HOLMES'S NEW IDEA.

His Plan for Coining the Blue of Former Friends Into Money.

SPIRITS OF THE LAW SURPRISED

The Prisoner Writes a Book in His Cell in Defending all Previous Lines of His Exploits.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—A special to the World from Philadelphia says: H. H. Holmes was interrogated with wholesome severities and with every cruelty and torture and he now awaiting trial for the killing of B. F. Pedrel, has usually guarded prisoner in the Philadelphia county prison. He has employed his time in composing a connecting account which is supposed to contain all the material and in spite of every precaution in his power to prevent his communicating in any one outside, it seems to be without what purpose to be a sketch of his career. The law officials of the commonwealth have been so amazed by the publication of "Confessions" and the announcement that a book written by Holmes on the origin of crime is to be published while he is still, will follow shortly. They will be astonished further when they learn for the first time in the dispatch that the volume is the outcome of an idea originating in the brain of the prisoner which is all ready to be written, but not the most authentic history, Holmes now contemplates publishing.

The author, warden of Holmes, is this: During his travels throughout the country he has had business and social relations with many persons of unsullied respectability. He has also made entering kept a record of all these transactions. The majority of these transactions were wholesomely free from any suspicion of wrong doing, but they are to be made in the future by securing sufficient basis for his defense. The opening chapter of his book, published in one of the local papers, is devoid of anything that would affect the interest of Holmes. They tolerate the wrongdoings of a New Hampshire lady, whose subsequent career is not favorable to any way. Immoral enough as the remembrance may be, they are the greatest work of Holmes's hold sinister. The papers containing the closing chapters of the book will be added to those unfortunate enough to have been caught among Holmes's goods.

Those who know Holmes will be interested that they are to be made part of the book. Intimations are to be given that it would be unpleasant to be known in connection with his action, all mention of certain names will be omitted, —for a money consideration.

There are chapters in the narrative that pass some of the persons referred to in a most peculiar position. An illustration of the kind is here given.

One of the chapters is devoted to the Boston experiences of Holmes and Benjamin Williams. The woman, in the guileless of Holmes, entrapped a wealthy man of family. For a time, long as to believe he had deeply wronged the girl, he made such occasional financial reparation as he could. Finally, and the "consequence" has found its way into Holmes's book. When Benjamin Williams "dropped out of sight" the Boston man vanished from, but when the awful revelations came his state of mind may be imagined.

Foul stories now being printed in a morning paper near Sixth and Market streets, will be forwarded to the Boston man and the proposition made: If he will purchase 1,000 copies of the book, accompanying the immediate payment of the result protestant of the publication, his name will be omitted as well as all matter that would in any way point to him. No doubt the Boston man, who can well afford it, will try to early order the "book" and encourage publication for same.

In Spite of the People.

Patterson, until recently minister of militia in the Dominion cabinet, has been sworn in as his successor and he will proceed to Winnipeg at once.

THE NEW WOMAN.

Address on the Subject by Mrs. Ballington Booth.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—An address of Mrs. Ballington Booth before the Salvation Army, now encamped at Prohibition park, Staten Island, on the "New Woman," is attracting considerable attention here.

Mrs. Booth said last night in part: "The revolting spectacle, gaudily dressed in man's clothing, possessed of things across about the house, whether and bonnetless, serious and sober, or giddy and frivolous, is not my idea of the new woman. The new woman, according to the popular conception, is a creature as fretful, says to by and aggravate her, and so she is. Her hair is in some ugly little pompadour fashion, she carries in one of her buttonhole pockets, she is a smoker, and is going forth to cast contention and a world-wide war. In her sex she declares it to be her duties to dress and belittle him. As a religion, it is the shape for her strong mind. She is entirely independent and a free thinker.

"If you were to ask me what the Salvation Army would do with the new woman," continued Mrs. Booth, "I say, we would first of all take her down and change it. Out of her pockets we would cause dresses and baggy clothing in the shape of other pleasing dress by her, which I believe is manliness, we would take to the way to which they belong, the home. Now, with pernicious influence, we would throw in the fire, along with her cigarettes and smoking

ONLY GOOD INDIANS

General Coppinger Confers with Secretary Lamont

ON THE JACKSON'S HOLE AFFAIR.

