Nothing has been heard from Agent Harvey of the Pacific Life Insurance company, whose sudden absence from Brigham city and uncertainty of destination caused a scandal of some dimensions several weeks ago.

The mercury took another ascent today, reaching 92 degrees at 1 p. m. People are getting exhausted by the unmitigated heat. There was a smart shower at 2 p. m., but it did not last long, and when it had passed over, the heat seemed more oppressive than before.

E. E. Rich took the first prize at the grain and flour men's Lagoon picnic by having the largest feet. The prize was a pair of kid slippers No. 11's G width in size, and were shipped out to the grounds by freight. Mr. Rich weighed and weighed the train in a wheelbarrow.

Representatives of the three largest toy firms in the country are in this city: two from Kansas City and one from New York City, with long lines of samples. They report that business is generally heavy this year all over the west, and one of the representatives claims to have done $50,000 worth of business this season.

Col. Milner reports that 20 miles of the grand canal of the Twin Falls Land and Water company have been excavated by the great machines at work there, and the excavation is going rapidly on. The government is preparing for a series of reservoirs some distance above the Twin Falls company's lake, which will eventually irrigate 2,000,000 acres of land.

The register and receiver of the land-office have just received instructions from the commissioner at Washington to suspend from all forms of disposal of land generally in this state, all Salt Lake meridians, which are to be resumed, in accordance with an act of Congress relative to the disposal of gilaite lands on the Uncompaghe reservation.

Extradition papers were received at Gov. Wells' office this morning from the governor of Alabama, requesting the delivery of Wiley Fox, charged with having shot and killed Thos. Lee, a drinker of water, who was arrested on July 4th last. Fox is under arrest here. W. A. McDowell is the officer who brought the extradition papers and who will take the prisoner back to his home in Alabama.

Nettie M. Tame, who lives near to the place where the body was found, testified that a man called at her home on Saturday, the 11th. She gave him a drink of water, and he left. That evening she saw the same man in company with a woman walking along the road. The woman was of slender build and wore a black dress. That night she saw a dog barking in the camp where the man and woman were, and a little later she heard the report of a pistol.

On cross examination Mrs. Tame said the man and woman passed her house going west, soon returning with two horses, the woman riding one of the animals, the man leading the other one.

It was not clear in the witness's mind whether it was near 11 or 12 o'clock when she heard the pistol shot, but it was near one or the other, as she says the clock struck soon afterward.

Court then adjourned until 2:30 this afternoon. County Atty. Westvelt said he did not expect to close the trial of the woman until the 25th. He asked how she felt about the testimony. Her reply was: "Me no say," and she laughed at her understanding of Indian vernacular and attempted turning aside of the "News" man's questions.

OTHER WITNESSES. At the afternoon session of Judge Diehl's court, held in Judge Hall's courtroom as noted in last evening's "News," the following witnesses testified in behalf of the state: William J. Painter, Charles Nunn, Ray C. Orrin, and A. D. Harrison. They testified that Mrs. Tame, Mrs. Hodge with Ryan in his wagon at different times. They were positive in their identification and said there was little chance for being mistaken.

YOUNG MURDERESS IN MERRY MOOD.

8th of July seeing an outfit camped near Winchester's ranch?" "Yes."

"Can you describe the camp?" "The wagon was rickety. It was covered. One horse was 'feller' and the other bay. The man was medium sized and I took him to be about 50 years of age."

"Did you see the lady?" "Yes, sir."

"Do you see her in the courtroom?" "Sitting right there," and Miss Turner pointed to Mrs. Hodge. The latter looked straight before her but her face flushed visibly.

Mr. Loofbrouw asked: "Did she try to hide from you?" "No, she did not."

"She did not put anything up before her face?" "Did you pay particular attention to her?"

"Yes, I thought it strange to see so young a woman with an old man. I remember that I guessed she would rather be an old man's darling than a young man's slave."

HODGE HAD REVOLVER. The remark occasioned much laughter. She was then excused and a young man named John Clark took the stand.

He declared he saw Ryan and Mrs. Hodge camped near Winchester's ranch. "The woman was sitting on the wagon," said the witness, "and I saw her face. She had a nickel plated revolver."

"Do you see that woman in the courtroom?" "Yes, it is she."

"Sitting next to Mr. Loofbrouw." "SAW HER ONCE BEFORE. Answering counsel for defense, witness said he saw the woman once before."

"What was the man doing when you saw them?" "He had a fork in his hand and I suppose he was cooking breakfast."

"Did you ever have any conversation with the man or woman?" "No, sir."

"SAW HER TYING RYAN. A. H. Atkinson gave some startling testimony. He said he was driving past Ryan's camp and saw a slender woman binding a man with a rope."

"Was there much excitement?" "Not that I know of."

"How far were you from these persons?" "About 25 feet."

"Many times did the woman tie the rope around the man?" "Twice, I think."

"Where was his hands?" "I don't know."

"Did they try to conceal themselves?" "No, sir."

"Did you notice them converse with each other?" "I did not."

"Did you see a dog?" "I did not."

"Did you see any boxes?" "I saw nothing but the people and the wagon."

"Your attention was first drawn to them because the man was trying to free himself from the coils of the rope but made no big effort to go away."

WAS MRS. HODGE. Vincent Shurtliff, a mail carrier at Murray, testified he saw the party camped south of Murray on July 11.

"Can you see the woman in the courtroom?" "Yes." Witness pointed to Mrs. Hodge. Witness said he noticed them because of the oddity of the wagon.

AGAIN IDENTIFIED. John Brigham Jr., 14 years old, said: "I passed the camp where the man's body was discovered and saw a wagon and a woman in the wagon."

"Can you identify the woman now?" "Yes," pointing to Mrs. Hodge.

SAW THEM DISTINCTLY. On cross examination he said he was with the party on the 11th. He saw Ryan and Mrs. Hodge distinctly, and he thought he saw another man there but was not sure.

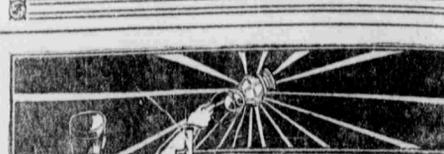

HEARD PISTOL SHOT. Nettie M. Tame, who lives near to the place where the body was found, testified that a man called at her home on Saturday, the 11th. She gave him a drink of water, and he left. That evening she saw the same man in company with a woman walking along the road. The woman was of slender build and wore a black dress. That night she saw a dog barking in the camp where the man and woman were, and a little later she heard the report of a pistol.
