FROM EX-SENATOR INGALLS.

An Article which has Created Much Comment.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—An article contributed to the New York Truth by Ex-Senator Ingalls in which has created much comment, is in substance as follows:

The Indian article about our defenseless coasts, and the bombardment of New York, Philadelphia and Boston has not been omitted. The yearly pamphlet describing the blood-curdling incidents and appalling consequences of a war with Chili and Spain in 1895 have been sent to each senator and representative in Congress. Editorial estimates in the metropolitan press of the amount of property within reach of an Italian ironclad in the lower bay and in the season that could be entered from the merchants and bankers have all been submitted, and fleet away for use again in 1892. Their purpose is to reconcile the people to the passage of a naval appropriation bill, and to the enormous and profligate expenditure in time of peace for ships, fortifications and munitions of war.

The majority of the United States to create a navy in an emergency was demonstrated in the rebellion. The duel between the Monitor and Merrimac in Hampton Roads revolutionized maritime warfare, and the problem has since been to construct an armor that no projectiles could penetrate, and then to invent projectiles that no armor could resist.

European nations have been conducting these experiments hitherto, and the skies of 1895 are literally studded with shells and other explosives exemplifying the situation, and the navies are now building, at a cost of $50,000,000, will be as worthless in 1895 as the Roman galleys. England, France and Italy would gladly sell as bids fleets at fifty per cent of what they cost. The millions we are expendering on vessels had better be spent for earthworks, and powerful guns to command every ship and channel and harbor, which a hostile fleet could threaten or assail.

Is there any necessity for spending millions every year for naval defense? Our nearest neighbors are Canada and Mexico. Our only enemy is England, and she is under bond to keep the peace. No other nation is so vulnerable, and none so detested. She has incurred the resentment of the human race by centuries of injustice. England kicked us when we were helpless and feeble; she seized and burned our defenseless capital; she kicked Ireland, she kicked Egypt; she kicked the Hindoos, the Boers and Zulus, but she is left in the habit of kicking her equals. In our civil war she did all she could short of open hostility to destroy the Union, and then apologized and paid damages. Lately we had another contention about seal poaching and the Behring Sea. A mere boat could easily have been found at sea, and we were assured that the danger was imminent. Immense appropriations were promptly voted for fortifications and the navy, and then, when the national hair was standing on end, England suddenly came into our supreme court as a suitor and submitted the whole controversy to that great tribunal. It was reassuring, but it was laughable nevertheless.

THE PUBLIC BUILDING BILLS.

The Work of the House Committee Stated by Milliken.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The work of the House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds during the Fifty-First Congress is set forth in a statement prepared by Chairman Milliken. Four hundred and twenty-three House bills, for the erection of new public buildings, and completion or extention of buildings in progress of construction, were referred to the committee, asking appropriations amounting to $78,695,825. Of the bills reported from the committee, twenty-three passed the House, appropriating $12,576,436. One hundred and twenty-nine Senate bills were referred to the committee, asking appropriations amounting to $20,122,500. In most cases the bills were for buildings at places for which house bills of similar nature were introduced. Of these Senate bills eighty-five were reported with amendments reducing the appropriations to correspond with the House bill. The eighty-five at the Senate from the Senate asked an appropriation of $25,600,000. As reported by the committee the amount was reduced to $14,000,000. Of the bills passed eighty-five were approved by the President, appropriating $12,171,850, and four vetoed, approximating $300,000. The committee had before it a large number of bills, involving a much larger appropriation than referred in any Congress since the organization of the government. The policy of the committee has been to provide for buildings at a large number of places and to limit the appropriations.

THE GERMAN NAVY.

The Fatherland Cannot Support a Fleet Equal in Strength to that of England.

THE PARNELLITES COMING TO THE FRONT AGAIN.

By Telegraph to the News.

GERMANY'S NAVY.

The Question of Strengthening It Discussed in the Reichstag.

BERLIN, March 6.—During debate on the estimates for a second reading of the navy budget in the Reichstag today Herr Richter said it was impossible for Germany to continue the increasing burdens which are imposed upon it.

Dr. Windthorst, leader of the center, said he would support the decisions of the committee. Germany, however, could not bear the support of the navy, equal in strength to that of England. In conclusion, Dr. Windthorst said: "Let the government submit, not fine words, but a practical scheme for strengthening the navy. The government's proposals have created terror throughout Germany."

