $750 per year for the library and gymnasium, a sum about equal to the revenue from one saloon license. The amount, he said, was sufficient to maintain a home for the street boys, who otherwise are lured to the dance hall, the skating rink, or the poolroom. "The tax," he declared, "ties each citizen to the library and gymnasium with a money tie, and makes it as important as the schools and as firmly established.

NEGLECTED BOYS.

Taking up the possibilities of the movement again, Mr. Driggs declared that there are seven boys who never complete the grammar grades to one who does, and 750 that never complete high school course to every successful student. All the others are outside of the schools, often untouched by either church or school or any other influence for good. These boys are found on the street corners, the saloons, working in defiance of every effort made to reach them with the opportunity of education. What we want to establish is something that will attract the healthy boy and offer him a chance to work off his surplus energy that otherwise may be spent in the service of Satan.

MOVEMENT POPULAR.

"The spirit of this movement is in the air," declared Dr. Driggs in closing. "I have felt its pulse from Randolph in the north to Cedar on the south, to Castella and Manti and Salina and St. Pleasant, Heber City, American Fork, Pleasant Grove and Lehi and Provo Bay, and in many other places the people are agitating the question. Some of these cities have already petitioned that the tax be levied; in others leading citizens have started subscription lists with generous sums. The whole state, irrespective of creed or party or faction is feeling the thrill of this new plan to redeem the waste places among the youth of Utah."

Chairman Driggs then outlined a plan of administration through a central committee, which it is thought will make the plan effective in all localities.

REGISTRATION IS ABOVE NORMAL

Many New Voters Appear to Put Down Their Names Today.

THE CANVASS PROGRESSING.

When Completed Party Leaders Will Prepare to Get Out Slow Citizens On Nov. 29.

The first chance to register for the municipal election to be held Nov. 5, was not passed by many prospective voters. Registration is reported as being heavy in almost every district, and surprisingly heavy in the down town section where new comers and transients mostly reside.

The work of getting the voters registered proved an arduous duty at every headquarters. People were kept busy directing those who did not know in what district they lived, and those neighbors of theirs who didn't know where the place to register was, after finding what district they were in.

None of the parties made a feature of automobiles or carriages today. The "Americans" had completed their canvass, and through checking back were able to keep a tally on the registrations with a knowledge of where unregistered votes still lurked.

CHECKING THE CANVASS.

The Democrats and Republicans, however, have not yet reached such a position in the progress of their canvass, and they both plan to check back after today, to be prepared to get their vote registered for the next and last chance, which comes Tuesday, Oct. 29.

GRAFTERS IN PLENTY.

The work today developed the existence of a political parasite of well defined proportions. Lest the mention of it appear to be intended as a reflection on any one party, it is hereby declared that every single chairman in the city confesses to have found the parasite, and had experience with it today.

"Say," it remarked to Secy. Parley Jensen at the Republican headquarters, "I guess I got a vote coming this election. Where do I register?"

"Up the street, if you're in this district."

"O, I know that, but what do I get—you can have my vote all right, all right—but how about a little drink, huh? Don't you think a little drink would fix it about right, and then I'll run the register and vote your ticket strong."

The political reporter had seen the same animal down at another headquarters, and his request is anything from an appeal to buy a package of shoe strings, to a demand for a job at headquarters, with a large per centage of requests for a drink slipped in between.

SNOW JUBILANT.

Chairman Ashby Snow has the reports from the First ward canvass before him today, and he declares that there are more than half of the voters declaring solidly for Morris on the grounds that he is the logical business candidate, who has it in his power to render more efficient service to the city than any other candidate, he being a man of great experience in the problems now before the people, with unquestioned honesty and efficiency in handling them. He says that the people, "American," Republican and Democrats in sentiment are getting the Morris idea to save the city from financial ruin while carrying out the great improvements demanded by the people. Chairman Snow declares that the result of the canvass has been an eye opener to him on the drift of public sentiment, and that his confidence in victory is growing more powerful every day.

WARD FUSION.

