Threatening Weather Interfered With Yesterday's Attendance.

The Program as Carried Out—Lecture and Other Exercises—The Baby Show.

From the time the report closed yesterday afternoon on, the sky was overcast and the natural gloom added to the artificial shade served to set as a dampener on the spirits of nearly everybody present. Add to this a gradually increasing atmospheric coolness, by means of which those who were lightly clad were rendered more or less uncomfortable, and we have a picture so far removed from pleasantness as such an occasion could well be. The result was that the incomers really did not equal in number the outgoers, the cars to the city being filled, those going out being tightly crowded.

Much of the program was omitted, for the reason stated, no doubt. The only show was not largely attended and the relief with which it was urged the morning would be "pulled off" was felt. The cities was shifted away by Colonel L. Young, Jr., who looked as though he realized the situation as he led them in the gilded and lofty carriage. The other competitors, who were not numerous, also received a badge of colored ribbon, bearing an appropriate inscription in golden letters and be-tassel with a fancy pin. The Ogden tribes were present.

The gambling schemes, referred to in yesterday's NEWS, disappeared early in the afternoon. The enterprising proprietors of the games doubtless took a broad hint and stayed out upon the order of their feeling, but not till they had imparted to many an uncomfortable acquaintance with visitors one of those lessons which are only learned in the school of experience. Some people are so obtuse as to think because a law exists it is foolish as to be folded with their eyes open is no sufficient reason why a plain and unequivocal statute of the territory should be violated with impunity for 30 hours before the authors of it find out that such things are dangerous. One of the keepers undertook to be a sandwich but he had to pull up and cut in the middle of his performance when being carried there, and perhaps from the point of view he was quite right.

The robbery of the stage coach by robbers, the subsequent battle with U. S. soldiers and defeat of the former, with their subsequent execution by shooting, were quite effectively performed. This was undoubtedly the feature of the day, though the amusements were all good and of sufficient variety and quantity to satisfy the most exacting.

Personal.

Superintendent L. Malloy of the Wyoming division of the Union Pacific arrived in Salt Lake this morning. He reports cool but delightful weather in the vicinity from which he hails.

Superintendent Bancroft returned this morning from a week's inspection of the Union Pacific road.

The City Auditor's Legs.

Among the loses of money at the various games of chance at Calder's Park yesterday was the city auditor, who risked $5 on what was a "dead sure thing"—or the manipulator of the wheel. However, the experience was worth something to the victim, who quietly boiled his indignation and came home to pore over the solution of figures to be found in the books of the concessionaire over which he so industriously presides.

Caught by a Brunes Streetcar.

An individual by the name of Wilson, who possesses a number of aliases, is in the city jail charged with jumping a streetcar against Maryland not of 101. The arrest was made by Deputy United States Marshal Dwyer at the Lake last evening. The case was ordered to come up in the police court this afternoon.

City School Attendance.

The report of the Salt Lake City schools for the tenth month, ending June 15, is as follows: Average number belonging, 7,736; average daily attendance, 6,761; cases of tardiness, 1,384; number not absent nor tardy, 5,153; per cent of attendance, 92.3; per cent of punctuality, 66.5; visits by members of the board, 192; visits by parents and guardians, 1,164; visits by patrons, 331; belonging at date, 7,115; total enrollment of month, 7,810; enrolled for the year, 11,478.

Land Office.

In the land office the filings under date of June 23 are as follows:

June H. Early, of Salt Lake City, final payment of homestead entry of lots 1, 2 and 3, and the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 4, township 1 south, range 1 west.

Edward A. Kilpack, of Mapleton, Utah county, final proof of homestead entry of the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 14, the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 23, and the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 24, township 8 south, range 3 east.

The Register and Receiver have issued down a decision in the contest case of William Flinders vs. George Haynes, involving homestead entry made May 8, 1889, of lot 1, section 22, township 3 south, range 3 west. In this case C. W. Higley originally entered the land. He is joined by Flinders. Higley was ousted, and Flinders made an entry of the tract. Later he relinquished his entry, and Haynes filed on it. It was alleged that he agreed to give to parties cultivating part of the land the thirds, and then when it was filed on gave notice that he would hold it all for himself. Contest was made on the ground of fraud, but this was not proved, and the decision is in favor of Haynes.

Homestead patents were received today as follows, at the local land office:

No. 5944, George A. Lowe, of Paroway, Iron county, 160 acres.

No. 6043, Peter R. Nielson, of Emery, Emery county, 160 acres.

Three Bad Boys, One Very Bad.

Holden O'Connor, O. B. Harris and Henry Hollenbeck, a trio of very bad boys, all young in years but almost old in wrong doing, were before Police Justice Smith this afternoon on a charge of burglary. The last named escaped from the Reform school two years ago and warned his way to Wyoming, from there to Montana and then back to our town, where he was recaptured but was not identified until late afternoon, when he stood under the searching gaze of Detective Sheets. The youngster will be immediately returned to the Reform school, and an effort will be made on Monday to send the other two lads to the same institution some time next week.

LYMAN SPAULDING, Clerk.

Setting a Rooster.

A citizen of Rossford had excursioned the town in vain from end to end in search of "a hen to set," when he heard that an old jerkey on the Boston, Providence and Newport road had a great deal of "setting stock." Aithis was just what he wanted he lost no time in hunting him up. He found the old man building a hen coop in the rear of his residence. Approaching he asked, by way of broaching the subject, how many hens he had setting.

"Fifteen hens and a rooster, boss."

"And a whistle?" inquired the poultryman, thinking he had not heard straight.

"A rooster," replied the darkey.

Seeing the look of distrust on his visitor's face he took him into a low building, and sure enough there sat a large Brahma rooster nearly covering twenty eggs. On one side of him sat two hens and on the other a third hen. The visitor seeing how exactly the rooster sat, secretly determined to get some of the darkey's eggs and hatch out a special lot of roosters. On being asked what he did when the rooster wouldn't sit any longer, the darkey replied that "dat ar rooster done pound to set," pulling underneath the hen.

Looking underneath the box he visitor was surprised to find both of the rooster's legs sticking through holes in the rack. The black fowl had actually lofted some through the box and tied the rooster's legs underneath, so, as he said, the rooster was "gone round to set."—Providence Journal.

Air Formula in Court.

The Japan Gazette describes an amusing interest that happened in the court at Tokio while Judge Yamagucht was under examination concerning the chemical scare against him in connection with the Nami case. The prosecuting prosecutor suddenly rose and interrupted the Judge: "Excuse me, your honor, but there is a man in the gallery calling." The Judge said the policeman to find the caller.

In reply to the policeman's question, the latter, who was about fifty years old, said that he had an finger in his mouth as he has a toothache. The policeman repeated the answer to the Judge, but the prosecutor was not to be easily satisfied and insisted that the man had been swearing. "If he has been eating," said the Judge, "the most will have the food about him."

With this practical solution the policeman was sent once more to the man, who found that there was no other way to escape a public search of his sleeve except a full confession. "As my teeth ached, sir," he stammered out, pleadingly, "I was eating powder." "As I suspected, there was a scientific remedy for toothache, though now would have to be taken internally," accurately it." "If that is the case," ordered the judge sternly, "then hand out." Aiki the policeman sought in the pocket-case and sent one from amongst fifty out of the case. The proceedings resumed their dull course after this little interlude.
