est yesterday in the shipyards have caused damage to the amount of $300,000.

Omaha, May 2.—The consolidation firm of Johnson, Higgins & Co. today served an injunction against the South Omaha stockyards company, restraining the management from discriminating against plaintiffs. They allege that they have been notified by the stockyards company that they must pay in advance switching charges, freight charges, and for all the hay and grain fed to cattle. The case will be argued for a permanent injunction May 8.

Washington, May 2.—The seventh annual meeting of the American National Conference of State Boards of Health began here today. A number of interesting papers were read.

London, May 2.—Influenza is spreading rapidly in England. In London many barristers, officials of the law courts, members of the Lords and Commons are suffering. At Woolwich arsenal so many workmen are laid up that work is interfered with.

Chicago, May 2.—Exercises commemorating the centennial anniversary of the adoption of Poland's constitution were begun today by a magnificent meeting of the Polish-American citizens, presided by a parade of all the Polish societies in the city. About the speaker's platform in Central Music Hall was a huge shield of canvas, bearing the portraits of Washington, Kosciusko and Pulaski.

Kansas City, May 2.—Reports from sixteen principal wheat growing counties in Kansas say wheat is turning yellow from some unknown cause, and those counties will not yield more than from half to two-thirds crops. Some county reports much damage from the Hessian fly. A new bug appears in several counties where the wheat is turning. Several counties report damage from drouth.

Middlesboro, Ky., May 2.—In Walnut Hills, Va., yesterday Jim Jackson, alias "Chicken Eater," and Jim Cutbirth, alias "Big Bulling," two notorious outlaws, between whom a feud existed, met. Cutbirth shot Jackson through the heart and a ball from Jackson's revolver penetrated Cutbirth's brain. Both men died instantly.

New York, May 2.—The police authorities at Jamaica, L. I., have a man in hand supposed to be the missing C. Kniehle, who accompanied Carrie Brown to the hotel the night of the murder. He answers the description, and had blood stains on his clothes, but vigorously protests he is Charles Holland of Rye, N. Y.

Wheeling, W. Va., May 2.—At Martin's ferry today an unknown universal game three little boys, James and Milton Turney and Charles Wilson, a dynamite cartridge. The boys played with it until it exploded, frightfully mangling them. Two will die and the third will be blind.

St. Petersburg, May 2.—The funeral today of Schelgounow, the well known Russian economist, was made the occasion of a great demonstration. Students of both sexes marched through the main thoroughfares in defiance of the police and many were arrested. Reports are received here that riotous and revolutionary meetings have been held at Warsaw, the capital of Russian Poland.

Geely's Reply.

A story of the Geely expedition was told at a dinner one evening lately by a naval officer to whom the successor was a personal reminiscence. He accompanied the Bear in its mission of rescue, and happened to be one of the party that actually found the small band. It is history that the moment was a desperate one for Greely men. The last drop of liquor had been poured down the throat of one of them, who seemed to be dying, and about at the end of hope and resources, and weak with hunger and suffering, the little company was sitting in the gloomy shadow of overwhelming misery, which the rescuers evidently supposed.

Once more they were in the world. At such a time a man is not to be counted for emotions, and the tragic meeting was accomplished with a simplicity that in itself was tragic. A shovelful "Halloo, old man!" from the rescuers, and a grunt or two from each of the survivors as were able to grind eyes, and it was over.

Then followed the attempt to get the poor fellows in condition to be moved to the ship. Something food and drink were given to them and they were shoved in folk of home and friends and the latest news. But the process was slow at first. Chief engineer John Law seized himself by Lieutenant Greely, who, gaunt with starvation and wild eyed with late despair, seemed to take little heed of him.

"Well, colonel," he said jocularly, after several apparently ineffectual efforts to arouse the civil dead officer, "there's one little woman will be glad of this day's work."

Greely raised his eyes, then dropped them again, half sullenly. "Little woman," he repeated with a sigh of weariness. "Who weighs a hundred and sixty if she weighs a pound." And then Mr. Law knew he would come around all right.—New York Times.

Discharged and Resigned.

The other day I heard one gentleman say to another, "I have just resigned your position as cashier of the Bunkum bank." "Oh, no," was the surprised and remonstrant reply, and the young fellow lifted his chin to look higher as he spoke "I was discharged. I should never think of resigning as good a position as that." I took a long look at that young man, because I made it my mind instantly that the first time I crossed a bank that young man should be my cashier. Discharged! Why, time out! I haven't heard the word for years. Everybody "resigns" now.

