STANFORD'S ESTATE.

A Claim Against it for Fifteen Million Dollars

FILED BY THE GOVERNMENT.

Could It Be Enforced the Property Would Be Swallowed Up and the Widow Left Penniless.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—The claim for $15,000,000 filed against the tangled estate by Attorney General Olney as a preliminary step to force the government claim against the original holders of the Central Pacific has caused the greatest interest here. It is now learned that the government's claim was filed May 9, but that an attempt was made to keep the proceeding secret in order that the financial operations of the estate need not be embarrassed. The late Senator Stanford's estate was recently appraised at $17,000,000. Since the appointment many obligations have been paid and it is stated now that the settlement of the government claim would practically wipe out the estate, not only leaving the widow penniless, but cutting off all the beneficiaries under the late senator's will, including the endowment of $2,500,000 to the Leland Stanford University. It is even said that the estate at the liquidation of its acknowledged debts may not equal the amount claimed by the government. In this event Senator Stanford's deed of trust under which Stanford University was founded would not stand in case the decision of the courts would be in favor of the government and the Stanford University would necessarily be sacrificed to save the bondholders. Mrs. Stanford in an interview has stated that the government claim will be resisted to the fullest extent of her ability. She regards the proceedings in the nature of a test case and was not surprised at the filing of the claim. Further than these statements she would not talk.

As illustrative of the probable defense we gives last night by Mr. Kirkham, one of Mrs. Stanford's attorneys. In an interview he said:

The opinion of the attorney general is solid—it is a great deal of consideration, but he is proceeding on a wrong assumption. I am free to say that I do not think the government will ever be able to collect anything from the estate. The government issued bonds to assist in the construction of the Central Pacific railroad, but neither Mr. Stanford nor anyone else ever agreed to pay the government back. The bonds operate as a second mortgage. It is not a debt at all while the attorney general is perfectly right that in California the owners of a corporation are personally responsible for the debts of the corporation he is wrong in assuming that the mortgage is a debt.

You can't compel a man to pay a mortgage. If I borrow $1,000 on a piece of property valued at $2000, the year of the mortgage can't compel me to pay it when it becomes due. He can foreclose the mortgage and take property and that is all.

So in this case of the Central Pacific Railroad company, the government holds second mortgage on the company's property of $60,000,000. The government by paying the first mortgage of $60,000,000 can foreclose the second mortgage and get control of the road. But it is not to be presumed that the United States would care to spend $120,000,000 to get control of a road that could be built for one third as much."

William F. Harris, the railroad company's Denver counsel, gave a similar expression of opinion.

Neither of these lawyers, however, cared to discussion of the allegations of fraud which have been made by congressman McGuire and others based on the demand of prosecution against the Huntington, Stanford, Crocker, Searles and other estates. Today is the last under the law which Mrs. Stanford has to accept or reject the government's claim. It is believed she will simply ignore the claim, which in law simply amounts to rejection. It will then be in order for the government to institute suit, either in the United States courts or in the superior court in San Francisco. Attorney General Olney's claim was filed in the probate court in San Francisco, before Judge Coffey where the Stanford estate is now undergoing settlement.

A SUSPICIOUS CAR.

Not So Barred as Infected With Smallpox.

CHICAGO, June 5.—A car of mules in three red wheat standing on the track at Sixty-seventh street and Grand avenue, will probably be seized by the city health department on a suspicion of being infected with smallpox. The car belongs to the Malsen road. Thos. Halligan, assistant grain inspector, went to the car to make his official examination. When inspecting case the door a terrible odor was free emerged, a dusty form next appeared and the stranger let himself to the ground.

"What is the matter with you?" inquired Halligan.

"Cholera, sah! Dat's it," replied the stranger, and he tumbled down the track to so empty freight car which he entered.

Just then a repairer for the road came up and questioned the man who had on the track. The stranger replied that he came from Decatur, Illinois. He suddenly arose and vanishing from the car disappeared down the tracks. The repairer was afraid to restrain him. When the police arrived no trace of the man could be found. The car was consigned here from Hull, Ill., to a board of trade man who will not handle it.

The Chicago & Northern Pacific.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 5.—Edwin Wilson, whose Master in Chancery Craig today gave his version of the Chicago & North Pacific Railway deal, was asked regards Thomas F. Oakes remaining receiver of the Northern Pacific. Nothing of a sensational nature was elicited from the witness.

When an adjournment was taken at 4 o'clock this afternoon it had been shown by the testimony of E. H. Abbott that up to January 15, 1889, and prior to the organization of the Chicago & Northern Pacific company, the terminals bearing the latter name had cost over $11,000,000.

There were two important points brought out in the testimony. One was the fact that Thomas F. Oakes had subscribed for $20,000 of Chicago & Great Western railway (the original terminal) stock in 1885, and gave his note to C. L. Colby and E. H. Abbott for the amount; that in April, 1887, Oakes had failed to pay for his stock, his subscription was canceled and his note returned to him. The other point was the statement in detail of the cost of the terminals up to the time that Colby, Abbott and Hoyt, trustees for the subscribers, turned over the property of the Chicago & Great Western company (January 31, 1888,) to the Northern Pacific company.

