IMMIGRANTS THROUGH CANADA.

For some time past numerous emigrants from Europe have found their way into this country by way of Canada. It is charged that the vigilance of the Canadian authorities is not to be ompared to that of the United States officials, and that as a consequence, of diseased persons at the Canadian

The law now is that aliens coming to the United States shall be closely examined as to their qualifications at the ports. Those not permitted to land are sent back at the cost of the transportation company that brought them. Those landing in Canadlan ports and destined for this country are, by specfal arrangement subjected to similar regulations, and this seems to be about all that can conveniently be done by way of restriction. If, as Mr. Powderly claims, the regulations are not properly enforced, the remedy is not in adding enforcing those already adopted. We know not what ground for complaint there may be against from gration officials at Quebec, or Halifax, but these at New York seem to exercise much vigilance. They are even said to have submitted American born citizens, returning from Europe to their homes, to examination with the view of finding some ground on which to annoy them, if not to expairinte them.

This has again been illustrated in the recent riots at New Orleans. There, as will be remembered, two officers were killed, and a furious mob, bent on vengeance, riddled with bullets a colored man, who sold his life dearly, killing and wounding a number of his assailants. It has now been ascertained, if the reports are true, that this man was innocent. The murderer escaped to Iola, Miss., where he was recognized and apprehended.

This is a terrible indictment of the mob law. It should be a powerful appeal to the country for some adequate measures for its suppression.
