A GREASY BUSINESS.

How the Legislative House was Led by the Nose

ON THE PUBLIC PRINTING BILL

A Sharp Trick to Make the Territory to Pay the "No Salary" Public Printer.

That was quite a sharp game worked in the Legislative House of Representatives last evening. The fact that it was dirty business, and that its object is to gouge the Territory out of a most little sum, never seemed to dawn upon the unsophisticated legislators, who evidently believed the Territory was being benefited when in fact it was being robbed. But the public will get the news just the same, and the House members may enjoy explaining to their constituencies how the wool was pulled over their eyes so thickly.

There was passed in the appropriation bill, by the House, an item for $132 for indexing the minutes to go to J. H. Rhoe, public printer. More of this later on.

In the proceedings at the evening session Judge Powers moved that Rhoe be given a vote of thanks for having saved to the Territory in its printing for this session over $900. The House passed this motion unanimously. The gallantry of the representatives as they voted "aye" on this proposition surpassth all understanding.

As a matter of fact the public printer did not save a cent to the Territory in its printing. With the items as they left the House in the appropriation bill, he increased the expense to the Territory.

In 1892 the session printing cost $1,355. For the first fifty-one days of this session the bill put in was $2,355.55. This makes a difference of $999.55.

But the last nine days' minutes of the session are omitted. These made more than the aggregate of the first fifty days of the session. They make considerably more than did the 25th to the 51st days of the last session inclusive. This bill is yet to come in.

In 1892 the House Asylum and Reform School reports and U. U. Commission were printed, at a cost of $1,000. These were not printed this year.

In 1892 the University report was issued in volume what it was this year. There is charged for this year's short report over $100.

In 1892 the governor's message and accompanying documents made 1[illegible] pages and cost $[illegible]. This session it was something of that amount, but $148.50 is charged for it, or at the rate of $[illegible] per page.

In 1892 there was no index made of printed. There never has been one. It is wholly unnecessary. The government will not allow it in the journals, as provision being made therefor. The House appropriated $150 for this unnecessary work. It never could be done for $100 in a decent gauge into the public funds of $150, and that does not include the cost of printing it, which would have to be paid additional if done.

Figuring it all up, the Territory is paying more for its printing this session than last, more for it than other bidders offered to do it for, and is to pay for an "index" besides.

Of course, it may be said that the "index" item is a bake sop to Mr. Rhoe for serving "without salary" as public printer, but $100 is an exorbitant salary for the benefit (?) the Territory has received. And for this magnanimous service "without compensation," the public printer wished the unanimous gratitude of the legislative House!

If the Legislature wants to pay its public printer for his service, why does it not do so honestly and squarely?

The taxpayers will want to know more about this thing if it goes through. They don't like to be tricked by a game of this kind. It is too greasy business.

LAID TO REST.

The Remains of Another Battalion Member Placed in the Silent Grave.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Isaac Harrison, who died on March 2nd, were held in the Sandy ward meeting house at 1 o'clock on Monday afternoon. The building, which was tastefully draped in black and white by the sisters of the Relief society, was crowded to overflowing by those anxious to pay their last earthly respects to one who was so universally known and liked. The Nineteenth quorum of Seventies, of which the deceased was a member, had charge of the arrangements. The remains were accompanied from the residence to the meeting house by the ward Bishopric and members of the quorum, the family and friends. The services were taken charge of by Bishop Jensen. Bishop Bills, of South Jordan, offered the opening prayer, after which well-timed and appropriate addresses were made by Elders Wm. Taylor, of Mill Creek; Isaac Gros, of Salt Lake; Samuel Bateman, of West Jordan; Bishop Lyons, of South Jordan; John Sharp, of Union; E. Holman, Wm. D. Rowe and Bishop Jensen of Sandy, all of whom spoke in the highest terms of praise of the honesty, integrity and general uprightness of the deceased, as known to them through long years of intimate friendship and association. They spoke of the esteem in which he was held by all the people irrespective of religious belief, owing to his ever ready willingness to assist in the alleviation of sickness and distress.

After the benediction was pronounced by Bro. A. Mayne, of South Jordan, the people were permitted to take a farewell look upon the familiar features, that looked just like life. The procession was then formed and moved to the cemetery, headed by the ward Bishopric and Detachine on Tods, and the remains followed by the family and friends in carriages. A future biography presented some of the women and children from accompanying those. Arrived at the cemetery the ordinary prayer was offered by Elder W. H. Scott of the Seventies, and the remains of one of the law remaining Battalion veterans were laid to rest to sleep until the resurrection morn.

