SAVE YOUR HAIR

TO LEARN HOW TO DO IT READ AND HEED WHAT FOLLOWS.

SAVE YOUR HAIR.—The laws of Health and Longevity demand it, the customs of social life require it. The matter is of great importance in every way.

BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR.—It is the surpassing crown of glory, and for the loss of it there is no compensation.

CULTIVATE YOUR HAIR.—For by no other means can it be saved and beautified.

LYON'S

KATHAIRON,

Discovered thirty-five years ago by Prof. Lyon, of Yale, is the most perfect preparation in the world for preserving and beautifying the hair.

Besides being the best hair dressing ever produced, Lyon's Kathairon will positively prevent grayness, and will restore new hair to bald heads, if the roots and follicles are not destroyed.

It actually performs these seeming miracles, of which the following is

A FAIR SPECIMEN

I had been entirely bald for several years, constitutional, I suppose. I used a few bottles of Kathairon, and, to my great surprise, I have a thick growth of young hair.

COL. JOHN L. DORRANCE, U. S. A.

In every important respect the Kathairon is absolutely incomparable. It is unequaled.

1. To Cure Baldness.
2. To Restore Gray Hair.
3. To Remove Dandruff.
4. To Dress and Beautify the Hair.

BEAR IN MIND.—The Kathairon is no sticky paste of sulphur and sugar-of-lead, to paint and daub the hair and paralyze the brain. It is a pure and limpid vegetable lotion, intended to restore the hair by natural growth and reinvigoration. It is splendidly perfumed, and the most delightful toilet dressing known. No lady's or gentleman's toilet outfit is complete without Lyon's Kathairon.

EXTRA SESSION.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, 19.—The journal this morning embodied, for the first time, petitions deposited in the box.

A question was raised by Garfield, who expressed the hope that it would not pass into precedent.

An explanation was made by the Speaker as to the reasons why he directed this to be done, the principal one being that under existing circumstances, while petitions and memorials are being presented, accompanied by bills, the question as to which committee they should be referred to became important, and already differences had arisen between the chair and members presenting petitions as to their proper reference. It was therefore deemed proper that the House itself should have an opportunity of passing on the question.

Frye said it might be found there would be no objection whatever to the introduction of bills next Monday, however absurd they should be.

The matter was finally referred to the committee on rules.

The subsidiary silver coin bill then came up as unfinished business of the morning hour.

Warner moved to amend the third section, which makes silver coin legal tender to the amount of $10, by adding the words "for all debts, public and private."

Stevens, in a brief speech, said the country, to-day, presented the strange spectable of having three distinct silver coins, no two of which are of the same value. There was the trade dollar of 420 grains, the standard dollar 412½ grains, and the half dollar, two of which contained only 385 8-10 grains. This was all wrong, and the evil fell heavily on labor. He did not, however, propose to discuss that question now, but he wanted the pending bill passed as a first step in reform. After that other matters could be taken up.

Mills offered a substitute for the bill. The first section of the substitute provides for a silver dollar of 412½ grains, half dollars of 206¼ grains, quarters of 103¼ grains, dimes of 41¼ grains, and half dimes of 20⅝ grains, and that all of them shall be legal tender for any sum whatever. The second section makes silver coins exchangeable in sums of $10 and its multiples for United States legal tender money. The third section provides for a like exchange of trade dollars, and Mexican dollars containing more than 377 grains pure silver. The fourth section authorizes the holder of silver bullion or silver foreign coin to receive for it legal tender money at the rate of one dollar for every 371¼ grains of fine silver. The fifth section directs the recoinage of all silver foreign coins in the treasury. The sixth section directs the application of all legal tender silver coins in the treasury or that may come into it first to the payment of interest on United States bonds; second, to the payment of the principal of such bonds, as they fall due, and third, the purchase of bonds that are not due. The seventh section directs the secretary of the treasury, in exchanging legal tender notes for silver, to pay out one and two dollar notes until he shall have paid out $50,000,000.

Garfield expressed himself as favorable to the general scope of the bill, but he desired to offer some amendments to it in its details. The first amendment was to increase the amount at which subsidiary silver coins may be presented, for exchange, from $10, as in the bill, to $50.

