MR. CARLISLE'S BILL.

His Financial Scheme Reported to the House

AND IS SEVERELY CRITICISED.

The Republican Members of the Committee on Banking Have Their Say.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—At the opening of the session of the House, Hermann (Rep.) of Oregon presented a preamble and resolution declaring that the Clayton-Bulwer treaty was an obstacle to the construction of an inter-oceanic canal and that it should be abrogated. It was referred to the committee on foreign affairs.

Fifteen of the sixteen bills favorably reported from the Friday night session were then passed, without objection, in exactly four minutes.

Mutes, chairman of the committee on public lands, moved to pass, under a suspension of the rules, the bill to protect public forest reservations. Passed.

Springer of Illinois, chairman of the committee on banking and currency, then presented the report of the majority on the Carlisle banking bill and it was ordered printed, together with the minority report to be presented by Walker (Rep.) of Massachusetts.

The minority members of the banking and currency committee severely criticise the Carlisle bill. They say:

The whole action of the party majority of the committee was most extraordinary and not approved by its voting majority. Secretary Carlisle read a part of the bill on the first day of his appearance before the committee, saying he had not finished dictating it and would bring it when he finished his address to the committee on the following day, which he did. It was not again read or in any manner considered in committee, and an opportunity to consider or amend it was refused to all members, Democrats and Republicans alike.

On Saturday at 4 p.m., immediately upon the close of the examination of Mr. St. John of New York, a motion was made to close the hearing and go into executive session. Upon the attempt of a member of the minority to make a motion to take up the bill for consideration, they were informed by the chairman, Mr. Springer, that the Democratic party majority had concluded not to send the bill to the committee for any action whatever, but to report it to the House on Monday, and that each member could offer what amendments he chose in the House.

It is the opinion of a number of the most clear-headed and eminent financiers in this country that if the Carlisle bill was enacted into law, within twenty days it would precipitate a panic far more severe than that of 1893, as it would compel the forced sale upon the market of nearly $200,000,000 of United States bonds within six months.

Section 1 repeals "all acts and parts of acts which require or authorize the deposit of United States bonds to secure circulating notes," etc., instead of "so much of all acts and parts of acts," etc.

How many thousands may be seriously injured by such needless wholesale repeal of the statutes, or whether the Supreme Court after years of litigation might by construction re-enact some parts of such statutes which Secretary Carlisle had repealed, no one can tell.

Section 5 provides that "each association hereafter organized and each association applying for additional circulation shall pay its pro rata share into the said fund before receiving notes," without defining how the total fund or each share shall be ascertained. In the same paragraph it is provided that "when a national banking association becomes insolvent its guaranty fund held on deposit shall be transferred to the safety fund herein provided for and applied to the redemption of its outstanding notes."

That is to say, it is merged in the safety fund, and again, there is no provision in the bill for the use of the safety fund except by application in the lines quoted.

Whatever legislation is had with reference to the finances of the country or banking in its effect upon national banks should be permanent and not mandatory as to national banks while their present charters continue.

The passage of the Carlisle bill may meet some political exigency of which we do not know, but we do know its passage will aggravate rather than relieve the perplexities of the financial situation, especially that of the United States treasury. The United States legal tender notes withdrawn from circulation in all the existing national banks, taking out all the circulation permitted under the bill, would only be $351,000,000, still leaving $554,000,000 to vex the treasury. This would not afford any substantial relief to the treasury. It would make still more conspicuous and thus more urgent the demand for gold upon the treasury, and the notes issued under the bill would make confusion worse confounded in the currency by adding from one to forty-five more kinds of money to those already existing.

We are of the opinion it is not safe for the House to enter upon the line of legislation proposed until some bill is brought before it that has received far more attention than the Carlisle bill, and we recommend it be indefinitely postponed.

The report is signed by the six Republican members of the committee.

Outhwaite, chairman of the military affairs committee, called up the army appropriation bill and explained its provisions. The bill carries $23,209,808—$189,810 less than the appropriation for the current fiscal year and $1,803,834 less than the estimates.

The bill was passed without amendment.

Springer, in accordance with the notice given early in the day, at this point announced that he would tomorrow, immediately after the call of committees for reports, call up the banking bill, either by virtue of a special order for its privilege or by unanimous consent.

At 5 o'clock the House adjourned.

THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—The Senate was called to order today by Vice President Stevenson.

Communication from Secretary Gresham relative to the continuation of the bureau of American republics, was referred to the committee on appropriations.

Blanchard (Dem., La.) presented petitions praying for the passage by the senate of a bona fide inter-state bill.

Hill (Dem., N. Y.) presented a resolution calling upon Secretary Carlisle for a copy of the income tax regulations, which was passed.