CRIPPLE CREEK STRIKE.

The News of the Arbitration Received With Joy—New Tenantes.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Col., June 5.—The news that the strike had been settled caused the morning hours to be spent in a manner fitting the occasion. The Stars and Stripes were run up on the liberty pole, and almost every merchant and businessman in the city followed the example. Shortly before noon, however, rumors of a nature to dampen the order began to pass from mouth to mouth. One was to the effect that some of the mine owners were not satisfied with the agreement and would not be bound by it.

Alexander McLabsh, state organizer for the miners' union, read the arbitration statement to the assembled miners, and immediately all the men on Bull hill laid down their arms, the pickets were called in and the fortifications abandoned.

Immediately upon receipt of information that the deputies had advanced to Midland, couriers were sent in every direction, and in a short time all the strikers were again under arms.

The outlook for peace is not so favorable tonight. The strikers are dissatisfied because the agreement binds only Hagerman and Moffatt, besides which the deputies made a threatening move. The strikers looked upon the movement of the deputies as an indication that the agreement will not be adhered to, and they are greatly angered in consequence.

COAL FAMINE IN VIEW.

DENVER, Colo., June 5.—Unless the trouble with the Colorado coal miners is speedily settled, this city will experience a serious coal famine. The tramway and city cable companies have but seven day's supply of fuel on hand and no way of securing more. The Consolidated Electric Light company is said to be in an even worse condition, with the gas company not much better situated.

The Doctors at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—The annual meeting of the American Medical association commenced here today and will continue four days. The delegates were welcomed by Governor Markham and Mayor Elert.

Fry's Army Dispersed and Divided.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., June 5.—Fry's army was refused aid by citizens last night and was obliged to sleep in the open air during a drenching rain. This morning the army split into three sections. Fry, under command of Colonel Boundell, started over the pike for Washington; another division marched in the same direction over the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad tracks, while the third division, fifty-two in number, remained in Parkersburg. This afternoon the fifty-two who remained behind went to the Baltimore & Ohio yards and took possession of a freight train that was being made up. They defied the sheriff, who telegraphed for troops, and with an increased force of deputies succeeded in arresting the army.

It is reported tonight that the party which started up the railroad tracks tried to capture a train, but failed. Two of the companies, it is also said to have been hurt, one fatally.

PORTLAND UNDER WATER.

The River Continually Rising.—In Colorado.

PORTLAND, Or., June 5.—Slowly and surely the water of the Willamette river at this point continues to rise, and the indications are that it will continue for several days to come. This afternoon the river stood 22.2 feet above the low water mark. At Umatilla the Columbia river stood 34.5 feet above, and at Pasco 34 feet above.

It is impossible to approximate the amount of damage inflicted upon this city in damage to property and loss of business. The entire wholesale district is flooded to the depth of from six to ten feet. The damage to the river front alone will be nearly a million dollars. There is scarcely a wharf or warehouse that has not suffered more or less.

ADJACENT POINTS.

While the city is confronted with disaster, adjacent points are having a similar experience. Columbia slough presents a scene of desolation. Many families were forced to abandon their homes. Chicken houses, barns and other small buildings have been carried away. The tops of houses and trees are seen just above the water. The lower portion of Vancouver is submerged, and Troutdale is also flooded. West of Troutdale all the bottom lands are under water and a large number of farmers will lose their crops, besides suffering other damage in the way of houses and barns.

COLORADO FLOODS.

LYONS, Colo., June 5.—Great excitement prevails here today. A report was circulated that the Beaver Park reservoir on the south side of the St. Vrain, had broken. A scene of confusion ensued. Every family on the south side of the river, with one or two exceptions, hurriedly moved to the high ground of the town and that part of the town is now completely deserted in anticipation of the flood. A party sent out this morning to try to reach the reservoir and ascertain the extent of the danger. It is known that at least a part of it has broken. Business is practically suspended and the people in the upper part of town are doing all they can to take care of the destitute families.

FUNSTON, June 5.—Soon after 5 o'clock this evening tidings came to this Florence that the Arkansas was again on the boom, and that two of its tributaries, were over their banks. The alarm was given and the residents of the bottoms moved to higher ground and the little town put their energies to work raising goods above the water line of last Wednesday night's flood. It is reported now, 10:30 p.m., that the river is eight inches higher at Hawkins, sixteen miles west of the city, than it was last week. Everyone is now on the forward, and even if the waters reach their recent level, the damage will not be great.

SUGAR SCHEDULE VOTES.

Jones's Compromise Amendment Adopted By the Senate.

Hawaiian Sugar Admitted Free and the Bounty Continued Until Jan. 1, 1905.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Mr. Peffer offered an amendment to place all sugar on the free list.

