THE SALT LAKE STAKE.

Its Two Days' Conference Commenced Today.

Topics of Interest to the Saints are Discussed by the Various Speakers.

The semi-annual Conference and monthly Priesthood meeting of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion convened in the Assembly Hall this morning at 10 o'clock. There were present on the stand President Lorenzo Snow and Elders Heber J. Grant and Abraham H. Cannon, of the Quorum of the Apostles, the stake presidency, Elders Angus M. Cannon, Jos. E. Taylor and L. W. Paulsen, while the roll call showed the following attendance of Stake officers.

One High Councilor, three Patriarchs, Elders Elias Morris and William C. Dunbar, of the presidency of the High Priests' quorum, eight presidents of twenties and six home missionaries.

All the wards in the Stake were properly represented excepting the Fifth, Sixth, Tenth, Sixteenth, Eighteenth and Twenty-second city wards and South Cottonwood, North Jordan, Hunter and Pleasant Green, of the country.

The First, Fifth, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Sixteenth, Eighteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second, Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth quorums of Elders were represented by their presiding officers.

The Stake Presidency of the Relief Societies, Superintendency of the Sunday Schools, and Stake Presidency of the Young Men's and Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement Associations and the Primary associations responded to the roll call.

The following brethren were appointed to represent the wards named below, the Bishops and counselors being absent: Fifth, Richard J. Filer; Sixth, H. D. Page; Tenth, James Mills; Thirteenth, Claudius V. Spencer; Sixteenth, Theodore McKean; Eighteenth, Stephen Chase; Twenty-second, Bishop Isaac Hutton of the Nineteenth; South Jordan, Samuel Bringhurst; Hunter, A. P. Stenquist.

The Conference was opened by the President of the Stake.

The choir and congregation sang, "Hallelujah! Israel."

Prayer was offered by Elder Edward Stevenson.

Singing, choir and congregation, "Come let us sing our journey pass'd." After the roll call and the reading of the minutes, members of the quorums of the inner Priesthood, on recommendation of their Bishops, were unanimously endorsed for ordination to the office of Elder.

Elder Angus M. Cannon trusted that the spirit of the Lord would manifest His will during the conference, through the prayers of the Saints.

Elder E. W. Davis, president of the First quorum of Elders, reported that his quorum was composed of the Elders of the Fourteenth and Seventeenth wards and contained eighty-eight members, two on foreign missions and six on missions to different parts of the United States. The feeling of the members is one of relenting and faithfulness.

Elder Elias Morris, Bishop of the Fifteenth ward and president of the High Priests' quorum, reported those organizations. The monthly meetings of the quorum are well attended and characterized by an excellent spirit. The number of members is rapidly increasing by the addition of those who have grown old in the work of God, which adds to the interest and value of the meetings.

The ward was spoken of as being in good general condition, but already burdened with the care of the poor, both old and middle-aged, who have been unfortunate in the matter of employment. Such, however, had been advised to be frugal and, as nearly as possible, self-sustaining. The ward, being large, has been divided, and two meetings and two Sunday schools are now in operation. The health of the people is good and all enjoying we themselves in the work of God.

Elder David McKenzie, secretary of the Stake Board of Education, explained the matter of an assessment made upon the various wards of the Stake amounting to some $20,000 for the relief of the Latter-day Saints' College. To the first call but six of the wards responded, with a total of $1,085.65. Subsequently the subject was laid before another meeting, and it was determined to raise ten per cent of the amount. To this call most of the wards responded in whole or in part, contributing a total of $1,168.80; balance due $926.55. Several of the accounts owing to the College board are now due, and parties are clamoring for payment.

Elder C. W. Penrose explained that the debt of the College was occasioned by the purchase of the property to which the College is located. The Social Hall property stands as an offset to the debt when it can be properly disposed of. It was the intention to pay off the indebtedness, but the hard times intervened. If there was a different disposition, one of willingness and effort, this amount could be paid.

The college is the only educational institution in the Stake in which the principles of the Gospel can be taught, and it would be a bad thing to let it go down. The teachers are fully capable to do their work. It is desirable that those who have completed the common branches of training shall be sent to the college, the tuition charge there having been reduced to make this possible.

The proof of the ability to pay off the assessment is seen in the fact that some of the poorer wards have overpaid their proportions.

It is not enough that the pupils call upon the district schools, for here the influence is commonly corrupting to the faith of the children. Something between the district schools and the advanced institutions of the Church is necessary, and this can best be obtained in such a school as the college.

