SCHEME FOR BRINGING IN CHINESE.

A Mother Who Left Five Children to Starve—Cattle Rustlers in Sanpete—Broken Leg.

Glenwood Springs, Colo., Avalanche, Sept. 12: The Grande No. 2 last night had 1,500 boxes of fruit for Denver. This morning's train had 1,000 boxes for the same city. They were shipped from Ogden and Springville, Utah, and Grand Junction.

A meeting of the cattle owners was held at the council house on Friday evening, says the Manti Sentinel, and men were sent out to investigate the situation and find out whether there is any truth in the rumor that the "rustlers" are busy in the mountains. It is claimed that out of 1,200 cattle supposed to be in Manti canyon, but 400 can be found, and that Mayfield, Sterling and Ephraim claim to have lost half their cattle.

Secretary Mackie of the San Francisco and San Joaquin Valley railroad has received an important official document from the war department at Washington, D. C. The paper grants the Valley road permission to construct a steel drawbridge over Mormon channel in the city of Stockton, Cal. As Mormon channel is a navigable body of water the permission of the secretary of war was necessary before such a bridge could be constructed. The engineer officer of the army in the district has been instructed to see that the bridge is built according to the specifications submitted.

People of Glenwood, Colo., who can date back their residence here to 1885, says the Avalanche, have cause to remember Pull Foote, who served as city marshal that year. He was killed in a fight between miners and desperadoes in Nevada Sunday. He was an all-round bad man, and his escapades in this region would read like a dime novel. While marshal here he got drunk and drove everybody off the streets at the point of a gun. For this and other actions acts he was forced to resign his position as marshal. Another night, having lost money at a faro bank, he held it up and got away with the boodle and never was prosecuted. Later he went to Salt Lake City and held up a faro bank there.

Collector Wise of California has discovered an ingenious fraud by which shrewd San Francisco speculators in the Chinese traffic are seeking to evade the Geary law and introduce about 300 Chinese into the United States under the pretense that they are skilful actors and that they are coming to America to give the visitors at the Atlanta Exposition an opportunity to see some of the renowned male and female histrionists of Hongkong. A band of more than 200 men and thirty-four women already have been landed at Victoria, and their owners, headed by "Little Pete" and the notorious Leong Nam, have ingeniously dodged San Francisco and applied for their admission to the United States at Ogdensburg, N. Y.

Lehi Banner: The sugar factory has been running only a week but within that time they have received forty carloads of beets over the Union Pacific representing 897 tons. These beets are at present from Syracuse, Lovendahl's, Forts and Lakeview, and for that tonnage the farmers at those places will receive something over $3,600. The Union Pacific has also sent into the factory twenty-five carloads of coal. The R. G. W. has brought in over its line thirty-three carloads, averaging twenty tons to the car, or altogether about 660 tons, representing $2,700 to be paid to the farmers along the line. Thus it will be seen that the beets received in one week represent to the raisers about $6,500. This is about $1,200 less than the same tonnage brought last year.

Lehi Banner: Daniel W. Jones, who has been in Lehi for some months past in the interest of a colonization scheme for the Uintah reservation, has succeeded in obtaining the signatures of over fifty citizens of this place to the petition addressed to the secretary of the interior asking for the opening of these lands. Each petitioner agrees to pay $4.25 per acre for the land taken, and Mr. Jones is authorized by them to proceed to Washington and present their claims before the department. He started Monday night on a tour of other settlements for the purpose of securing other signatures, but his headquarters will still be at Lehi. The character of the signers is the only thing considered, the political or religious belief not being regarded. The lands fixed upon by the would-be settlers are now of no use to the Indians or any one else and can be brought under cultivation only by expenditure of about $10,000 in an irrigation canal.

An accident happened at the S. P. V. mine Tuesday night whereby J. J. Reese had a leg broken, says the Manti Sentinel. It appears that the flow of water in the mine has been increasing so rapidly that it was almost impossible for the pumps to keep it down. About 4 p. m. one of the pumps began to fail, and the water rose so far that the miners were driven from the lower parts of the mine. It was decided to bring the pumps to the surface, and one of the pumps was loaded on the car. Three pulls of the bell wire is a signal to hoist, and four means to shut off steam. They intended to signal the last, but at the third pull the wire broke, and the engine started to hoist the car. Mr. Reese was in front of the car, which struck him unexpectedly and broke the small bone of his leg, between the knee and ankle. He was brought to town and Dr. Murray set the injured member and we are pleased to learn that the injured man is doing as well as could be expected and feeling thankful that he was not crushed beneath the car wheel and killed.

Five children, the oldest a girl of 10 years and the youngest a babe in arms, occupied one of the long wooden benches in the San Francisco city prison the greater part of Wednesday afternoon. The mother, Mrs. Mary Schoenenberg, was arrested early in the afternoon on a charge of disturbing the peace. She was intoxicated at the time, but out of sympathy for the children she was placed in the matron's department of the prison. There she began to rave and after she had broken all the furniture in the place that was breakable and smashed one of the windows, she was put in the dark cell to sober off. About a year ago Mrs. Schoenenberg's husband deserted her and soon after she deserted her three-months-old baby. When the little one was found it was so weak from the want of food that it died a few days later. Since that time the woman has been living at 17½ Garden street. She would work intermittently, but her appetite for liquor always returned and for days she would leave her children to be provided for by charitable neighbors. Of late she has been drunk a greater part of the time and yesterday she created such a disturbance in the neighborhood that Policeman Meyer was forced to arrest her. The children will be provided for by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.