Another popular order of things I have observed. Nobody is happy. Happy days are groups about trying to be, and finding mind a situation. The situation, on the contrary, was about seeking the man, and forces itself upon him, and finally, growing ashamed of its hard importunes, he "resigns." And everything is tranquil. There is nothing so disgusting in the dictionary "discharge" is to frequently a more honest word than "resigned." Because one good honest man gets fired is not so bad, you know. Double as your wages and it will write other men or women into a job trying for you.—West Shore.

Early Rising Made Easy.

Tedious to the laziest. Sir Isaac Newton invented a clock that would wake him at any hour he desired, which was exhibited in a bottle in the Royal museum. By means of a string, attached to the movement of the bed he could be aroused, through the agency of a lad, after which a tablet with the words "Time to get up" is thrust before the eyes of the sleepy chief by lightning is locked off his head, and has of all—if not thoroughly awake by this time—he is pitched out of bed on the floor. Meanwhile the lad who spoke has lighted the night lamp on the dressing table, so also the spirit lamp under the coffee pot—an absolute requirement for the cold Winter mornings.—Nickelodeon Post.

SAD AND PAINFUL DEATH

Of a Ten-Year-Old Son of William Hunter at American Fork.

THE LOGAN DEPOT COMPLETED.

The Ogden Clay Works Sold Under Foreclosure for $6,000.

Yesterday evening the ten-year-old son of Mr. William Hunter met with a painful death. He had accompanied his father to the farm and as they were returning home the lad remained in the wagon while his father fetched the gate. The mule soon became frightened by a colt which ran past them and they started off towards the unfortunate lad and the wagon under the wheels. He was taken by his father to a block near by where his wounds were first bathed and then he was taken home. After three hours of agony he died. The parents have the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement.—American Fork Independent.

Little six year-old Fay Curtis, of the Park school, met with an accident Friday afternoon. On being dismissed from school she rushed out with her book down, directly under a horse that was being driven at a walk through the gate. She was thrown down on her face by the collision and the horse's hoof cut a bit of flesh from an arm and bruised one hand. The accident was through no fault of the driver as the girl's act was sudden and unexpected. The gentleman took her home and summoned a doctor, who took a stitch in the cut, bandaged the hand, and the injury promised no serious results. Little Fay was proud of the experience and told her teacher she thought "it was nice to get sewed."—Ogden Commercial.

A meeting of the University board was held yesterday.

Rev. Samuel Small has filed his report accompanied by his resignation as president. He was wired that the board would give him until May 4th to straighten his affairs, the report having proven far from satisfactory. He returned answer that the board was doing him an injustice and that he had done all in his power to make things right.

A short while ago a telegram appeared in the Standard to the effect that his accounts had been looked over by some ministers in the East, that they were all right and showed a balance of about $1100, due the University.

It is understood, however, that his report to the board virtually showed nothing coming to the University. The board refused to accept his resignation until he makes everything all right.—Ogden Standard.

William Pope, for a long time a highly respected resident, has departed hence, and there are many who mourn. The I.O.O.F. lodge, of which he was a member, leads the procession in the tone of several hundred dollars, and many others, so it is said, hold the sack for smaller amounts. The story of his downfall is very short—he loved with the fastive tiger, which, at the last tilteth like a wand fly and stingeth like a horned toad, and had not only his own money, and the funds of the lodge, which he held, but all he could borrow. He left a family here, who receive the hearty sympathy of the community. His present whereabouts are unknown to deponents.—Eureka Chief.

The trustees of the Ogden Clay works, which had become involved in debt to the sum of $18,000, sold that property yesterday under foreclosure to James Iverson for $6000. This sale was to straighten the affairs of the company out and the Union is informed that the plant will soon be put in operation turning out brick, tile, fire proofing and so on. It is a very good plant, and with an energetic, economical man like Mr. Iverson behind, it must become a valuable property. The clay there is of a superior quality and makes the best style of Milwaukee and St. Louis pressed bricks. These will be produced when the works start up and can be sold, not only in Ogden, but in all the surrounding towns and cities. The property included 100 lots in University place and Mr. Iverson evidently got a bargain.—Union.

The new depot stands serene at the foot of Second street, awaiting the arrival of Mr. Sussel, a high and mighty official of the Union Pacific, who will go through the ceremony of accepting the work performed upon the structure. Of course no one doubts but that the work is all that could be asked but this is a formality required by the strict rules of the great overland route. The gentleman is expected every day. Meantime, the doors are locked and the genial agent, Wooldridge, of many Wa'fams, looks wistfully to the depot and the day when he will gate on the surroundings from the snug little office over the track. Will Goodwin, at the baggage department, who has acquired the reputation of handling trunks as he would cups, is pining for the northern air, and will only cease when the order to move arrives.