The results of the movement for fusion in the First and Second wards on the councilmanic tickets will soon be known. The movement has been abandoned in the Fourth, and has not been discussed in the Third. Without an "American" councilmanic majority the "American" party inner-circle, from which comes the campaign steam, will have little use for Bransford as mayor. The Dunbar hope for the inner circle is to control Bransford through the council, and Bransford out of control, would leave the persuaders very unwilling boosters at the best. Bransford was nominated to get the votes the persuaders knew they couldn't land for an endorsed candidate. It was meant as a word of peace to the insurgent "Americans" who were sickened by the party's record up to the resignation of Sheets and Mayor Thompson. Failing to bring Bransford into their machine, their only hope is to elect a council that will drive to their whip, and this is why the fusion movement sickens them when they think of it.

SIX MONTHS FOR HIM.

Anderton's Visit to Roominghouse Costs Him Dear.

S. F. Anderton, the young man arrested early yesterday morning on the charge of burglary in the third degree, was before Judge Diehl this morning for hearing. He was caught while coming out of a room occupied by a miner named E. Slater. He had stolen from Slater $15.85 and the money was recovered.

Anderton was permitted to plead guilty to the charge of petit larceny instead of being tried for the offense named in the complaint. Judge Diehl sentenced the man to pay a fine of $150 or serve 180 days in the county jail.

PULLMANS FOR DESERT SANDS

Las Vegas & Tonopah Plans Fine Trains and "Through" Flyers.

REAL SERVICE BEGINS NOV. 1.

Goldfield Celebrates October 28—Big Time Assured—Something About Meadow Valley Repairs.

Goldfield is up to its neck in preparations for "railroad day" to be held in that camp Oct. 28. The arrival of the Las Vegas & Tonopah will be celebrated in a style surpassing anything yet attempted along this line in the Sagebrush state, and this is saying a great deal. Special trains will carry writers and Loomers from all portions of the west to participate and commemorate the celebration. Douglas White, advertising manager of the Salt Lake Route, was in Goldfield a few days ago closing up the final ends and odds.

PULLMAN SERVICE.

Regular service will be a reality by Nov. 1, and a nine-coach train, including standard Pullman sleepers and a diner, will cross over the sands to and from the Salt Lake Route's main line to the camps scattered towards the north. It is announced through Pullman service will be run between Los Angeles and Goldfield and Denver and this camp. There will be no stops nor waits necessary at Las Vegas, the junction point. A regular "flyer" will handle passenger traffic towards and out of Goldfield and eastern and western points.

PROGRESS OF REPAIRS.

While on the subject of the Clark road the progress of work through Meadow valley is a subject worthy of notice. It is believed no trouble from water will be felt this winter or next spring through the "wash" as the tracks have been raised to permit culverts being installed at frequent intervals and 16 steel bridges have been built between Caliente and Carp alone, a distance of 40 miles. With these repairs in safer and quicker service will be the rule on the Clark road.

"JUST LIKE DAY."

Union Pacific to Ligth Aspen "Mile-Long" Tunnel With Electricity.

The Aspen tunnel of the Union Pacific, a few miles east of this place is to be lighted by electricity from a plant located near one of the portals. This tunnel is the longest on the Union Pacific system, being more than a mile in length, and as trains proceed slowly while passing through, the passengers are in the dark for several minutes. Incandescent electric lights are to be placed along the walls of the bore and when the plant is in operation will be almost as brightly illuminated while in the tunnel as when in the open. Other improvements are also to be made to the tunnel, including strengthening with reinforced concrete.

DAME RUMOR BUSY.

Says J. C. Stubbs, Director of Traffic of Harriman Lines, Sees Retirement.

Emanating from a interstate commerce ruling that the Sunset route cannot take Atlantic coast business destined for the Pacific centers except by agreements with Atlantic coast lines is a report that the power of J. C. Stubbs, traffic director of the Harriman lines has waned and he will soon retire to private life. This, at least, is the gossip on the Pacific coast and is offered as gossip only, in this column. Mr. Stubbs is the dictator of freight rates, etc., in the Harriman regime; he has been for the past six years. Before that he was C. P. Huntington's right hand man in freight matters. He is reported to have been coaxed into the Harriman family by a salary of $60,000 a year—several thousand dollars more than the highest official of the United States gets. A new tariff to be announced within the next few weeks will rule all coast-to-coast traffic. This marks the end of the Sunset's power to make independent rates. And this in turn, says Dame Rumor, means the retirement of J. C. Stubbs.

TRACK NOW LAID.