The Senate resumed consideration of the Nicaragua canal bill and Peffer (Pop., Kan.) addressed the Senate.

Squire of Washington followed with a hearty endorsement of the canal project.

Turple then proceeded to address the Senate on the pending bill. He started out by saying that he was heartily in favor of the construction of this canal or any other navigable highway through the isthmus. He did not regard the pending bill, however, as furnishing any means for the accomplishment of this enterprise, as tending to promote the prosecution of completion of the canal.

In regarding it, whether designed or undesigned, as one of the measures which will scarcely lead to another failure (for fear, he thought, of the corporations or companies for building this canal. He entertained grave doubts respecting its constitutionality and knew of no authority of Congress to endorse or guarantee the payment of any corporation obligations, public or private. After detailing the original understanding that the government should not be asked to guarantee the Maritime company's indebtedness, Turple ended with some display of heat what he called a "raid" this company now come to Congress and ask a subscription to the extent of $70,000,000.

Without rising from his seat, Senator Morgan interjected the remark that the company "had not come here making such a request," to which Turple replied:

"Then they have a very peculiar way of staying away."

Referring to the numerous surveys for a route made from time to time, Mr. Turple laid particular stress on that of 1891, by Cornelius Vanderbilt and associates, any one of whom, he asserted, could have completed the canal. Yet, the enterprise had been abandoned.

Resuming the conclusion of his remarks, the Senate, at 6:55, went into executive session, and at 5:07 p. m. adjourned.

Japanese Armies Advancing.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—A dispatch to a morning paper from Shanghai, dated December 17th, says: The first and second Japanese armies are marching direct on Tien Tsin. They are now north of Niu Chwang, which place has been captured. Several other cities have also been taken, all without any serious fighting. The loss of the two armies combined amounts to about 72,000 men.

The Shanghai officials of the native city have removed their wives and families to the foreign settlements for safety, in anticipation of an outbreak which is feared as a consequence of the importation of the war tax.

The Ute Bill.

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 17.—A special to the Republican from Washington, D. C., says: The administration has determined to fight the Ute bill, but the Colorado delegates will try to pass it over the opposition. This will be a difficult thing to do, as, in case the President should veto the bill, there are enough administration men in one branch or the other to prevent securing the necessary two-thirds vote.

Secretary Smith, in his letter to Senator Teller and Wolcott, says that he has very carefully considered the matter personally, and now endorses a report from agents as to the number and condition of the Indians, and it is upon the condition of the Indians that he bases his opposition to the bill.

"I cannot believe it wise," he says, "to undertake an allotment of land to them in severalty. I am of the opinion that Congress should definitely decide to leave the Indians where they are and let the subject rest there for twelve months longer, during which time it will be determined what progress can be made with the Indians."

THE HAYES WILL CASE.

Rubin Scott Appears on the Scene Claiming to Be the Widow.

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 17. — A new phase in the settlement of the estate of the late Andrew J. Davis, of Montana, developed when, at the hearing in the Suffolk County Probate court, before Judge McKim, a petition was presented in behalf of Mrs. Rubin Scott, who claims to be the widow. The claim that there is a widow is denied by the special administrators, R. M. Morse and Judge Wells.

Mrs. Scott, who is a resident of Kearn county, California, states that her children are Mrs. Jesse Morrow, of Fresno county, and Mrs. Laskie Calhoun, of San Francisco. They are represented by Alva E. Snow, district attorney-elect of Fresno, Cal.

The petition presented today objects to the appointment of the administrators, on the ground that Mrs. Scott and her daughters are the legal heirs of the deceased, and have only recently obtained knowledge of the proceedings for the administration going on in the court. The estate involves over $7,000,000, of which $3,000,000 is in Massachusetts. On account of proceedings in Montana affecting the case, the hearing was continued until February 24th.

FIRE IN A MINE.

The Men Saved—Loss of Property Considerable.

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 17.—Fire broke out in the Oregon Improvement company's Newcastle coal mine at Coal creek, ten miles from this city, at half o'clock this morning, and the crew was turned into the mine to extinguish the flames.

At 7 a. m. John Morgan found flames in a cedar stick on the second level. He put it out, but an hour and a half later another man saw fire coming from a timet on the third level and gave the alarm. Morgan started down the slope but send back for a wrench, and while waiting the flames burst out and he abandoned the attempt. The delay saved him from certain death.

In the midst of confusion Superintendent Audetson telephoned below telling the men in the mine how to escape, and stayed at the telephone until fire drove him away. By this time 175 men had come out, but more remained, and five men, Will Hann, Andy Reynolds, John Erickson, Andy Stewart and John Morgan went down the air south to warn them, though the slope was burning within 100 feet.