Elder Penrose suggested the advisability of making donations to the school and thus creating monuments to the persons who show their liberality. The Roman Catholics were cited as a worthy example of liberality in educational matters. The officers of the wards were urged to see to it that the people understood the matter and to do their best to pay off the indebtedness.

Elder Joseph E. Taylor spoke of the donation by Horace S. Eldredge of $5,000 as a fund for establishing the institution, and his giving the interest of $10,000 for the same purpose. Sister Eliza R. Snow also donated $300 to the institution. To emulate these examples is much better than to leave the property to be quarreled over by the children. Elder Taylor read the official announcement of the First Presidency concerning the closing of the Church University, and their recommendation that the people concentrate their energies toward sustaining the Latter-day Saints' College and the University of Utah.

The choir sang the anthem,

Praise ye the Father.

Conference was adjourned till 2 p. m. Benediction by Elder Joseph Horne.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The choir and congregation sang:

Oh! that we were in Thee,
Thrice happy Thy blessings to share
Thy Spirit, Thy love, Thy salvation
Thy heaven, Thy glory, Thy God.

Prayer was offered by Elder George R. Walker, after which the choir sang the hymn commencing:

High on the mountain top
A banner is unfurled.

President Lorenzo Snow referred the Saints in meeting in such a capacity to see that each gains an advantage and makes a substantial step of progress. The extensive responsibilities resting upon the Stake presidency render it necessary that they should be sustained in all possible ways by the people in their trying positions. If the people would properly understand their rights and privileges in the Gospel, the burdens resting on the different wards of the Stake could easily be lifted.

Some are very ambitious to attain to high positions, both here and hereafter, but they do not see any immediate prospect of doing so. Yet it is the duty of everybody to have an object that he can reach, this being regulated by his powers and abilities. Diversity of talents is necessary in a church, and one should be placed in such a position as will enable him to use his peculiar talents aright. It may be assumed that whatever gift a person may display, whether spiritual or financial, he has been endowed with. It is his present state, that he may use it here to the best advantage. Jeremiah, a very singular and noble man, was cited as an instance of this. So Abraham, Jesse and others, distinguished themselves in their own particular line of work.

Two important and striking ideas in the plan of salvation are: First, that God will give His saints all that He has; second, that He will take away all that they possess, or at least require them to offer all on the altar of his work. Hence all should manifest a willingness to conform to the latter condition, that the former may be fulfilled.

In the temple the work is entirely spiritual, no temporal affairs being discussed there. Many thousands in baptisms and other ordinances for the dead have been performed there during the past year, and the speaker expressed his opinion that very few of those thus administered for would reject the work. There is no more faithful labor than this. Joseph Smith said that those who fail to do this work peril their own salvation. Every spirit that has lived on the earth must receive this labor before all things can be made perfect. Only a commencement can be made in this work now.

Elder Heber J. Grant considering that the necessity of attending the first meetings of the conference is not sufficiently impressed upon the people by their teachers, in many places the third the size of this, a much better showing is made in the first conference meeting than here today. A little feeling that would prevent the wards from being without representation. Ward officers should not depend upon receiving official instruction second hand.

The dark financial clouds resting upon the people now can be removed only by living up to the laws of God and ceasing to squander means. Many, however, whose lives are considered faulty by men, are succeeding in the eyes of God. The breaking of the Word of Wisdom alone entails a tremendous loss upon the people. Tea, coffee, tobacco and beer cost the people of this Territory about a million dollars each year, an equivalent of the whole amount of wheat raised here.

Elder Grant commended the liberality of the people in the erection of the Temple, and suggested that if their hearts are in the work named the morning they would be able to make up the deficiency. The consecration of affections upon worthly things is destroying the spirit of the Gospel in the hearts of many. It frequently happens that an increase of income results in a meaning inability to keep pace with the increase in the payment of tithing.

Notwithstanding diversity of talent, every man is able to keep all the commandments of God, and this is all He requires. Hence none should repine over the lack of talent.

It is estimated that every dollar put in circulation does twenty dollars' worth of work each year, and if the million dollars sent out of the Territory yearly were kept at home, it would cancel nearly the whole indebtedness of the people.

Striking illustrations of the squandering of means in other directions were made to impress upon the minds of the people the necessity of keeping money at home.

Learning by the things they suffer, the Saints will see how to see their means for the advancement of the work of God. But it is better to seek wisdom before bereavement, or the lesson will be lost to reflect upon the reason for the sacrifice, and to emulate the example.