The workmen connected the city mains with the building yesterday, having been hastily engaged the past few days laying the pipes. Mains are laid through the building, supplying the rooms and closets. A fountain will be located in the centre of the southern grove, and there is a fountain in the cellar, which supplies the sewer pipes.

The building will be lighted by electricity. Six lights are hung in each waiting room, and the other rooms will be sufficiently lighted.

The platform on the west is 190 feet long and the roof above is 185. The waiting rooms are each 20x40 and will seat thirty persons. There is an express room on the north 17x20, and a baggage room on the south the same size. The office is 10 square, and commands a view of north, south and east. There are two offices in the ancient city, one 17x20 and the other 8x10. One commands a fine view of Second street and the other of the entire valley.

The building is constructed of St. Louis pressed brick, and the interior is finished with Georgia Pine, in what is termed the shingle style. Everything is new, clean and elegant, and persons who have traveled say there is no city in the Union the size of Logan which possesses a finer depot. It reflects great credit upon the contractors, Messrs. Hosell & Co., and especially upon Mr. L. D. Martin, the well known contractor of this city, under whose direction it was built.

It will cost when finally completed and occupied, $22,000 to round completes. It is an ornament to the city, and a credit to the company, and will do excellent service for many years to come.—Logan Nation.

What Everybody Says Must be True.

Henry Cook, the leading merchant of New Rensselaw, Ohio, says "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has taken hold here, everybody likes it. They say it gives immediate relief." That is what make it so popular. It is prompt in relieving a cough or cold and can always be depended upon. There is nothing that will loosen and relieve severe cold so quickly. For sale by Z. C. M. A Recommendation from Tennessee.

It is more than likely that many of the readers of the newspapers will agree with H. B. Warne, of Whitesville, Tenn., in his opinion of Chamberlain's Remedy. He says "I take pleasure in recommending it to the public as being a medicine of great worth and merit. The manufacturers of that remedy certainly have been great benefactors to suffering humanity." One of the most valuable properties of this remedy is in its power of loosening and relieving a cold and freeing the system of any bad effects of the cold. For sale by Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept. 4

March April May

Are the best months in which to purify your blood. During the long, cold winter, the blood becomes thin and impure, the body becomes weak and lazy, the appetite may be lost, and just now the system craves the aid of a reliable medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted to serve this purpose. It increases in popularity every year, for it is the best spring medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"My health was very poor last spring and seeing an advertisement of Hood's Sarsaparilla I thought I would try it. It has worked wonders for me as it has built my system up. I have taken five bottles and am on the 10th. I recommend it to my acquaintances." Jacob Mayhmers, Denver, N. Y.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any other.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is an honest medicine over a good name with people's minds. Thousands testify to Hood's Sarsaparilla. From a small beginning this medicine has steadily and rapidly increased in popularity until now it leads all others. Its sale of any proprietary or patent medicine of its kind has been simply enormous. It is recommended by prominent men and women, who have tried other kinds and found none accomplish what is claimed for it.

This result is due to the fact that by the fact that it is prepared by a Practical Combination, Proportion and Process known only to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and by which the full medicinal properties of all the ingredients used in it are extracted. Thousands of voluntary testimonials all over the country testify to Hood's Sarsaparilla. Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by some dealer almost everywhere. Get Hood's Sarsaparilla.

A Warning To Horse-Owners.

The Spin Nail is the Shoe seriously feared the horse from which it was removed. It takes in Worcester, Mass. One point of the nail alone makes the proper place for clinching, and so deceived the blacksmith who shod the horse. The other point went in the direction shown in the illustration, piercing the tender part of the foot called the "quick," from which point the shoe could not be removed for two weeks.

THIS IS AN ACCURATE CASE. The cross thing is the nail. The shoe is not shown. The point of the nail is shown in the quick of the foot.

DANGEROUS

The Putnam Nail
CANNOT SPLIT, SLIVER OR BREAK.
It is the only Hot-Forged and Hammer-Pointed Horseshoe Nail in the World made by machinery, and is exactly the same manner as the old-fashioned hand-made nail.
The United States Government protects the rights of their manufacturers through patents, and other firms who make or advertise a Horseshoe Nail as here described, are guilty of infringement and Deceiving the Public.
AS YOU VALUE YOUR HORSE insist on your Blacksmith using the PUTNAM. It is absolutely safe.
