LIGHT AND DARK.

Some murmur when the sky is clear,
And wholly bright to view,
If one small speck of dark appear
In their great heaven of blue;
And some with thankful love are filled
If but one streak of light,
One ray of God's good mercy gild
The darkness of their night.

BREVITIES.

Prof. Lowell's new word, undisprivaced, is called "a four-story pollysyllable with a French roof."

It is reported that the Rev. Mr. Spurgeon has received ten offers of marriage within a year.

And now "Mr. Manton Marble wears steel-colored kids." O dear! and just as likely as not he will wear sky-blue ones next. There is no telling what people won't do in this "contracted" age.

A well known author says that nothing baffles curiosity, eludes pursuit, and generally mystifies the human intelligence like the plain, simple and unvarnished truth.

An exchange says that the new style of collar for gentlemen is simply terrific. They are an economical article, however, as with moderately long pantaloons they do away with all necessity for a shirt.

A thoughtful Danbury lady puts lard on the stoop when she wants her husband to stay home of an evening. Barring an hour or so devoted to rubbing his back, the time is pleasantly occupied.

The New York Mail asserts that "many fashionable ladies who are partial to low-necked dresses, and have not a pretty neck, wear a false neck of wax or alabaster, which, when a heavy necklace is worn with it, can hardly be detected from the real article."

A young Hoosier once said to a Hoosieress, "Sal, is there anybody courtin' you now?" And Sal replied, "Well, Sam, there is one feller sorter courtin', and sorter no"; but I reckon is more sorter not than sorter."

An Episcopal clergyman meeting Barnum, the showman, the other day, after inquiring for his health, physical and spiritual, said, "Barnum, I always liked you. You are a good fellow, and I trust we shall meet in heaven." "O!" said the imperturbable showman, with a twinkle of his eye, "I have no doubt we shall—if 'you' are there."

Henry Ward Beecher says he is inclined to leave the Baptists, Episcopalians, Unitarians, Catholics and Jews to get to heaven in their own way, and without his guidance, and to spend the year 1872 in promoting the fruits of the Spirit, "love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance," against which there is, in none of these denominations, any law.

The Central Texan says: "We have been shown by Mr. I. Levy a sample of the Egyptian wool-cotton, and are highly pleased with its appearance. It is soft, white, and as fine as the best Merino wool, and in fact cannot be distinguished from it except by competent judges. It grows on a bush exactly like the cotton plant; has seed like it, and is cultivated in the same manner and at the seasons as cotton. It is no more trouble to raise and is equally productive, while a pound of this fleece or wool is worth several times as much as a pound of ordinary cotton-lint."

The ethics of loafing need to be expounded, and the neglected sin of inordinate industry to be denounced. No man has a better right to kill himself by overworking than he has to do it by overdrinking. If suicide be a crime, he who dies by putting too great a task upon his strength is as truly a criminal as he who dies by putting a bullet through his head. If a certain amount of rest and recreation is necessary to a man's health and life the omission to take it is as great an offence against God's law in nature as would be the omission to take food, and death by wilful starvation is no more an act of self-destruction than is death by wilful fatigue.

The humorous upshot of a recent experiment by the new postmaster general of Great Britain conveys a moral. He found that he could employ boys for the work of delivering mail at a cost fifty per cent. less than he was paying men for the same service. The hint was immediately acted upon; the adult carriers were discharged, and small boys engaged in their stead, with a result that can easily be imagined. Complaints poured in that letters were delivered tardily, carelessly, or not at all; and in the meantime little fellows in the postal regalia might be seen anywhere upon the streets, playing marbles and otherwise disporting themselves in childish innocence of the immense interests that they were incommoding. Of course, the system had to be abandoned.

Bishop Huntington's report on the "Social Evil" says: "Only let it not be forgotten that in the measure of guilt man shares with woman equally at the least. He is oftener the tempter or instigator, and his accountability must be in the same degree greater. In sins common to two parties, the strong is not less culpable than the feeble; the betrayer than the betrayed; the perjured promiser than the victim. So it will be certain to appear at the last, when all false partialities pass away, traditional sophistries are torn open, secret things are brought to light, and unerring justice is done. If we have here a more direct regard to the one sex than the other, it is only because more sympathy is due to that one, and be-because a reformation there is of greater importance to the health, the home and the virtue of future generations."—Sac. Union.

CONGRESSIONAL.

HOUSE.

A large number of pension bills passed.

On motion of Farnsworth a resolution, directing the post office committee to enquire into the contract recently made for the transportation of mails, with power to send for persons and papers. Farnsworth stated that the Post Master General had requested an investigation.

EASTERN DISPATCHES.

Financial Sleight-The Woman Suffragists-New Orleans and Martial Law-Shot his Mistress-Fraud and Embezzlement—Georgia Gubernatorial Inaugural.