The Fans were kept going, though they fanned the flames and enormously increased the loss and the men worked like demons to keep the flames from them, for a moment's stoppage would have meant death. The last man was brought out at 2:30 p. m. and the roll was called. The openings were then stopped, Coal creek demand and burned into the mine and tomorrow the fans will be reversed to force out the smoke while men go down to fight the fire.

The machinery and top works were saved except the roof of the shops, but damage to the shafts and the loss of twenty-five mules, harness, oats and other property aggregate $50,000.

Hayward Not Ready to Plead.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 17.—Harry T. Hayward was brought over from St. Paul this afternoon to plead to the indictment charging him with the murder of Catherine Gingras, but asked a continuance and was granted till Saturday morning next to make his plea.

OUR COMMERCIAL INTERCOURSE.

Notice That Discrimination Against the United States Must Cease.

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—A special to the Post from Washington says:

A cable message of the greatest importance to the commercial interests of the United States has gone from the state department at Washington to Madrid. It is tantamount to an informal notice to the nations of the earth that if trade discriminations against the United States do not cease measures will be adopted by the President for the protection of American commerce under the authority of the act of Congress of August 18, 1890, empowering him to stop the importation of goods from countries that persist in such discriminations.

One of the chief offenders in this respect is Spain and for that reason Madrid is selected as a point of action, though the action would be regularly construed as indicating a policy applicable to Germany, Denmark, France, and many other nations that have put an embargo on American products.

SAN FRANCISCO HARBOR.

New Survey of the Entrance to Be Made.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18.—In accordance with orders from Washington the United States coast survey steamer Gedney and McArthur will make a new survey of the entrance to San Francisco harbor, commencing their work during the first week in January. The Golden Gate has not been surveyed for twenty-two years, and the new charts will be awaited with eagerness by pilots, shipmasters and owners. During the past six or eight years the capsize of a number of vessels which have struck on the bar have asserted that now depths were constantly forming in the channel way.

Captain C. L. Taylor, a prominent shipping man, estimates that the number of vessels wrecked at the entrance to the harbor within the past twenty years at 150, causing the loss of many lives and millions of dollars' worth of property.

Stock Exchange Celebration.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—The members of the New York stock exchange celebrated last night the fiftieth anniversary of Wm. Alexander Smith's connection with the exchange. Mr. Smith is the Nestor of the body. His membership dates from Dec. 17, 1844. Yesterday morning before the opening of the day had got fairly under way Chairman Mitchell rapped for silence and summoned Mr. Smith before the rostrum. Mr. Mitchell congratulated Mr. Smith and wished him fifty more years of membership. Next he handed to Mr. Smith a massive silver cup in the name of the members. Mr. Smith is now 74 years old and as hale and hearty as the youngest prankster on the floor.

A RIPE AGE.

Mrs. Jefferson Passes Away Over a Hundred Years Old.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Mrs. Nellie Jefferson, a colored woman, died last night. Mrs. Jefferson was said to be one hundred and nine years, eight months and sixteen days old. She was the wife of Peter Jefferson, who was a servant of President Thomas Jefferson. Mrs. Jefferson was a servant in the family of the President and lived on the Jefferson estate at Charlottesville, Va. She was freed by the proclamation and went to Chalmers, Iowa. Her husband died when she was of middle age and she lived in the Iowa town with relatives until eight years ago when she came to this city to live with her daughter, who is 57 years old, and her grandson, Charles Davis, at whose home she died. Until four years ago she was in possession of all her faculties and told many stories of the early days of the country. Then she became blind and had to take to her bed. She had nine children, three of whom are now alive, their ages being 87, 85 and 58. Fifty-seven grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren are alive. The youngest of the great-grandchildren is eight months old.

WOMAN NOT A CHATTEL.

Money Due a Wife Not Paid if Handed over Only to the Husband.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 18.—In the circuit court Judge H. H. Johnson decided that a woman is not a chattel of her husband. Sophie Mazegski and her husband, August Mazegski, sold ground to the Chicago Packing company for $4,014. In addition to this sum Mr. Mazegski was to get $500 for signing away her dower right. The packing company gave both checks to Mr. Mazegski. He did not give the $500 check to his wife, and she brought two suits, one against her husband for divorce and another against the Chicago for the $500. The defense held that the handing of the first check to $500 to Mr. Mazegski was sufficient delivery to Mrs. Mazegski, but the court held that it was not, and gave plaintiff judgment for her claim and cost of the action.

"Jack the Ripper" Caught.

WINDSOR, Ont., Dec. 18.—After terrorizing the women of Windsor for twenty-six months or thereabouts some of them dared venture on the street at night without an escort, William Marshall, alias "Jack the Ripper," was sentenced to the penitentiary for three years.
