NEWS OF THE WEST.

A Murder Mystery In Colorado Is About to Be Solved.

ACCIDENT TO AN AERONAUT.

A Proprietor Of Bogus Mining.—Sudden Death.—Bonfiams Rout a Policeman.—Other Items.

W. D. Smith, a pioneer of Lodi, Cal., has just died from the effects of the amputation of a toe several weeks ago.

A policeman was knocked down and severely injured on Saturday night in San Francisco while attempting to arrest two bonfiams.

It is expected that the new theater at Spring City will be completed about Christmas. It will be the largest in the county, says the Manti Sentinel.

One Del Aiken, of Nebraska, has sued Sheriffs Harper, of El Paso, Tex., and Cunningham, of Santa Fe, N. M., for $5000 damages for false imprisonment.

The Barber Asphalt company's application for a mandamus to compel the city of Denver to pay it the cost of paving between the railway tracks on certain streets has been taken under advisement by Judge Hallett.

The body of Marie Wickert, was swallowed because of poverty in the Burlington block, at Denver, a sealed bottle containing a fatal potion hereof from the liquor habit, has been delivered to her father, T. D. Raymond. There was no inquest.

John Shinn, an electrician of Independence, Oregon, nearly lost his life a day or two since by falling against a dynamo. He was at first supposed to be dead, but was pulled away from the machine by the engineer, who received serious shocks. Next morning Shinn was all right, except for a badly burned face.

An unknown man about thirty-five years old was picked up Saturday afternoon at the corner of Beale and Berry streets, San Francisco, while in an epileptic fit. He was taken to the receiving hospital, where he died that night without his identity having been established. He was pretty shabby and was evidently a laborer.

John Keenan, a prominent farmer of Rocky Ford, Ohio, was working on Saturday by a hoystack, when a neighbor's team became unmanageable and ran away. Mr. Keenan heard the noise and stepped around the stack just in time to receive the end of the wagon tongue in his stomach, causing fatal injuries.

One of the men employed in the road heavy, says Joe Tucson, Ariz., Star, made a startling one very windy under an engine which had a mile blow before come in from the east. He saw something hanging to the engine and upon pulling the signal cord was horrified to find that it was part of a human body. The unfortunate man was carried some distance from the track and buried.

The mystery of the cold-blooded murder of Postmaster Beam, at Lucerne, Colo., is about to be solved, says a special to the Denver News. A party of detectives have been working on the case and it is understood that the guilty parties have been located. At first it was thought that there were three implicated in the affair, as a pair of tramps were seen in the vicinity of the store of Postmaster Beam at about the time the murder was supposed to have been committed.

Isaac N. Baier, one of the oldest residents of Pueblo county, Col., died very suddenly Saturday night. For some weeks he had been engaged in hauling ripsaw from Pinnacle county to the Pueblo market by wagon, and arrived in town Saturday night in one of his trips. He was apparently in the usual good health on reaching home, but his relatives before he had retired on his bed found him lying across the bed partially undressed, dead. Heart disease was the cause.

The range in this region, says the Saratoga (Wyo.) Sun, has not been so poor for many years as at the present time, and cattlemen who are dependent upon it for winter feed will be left. Sheep will winter as well almost as ever, as they can subsist on sagebrush, greasewood, weeds or anything. Horsemen who have always depended on the range are looking up pastures for the winter to keep their horses from eating hay. The situation is a serious one for men who must depend wholly on the range.

Those who happened to be near the railroad east love the other day, says the Yuma, Arizona, Sentinel, saw the battle of the season, between two locomotives of the Cleveland company, that now travel as bottle on the top of the cars. Some ten or twelve of those two well filled with whisky, when upon being arrested by another method of trying to treat upon a car, they sought to settle the dispute in the fistic arena. Being about evenly divided in numbers they fought like demons. Blood freely flowed. Eyes were blackened, clothing torn, hair pulled out, faces scratched and otherwise mutilated and the crews rather badly marred. At the close it was a drawn battle.

Miss Gussie McCord and Albert Newell were to have been married two days ago at the home of the bride's mother, some miles north of Nephi, Utah, but the groom failed to appear at the appointed time. He has not yet been heard from. His mother and sister arrived on Wednesday last to be present at the marriage. The wedding feast was prepared and the clergyman was present, but Newell was not. Great anxiety is felt for the safety of the young man, as he is said to have been of exemplary habits and much devoted to Miss McCord. No matter has been noised at Nephi, and it is thought at present that some foul play kept him from coming there.

Professor Vaughn, the well known aeronaut, met with an alarming accident at Centerville, Ind., on Saturday afternoon. He had been travelling around with a balloonist since the middle of last of the country, and the announcement was made that he was going to make a series of ascensions. It was into the car of the Professor Vaughn got ready for his trip in the balloon. He was just about to go up when a sudden gust of wind came along, caught the balloonist in it way and dashed it against the lightning rod. The aeronaut was jammed through the skylight in the building, both of his legs being broken, and he was otherwise injured.

Hair Death

Permanently removes all superfluous hair, without injury to the most delicate skin. It acts like magic.