Chancellor Caprivi said the military were unanimous in the opinion that more money would not be desired. The chancellor proposed that the vote for the two new branches be returned to the budget committee, where an agreement would be arrived at. Whistler seconded.

Herr Richter contended that the revelations of the committee showed that the navy, especially in regard to the new branches not exceeding fifteen knots an hour, evoked universal astonishment.

Admiral Holmann, secretary of state for the marine department, did not deny Richter's statements and admitted that a speed of seventeen knots was not attained. The department, he said, considered fifteen knots satisfactory, especially as the vessels were well built and well armed.

Richter denied that the radicals wished to expose the idea that they had no confidence in the navy. They simply wished to ventilate the whole question of the navy budget, in the interest of the service.

PARNELL'S DELEGATES.

They Will Leave for America and Expect a Warm Support.

LONDON, March 6.—Parnell's delegates to America will leave on Saturday next. They are greatly comforted by visible assurances of the warm and widespread support of their American constituents.

Justin McCarthy contrasts the departure and prospects of O'Connor, Kelly Redmond and Harrison with the partial eclipse of the McCarthyite mission to Australia. The McCarthyites at first arranged to send Abraham, Kenney and Flynn to act for O'Connor. Abraham refused, Kenney and Flynn were superseded and T. P. O'Connor packed up his traps to come home. Now a single ambassador, Mr. Fox, goes to represent the falling fortunes. The firmest English friends of the McCarthyites are beginning to despair of their ability to make headway against the vigor of the Parnellites.

Parnell has shown his usual skill in the selection of his embassies. All executing Harrison are trusted Nationalists, and can appeal with confidence based upon past personal history to the Irish-Americans. Parnell's speech at Chatham last was a pointed bid for the labor vote. It was also meant to entice Davitt, but only stirred up Davitt's ire. Writing to the Labor World, the vivid prediction that Parnell will not hamstring the workmen, denounces him for making a hypocritical profession of interest in labor, while actively fomenting radical feuds between the English and Irish democracies, and accuses him of being ready to wreck the Home Rule movement to pave the way for a compact like that of 1885.

The Census of the British Empire.

LONDON, March 6.—The work of taking the census of the British Empire was begun Thursday in India. It is expected to show 280,000,000 inhabitants in India, against 254,000,000 in 1881. The British Isles will be taken a month hence, and it is estimated that the population will show an increase of 10 per cent.

Lord Lytton has come from Paris to have a conference with Lord Salisbury on the troubles arising from Empress Frederick's visit to Paris. He does not fear that the relations between France and Germany have been seriously disturbed, but blames the Empress for imprudence.

THE AUSTRALIAN FEDERATION.

The Convention Discuss the Tariff Question.

SYDNEY, March 6.—At today's session of the Australian Federation convention, Munroe advocated uniform duties between the federated colonies, but, in case of failure, the interests of Victoria, a protectionist colony, must be guarded, and the conference would fail to do its duty if it did not. Protection of manufactures which had been erected in the Colony of Victoria to be ruthlessly dealt with.

McLean said that if the resolution in regard to tariff passed, a Federal Government could readily be formed, even though all the colonies did not join the Federation. The resolution implies free trade, with federation and protection against the world. Absolute free trade was impossible, owing to the necessity of raising revenue.

Mackin, of Victoria, said the work of forming a common tariff was a question involving millions of pounds invested in industries built up by protection, and a guarantee must be obtained that the Federation would preserve those interests.

THE CANADIAN ELECTION.

The Annexation Cry Set Sir Hugh Allan Up Against.

OTTAWA, March 6.—Sir John McDonald is completely unnerved today. He expects to be all right again in a few days. In an interview with an Associated Press correspondent today he estimated his majority at between 35 and 55.

ANNEXATION NOT UNPOPULAR.

NEW YORK, March 6.—A Montreal special says: An interviewed editorial of yesterday's Gazette the Conservatives a majority of from twenty-eight to thirty. The most important fact revealed by yesterday's vote are that the annexation cry is not so popular in Canada as was supposed, that closer trade relations with the United States are inevitable, and that the Liberals will be returned to power at the next general election.

The Mackay Case.