Elder A. H. Cannon referred to the care of the poor, urging those who are able to do so, to leave the city and make homes in the country, where land may be procured at the government price. Self-supporting effort is all that is required. Daily co-operation of husband and wife will accomplish wonders in this direction. The speaker would not, however, advise those who possess homes here to sell them, but they should retain their possession, which will become very valuable in the near future.

Determination to go forward and not to retreat will bring about the victory in the work.

Elder Angus M. Cannon commended the movement to acquire a part of the public domain through homestead entry; even the foreign land may be thus acquired. He also spoke in commendation of the efforts being made to gather a library for the Temple.

The choir sang the anthem "Deseret Jehovah, my glorious home."

Conference adjourned to meet in the Tabernacle tomorrow at 10 a. m. Benediction by Elder S. A. Woolley.

E. B. WELLS.

NEW HEADQUARTERS.

Governor and Secretary Move in the Industrial Home Building.

THE OLD OFFICES VACATED TODAY.

The Change Elevates the Utah Commission One Story—Administration Economy Behind the Move.

The two-story brick structure which stands at the site of the Deseret building on West Temple street and which was been the executive mansion and office of Utah's governor for several years past was today vacated by the chief officers of the Territory and all public records which it contained removed to the Industrial Home block on Fifth East between Second and Third South streets.

The occasion for the removal as announced in the News some weeks ago is to save rent to the government which has been paid out for the use of the West Temple street structure which, by the way is the property of Mr. F. H. Lannan. In conversation with a News representative today Mr. Lannan stated that he would immediately take personal possession of the premises just as soon as they could be vacated and put in good order. It is his purpose to make the place his permanent residence.

In the change of official quarters the Utah Commission have been compelled to pick up their public appurtenances and carry them to the second story of the "house." The commissioners have hereafter occupied will be held down by Secretary Richards and assistants. If the unwieldy, the contrast, has crowded the rooms across the hall to the north of the secretary's apartments. Thus are the territorial officials living "straight close together."

U. P. STATION REOPENED.

Business At and About Willard Improving Satisfactorily.

The Union Pacific today reopened or rather re-established a passenger and freight depot at Willard, Box Elder county, and R. R. Baird has been installed as agent.

The station at this place was closed down on August 22 last for an account of the heavy falling off in business. Of late, however, passenger and freight traffic has been passed from that point to Brigham City to such an extent that the Union Pacific was compelled to come to the conclusion of reopening the station.

As a consequence of the release decree that he has no authority to try the rights of property in this action, on the ground that it is a chattel of a third party. That the plaintiffs are entitled to an order authorizing them to institute an action against Chief Pratt and J. C. Lynch, to have the property in question applied to the satisfaction of their judgment against the defendant Quinlan. That the plaintiffs are entitled to an order holding Chief Pratt from transferring or otherwise disposing of said property until an action can be commenced by the plaintiffs and prosecuted to judgment.

The referee's findings will be submitted to the Third district court.

Piper, Mr. Emery, Lizzie Thomas Edwards and Mac Pice, rendered sweetly and symphonically a number of funeral selections. Remarks of an appropriate and consoling character were made by Elders C. R. Savage, Seymour B. Young and Martin Lonzo. Interment took place at the city cemetery.

OGDEN.

OGDEN, UTAH, SEPT. 1, 1894.

Deserted and Died.

A sad tale is that of Mrs. Samuel Aberly. About two years ago Miss Kate Uhlenhaus, a girl of 17 years, came to Ogden from Cincinnati to work out. It was not long till she made the acquaintance of Samuel Aberly, a Union Pacific switchman, to whom she was married a year ago last March by the Rev. Samuel Unworth. They moved to Butte, Montana, where the husband worked for four months, when he deserted his wife and has not been heard from since. He left her impoverished, and to destitute circumstances she removed to her father, who did all he could for her. Later she came to Ogden to live, after which her condition was worse, but death was relieved it. She too refused to let her parents know her whereabouts, and her sorrow was too much for her. Over wheelchair with sorrow her heart was broken, and inconsolable died. Yesterday afternoon the funeral took place from the residence of Mr. Charles L. Lewis, in whose home unfortunate girl was found a kind and devoted friend.

Notes.

W. A. Smith, proprietor of a restaurant on Twenty-fifth street, threw a five pound weight at his wife, knocking her down lounging. Smith carried his wife to an adjoining room and provided the services of Dr. Geddes. Smith was arrested.

Two vagrants were arrested near the Southern Pacific bridge. Their camp was well supplied with vegetables.

Hon. Z. C. Lothrop, of St. Paul, Neb., accompanied by Charles J. Lowe, of Omaha, is in town on business.