NEW YORK, 12.—Alexander Delamar's paper in the city of Brooklyn, of to-day, brings to light an alleged extraordinary financial transaction, affecting the Liverpool, London and Globe Insurance Company. It charges that through financial manipulation the managers have pledged $5,000,000 of assets on trust, to secure to themselves $300,000 per annum forever with interest, and that the former immense amount is advertised as among the company's assets. The article is creating a sensation in insurance circles.

WASHINGTON, 12.—Cady Stanton, Isabella Hooker and other woman suffragists, presented their claims to the judiciary committee to-day. Senator Trumbull said the committee would give the subject due consideration.

The President received a dispatch from Flanders, mayor of New Orleans to-day, urging the declaration of martial law, in order to avert riot and bloodshed, and the President replied that martial law would not be proclaimed under any circumstances, and that no assistance would be given by the Federal authorities to persons or parties.

WASHINGTON, 12.—Chevalier De Sousea Laby presented his credentials as minister from Portugal.

F. A. Marden, a treasury clerk charged with the embezzlement of $12,000 of government bonds, was convicted to-day.

NEW YORK, 12.—Jas Hunter, a liquor dealer, shot Mary Brown, his mistress, to-day in his store in Fulton street. The woman has since died. Hunter is arrested.

The grand jury of the court of general sessions, to-day, sent a document to Judge Bedford, stating that they examined cases of fraud involving over $16,000,000 of public funds, but were unable to bring in indictments or bring matters to a close account in the session as the subsequently impanneled grand jury, in the case of Oyer and Terminer, bids fair to continue in session indefinitely. The judge said he would extend their term further when the present ended.

At a meeting of the Union Republican general committee to-night, the resignation of Horace Greeley was read and the honorable Thos. E. Stewart was elected to succeed him as president.

ATLANTA, Ga., 12.—Governor Smith was inaugurated to-day. He promises a faithful adherence to the constitution and laws. Alluding to the debt created by ex-governor Bullock, he asserts that the State will pay all its legal indebtedness and that repudiation is not dreamed of.

WESTERN DISPATCHES.

Pacific Insurance Company—Too Much Rain—Australia Travel on the R. R.

SAN FRANCISCO, 11.—The special agent of the Pacific Insurance Company in Chicago, telegraphs that the total loss has been finally adjudicated and foots up to $1,933,000 Of this $1,433,000 was settled at fifty cents on the dollar and the remainder is in abeyance. Others paying losses and reinsuring, there will be a deficit, on assets, of over $100,000, which the stockholders will have to make good from the capital, after losing all they had really paid on stock.

Parties from the upper part of Napa County, and other districts where large wheat crops are usually raised, report that owing to continual rains, they will be unable to put in the usual crop, and will be compelled to substitute corn and vegetables.

From the expression of opinions by foreigners who have recently passed over the railroad, there is little reason to doubt that the delays caused by snow embargo and irregulation on the U. P. R. R. will have the effect to prevent any considerable travel coming this way from Asia, Australia and New Zealand for a long time.

EUROPEAN DISPATCHES.

Killed His Wife—Prince Teck Naughty—Gambetta Talks Too Much—Oakland Explosion.

LONDON, 12.—Sir F. Scudamore is appointed director of the general telegraph of the United Kingdom.

The Rev. Watson, on trial at Chatham, for the murder of his wife, has been found guilty.

It is rumored that there will be a separation of Prince Teck and his wife, cause occasional unfaithfulness of the Prince.

PARIS, 12.—It is reported that Thiers has requested Gambetta to discontinue his public addresses in the south of France. A malicious rumor intimates that the request was made at the bidding of Bismarck.

The committee on parliamentary initiative, to-day, reported, to the Assembly, a bill for the release of all Communists now confined in the hulks who are not known to be guilty of criminal acts.

BERLIN, 12.—An official dispatch from Versailles announces that Von Arnim and Bismarck, to-day, exchanged notifications of the customs treaty recently negotiated at Frankfort.

MADRID, 12.—The Papal Legation will soon be re-established here.

LONDON, 12.—Only twelve miners were killed by the explosion and fire damp in the Oakland colliery.

WEST INDIES.

HAVANA, 12.—Agramante, the Cuban general, with eighty men and officers, belonging to distinguished families, surrendered yesterday. Agramante's band is scattered through the country and preparing to surrender.

PORT AU PRINCE, 3.—A Prussian man-of-war has arrived here, to demand the reparation of losses occasioned during the revolution.

A French man-of-war has also arrived, and demands a settlement with the French department. Affairs continue critical, and the ministers have resigned.

The United States frigate Congress is expected.

Danger of Raising a Fast Horse.