Isaac Harrison, son of Latham and Mary Jane Harrison, was born in Columbiana county, Ohio, November 2nd, 1833. He was baptized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, April 16th, 1837, by Simon H. Mantel; was familiar with the Prophet Joseph, and with the scenes and incidents of Nauvoo. After the expulsion from Nauvoo, when the call came for the Mormon Battalion, he enlisted as a private in company E, leaving his wife and children with the body of the Saints. He never saw his wife again, death claiming her ere she could start on the valley. Two of the children, a son and daughter, now survive and live, one in Iowa, and one in Nebraska.

When the Battalion was disbanded in California, Brother Harrison remained there several years, and married Catherine Smith, who survives him, and whose devoted hands and ministrations, night and day, have done much to alleviate the distress of his last hours. He brought his family to Utah in 1850, settling at Farmington, Davis county, but in a year removed to Salt Lake county, finally locating in Sandy, where he remained until his death. He had charge of the first Sunday school in Holladayburg (now Bluemont), South Jordan, West Jordan and at Sandy. He was the first justice of the peace in Sandy, which office he held, with only one short interval, until 1888. He was postmaster for many years and was always prominent in civil and ecclesiastical affairs. Though plain and unostentatious in his life, few men were better known and respected. He never wavered in his testimony for the truth of the work to which he had dedicated his life. He leaves a numerous family of children and grandchildren in Utah.

HAS A STRANGE LOOK.

Is There a Woman in the Case, and if so Where is She Now?

Two Men Abandon a Horse and Buggy Near South Beautiful and Disappear in the Direction of the Jordan.

George W. Cincheron, a well-known resident of South Beautiful, called at the police station today and related a story that is causing a good deal of excitement among his neighbors and friends and which has altogether a very strange look.

To a representative of the News Mr. Cincheron said that early Wednesday morning a couple of men were seen to drive from the main road between this city and Beautiful into an open field right from a buggy, tie the lines to the dash board, leave the outfit and run towards the Jordan river some miles away.

This procedure rather surprised a lady who witnessed it and she watched the men until they disappeared in the distance. They ran most of the time only occasionally they stopped when apparently out of breath. In the meantime the horse was hungry nibbled in the field where deserted until nearly noon when the attention of one of Mr. Cincheron's sons was called to the case. The animal was in fine hay mare and had the appearance of having been driven very hard. The buggy was a good one and almost new. On the seat was a large large woolen shawl of superior quality and beneath it was found a piece of female apparel in the form of an undervest, and a scrap of paper with the single word "Opium" written on it.

Young Cincheron took the outfit to his father's place about one hundred rods distant with a view to taking care of it until the owners should call for it. But no one claiming right of property has put in an appearance as yet, and that fact has led to the conjecture in the minds of some of the Beautiful people that crooked work has been afoot. It is believed that the outfit was driven a long distance and that it was used to assist persons guilty of some serious crime to escape.

As no mention is made in the buggy at the time it was driven from the farm there is much speculation as to how female wearing apparel was found in it. The whole affair has an air of mystery, but the Beautiful people and the Salt Lake officers who first heard of it today would like to see cleared up.

The Teachers' Mile.

Principal D. Dennis, of the Bryant school, who was made treasurer of the teachers' contributions to the relief fund, reports that $[illegible] has been received and that about $100 more may be expected.

THAT MANITOU SCRAMBLE.

The Proprietor, His Discharged Clerk and Another Man.

This morning at ten o'clock, in Commissioner Norrell's court, had been set for the hearing of the case, reported in yesterday's News, in which Charles Eybel charged his late employer with assault and battery. On the other hand, Page charges Eybel with having numerously beaten him on the same occasion. The investigation was, however, postponed by request, and the commissioner set the case for Tuesday morning next.

In connection with the above affair Commissioner Norrell this morning issued a warrant for the arrest of one Frank M. Page. When the hearing comes off on the 19th, will figure on a charge of assault.

FISHBLEIGH HAS TO ANSWER.

He Made His Appearance Before Commissioner Pratt This Afternoon.

J. R. Fishbleigh, the young attorney who was yesterday being brought back from Omaha by Police Captain Glassman on a charge of embezzling money belonging to Attorney C. C. Daly, of this city, was taken before Commissioner Pratt at 2:30 this afternoon for a preliminary hearing. Failing to give bonds yesterday afternoon, the accused passed the night, under the wing of the city jail.