LONDON, March 6.—Since the San Francisco fracas, when Mr. Mackay vindicated his wife's honor, the other party, indicted of prosecuting Mackay on the spot, has done nothing in the way of vindication action inspiring suggestions to some American and European papers that Mackay assault was premeditated. The Paris Figaro, editorially, in presenting an Anglo-French paper for libel, believe they have hit upon the original of the interesting story. It is said it will add additional interest to the proceedings if proof is produced connecting the San Francisco incident with the previous attacks in Paris.

Rebels Without Ammunition.

LONDON, March 6.—A dispatch to the Associated Press Telegraph Company from Chili says information received from official sources shows that the Chilian insurgents are short of ammunition and they therefore refrain from making an attack on the capital, where the troops are well armed and prepared to make defense.

President Balmaceda's partisans are of the opinion that vigorous effort upon the part of the government troops will quell the rebellion.

Collision at Sea.

LONDON, March 6.—The British steamer Bentley arrived at Plymouth in a badly damaged condition, having been in collision with the German steamer Wandsbeck, from Hamburg March 1st for New York. The Wandsbeck proceeded.

Wounded Killing Negroes.

BERLIN, March 6.—Espelalf publishes a dispatch from Zanzibar stating that Wissman has pushed the Kibosh tribe, and in an engagement killed 200 wounded sixty and captured fifty of the tribe's men. The German loss was two men killed and fifteen wounded. The Germans captured 800 head of cattle and a quantity of ammunition and ivory.

Two Curious Fish.

A strange creature is the flying fish, of which there are greatly diversified varieties, called the flying gurnard, the other the exocetus or flying herring. These flying fish are found only in the tropical and subtropical seas. The flying herring is plentiful, but the gurnard is scarce. The fish are seen offscour during rough than calm weather, and it pursued by enemies, or frightened by vessels, will dart from the water. The wings are motionless except a slight vibration as the wind passes over them, and they do not move them as a bird or bat, to guide their course, but their flight is straight forward and any deviation from this course is caused by the current of air passing over them. Their flight is generally rapid, and longer than flying eagle. Then with the wind, and they usually keep close to the water, although during windy weather they have been known to be carried high enough to fall on the decks of vessels.

Another queer fish is the sword fish. It also is found in the tropical and subtropical zones of both the eastern and western hemispheres. Some of the tropical species are of enormous size, and measure from twelve to fifteen feet in length, with weights of from three feet long. This sword is much the shape of a cone somewhat flattened, the end sharply pointed. It is smooth on the top and sides, but the under part is rough. It is really an elongation of the bones of the upper jaw, and is possessed of very great strength, for with these weapons they have been known to pierce the copper sheathing of vessels and heavy planks and timbers, but although they can drive the sword for two three substances they can not draw them out, so break them off and sail away with what they have taken. Sailors think nearly the length of the back of the creature, which is folded back when the fish is swimming, in order that its progress may not be impeded if need be desired, but when quietly swimming it is often erected and acts as a sail to carry it through the water. The sword fish is very aggressive in its disposition, and will often assail fish much larger than itself. Even the whale is not exempt from the attack of this fish, and the sword fish consists of smaller fish which it kills by stabbing them with its sword. There is quite a large business done in sword fishing, as the fish is used for food. The large species are caught by harpooning, the smaller in nets.—Ex.

THE FEDERAL CLUB

Gives a Dinner and is Treated to Some Republican Speeches.

THE MEXICAN EXHIBIT AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The World's Fair Directors Reply to the Demands of the Chicago Labor Unions.

By Telegraph to the News.

DEPEW AND REED.

Remarks at a Dinner Given by the Federal Club.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Chauncey Depew presided tonight at a dinner given by the Federal Club at which many notables were present. Mr. Depew, in talking, said: "I am here to night, much to my surprise. The Conmer's jury holds me responsible for all the accidents on the railroads. Disabusing this, however, I will say that we are here tonight as Republicans. There are no misgivings to shake our faith in this world and the next. We are present to give greeting to the Republican leaders in Congress. We welcome Reed and Lodge, and regret that McKinley is not here. A Republican is properly constituted with nothing to defend. The Republican party always won its victories by being aggressive. We are happy, in fact, that the party of Garfield and Blaine, of Lincoln and Grant is the party of McKinley and Reed.