Mr. Hill (Dem.), of New York, asked if this would precipitate the direct question as to whether sugar should go on the free list or not, and being informed it would, and he urged a record—making vote which he had upon it.

The amendment was lost—26 to 37, as follows:

NAYS—Allen, Blackburn, Blanchard, Butler, Caffery, Call, Camden, Cockrell, Coke, Daniel, Faulkner, George, Gibson, Gordon, Gray, Harris, Hunton, Jarvis, Jones (Ark.), Kyle, Lindsay, McLaurin, Mallory, Martin, Mills, Morgan, Murphy, Pasco, Pugh, Ransom, Roach, Smith, Vest, Vilas, Voorhees, White.

The pairs were as follows. The first named would have voted yea and the last nayed nay:

Proctor and Bate, Wolcott and Brice, Casey and Mitchell (Wis.), Davis and Turpie, Dixon and McPherson, Jones (Nev.) and Gorman, Hansbrough and Palmer, Irby and Quay, Squire and Walsh, Wilson and Berry.

Senators Sherman and Stewart did not vote and were not paired.

Two Republicans, Manderson and Perkins, voted against free sugar, and Quay was paired the same way, while Sherman did not vote.

Of the Democrats, Hill voted for free sugar, while Irby was paired off in the same way.

Of the Populists, Peffer voted for free sugar, Allen and Kyle against and Stewart did not vote.

The question was then on the Jones amendment to paragraph 1821, the amendment being the schedule agreed on by the Democratic side. The Jones compromise amendment, fixing the sugar duty, was carried, 36 to 28. The vote in detail was as follows:

YEAS—Allen, Blackburn, Blanchard, Butler Caffery, Camden, Cockrell, Coke, Faulkner, George, Gibson, Gordon, Gray, Harris, Hunton, Jones (Ark.), Kyle, Lindsay, Barrow, Mills, Morgan, Murphy, Pasco, Pugh, Quay, Ransom, Roach, Smith, Turpie, Vest, Vilas, Voorhees, Walsh, White.

NAYS—Aldrich, Allison, Cameron, Carey, Chandler, Collom, Davis, Dolph, Dubois, Frye, Gallinger, Hale, Hawley, Higgins, Hill, Hoar, Lodge, McMillan, Manderson, Mitchell (Ore.), Palmer, Peffer, Pettigrew, Platt, Power, Sherman, Teller, Washburn.

Pairs, the first voting yea and the last nay: Bate and Proctor, Berry and Wilson, Brice and Wolcott, Call and Morrill, Daniel and Squire, Gorman and Jones (Nev.), McPherson and Irby, Jarvis and Sherman, McLaurin and Dixon, Palmer and Hansbrough.

Stewart was absent and not paired. Perkins was present but is not recorded as either voting or pairing.

The Jones amendments increasing the duty on sugar equity from 50 to 55 per cent and making the duty on saccharine 25 per cent were agreed to.

This completed the sugar schedule.

As adopted the schedule imposes a duty of 40 per cent ad valorem on all sugars, raw and refined, with a differential of one-eighth of a cent per pound on sugar above 11 Dutch standard and an additional one-tenth of a cent against sugar imported from countries paying an export bounty. Sugar from the Sandwich Islands is admitted free. The duty on molasses is 2 cents a gallon. The schedule goes into effect Jan. 1, 1895, and the bounty is continued until that date.

MR. F. BARROW.

HE WAS DEAF

When He First Came to Drs. Shores & Shores.

Mr. F. Barrow, a popular young man in the employ of J. S. Moses & Sons, our office, 110 South Main street, says:

"I was always catching cold, every spring I would have a cough one that I could hardly get rid of, and to neglect I attributed the cause of my recent affliction.

"I had a severe cough that was alarming to my friends and many symptoms that were disagreeable and annoying. But my worst trouble was the catarrh in the head and which caused catarrhal deafness and made me almost ENTIRELY DEAF.

"I was advised by friends to go to Drs. Shores & Shores, and I am glad, for I can say I CAN NOW HEAR AS WELL AS EVER.

Any one who wishes can call on Mr. Barrow in the office of J. S. Moses & Sons, 110 South Main street.

I COULDN'T WALK

A Block Without Support, Says Mrs. M. W. Sharp, Who Resides at 240 West Sixth North Street.

I was in a very weak and emaciated condition. I had no appetite, and what I did eat distressed me; eyes weak, pains in the back of the neck. I had lost flesh rapidly, and my condition was very serious. I treated with many other doctors, but they made me worse. Last winter I was very sick, the entire time, and when I came to Drs. Shores & Shores I had little hopes of being cured.

In conclusion, I will state that under Drs. Shores & Shores's new treatment I

HAVE GAINED FIVE POUNDS.

In fact, I feel like a new woman.

Mrs. Sharp resides at 240 West Sixth North street, where she can be interviewed.
