LOCAL BRIEFS.

The usual mail of weather is running along with considerable accuracy so far as the office of this Sun is concerned, especially in the matter of their backs, which are turned toward the sun and the old Wasatch range. Some of the early sunbeams it will pay have with them lookers.

Sheriff Cosby this morning informed Chief Hilton he had the round man Phillips, who has been distributing counterfeit silver dollars, in his care in this city, and that he would arrive in the city tomorrow morning to take the boy back to Helena.

At the meeting of the board of education last night thirty-one applications for the position of teacher were received and filed. Mrs. Elmer Caldwell, Mrs. A. Davis, Paul M. Dorsch, Emma C. Corbett and Isabella Horsley, all of Salt Lake are among the number.

The street roller has a brand new coat of paint to comfort its backside, Prince Albert and Mr. Pinkham, the engineer who manipulates it is as proud as a boy with his first pair of red top boots. Street Superintendent Mellen is responsible for both paint and pride.

The Salt Lake City Railroad company will hold a special stockholders' meeting on May the 11th for the purpose of considering and acting upon amendments to its articles and making arrangements for the establishment of the lines of roads in the different thoroughfares.

Paul H., the bright and much thought-of two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gill S. Peters was taken down with the prevailing epidemic, corner of Seventh and E streets this afternoon. Interments were at Mr. Peters' home. The child is very sudden and a great shock to parents and friends.

While driving on the bed yesterday afternoon, the three-year-old child of Attorney James Smith had an instance and fell heavily upon the floor breaking his nose badly. It was enough the little one was not more seriously injured, considering the fall. The child suffered but little pain last night and is recovering rapidly.

There will be a special meeting of the Council of Women's clubs on Saturday, April 29, at 2:30 in the afternoon, at the Women's club room. The meeting is called to consider the details of the reception to be given Bishop Spencer, Superintendent Cooper by the ward workers of the Salt Lake stake of the Sunday school. All members of the Council are specially requested to be present.

The office of the board of education is crowded with the applications for school site, at the corner of Fourth West and Fourth South streets, for a new ward school building, which was decided on Monday night, when the board of education on the ground met and talk the matter over.

A four-year-old youngster filed the air with lamentations at police headquarters last night for two very long hours. Although he had the best chair in the place and was allowed to play with a bible, he howled continuously for his mamma. Finally Mrs. J. James of 252 east Third South, appeared upon the scene, and the lad immediately stopped the howl, kissed his mother and then almost engaged anew.

Mr. Phelps Alva Dunbar Darling died at his home in this city yesterday afternoon. The deceased was one most estimable woman with a host of friends, who will learn of her death with sorrow. She had lived a long time in Salt Lake and was well known. Deceased was the wife of Elmer E. Darling, Edgar A. Darling, Mrs. P. S. McCornick and Mrs. Lydia D. Beckwith. The funeral will take place from the Cathedral church on Saturday at 2 o'clock.

If the deal between St. Mark's hospital and Walter Hill, banker, comes to be made, it demonstrates that rates of interest are somewhat cheaper, not that money is getting more plentiful, as the report is bruited between St. Mark's and Walter Hill, between Eighth or much and in Hill's office, on Main street. The property described in the deed consists of the residence of the late Mrs. Hill, situated at 1 per cent, in the year 1899, with annual interest at 1 per cent, in the year 1900. Seven dots denote the interest and Fifty that the principal, which is formerly occupied for hospital purposes.

Polk's directory of Salt Lake will be out in a few days. It reflects the city with a considerable increase in population and adds one hundred more names than appeared in the last issue. Many of the best citizens have been for several years in the habit of using the Polk book as the book will be issued in a short time. It contains a vast amount of reliable information, a variety of city maps, a variety of maps of the city showing residences and business houses, and in all does a better than for a book that does not appear for many other directories on some business. It is the proper for this district year of the international business year, and is a name, and to this a population, of more.

HIS ATTENTION TURNS TO SHEEP

Professor Alexander G. Bell Pursuing New Scientific Discoveries.

SOME INTERESTING RESULTS

Hedimentary Sensuous Developed—Number of Young Increased—Wool Turning Much Darker.

Special Correspondence.

Washington, April 24.—Prof. Alexander Graham Bell is pursuing new scientific discoveries. Prince Gelstimous is now at his ranch in his estimate is shop. In fact, interest was first awakened in the possibilities of sheep breeding nearly ten years ago, and his experiments with them have continued during that space of time. He spends his time in Bremen, Germany, and his experiments are in a manner, more correspondent on the subject today, he and the experiments he has been interested in for years, made a trip to Alaska, and spent in Nova Scotia, where he has an extensive farm. Besides other valuable work, he has spent on the place a number of choice breeds of sheep. He noticed, he said, there was a few that would bring twins, and he has, he said, now a number of ewes which have given birth to twins, and he has also noticed some ewes which have given birth to twins, and the ewes which have given birth to twins, and the ewes which have given birth to twins, and the