Depew then introduced

SPEAKER REED,

who was received with great applause. He said, in part: "Half the struggle in life is to get a hearing. When Christopher Columbus discovered America, it took him three months; but it took him half his life to get a chance to discover it. Advertisement is an absolute prerequisite to the sale of goods and your best advertisers are your enemies.

"I will challenge the world to point to the equal of the Fifty-first Congress for the good it has done. We have done much that has been hard to do, and we have shown to the people that it is possible to have a responsible government. This country today, with its sixty millions, is better and more governed when it had three millions. Our government has got to be a growth of the necessities of our people, and cannot be judged in the form of any other land."

Mr. Reed spoke of the increased work of Congress, comparing the work of the one just closed with its predecessor, and added: "What I claim for the House of Representatives is not what it has done, but what it has prevented possible for all time to be done." Tremendous applause followed Reed's speech.

CONGRESSMAN LODGE,

in his remarks, said he was not content with a vague declaration. "I am a Republican. The Republican platform stated the party to be the party of honest money. The declaration to the fact was too vague, but the killing of the proposition for free silver showed the party was in favor of honest finance. It was also the party for civil service reform, and these facts explained what he meant when he said 'I am a Republican.'"

"Of the last Congress," Lodge said, "we have given minority rule a deadly blow; we have crippled obstruction; we have given to the American people that the House can legislate and made it impossible for any majority in the future to escape responsibility by the scientific excuse that the minority would not let it legislate."

Civil Service Commissioner Roosevelt, General Woodford and Judge Arnoux also spoke.

THE MEXICAN EXHIBIT.

An Interesting Plan Forwarded by Lieutenant Baker.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Lieut. Baker, A. C., Baker, commissioner sent on behalf of the Columbian Exposition to Mexico, forwards an interesting sketch of the plan for the Mexican exhibit at the World's Fair, prepared and submitted to the government of Mexico by a well-known artist of that republic. This plan represents the history of Mexico from the days of the Montezumas down to and is a history of the human race, the human habitations of this country. Lieutenant Baker says the exact drawing and plans of the exhibit will be given, and the artistic skill of those engaged upon the enterprise warrants the assurance that it will be warried and be in some degree profitable to the republic of Mexico.

There has been received at the Mexican Bureau of the Columbian Exposition, Cuban newspapers which give interesting accounts of meetings of the commissioners to the exposition appointed by the government of Cuba.

Washington's World's Fair Appropriation.

OLYMPIA, Wash., March 6.—The senate today amended and passed the World's Fair bill by increasing the amount from $100,000 to $150,000. It is thought the house will non-concur in the amendment, and as there is only one more day for the session it is probable there will be no appropriate a made.

The house tonight concurred in the senate amendment increasing from a fifth to a third, the appropriate a for a World's Fair exhibit.

The Wool Clip.

BOSTON, March 6.—The Commercial Bulletin will publish tomorrow statistical articles based upon Agricultural Department reports, to which it is shown that the total number of sheep in the country today is 45,211,000, against 44,359,072 in 1890, and consequently the wool clip will be 5,000,000 pounds more than last year. When it was 270,000,000 pounds.

Reply to the Demands of the Chicago Labor Unions.

CHICAGO, March 6.—The World's Fair directors tonight adopted a reply to the demands of the Chicago labor unions. The reply concludes the eight-hour day, and the establishment of an arbitration tribunal to settle disputes. The demand that $2.50 be made the minimum of wages and union labor be given preference, were virtually refused, the directory saying that both subjects had been referred to a special committee.

Imprisonment for Life.

PORT HURON, March 6.—Dan MacMahon, the farm hand who yesterday killed Annie Murphy and then attempted suicide, was brought into this morning. His injuries have had been dressed, and the doctors declared him convalescing. He pleaded guilty, was sentenced to imprisonment for life and was taken to the State's prison in the afternoon train.

New Process of Whisky Making.

CHICAGO, March 6.—The Talmatine Ferment Company, organized by the whisky trust to exploit a new process of whisky making invented by a Japanese named Talmatine, has increased its capital stock to $10,000,000. The salient point in the process is a microbe or ferment full of amazing power, produced from a fungus growth on rice. It use permits completion of fermentation in forty-two hours, as against twenty-two heretofore, besides greatly cheapening it and enlarging the volume of production from the quantities of grain. Calculation based upon the capacity of machinery, tevers, distillers and others using ferments makes the yearly value of the discovery equivalent to $22,000,000.