Some late figures on the progress of work on the Western Pacific show track laid as follows: From Salt Lake west, 154 miles; from Stockton towards Oakland, 27 miles; from Stockton north to the Mokelumne river, 26 miles, and from Marysville northeast to Oroville, 26 miles, a total of 234 miles laid. To join Oakland and Stockton needs 52 miles of track; Stockton and Marysville, 62 miles, and to join the western work with the work at this end of the line, 695 miles.

GOULD'S MEN STILL HERE.

J. M. Johnson, Now in Salt Lake is Traffic Director Supreme.

J. M. Johnson of Chicago, the "Stubbs" in the Gould family, is still here with B. M. Flippin, of the Missouri Pacific, looking over local conditions. The entire day was spent in Bingham yesterday, and a trip to Garfield is a portion of today's program. Mr. Johnson is the big traffic man on Gould's staff, and his visit here is highly significant. Mr. Flipping is freight traffic manager of the Missouri Pacific and his being here with the "big chief" has set Railroad Row awondering. Mr. Johnson was assistant to A. C. Bird, in charge of all traffic of all the Gould lines up until a short time ago. When Mr. Bird resigned on account of ill health, Mr. Johnson stepped up into the vacancy. While Mr. Bird held the title of vice president and "in charge of all traffic of all Gould lines" was always placed after his name, Mr. Johnson has been actual traffic director for the past two years, as Mr. Bird has been unable to attend to his office's demands because of his health. Mr. Johnson is here to see just how affairs are running locally and when he returns to the east he will have mapped out considerable reconstruction and renovating.

EXPENSIVE DUCKS.

Two Sportsmen Deposit $25 Each With Justice Dana T. Smith.

William Lloyd, J. S. Everell, and Walter Neilson appeared as defendants before Justice of the Peace Dana T. Smith this morning. Lloyd and Everell finally left the court room as free men, after depositing $25 each. They were both accused of hunting ducks after nightfall, thus failing to give the fluffy birds the good night's rest assured them by the law after flying around to be shot at all day. Both sportsmen were sure they were guilty, and so informed the court, submitting to the fine with sportsmanlike grace. Neilson, however, thought proof was needed that he had shot any ducks, and his case went over on a plea of not guilty, until Friday.

WOMAN DRINKS CARBOLIC ACID

Victoria Radnall of Pleasant Grove Commits Suicide—Leaves Six Children.

HOME TROUBLES WORRIED.

Husband Has Been Drinking and This Is Said to be Real Cause For the Act.

(Special to the "News.")

Pleasant Grove, Utah, Oct. 15.—Victoria Radnall, wife of Joseph Radnall, a woman between 35 and 40 years old, committed suicide here yesterday afternoon by swallowing carbolic acid.

DIED NEAR CREEK.

Yesterday afternoon between 1 and 2 o'clock Mrs. Radnall left her home, walking toward a creek flowing north of the house about 200 yards. Nothing was thought of her leaving for a time but toward evening a search was instituted for her which lasted all night. About 10 o'clock this morning her body was found lying beside Crow Creek, just north of the premises, and on the ground near by was lying an empty carbolic acid bottle, which bore evidence of having lately been drained. The remains showed every indication that death was caused by the acid. In the house was also found a cup containing a mixture of carbolic acid and water.

HUSBAND BEEN DRINKING.

No reason can be assigned for the deed except that Mrs. Radnall had of late been very despondent over family affairs. Her husband in the past has been addicted to the use of liquor, remaining intoxicated, it is said, for a week or two at a time. She was the mother of six children, two boys and four girls, the oldest being a boy about 18 years of age while the youngest is a girl about eight months old.

NO INQUEST HELD.

The coroner was notified but decided no inquest was necessary, as the cause of death was apparent. The parents of Mrs. Radnall, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, live near the home of their daughter, and they, with the husband and children, are prostrated with grief over the occurrence.

BUTTE SPORTSMAN LANDS IN COURT

Dave Deamon Must Answer for Contributing to Minor's Delinquency.

HARRY JOSEPH'S GOOD WORK.

Probation Officer Was "Johnny on the Spot" When Young Boy Was in Prohibited Street.

Dave Leamon will be arrested by the police upon a somewhat serious charge today. Leamon is a Butte sportsman and came here with a string of blooded coursing hounds. A complaint charging him with contributing to the delinquency of Vernie Calder has been issued by the county attorney and will be placed in the hands of the police department today for service.