All the parties to the case were in attendance to-day, the [illegible] of the defendant the [illegible] with Monday afternoon [illegible], he has not yet had an opportunity of employing an attorney.

THE LEGISLATURE.

the University and Agricultural College, came up, but was postponed.

The most important bill was further amendered, amended and passed.

H. B. 159, amending the school law, was severally read, was first and second times and referred.

HOUSE.

The House resumed bill morning at 10 o'clock.

C. B. 158, relating to dower and succession, was one of the Council bills which came to the House too late to be considered by the judiciary committee, and it came up without recommendation from that committee. It was lost.

C. B. 114, in the matter of assessments, passed.

Bears, from the claims committee, reported a number of items, some favorably and others adversely.

Bears, from the committee on insane asylum, reported that an expert accountant had investigated the books of that institution and found them in a satisfactory condition. The report commended the general management of the asylum.

Warner, from the enrollment committee, reported that the following bills had been sent to the Governor: H. B. 170, the million bill; H. B. 150, relating to special school tax; H. B. 32, paying a bounty on sparrow scalps; H. B. 140, relating to office fees for public officers.

C. B. 109, relating to tax sales, was considered, amended and lost.

Allen, from the memorial committee, reported adversely C. J. M. 7 and C. J. M. 10, both relating to the Women's Industrial Home. On the motion they were tabled.

Allen, from the committee on education, reported adversely C. B. 82, allowing private schools to issue scholarships. On his motion consideration was indefinitely postponed.

H. B. 170, substitute for C. B. 129, amending the school law, passed. This is a long bill, on which the Committee spent much time, but it was not discussed much in the House.

The special committee charged with investigating certain Weber County bills reported, Allen and Bears signing adverse reports, both of which recommended the passage of H. B. 160, which also is a special injustice in future to settlers in those lands. The bill passed.

Stanford, from the ways and means committee, reported favorably H. B. 153, relating to salaries of county officers, for lack of time to consider it. The bill was tabled.

C. B. 5, relating to estrays, came up on Council amendments, in which the House concurred.

C. B. 116, to provide for endowing the University of Utah, passed.

C. B. 8, regulating the practice of dentistry, passed.

Warner from the enrollment committee reported that H. B. 135, the medical bill, and H. J. M., relating to school lands, had been sent to the governor.

H. B. 61, uniting the University and Agricultural College, was read the third time, and put on its passage.

Hubbard advocated the bill, stating well-known arguments in favor of it. Allen replied to Hubbard and opposed the bill in a long argument. He professed a desperation of the University in its union with the Agricultural College. Irvine supported the bill, as did Monson, Stanford, Powers and others. The bill was lost by a vote 11 for and 8 against, the affirmative votes being required to pass it.

The Governor announced that he had signed the bills for the relief of school districts and giving copies of the laws to free public libraries.

Grand Jury.

The grand jury, after quite an acceptable respite, will get into harness again next week and grind away at criminal cases. Thus far they have done well.

Farewell Party.

Last night a social entertainment was given at the Second ward meeting house, in honor of Brother George R. Hawes, superintendent of the Second ward Sunday school, by the members of the Sunday school and the ward choir. Fully three hundred persons were present to listen to the well arranged programme. This consisted of songs, recitations, selections by the choir, also by Ernest Hawes's juvenile choir, duets, etc. Addresses were given by Elder L. G. Hardy (Bishop of the Second ward) Elder Joseph E. Taylor, Chief Leader Herbert White and Elder Geo. R. Hawes. At the close of the programme all were invited to participate in a bountiful repast which had been provided.

Brother Hawes has been superintendent of the ward Sunday school for nine years and also a member of the choir. He will soon leave this city and make his future home at Lehi, Utah county. This should be the Sunday school children and a dance in remembrance of his departure.

Brother Hawes has the best wishes of all with whom he has been so long associated.

"Little Alex" is Dead.

In another column will be found a notice of the death of Alex Lendrum, a bright little chap who has been employed in this office for some months, and whose sickness dates from less than three weeks ago. It was not thought at the time that he was threatened with anything serious. He grew worse, and despite the most attentive medical skill a little [illegible] last evening. Great sympathy is felt for his widowed mother [illegible] and bereavement, as well as for the bereaved father and mother. Alex was a general favorite around the News office.
