

O'BRIEN STOLE GANS' THUNDER

No Excuse for "Philadelphia Jack," Declares Naughton Of Frisco.

BURNS-SQUIRES BOUT SURE.

Big, Black Jack Johnson is Hot on the Trail of Alleged Champions and Is Spooling for a Fight.

Some fighters are born crooked, some are made crooked, and some have conditions thrust upon them. Jack O'Brien, according to his most recent confession, belongs to the class last mentioned. After enumerating various sins of omission and commission he has been guilty of during his career as a fighter, Jack shoves himself to his own satisfaction. He says on account of his talent as a thumper he found it difficult to get matches and that he had either to fake or quit the business, says W. W. Naughton.

While all of this, or part of it, may be true, the fact remains, Jack, that you are a phlegmatic. You have stolen Joe Gans' thunder. It was the Baltimore negro who first told with uttering voice that he had to fight in order to get a payday. The admission didn't come with such bad grace from Gans, because it was known that others had picked up his shortcomings and that when Joe finally reached the penitentiary stool he was broke and begging for at such such a time. His proclamation and his evident sincerity gained sympathy for him. He was given a chance to reform and now he is both a champion and a footlight favorite and has a bank account.

Jack O'Brien is not pleading poverty and has asked that he be accorded an opportunity to redeem himself. In all other respects his confession is a parody on that of Josephus Gans.

O'Brien owns up to having figured in numerous bouts with Tommy Burns, Bob Fitzsimmons, Tommy Burns, Hugo Kelly, Young Peter Jackson and Joe Walcott. He says he was picked up by Sam Berger in Philadelphia was released the night before in O'Brien's hands by the light of candles stuck in old bottles. According to Jack, this practice was simply a slap-stick affair like a crowd of people who were not interested in the fight. He says he was a "missus" when the show proper came off. Billy Roche, who was a crowd puller, was the only one who was interested in the fight. He says he was a "missus" when the show proper came off. Billy Roche, who was a crowd puller, was the only one who was interested in the fight. He says he was a "missus" when the show proper came off. Billy Roche, who was a crowd puller, was the only one who was interested in the fight.

Nothing to this story of fake. This seems to be the season for exposures, confessions and disclosures, so far as the sport of the mitt is concerned. It is a pity that the new fight between Burns and Squires is being booked for May 23 at Tonopah, was conceived in crookedness and that Hart is a crook. The fact that he is a crook is not a new revelation. It is a fact that has been known for some time. The fact that he is a crook is not a new revelation. It is a fact that has been known for some time. The fact that he is a crook is not a new revelation. It is a fact that has been known for some time.

By following this old-time tout formula nothing short of draw would prevent the fighter giving someone the certain.

BURNS-SQUIRES BOUT CERTAIN.

The Squires-Burns match has emerged from a mist of doubt and now looks like a clean-cut fixture for Fourth of July, at Tonopah. The fight is being booked for May 23 at Tonopah, was conceived in crookedness and that Hart is a crook. The fact that he is a crook is not a new revelation. It is a fact that has been known for some time. The fact that he is a crook is not a new revelation. It is a fact that has been known for some time.

Squires, as the sporting world knows, has been quivering since he was picked up by Sam Berger in Philadelphia was released the night before in O'Brien's hands by the light of candles stuck in old bottles. According to Jack, this practice was simply a slap-stick affair like a crowd of people who were not interested in the fight. He says he was a "missus" when the show proper came off. Billy Roche, who was a crowd puller, was the only one who was interested in the fight.

For a while it was thought in San Francisco that Burns was about to withdraw from the match. Tommy dived at Los Angeles and failed to land the $5,000 side bet he insisted on when articles were being drawn up and signed. He also made an attempt to arrange a match with Jim Flynn, to take place on June 7, but on being warned by Coffroth that nothing like that would result in the Burns-Squires match being called off he desisted and hurried to San Francisco. Burns appeared in the Fourth of July party with one D. C. Keating, a Portland, Ore., promoter, who supplies Fitzsimmons' backing. The writer is stalled in the city and will hand over the full amount of the money to the Jim Jeffries after the men enter the ring.

A Woman's Gratitude

"For more than a year I had been a sufferer, completely broken down. I had not slept but two or three hours any night for weeks. I had such awful misery in my head, and oh, I was so irritable. I could not depend upon my judgment, and my memory was failing. I realized that I was losing my mind, and I thought the grave, or worse, the asylum, would be my doom. My doctor said my case was beyond the reach of medicine. I went to a druggist and told him my condition. He recommended Dr. Miles' Nervine. It was pretty sure it would help me, so I bought a bottle. That night I took a table spoonful, and fell asleep in a few minutes, the first rest I had in weeks, and oh, I will never forget that sweet sleep while I live. I have continued taking it, and sleep like a baby, and gain rapidly."

The details of the Burns-Squires match were being completed. When the conference ended Johnson said: "I'm glad and I'm sorry. I'm glad there's going to be a heavyweight fight, and sorry I'm not one of the principals."

Referee Jim Jeffries will have some money in his pocket when he judges the Burns-Squires fight. To begin with, in accordance with a demand made by Burns, Coffroth will hand Jeffries a certified check for $5,000, the sum Burns is to receive, "win, lose or draw." In addition Jeffries will have a check for $10,000, the amount of the side bet put up by the contestants. In all Jeffries will be the custodian of $15,000.

"Yes they handed me a lemon at Los Angeles," said Jack O'Brien while discussing the evening's work up to his connection with some friends. "A lemon," said a listener, "A lemon couldn't have been responsible for that effluvia. It must have been an onion."

LASTED FIVE ROUNDS.

Bob Watkins no Match for Morgan Williams, the Colorado Fighter.

At Park City last night Morgan Williams, the Colorado fighter, made short work of the colored man called "Fighting Bob" Watkins. The fight lasted five rounds and the referee stopped it before the sixth round because of Watkins' punishment. Williams landed several hard lefts to the body and finished his man with a left to the solar plexus. The crowd saw the bout and apparently enjoyed it.

FANS WILL SEE BIKE RACES THIS EVENING.

A good program of bicycle races will be run at the saucer track this evening, and the fans will see some fast sprinting. The program is the outcome of the race place last Sunday night. The feature will most likely be the two-mile lap professional race, which was won by a local rider. The race will also have a half-mile professional. Those who do not like a place in either of these events will compete in a mile invitation race. The amateurs will have a quarter-mile open and a mile handicap. All the events are sprint affairs and should result in fast time being made.

There is still some discussion among the local fans about the stopping of Sunday races and the prevailing opinion is that the proper thing was done by Manager Halvorson. It is probably that three months a week will be held although no definite decision has been reached as yet.