ACTED AS GUIDE.

Vernie Calder, a lad of 14 years, the son of Samuel Calder, was found on Commercial street by Harry Joseph of the state juvenile court commission and a probation officer of the court in the Third district. Inquiry developed the fact that Leaman had met the boy, who was delivering a package near the Commercial building at the south end of the street, and had asked him to show him through the resorts on Commercial street. The boy, according to the story of Mr. Joseph, took him into the street and pointed out the various brothels in the street. While doing this Mr. Joseph took him into custody.

THE BOY'S STORY.

The ordinances declare that young boys found in the street are delinquents. This fact, it is said, is the only one which makes young Calder a delinquent. He bears a splendid reputation among his schoolmates. He works Saturdays and after school on school days, and is a bright lad, and clean in his habits. He declares that the only reason he had for knowing that the resorts were to be found in Commercial street was that he had heard older persons talk about them and that he had seen the drunken inmates in the rear of their resorts when he emptied waste paper baskets in the alley at the rear of the store where he is employed. He declared to Mr. Joseph in the county attorney's office that it was the first time he had ever been in Commercial street and that it will be the last.

HAFIG MARCHING ON CASA BLANCA

His Purpose is to Attack Gen. Drude, Commander of the French Forces.

Paris, Oct. 15.—In a dispatch from Tangier, a correspondent of the Petit Journal says that Mulai Hafig's army, 8,000 strong is marching on Casa Blanca with the direct intention of attacking Gen. Drude, commander of the French forces. Casa Blanca is making elaborate preparations for defense. The tribesmen who recently attacked a French column near Uadja are re-forming and preparing for attack.

RAID ON MAZAGAN.

Tangier, Oct. 15.—The custom house at Mazagan was subjected to a second raid by Mulai Hafig's men on the night of Oct. 9, when 1,000 rifles were seized. A new administrator for the custom house at Mazagan, appointed by Mulai Hafig, arrived there Oct. 11 and took the place of Ben Sliman, who had made his escape. He is a Fez man named Ghalli Silty, who formerly was a merchant in Morocco city.

Further letters received from Mazagan bring news which tends to show that Mulai Hafig, the sultan of the south, is gaining strength.

Mulai Hafig has effectually put a stop to the ill-treatment of Jews in Morocco city and he gives personal attention to all matters of importance. Since his acclaim as sultan he has taken four wives in order to strengthen his position, practically inviting all the Berri Berris under him to follow his example. His last wife is a daughter of Hamma Hacko, an important Caid. This girl was intended for Sultan Abdul Aziz but Hafig heard of her and sent two envoys to bring her to him.

The girl's father, however, demanded that Mulai Hafig come in person and consequently the new sultan went himself and got the girl, winning at the same time the support of the entire tribe, which is very powerful.

Maulai Rachid, a lieutenant to Mulai Hafig, with eight regiments of soldiers and all the kauss governors, has departed from Morocco city for Rouriki to control or assist Caid Authou, depending upon the attitude of the latter. All the powerful caids of Sus province are in Morocco city in token of submission to Mulai Hafig. El Guilloully probably will be appointed governor of Haha and Mogador.

The caids of the L'Hawai district have expressed their willingness to continue fighting the French if Mulai Hafig requires them to do so, but they will not follow this course for Abdel Aziz, saying "There is no Abdes Aziz."

The most significant sign of the expected trouble in Morocco is that although the rains have begun the Moors have not commenced their customary ploughing. In response to the requests that he make a general movement Mulai Hafig promises to do so immediately after the end of this lunar month.

AZIZ'S PLIGHT DESPERATE.

Paris, Oct. 15.—In a dispatch from Rabat, the correspondent of the Matin says the extremity of the sultan Abdel Aziz is worse than was at first thought. He had only money for three days and if France does not come to his rescue financially, he will be forced to disband his army and shut himself up in Rabat.

Out of Sight.

"Out of sight, out of mind," is an old saying which applies with special force to a sore, burn or wound that's been treated with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It's out of sight, out of mind and out of existence. Piles too and chilblains disappear under its healing influence. Guaranteed by Z. C. M. I. Drug Store. 25c.

Rheumatism is caused by the improper working of the kidneys. The uric acid which should be removed from the blood remains in it. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea removes the cause and drives it from the system. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets.