The Hot-Blooded Act in Doubt—Suggestion that the Country be Annexed to Yellowstone Park.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 3.—General Coppinger, who had command of the recent military expedition in Jackson's Hole country, today had a conference with Secretary Lamont, in which Commissioner of Indian Affairs Browning was invited.

"I do not consider the Indians were to blame for the Jackson's Hole affair," said General Coppinger at the close of the conference. "They are entirely quiet now and have been, in fact, they would not say 'bow' to a goose."

One question which the general brought to the attention of Secretary Lamont and Commissioner Browning was the advisability of annexing Jackson's Hole county to Yellowstone National park. He suggested this action would solve the problem by putting all parties from hunting and fishing in that section and said as the county is not directly entitled to its right there would be considerably little difficulty in making the change.

Commissioner Browning said that in the fine place, it would be a matter for Secretary Smith and then for Congress, adding that he did not know how the people of Wyoming would regard it, as it would deprive that state of territory.

General Coppinger's report on the Indian trouble has been turned over to Secretary Lamont. The general declined to say whether he would say recommendations for the punishment of troops in Jackson's Hole country or for the punishment of the participants in the trouble.

They untied him, he says, unconscious before the fire. He was carried by his son, who started to Orange and asked a doctor to accompany him to the aid of his father. He says that the doctor refused to make the trip. Failing in obtaining a doctor, the son brought a wagon and brought his father home. He passed the leg as best he could and one of the neighbors, who had seen the men passed the place. He is sure that Marshall is the villain who he might have identified more and yesterday walking on a cane and a limber, which were constructed and the man was carried down the mountain side in that way to take to the railroad at Oakland. FROM CHINA AND JAPAN.

Ravages of Cholera—Japan Wants a Larger Navy.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—The steamer China arrived today from Yokohama and Hong Kong, bringing the news under date of August 19th, that the Asiatic cholera had broken out in Kobe, Japan, and the crew of the Italian cruiser Dandolo had suffered. Some of her seamen died of the complaint, and in one day five cases of the disease were reported in Kobe.

A number of the crew of the Japanese warship have also fallen low with the disease. Many cases of the disease are reported at Hong Kong. None of the American fleet of war vessels are infected owing to the precautions taken by the officers.

The entire Russian fleet stationed at Chee Foo, on the northern coast of China, is infected, and cholera are being reported daily.

Indignation meetings have been held by the English residents of Hong Kong and at the open ports of China, calling on the British government to inflict punishment for the massacres at Ku Cheng, and remonstrating their responsibility at Paris as incapable of rising to the requirements of the occasion. Before known, all Americans have been killed, though one, Miss Hartford, was injured, and several narrowly escaped with their lives.

The arrangements for investigating the Cheng Tu Riots are unsatisfactory alike to English and Americans.

The plans for naval expansion to be laid before the next Japanese parliament will call for an expenditure of 200,000,000 yen, and an increased tonnage of 250,000 tons.

SPRAYING LAW VOID.

Prohibition of Further Prosecutions Under It.

THE LAW MUST BE MODIFIED

To Be of Force—Copper Plate Engraver—Other Business in Court Today.

James Wanless Jr., vs W. J. Harvey; plaintiff's application for a writ of prohibition granted, and an order was made that the writ issue. This is the official announcement of Chief Justice Merritt, made in the Third district court today, in the first case arising case which originally came before Justice Harvey, of the second precinct, Salt Lake county. In effect it is a declaration that the territorial legislature is invalid in those sections which give certain discretionary powers to the private juror in fixing the manner of time there are to be sprayed. The court's ruling is that the commissioner of the private juror reduces to a delegation of legislative authority which the Legislature is not allowed to make, because the law is invalid when the court. This is the second decision of the law within the past week by the Supreme court sitting as a board of equalization. The first was in the case of the Mormon Tabernacle, which was required to bring back a certain amount of taxes. The decision sprayers will now have to serve upon a bill that will be a trifle more easily adapted to the purpose. In the application in this case to which Judge Harvey, of the second district, is a defendant, the petitioner, having not complied in effect the literal meaning of the statute as it now stands.

