An Old Utah Indian Fighter Dies in California.

ANTIMONY HEIRS THE WORST OF IT.

Fatner Killed While Driving Her Cow Off a Railway Track—Winter for Stock in Colorado.

Mr. Elias Fury, residing on the San Bernardino road, near Sunnyside, Cal., was run over and killed by freight cars from 5 to 8 o'clock Monday morning, while attempting to drive a cow from the railroad track opposite his place. Her legs, thighs and arms were broken, and her breastbone and several ribs fractured. She died in a short time.

Denver Field and Farm: Thus far winter has never been surpassed in extent as a favorite for feeding of live stock and the sheep are doing quite well. It has required less than the usual amount of feed and the gains are fully as good as if the lambs had come sept under high pressure. The sheep are in strong, healthy condition and are in fine form to withstand severe weather should it visit them. If the feeders can now get good prices for their stock this winter they will be put down and remembered as a master in the business. Prices will be governed largely by eastern and southern demand and no one can predict what this may be. During the past week it has been somewhat improved.

The following from the Sacramento Bee is a sample of the way Senator Wolcott's speech on the Monroe doctrine is treated in the West: Wolcott, of Colorado, in the United States Senate today, delivered a speech in which he plainly demonstrated to most of us that we do not believe very much in the Monroe doctrine, and that his heart is exceedingly warm towards England. He made use of the same old fraud and lie about blood being thicker than water, forgetting that the census of 1890 shows that Denmark, Norway and Sweden contribute largely to with us as many citizens as does England, that Ireland gives us twice as many, and Germany three times as many. No matter what Wolcott may say, the Monroe doctrine is good American principle, and Cleveland's interpretation of it in his Venezuela message had only one fault—it was not strong enough.

Captain J. H. Crocker, one of Grass Valley, Cal.'s, oldest citizens, died at his home on Sunday evening of heart failure. He has been prominent in business circles for many years, and in early life enlisted in the Mexican war. Later he was engaged in military life on the frontier in Western Kansas and Nebraska. There he served under Indian fighters to protect the immigrants from raids by the redskins. He also fought against the Indians in Utah after crossing the plains, and was in the campaign against the Piutes in 1860, taking part in the battle at Pyramid lake. He settled in Plumas in 1854. After living there several years he spent a year or more at Carson, Nev., and from there came to Grass Valley, in 1865. While at Plumsville the civil war broke out. He helped organize a military company at that place, and when sworn into the service joined the company stationed at Fort Alcatraz, San Francisco.

Idaho Statesman, Jan. 29: H. Cluff Jr., president of the Brigham Young Academy at Provo, Utah, is a capital visitor. Mr. Cluff is president of the People's Canal & Irrigation company, in Bingham county, and he came to Boise to consult the state board of land commissioners concerning the application of the American Falls Power & Canal company to withdraw 70,000 acres of land under the Carey act for reclamation by means of an immense canal to be taken out of the Snake river above Blackfoot near the head of the People's canal. Mr. Cluff protests against the action of the board in taking favorable action on the American Falls company's application for the reason that 35,000 acres of the land withdrawn is a portion of the tract intended to be irrigated by the People's canal, which is constructed a distance of twenty-five miles. The board held a meeting yesterday afternoon and decided that it could not disturb the American Falls company. The company has complied with all the provisions of the law and the board could not realize its action accepting its proposal even though it should desire to do so. The law is mandatory so far as the board is concerned.

Monday night about 11 o'clock, at Fort Yuma, a mining camp four miles from Congress, Arizona, a man walked into John McDonald's saloon and, flourishing a six-shooter, told all present to throw up their hands. There were five men in the saloon and they promptly obeyed. He stood them in a line and told them to "dig up" and all did so but the proprietor of the saloon, who told the robber all he had was in the till. He told him to go and get it. The bandit started to do so, but met Mrs. A. Clark, superintendent of the Planet Quartz mines, came in the door. The robber put him in the line also and told him to "shell out." He handed him his purse and then the robber took hold of his watch and chain and asked him if it was a present. He said it was and he would have to leave it. About this time the robber forgot himself and lowered his pistol. Clark grabbed his hand and the pistol was discharged, the ball going through Clark's clothes but doing no damage. At the same time another shot was fired, which blew nearly the whole top of the robber's head off. It is supposed that the last shot was fired by McDonald, as he was the only one who had a chance to shoot. The verdict of the coroner's jury was: "We find the robber to be John Lane, a native born Prussian, A. T., shot by a party unknown."

The secret of a speedy cure to sickness lies in selecting the proper remedy and this is difficult to do unless one is sure what the ailment is. But one thing is sure, and the liver been sedative if at work sickness could not have come. It is then always safe to take Simmons Liver Regulator which keeps the liver well regulated and all poisons expelled from the system.
