NEWS OF THE WEST.

A Heavy and Most Destructive Hailstorm Occurs in Idaho.

FIGHTING CRICKETS WITH OIL CANS

"Sensation" in Oregon.—De Lamar's (Colorado) First Burglary.—The Crops, Etc.

The Seattle & Lake Washington Waterway company, with a capital of $5,000,000, has been incorporated at Seattle. The company proposes to construct Elliott bay with Lake Washington by a canal.

Says the Hailey (Idaho) Times: The ranchers down the valley and their families fought the crickets for two days, with empty oil cans, and succeeded in getting rid of them by sliering them in the hills.

Judge I. N. Hack has just died at Boulder, Mont., at the age of 73 years of general debility and old age. He had resided in Jefferson county for over fifty years and was well known throughout the state.

The first burglary ever recorded in De Lamar, Idaho, was committed a few nights ago, when some one broke in at the back door of the Owyhee Meat company's shop, broke open the till under the meat counter and extracted its contents, amounting to the huge sum of $1.35.

All the bridges in Custer county (Idaho) that crossed the Salmon river are gone with one exception—that of Regan bridge about four miles above Challis. The mail between Salmon City and the latter place has to be carried four miles farther to get across the river.

The Alameda Independent Journal (Cala.) says the condition of crops is better at this time than at the same period in any year since crops have been grown in San Luis valley. The low stage of water may bring some injury to crops later on, but the probability is that rains will be sufficient to carry them through to harvest.

J. O. Baker has in his office a bundle of rye that measures seven feet in length, says the Hailey (Idaho) Times. It was taken from a 5-acre patch of ground owned by John Kraft, sown in the hills in sight of Hailey and grown without irrigation. The grains are well formed and the crop is good. It will not be many years before all the hillsides near Iowa will be waving with grain.

Advices from Granada (Col.) state that grasshoppers have appeared in large numbers in the south and east of there. Reports from Bent county say that the hoppers are destroying everything in that county, especially in the vicinity of Southmont. Prowers is thickly covered with young hoppers. Those who have been near Wiide report entire destruction of crops and range, but this occurs only in streaks.

The Albion (Idaho) Sun says that one day last week Rock creek and vicinity were visited by a terrible hailstorm, which ruined all the small fruit and alfalfa. The latter was nearly ready to cut and now all the stems lie in windrows to four inches high without a leaf. Some of the hailstones measured 2½ inches in circumference. It cut the limbs off of trees and knocked off so much fruit. Wheat was killed by the frost. The frost about two weeks ago killed nearly all the fruit, and now the hail has ruined everything that remained.

Mr. Byron Scanlan, receiver of the Wm. Crawford estate in Utah, sold a lot of horses belonging to said estate, in Evanston, last Saturday, remarks the Evanston (Wyo.) Herald. Twenty-seven horses were sold at auction, and brought an average price of $12.75 per head. Some few sold as low as from three to five dollars, and some nearly good horses sold as low as from ten to fifteen dollars. Verily these are cheap times, and hard times. It is harder work to get the three dollars to buy a horse with now than it was to get twenty when times were good and horses valuable.

Many immigrants are beginning to arrive from Utah, Idaho and other points, says the Ohio (Wyo.) Courier. One man who has just come in from Utah says there are 150 teams on the road that he knows of and probably a great many others. Times are very close there which is the cause of a great many people moving that would not otherwise. Everybody in that part of Utah is anxious to hear from the Basin, and if the reports sent back by persons who have come out here are satisfactory, a still larger colony will start.

Dr. Morrison, the notorious quack, had a hearing before Probate Judge Byals on Saturday, at Boise City, Idaho, on a charge of kidnapping Charles Brown's children. When court opened, Brown, the complaining witness, did not appear, and Judge Byals sent a subpoena after him. When Brown came to court he was asked that the case be dismissed, which was done. The charge of practicing medicine illegally was all ready to bring against Morrison, but he was allowed to depart. When turned loose he remarked that he guessed he would leave town, and took the first train out. The Daily Statesman thinks the town is well rid of him.

An Exchange states that Sweet Home, Oregon, has a sensation. For a good many years Otto Lobker and another German have been "baching" together in a small house at that city, living in peace and harmony. A few days ago Mr. Lobker's partner died, when the fact was learned for the first time that the man was not a man but a woman, who had been living as a man for years without detection, who doing the work of a man and believed by all to be one. Even Mr. Lobker declares that he was absolutely ignorant of the fact that his companion was a woman. Her history is not known. She was buried at Sweet Home, leaving a mystery surrounding her strange life.