Stephens said he had no objections to that amendment.

Garfield also suggested that that the words "legal tender money" should be changed into "lawful money of the United States," which is the term used in the law. His only serious objection to the bill was to the third section and he would strike that out.

Hawley made a point of order on Mill's substitute. Decision reserved.

Springer submitted an amendment making trade dollars legal tender to the extent of $10.

Morton hoped the bill would pass. It was in the interest of the people, of every woman or child possessed of a single piece of fractional coin. Government issued those coins at par and should redeem them at par. Unless so redeemed, if the government continued to issue those coins, it was inevitable that sooner or later they would pass at their bullion value, which was even lower than that of the silver dollar which was, to-day, worth 83 cents.

Garfield's amendment substituting the words "lawful money of the United States" for "legal tender money," was agreed to.

Springer's amendment increasing the legal tender quality of subsidiary silver coin to $20 was agreed to—yeas 123, nays 103.

Stephens entered a motion to reconsider Mr. Warner's amendment that subsidiary coin shall be legal tender for all debts, public and private, in all sums not exceeding $20. Agreed to.

The House having reached Springer's amendment making the trade dollar legal tender in sums not exceeding $20, Reed raised the point of order that the amendment was not germane.

Springer withdrew his amendment saying he understood a bill would be reported from the coinage committee making trade dollars legal tender.

The morning hour here expired.

The House then went into committee of the whole, Blackburn in the chair, on the legislative appropriation bill.

Price, who was entitled to the floor, yielded to Frye, who said that, in connection with a misunderstanding which had taken place yesterday, between the gentlemen from Kentucky and Ohio (Blackburn and McKinley) in regard to the proper construction of Blackburn's speech, he desired to read to the House the construction put on that speech in Mississippi by the now famous paper Okolona States, which he received through the mail. He thereupon read, with great emphasis, the following article from that paper of the 1st of April, prefacing it with the statement that the article was complimentary to the gentleman from Kentucky, and therefore that gentleman would take no offence: "What was it that brave Joe Blackburn said in the House, Messrs. Soft Shells! Oh, yes! We remember now. He remarked that our people would strike the last vestige of war measures from our statute books. The states never said more and never said less than that. You repudiate states. Will you repudiate Blackburn? You are silent. Will you repudiate Blackburn? You are still silent. Well, gentlemen, we will give you just one more chance. Answer, or forever after hold your peace as far as states is concerned, will you repudiate Blackburn? Down with the Devil-born amendments! Down with centralism and its hints of crown and sceptre! Down with pictures of Lincoln and the scoundrels who surrounded him in the battle days of 1861-5! Down with every anti-democratic idea and idol! These will be the watch-words for 1880.'

Blackburn, having come down from the chair during the reading of the article, in an excited manner, said: "Mr. Chairman, if this be not the first time I have been forced to complain of unfairness at the hands of my friends on the other side, it is certainly the first time I have ever been compelled to make such complaint against the gentleman from Maine. I have but this to say. I regret that every recurring day brings up some personal assault which it seems to me fair dealing, honesty of construction and ordinary manhood would repudiate. With each recurring day I find myself forced to repel misconstruction given, either by some members of the House to the language uttered by me in the shape of garbled quotations, or else the unwarranted, unfair and unnatural construction put upon somebody else's language by a member of that side of the House. So far as the newspaper article which the gentleman from Maine has read to the House is concerned, I care nothing for it; for that paper, a contribution from Ohio to Mississippi, simply repeats the unfair, ungenerous and untruthful effort that was made here yesterday to misrepresent me. I care nothing for the utterances of that paper, but when the gentleman from Maine seeks to add his high authority to the injustice done one by the editor of that inconsequential sheet, it then becomes a more serious matter. Then I group the paper and the gentleman from Maine together, and I say to this committee and the country that it occurs to me they are well mated. The one is as unfair as the other is illiberal and crazy." (Applause and laughter on the democratic side.)

Frye—The one was a colonel in the Confederate service and not a carpet bagger from Ohio. The one was the peer of the gentleman from Kentucky in that service in the south. Of the other I have nothing to say. (Applause on the republican side.)