The law and motion calendar was taken up today, and the usual proceeding of dismissing some cases, continuing others and setting down a case of the most urgent for hearing was presented with. There seemed to be a necessity among the jury to have cases set for Monday next, Sept. 4, but Judge Merritt stoutly refused, on the ground that there is no law for the opening of the September term, and the grand jury venire is not to be impaneled until the jury to be impaneled that day.

The following business was disposed of:

O. J. Franklin et al vs W. S. Fogarty; Lewis H. Giddins substituted as attorney instead of M. Gleason, and Mr. Gleason permitted to be withdrawn as counsel.

Edward T. Sinnet vs Salt Lake City Street Fair Association; order requiring the petitioner to pay Dwyer & Carpenter costs and judgment was set for 8 Saturday, August 19, the counsel of the defendant Burton's to supplemental and amended complaint was withdrawn and ten days given to defendant to answer; Lewis May, trustee, was ordered to furnish a bond in a sum of two weeks within ten days, and C. C. D's motion for an order requiring counsel to cross-complaint and to make points in interest was sustained.

Salt Lake Lot company et al vs the Ontario Mining and Smelting company; order that be received to reply to counsel the remaining, to wait report of referee.

T. E. Gregg vs Elbridge Tuttle; C. S. Varian allowed to file amended return.

Zion's Savings Bank and Trust Co. vs Mary Dorsey et al; appointed for client appointing guardian ad litem filed, and filed by W. Dixie appointed such guardian.

Musical Reception.

On Saturday evening last a very pleasant affair occurred at the Musical, when Mr. and Mrs. Fisher, the host and hostess, gave a musical reception to the guests of the house, and a number of personal friends. During the evening Judge Maurice H. Dyer sang the guests, presented the young lady with a handsome gold bracelet.

Miss Fisher, though not yet sixteen, gives great promise of becoming a singer. She left this city Monday morning in charge of her governess, Mrs. Warbinton, and all the complaints of her course of study in New York will go to Europe.

Railway Notes.

The bathing resorts had a big attendance yesterday—Labor day. At Saltair the business closed attending the laboring men's celebration seemed to thoroughly enjoy themselves, and at Garfield Beach the Germans celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of Sedan in great shape.

Excursions came to from north and south yesterday over both roads, on holiday rates.

About 125 Salt Lake people took a run down to Castle Rock yesterday. AT SALTAIR.

The labor element held sway at Saltair, the customary attendance being present at the resort. The Lake was crowded with bathers all day, while there was a passage to the briny waves, rode on and enjoyed the other diversions.

GARFIELD BEACH.

The battle of Sedan was gloriously celebrated at Garfield Beach yesterday by the Germans of Salt Lake and vicinity, under the auspices of the Salt Lake Turnverein society.

In the afternoon there was a fine order in the pavilion and speeches were delivered in the mother tongue by some of the old war veterans, notable among these being the orator, Prof. H. H. Hitching.

Hall's band was there and discoursed soul-stirring scores in the country, while the orchestra played to the trip of the merry dancers in the pavilion.

Bathing, games, and all sorts of recreation were indulged in, and it can be safely said that all Germans who were there enjoyed themselves immensely.

AT CALLISTER'S PARK.

The Boilermakers united Labor Day at Callister's, about 300 of the Golden Fraternity and friends going out. Hence racing was the feature of the day, and many good events took place. Prizes were distributed to the winners of different games, and in the evening speeches were made by Thorwald Olsen and L. Moth Thomas. Dancing was carried on till a late hour, when all wended their way homewards, looking forward to the time when Labor Day would dawn again.

John Baynes.

Postmaster Maurice Richards has received the following letter, which he refers to the Deseret News:

Will you kindly find out for me if there is such a person by the name of John Baynes living in Salt Lake City? I was his uncle and would like to find out if he is still living. The last we heard of him was when he visited England, his birth place, some eight years ago. He has a brother in Leamington, England, who also resides in Salt Lake City. I have a photo of a company outcrops with my address (28 Madison street, New Haven, Connecticut, care Mrs. Neale), so if you see any things of him will you kindly inform me and I shall be much obliged.

