A Child Badly Burned—Escaped One Disaster to Meet Another.—A Greaser's Artful Dodge.

Sheridan, Wyo., boasts of a trained cattle snake which wears a diamond ring.

It is stated that forty Chicago families will locate near Roswell, N. M., during this winter.

In some parts of Colorado severe snow storms are raging and railroad traffic is greatly impeded.

A receiver has been appointed at San Bernardino, Cal., for the Bear Valley Irrigation company, capitalized for $4,000,000.

In the Pecos valley, N. M., St. Louis parties have purchased large tracts of land for grape and prune growing.

Marshal Anderson is after the Chinamen this week to work poll tax, says the Eastern Utah Telegraph. The Mongolians have refused to work and the town authorities will now compel them to work or show cause why they should not.

Nevada has a natural soap mine. It is on the Central Pacific railroad and resembles castile soap in everything except smell. An exchange says there is enough of it if dug out and molded into cakes to supply soap for the United States.

Grand Junction, Colo., papers speak of farmers in that locality who are "land poor." A man with forty acres under irrigation is better off than one who attempts to cultivate eighty or one hundred and sixty acres.

The Sanpete Valley railway depot grounds present a very lively business appearance, says the Manti Messenger. Workmen are engaged on the depot, water tanks, switches and other improvements. Everything is moving as fast as men and materials can work together.

Edward F. Terry, motorman of the electric car line, which plunged through the Madison street drawbridge at Portland, Oregon, November 1st, and killed and drowned seven persons, has been indicted for manslaughter. His bonds were fixed at $5000.

The Vernon brothers, James and Joseph while hunting in Weber canyon came in contact with a cougar. The wild animal showed its teeth but the boys were brave and conquered. When they returned home they brought the animal with them.—Summit county Chronicle.

A five-year-old son of Engineer Frederick Clark, of Benson, Arizona, was seriously injured on Sunday morning by being kicked on the head by a horse he was endeavoring to drive from a corral. An operation had to be performed, and hopes are entertained for the child's recovery.

The barber war is going to break out again with renewed force, says the Denver News, and some of the shops will be opened next Sunday morning to make a test. The employers have called a meeting to consider the matter and the men, on learning of their action, also called a general meeting.

The scoundrel who entered the rooms back of the Cullingham & Griffith hall last Thursday night and carried away the provisions which the ladies had prepared for distribution among the poor people of the town, deserves a coat of tar and feathers, and will receive it if apprehended. This is the opinion of the Nampa, Idaho, Leader.

The wife and child of a rancher named Armstrong, living in Brown's valley, near Fresno, Cal., were painfully burned Sunday. While the little child was playing about the kitchen stove its clothing caught fire, and before the flames could be smothered both were badly burned. Neither the woman nor the child was dangerously injured.

On Sunday Mr. Uriah Hotchkiss of Cimarron, a station on the Ouray branch of the Denver & Rio Grande, about twelve miles from Montrose, Colo., went into his corral to kill a steer, when the vicious animal made for him. Mr. Hotchkiss, in getting over a fence out of reach, accidentally discharged his gun, the ball passing into his neck, inflicting a severe though not fatal wound.

Winnemucca, Idaho, was treated to a mild sensation last Saturday afternoon by the finding of the body of a Chinaman hanging to a rafter of a barn in the rear of Chinatown. It was a clear case of suicide, says an exchange, and a good [illegible]. At the dead Chinaman's feet was a box on which it is probable that he stood, tied a slip noose in a halter rope, placed it around his neck, tied the other end to a rafter and kicked the box from under him.

Henry Tiedemann, a San Francisco grocer who had a contract with the city to supply public institutions with eggs at twenty cents a dozen, received an order from the city for [illegible] on Thanksgiving day, and the [illegible] price up to forty-one cents. He gave as his reason for the advance that the demand on that day inflated the value of eggs, but the increase in price was not allowed.

The sheriff of Montezuma county arrived in Denver in charge of [illegible] W. Lattarner on Sunday. [illegible] is wanted at Durango, Colo., on a charge of forgery. With a partner named Collins the prisoner started an [illegible] establishment at Durango about four months ago. Lattarner forged Collins's name to a check for [illegible] and skipped. He was arrested at Santa Fe two months ago, but Governor Thornton refused to acknowledge the requisition papers and Lattarner escaped. He was located at Springfield, Mo., and arrested there a few days ago.

The collections of county taxes up to December 1st, remarks the Boulder (Colorado) Independent, have not been footed up at the office of Treasurer Batten as yet. It is estimated, however, that out of the $150,000 to be collected, somewhere in the neighborhood of $120,000 has already been paid in up to this time, leaving only $30,000 delinquent, or something near 20 per cent. Last year there was $128,000 of county taxes to be collected, and of this only $11,000 was delinquent on the 1st day of December. This year's collections are considered very good in view of the recent financial depression and the prevailing cry of hard times. The exact figures for the delinquency may, when tabled up, vary somewhat from the estimates, but it is not thought the latter are far out of the way.