Blackburn (who had by this time moved into the area in front of the Speaker's chair, and who stood there surrounded by many democratic members)—But I have this this to say of the other. He seems to be more perfectly familiar with the history, antecedents and merits of that adventurer than I care to be. Whether he served in that army or the other is a matter of no concern to me. I simply desire to repeat that, in the article which the gentleman has read, in order to twist it to partisan purposes, he perpetrated an act of gross injustice, to which the gentleman from Maine, to my utter amazement, has sought to lend his high authority.

Frye—I did this and nothing more. I heard the speech of the gentleman from Kentucky when it was made from this floor, as taken down by the Associated Press reporter and sent all over this country, and I say I had not a scintilla of doubt that the construction which this paper has put on that gentleman's language would be put on it in the south. If that gentleman made a declaration on the floor of the house, which the Associated Press at the time could declare to be what it did declare it to be and which the Okolona States, from a dispatch in the Associated Press report could declare in its joy it to be what its heart desired it to be, then it is not I that is to be called to account for anything I have repeated to this house. I say it is my right, and it is not illiberal or unjust to the gentleman from Kentucky for me to state to the house, not my own words, but the words of the paper published in Mississippi, endorsed, as it is, by scores and scores of the papers in the south. I believe I intended no injustice to the gentleman from Kentucky. I say in my heart and from the utterances which I have seen in the papers of the south, that if the gentleman from Kentucky had uttered on this floor the very words spoken by that paper—no more, no less—he would have commended himself to nine out of every ten of the democrats south of Mason and Dixon's line.

Davidson—You do injustice to all of us.

Blackburn—I wish the gentleman from Maine to understand the issue distinctly. I stand by the record made in this House, and I wish himself and his colleagues would act as fairly. Blackburn, in conclusion, expressed the hope that there would now be an end to this miserable wrangling. He never complained of a manly blow struck from the front, but only of the unmanly stab delivered in the back.

The discussion here terminated, and Blackburn resumed his place as chairman of the committee of the whole.

Price disclaimed any idea of giving rise to the exciting scene which had just taken place by any remarks he had made, and proceeded to argue against the repeal of the election law.

Steel made a speech denying the assertion of Frye some time since as to political outrages and murders in North Carolina. The matter and manner of the speech provoked frequent outbursts of laughter.

At the conclusion of Steele's speech Bailey obtained the floor, but yielded to a motion, which was carried, that the committee rise.

White moved that when the House adjourn it be to meet on Tuesday next. Defeated—39 to 67. Adjourned.

EASTERN.

The Pedestrians.

NEW YORK, 19.—In the pedestrian match at Gilmore's Gardene, the score, at one o'clock to-day was: Panchot, 450 miles; Merritt, 443; Krohne, 402; O'Brien, 407; Noden, 395.

A Good Move.

The first fruit of the tenement house agitation, is the complete organization of a company, with a capital of $150,000, one-half of which has been already subscribed, with the idea of erecting a large tenement house, modeled after the Peabody homes in England.

The Chinese Question.

Concerning the allegation that Californians "loathe the Chinese," William Lloyd Garrison writes to a friend in this city that if it be so it is very odd that they insist upon employing 120,000 of them in occupations where loathsomeness is particularly not desirable, as those of cooks and chambermaids, paying them from $25 to 40 per month more than whites could get for doing the same work.

The Commercial Bulletin, referring to the recent discussion of the Chinese question in the Dominion Parliament, says it is creditable for leading men in parliament that they met the question in a manly way, and without any disposition to pander, like demagogues, to the spirit of exclusiveism from which the petition proceeded. At this moment the financial and commercial interests of the Pacific coast are in a state of paralysis at the possibility of the adoption of the hoodlum made constitution, which is so framed as to place capital at the mercy of what, in a communistic sense, is called "labor;" that is, the sort of "labor" which is threatening the best interests of the country, not the "cheap labor" of the quiet, unobtrusive, plodding Chinese, and it is to the credit of Canadian statesmen that with the question now forced upon them they have shown that they can discriminate between the cry of wolf and the wolf itself.

Chief Moses Presented to Hayes—Sitting Bull and Band British Subjects.