DON'T SHOOT DUCKS

Till After October 1, If You Would Obey the Law.

TODAY'S LESSON FOR SPORTSMEN

In Commissioner Pratt's Court—An Arrest for Rape—Maintaining a Nuisance—Housebreaking.

Two duck hunters came to grief in U. S. Commissioner Pratt's court today. They gave their names as George Lewis and John H. Brown. The information against them was that they had been unlawfully killing wild game, to wit, duck and snipe. The killing complained of took place on Sunday, the 20th instant, on one of the lakes west of the Jordan. The defendants pleaded that they were not aware they were breaking the Territorial game law, although they were fully cognizant of the fact that they were breaking the Sabbath day; yet this breach did not appear to disturb their conscientious greatly, since they were not under arrest therefor. They claimed that they supposed the duck shooting season opened September 1st, whereas the law fixes the date as the first of October. One witness was before the commissioner on the same state was the testimony of witnesses that they saw a [illegible] Friday last, August 31, so that if they had shot the birds they would have violated the game law. They did not plead guilty, but were bound over in the sum of $250, which included the costs of the preliminary examination.

U. S. Commissioner Dickson is to have a case [illegible] morning which is a Chinaman, Ah Jim, is to be tried for housebreaking. The event occurred several days ago and was noted at the time. The Mongolian claim that he is innocent of the charge against him, therefore the prosecution will have to prove its case to secure his commitment by the grand jury.

Joseph Turpin, who claims his residence is in Tooele county, was before U. S. Commissioner Skeemer this afternoon, charged with a serious offense. He is accused of having committed on Monday evening, a criminal assault upon Mrs. Margaret Harrison, 60 years of age. By her own the lady protested to assist, and Turpin was caught by the city marshal Gabbie in his [illegible] Lincoln. The district lives at 440 W. Second South street, and was on her way home, near the corner of First South and West Temple street, when the assault was made. Turpin's interview with Commissioner Skeemer lasted [illegible].

By a move of the prosecution, Turpin was allowed to plead guilty of a simple assault, for more serious crime being allowed to stand against the defendant's name in the commitment. Judge Skeemer sentenced Turpin to sixty days in the county jail and to pay the costs of prosecution.

As a sequel, tomorrow J. S. Martensen, who keeps a pigeon on Eleventh South street, will answer before U. S. Commissioner Skeemer on the charge of maintaining a public nuisance. He is out on $25 bail.

A SCHEME TO ESCAPE.

Signed in the Bed by Jailer Kimball.

In the cell of Walton Lynch and Hyrum Fortmeier at the city jail, tools were found late morning by which, with outside help, they would have attempted escape tonight. In making his daily search through the cells, Jailer Kimball spied out a big hole in window a suspicious looking passage. He opened it and to his surprise found a number of suspicious looking tools. They were three small saws, which could be used to saw either wood or iron, a long, old chisel and a screwdriver. Around the chisel is wound a long piece of twine, which has made at the end.

The plan of the two men was to wait until all was quiet and then, with the chisel, pry the iron bars from the window, lower the twine to the window bars. Then with the saws they intended to cut a hole in the floor of their cell, which is on the ground floor, and with the help of Smith, Jackson and Ho-Ho, the last named being one of twenty-five days for vagrancy, they would get into the cell above and escape through the window. They intended to use the string to draw up anything from friends outside which would be needed in getting down.

Fortmeier is serving a term of several months for petit larceny; Lynch, an ex-convict, is being held to await trial on a similar charge, but there is good reason to suspect him with the "rolling" of Utah, D. H. Smith for something over $1,000 in Lynch's gang," and he is also wanted in several places, besides the suspicion of the police.

The Date Agreed On.

SALT LAKE CITY,
Aug. 29th, 1893.

Editor Deseret News:

I hereby correctly reported to the information made by Brother Johnson, of Arizona, in regard to the date fixed upon by Wm. Miller, the Second Advent, of April 6th, 1843. Brother Phelps corroborates Brother Johnson, as it was the only one was inserted in the Church. As you intimate, it [illegible] my memory. Mr. Miller's calculation of Daniel's prophetic number in [illegible] was correct, but he was mistaken in the event.

Yours, WM. H. MILES.
