Utah County Teachers' Institute.

PAYSON, Aug. 19, 1896.—Morning session. Song, Then Youth Remember Me, Misses Rees and Mary Swenson of Pleasant Grove.

Dr. Jos. Worthy of the University of Utah spoke upon the subject of "The Principles of Historic Continuity and Interpretation." The responsibility of speaking to teachers is that the thought is thrown out to be received by others and to act as it will. History is a term that may be applied to a drop of water, a grain of sand or anything, and that I may say became the beginning of some history. When we speak, or act, or think, this act has a history. History should be applied to all things as a source of entertainment and inspiration. Modern criticism has a touch, in one or two special directions. First it has a trend toward reality. Geographer was especially careful to keep within the truth, being a close observer, and a critical analyst. We should welcome this trend in our modern civilization should be heed upon the time, the rest. We would willingly discard the wrong [illegible] but lest it may have to come to us through tradition and lore, [illegible] Either in days the spasmodic—political, moral, or religious—fail then to be the wrong. Before the time of criticism has marked a historical revolution. The earlier writers drew large if somewhat imaginations to make important significant meanings, before we have found out authority upon other sidelines; those who have drawn their data from the relation of the historical field from the original source of information, rules, government records, etc. There are different methods of interpretation. The Hebrew School accepts the Bible as the last source of ancient history. The scientist school seeks to be key of interpretation in evolution; it attempts to show that all kinds of life had its beginning in protoplasm, and thousands of years were spent of development that have role to evolve all higher forms. It is not my purpose to give you the key, believe it for yourself and you will be able to find something to assist you in interpreting the past. The evolutionists theory is hypothetical.

Quotes Prof. J. E. Rockmore of the B. Y. College, Logan, on the subject of Qualifications of the Teacher. A little too child is endowed with every faculty to be developed by the teacher, or as Froebel says, "The childhood of today is the manhood of tomorrow." It becomes the duty of the teacher to guide and lead the child to maturhood. The lesson is to qualify himself to do this work. He must be qualified in mind, master each subject, or rather be able to prepare in these, for perfect qualification cannot be reached. He must ever be active in searching for truth and method of presenting it within the chosen field, until he shall reach the brilliancy of a star of the first magnitude. Pedagogy is to be mind what the Constitution of the United States is to true statesmanship, it presents the laws to which all acts must conform.

Without this stimulant to a mind diseased?" says Macbeth. Certainly, may not; the condition of the mind depends largely, if not solely, on the condition of the stomach, liver, and bowels, for all of which complaints Ayer's Pills are "the unsurpassed king of earth."

Nervous debility is a common complaint, especially among women. The best medical treatment for this disease is a persistent course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla to cleanse and invigorate the blood. Taken long among Lakeside, this will do the rest.

One night when Mr. Isaac Hayes was stopping with me, says M. F. Hatch, a prominent merchant of Quartermaster, Washington, I heard him groaning. On going to his room I found the sufferer from cramp colic. He was in such agony I feared he would die. I hastily gave him a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He was soon relieved, and the first words he uttered were, "What was that stuff you gave me?" I informed him. A few days ago we were talking about his attack and he said he was never without that remedy. I have used it in my family for several years and know its worth and do not hesitate to recommend it to my friends and customers. For sale by Druggists.

Mr. C. G. Hinsey, president of the public schools at Alma, Neb., says: "I have used Chamberlain's Pain Balm and have found it an excellent remedy for lameness and sight wounds."

Lameness usually results from a sprain or other injury, or from rheumatism, for which Chamberlain's Pain Balm is extensively intended and recommended. It affords almost immediate relief and in a short time effects a perfect cure. For sale by Druggists.

"It is the best pain remedy in the world" is what Mr. E. M. Hartman of Marquam, Oregon, says of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. "When baby was so sick this medicine is from the last that dysentery in its worst form was prevalent around here her mother said he never took over two or three doses of that remedy to effect a complete cure." For sale by Druggists.