Mysterious Disappearance.

YANKTON, S. D., March 6.—Frank Hack, a young German, who for several years operated a grocery back at Freeman, Hutchinson County, South Dakota, mysteriously disappeared two weeks ago. Fears were entertained that he had been murdered and robbed. Today he was heard from in Canada. He is alleged to be a defaulter in a large sum and Sioux City (Iowa) and Canadian banking companies are the victims.

"Orontes" Encounters a Storm.

HALIFAX, N.S., March 6.—The troop ship Orontes, with the first battalion of the Leicestershire regiment, arrived here yesterday from Bermuda. Very heavy weather was experienced all the run up. Shortly after leaving England for Bermuda the steamer was boarded by an immense tidal wave, a number of seamen badly injured and twenty-five soldiers more or less hurt. Some had arms broken, others were badly bruised and in some instances leg wars broken.

A Sentenced Murderer Suicides.

KEOKUK, Ia., March 6.—Dan Foster, sentenced to be hanged for murder at Quincy, Ills., March 27th, who escaped from Warsaw, Mo. Upon the farmers demanding Foster's surrender, he gave up a revolver and razor, but held his captors to shoot him or he would shoot himself. One of the farmers then fired a shot, but without effect. Foster then pulled a revolver from his pocket and shot himself in the head.

RAILROAD OFFICERS

Held Responsible for the Deaths of the Victims of the Harlem Disaster.

VALUABLE HORSES SOLD IN CALIFORNIA YESTERDAY.

A Raving Maniac Attempts Suicide, but Is Prevented by Two Deputies.

WARRANTS FOR ARRESTS.

Railroad Officials Wanted on Account of the Harlem Disaster.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Coroner Levy has issued warrants for the arrest of the officers and directors of the New York, New Haven and Hartford, who have been held responsible by the coroner's jury for the deaths of the victims of the Harlem railroad tunnel disaster. These warrants were for the following officers: Charles P. Clark, New Haven, president; M. Reed, vice-president, New Haven; Lucius Tuttle, general manager, New Haven; William B. Bishop, Jr., secretary, Bridgeport; comptroller, New Haven; Charles T. Hempstead, general passenger agent, New Haven, and Charles Bockwell, general freight agent, New Haven.

Directors George N. Miller, New York; Wilson G. Hunt, New York; F. S. Trowbridge, New Haven; William H. Russell, Bridgeport; Henry C. Robinson, Hartford; Edward M. Reed, New Haven; Charles P. Clark, New Haven; Joseph P. Clark, New Haven; Joseph Park, New York; Chauncey M. Depew, New York; Henry S. Lee, Springfield, Mass.; William Barkas, New York; Nathan Trowbridge, Hartford, and Nathan C. Wheeler, Bridgeport.

From this it will be seen that a majority of the officials live outside of this State. Coroner Levy does not anticipate that he will have any trouble in securing their attendance in this city. They will probably come as here readily, for they would have nothing to gain by resisting. Should they not come, steps will be made to extradition proceedings. As fast as the arrests are made bail will be taken and the officers allowed to depart. The district attorney's office was notified of the coroner's action.

Chauncey M. Depew surrendered himself to the coroner at 4:30 and was immediately released under $25,000 bail.

President Clark of the New Haven Railroad and Director Park surrendered themselves and gave bonds in the same amount.

A RAVING MANIAC.

Puller Creates a Sensation and Attempts Suicide.

NEW ORLEANS, March 6.—When Pulitz was brought into Court this morning his face was bleached and he looked badly frightened. He was taken into the private office of the Sheriff, where he cursed and swore, and fell into a furious rage, waving his hands in the air and beating his breast. "Adams, Moses, my wife, my wife," he screamed, and then threw himself violently on a lounge and cried. He by these for a long time, while two deputies kept vigilantly by his side. Suddenly he jumped up again and once more he tore his hair and pleaded for mercy, when he began to act like a raving maniac and he was arrested. He contained efforts of two deputies to prevent him from doing himself harm. He made a rush for a window and attempted to throw himself out, but was held and finally overpowered by the officers and securely handcuffed.

It is said Pulitz's mind is giving way under the great strain and that he is unable to control himself.