The Rural New Yorker states the following case, to enforce some sensible advice to farmers, suggested, we presume, by the "display of horses," which is fast becoming the most attractive feature of our agricultural shows:

"A well-to-do farmer of our acquaintance had the misfortune to rear a really fine horse. The action of the animal gave him great delight, and nothing would do but an exhibition of him among the professionals. He put up his money and won. This gave a higher flight to his ambition, and induced a bolder operation. Success rewarded his ventures. He neglected his farm, imperceptibly acquired habits to which he had before been a stranger, and spurred on by past success and the machinations of the crafty, whose aim is to fleece the green and unwary, placed his farm in jeopardy for the purpose of raising money to stake on the result of a race in which his pet horse was to contend for the prize and mastery. The professionals had now got the over-confident farmer in the precise position desired, and the result was what they intended it should be, the defeat of the farmer's horse and the ruin of its owner. The animal changed hands and so did the farm. It was all down hill with the farmer after this. His family was broken up and dispersed, while he, reckless and maddened by disappointment and remorse, found a premature grave."

IS MAN A FIGHTING ANIMAL?

Is man a fighting animal? We thought he was the other night when only 250 people of the whole city would come out to hear Elihu Burritt speak for peace. If the notice had been of a meeting to urge war with Spain or any other country, the house would have been crowded; but for peace who cares? Mr. Burritt is an able, earnest, thoughtful, logical and impressive speaker. His words were well chosen. His illustrations were exceedingly rich and his figures were sometimes of great beauty and power. It was strange to see him expending so much learning and ability upon so small an assembly on so vast a theme.

Mr. Burritt made one point of such fearful interest that we wish it could be put into the mind of the world. He said that war oppresses the laboring classes more than any other cause. He traced the murmurs and groans of workingmen in Europe to this source, and showed clearly that the revolt of the laborer against government is substantially a protest against war.

Reporters of half a dozen daily papers attended this meeting, but in nearly every paper of the city the meeting was dismissed with a few lines of notice. We fear man is a fighting animal, and prefers war to peace.—N. Y. Observer.

REPORTING BY MACHINERY.—The tachytypograph, or rapid type-writer, is an invention which is being patented by Mr. J. S. Davis, of Haverfordwest, and consists of a machine for obtaining verbatim reports of speeches, debates, sermons, etc., in the ordinary English characters. It will be generally applicable to all purposes where rapid writing or printing is desired, and is intended particularly to supersede short-hand for reporting purposes; it is manipulated by means of an ordinary key-board, and can be made of a convenient size for portability and use in public assemblies. One alphabet of type is used, one type or character is affixed in a socket at one end of twenty-six leavers. These "type-levers" are actuated by a series of key levers. When any "key" is depressed the corresponding type-lever brings down and imprints its type or character on a roll of paper which passes directly over the "printing-point," and thus a legible impression is produced on the paper, either by an endless band of carbonised or transfer paper passing round both wheels outside the paper and over it at the "printing-points," or a strip of silk stretched over the "printing-point," at a distance of a quarter of an inch above the paper, and suspended on two rollers saturated with suitable ink, and receiving motion from the paper-carrying apparatus.—Mechanics' Magazine.

George D. says it can't be done.

How to Live to the Age of One Hundred.

Sir Duncan Gibbs, in a paper read before the British Association, on Centenarian Longevity, makes some very interesting statements, derived from a comparison of four examples he had seen himself. Of these four, two were one hundred and three, one one hundred and one, and one one hundred and two years old. Mr. Gibbs found these peculiarities in their bodily constitution:

1. The lungs performed the functions perfectly in every case.
2. The blood was well circulated by a strong heart to all parts of the body.
3. The chest was well formed and of fair size. The cartilages of the ribs were not ossified.
4. The voice was clear, sonorous and powerful, though tremulous in two cases.
5. The heart was healthy, and free from fatty deposits.
6. The eyes were good, and the sight excellent in every case, and no sense except hearing was impaired.
7. None smoked, chewed, or snuffed tobacco.
8. The mind was active and the memory good.
9. The digestion in each case was excellent and the teeth sound.
10. In each case the mind had been throughout life composed and free from care and distress.

The lesson drawn from these cases is this, that if people wish to live a hundred years they must have sound bodies, and take care of them. In other words the body must receive that intelligent attention it deserves, and people must read and study the laws of hygiene in order to obey them.

An enthusiastic professor of entomology having entertained a friend over night accosted him in the morning with the usual inquiry as to how he slept. "Not very well. A strange bed perhaps. But—" "Ah!" quoth the doctor, eagerly, "ye were just bitten by something, eh?" "Well, to tell the truth I was." "Just think of that! Bitten were ye? Now can ye say that it was anything noteworthy that bit ye, pecuilist, eh?" "Least I think." "But such things for biting I never saw in my life." "I should think so indeed!" (with great glee), "they's Sicilian fleas. I imported them myself."