WASHINGTON, 19.—Some Umatilla Indians, this morning, called on the Secretary of the Interior and expressed their dissatisfaction with the terms agreed upon yesterday. Chief Moses, however, stands to the contract.

The Secretary of War addressed a letter to General Sherman, directing, in case Sitting Bull or any of his followers cross from the British possessions, that they be held as prisoners of war until further orders from the President. In view of this action, Sitting Bull and band have voluntarily subjected themselves to the authority of Great Britain, and ceased to be subjects of the United States. They will not now be permitted even with peaceable intentions to recross the frontier.

Chief Moses and other Indians called at the Executive Mansion today and were presented to the President, who said to them: "I am glad to see you, my friends. I hope Secretary Schurz will make a settlement with you that shall be satisfactory. We are friendly toward you and want to deal with you with exact justice. I hope you will always be our friends."

Cowardly Horse Thieves.

FORT MCKINNEY, Wyoming, 19.—Information was received here, to-day, that on the night of the 17th, horse thieves entered the house of Mr. Foster, one of the oldest settlers in this section. His place, located on the Peony, near old Fort Kearney, 15 mile east of this post. They hung him up by the neck until nearly dead, to make him disclose the whereabouts of a large amount of money he was supposed to have. Foster refused to tell, and was nearly dead when let down. He revived, and was again hung, still refusing. The thieves then ransacked his house and took all the bedding and $18, the savings of his children. They also took all his horses, three in number.

NOTICE.

In the Probate Court in and for the County of Davis, in the Territory of Utah.

In the matter of the estate of GEORGE W. LINCOLN, deceased.

Order to show cause why order of sale of real estate should not be made.

GEORGE A. LINCOLN and JOHN MOSS, the executors of the estate of George W. Lincoln, deceased; having filed their petitions herein, duly verified, praying for an order of sale of a portion of the real estate of said decedent for the purposes herein set forth,

It is therefore ordered by the said court, that all persons interested in the estate of said deceased, appear before the said Probate Court on Monday, the 5th day of May, 1879, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the court room of said Probate Court, at the Court House in the said County of Davis, to show cause why an order should not be granted to the said executors to sell so much of the real estate of the said deceased as shall be necessary.

And that a copy of the order be published at least ten successive days in the DESERET EVENING NEWS, a newspaper printed and published in Salt Lake County, Utah Territory.

PURIFY THE LIFE CURRENT.

SCOVILL'S

Blood AND Liver Syrup

A PEERLESS REMEDY FOR

Scrofula, White Swellings, Cancer Erysipelas, Chronic Sores, Gout, Syphilis, Tumors, Carbuncles, Salt Rheum,

And all Diseases indicating an

IMPURE CONDITION of the BLOOD

Cutaneous eruptions upon the face or body do not necessarily indicate the taint of Scrofula, but whether the insidious poison of that dire malady is present in the system or not, certain it is that completely cures such disorders. If vitiated virus of Scrofula does exist in the every this matchless purifier will root out the vestige of it. No eruptive malady, no scrofulous or other virus, can resist the potent rifying action of this safe and potent remedy, which renders the skin

Scovill's Blood & Liver Syrup

CLEAN, SOFT AND BEAUTIFUL,

when ordinary medicines utterly fail to arrest the progress of scrofulous and other eruptive disorders, the persistent use of this incomparable depurent secures the desired result. From

of its reliability in our possession, we make the two following condensed extracts:

Mr. Samuel H. Matthews, Modesttown, Accomac Co., Va., states that his child, when a months old, was attacked with an eruption which covered its head, face, arms, breast and legs, converting them into "nearly one solid sore," but that two and a-half bottles of Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup effected a complete cure, without a scar.

Martin Robbins, Jr., writes that he suffered from Scrofulous White Swelling with twelve running ulcers on his legs, from which more than 100 pieces of bone slaughed away, but by the time he had finished the twenty-fourth bottle of the Syrup he was completely cured.

THIS GRAND REMEDY

is a compound of vegetable extracts, the chief of which are

Sarsaparilla and Stillingia

The cures effected by

Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup

are absolute, and their record is undisfigured by failure. For sale by all Druggists.

Price, $1.00 per bottle.
