BREVITIES.

A school of whales would learn to spout.

The man who takes great panes—the big glazier.

There are 250 bibles and 1,200 prisoners in Sing Sing prison.

The Episcopal Bishop of Illinois claims $18,000 back pay.

Pigs in California are afflicted with a wasting pestilence.

Men who have mined—most of the population of Nevada.

In Alaska, at the principal hotel, the bill of fare is a fill of bear.

The latest Paris velocipede carries two persons and a footman to propel.

An anti-racing and anti-betting society has been organized in Edinburgh.

The individual who gave the cream of the thing was not a dealer in milk.

A dentist at work at his vocation always looks down in the mouth.

When do flowers become highwaymen? When they show pistol and stamen.

A ruralist in Cincinnati has been swindled by a check on the "Bank of Ohio River."

"Have you any powder?" said a sportsman to his companion. "Yes, in a horn."

A critic says of a late volume of poetry: "that it is unutterably stupid." Pity it hadn't been.

It is thought there will be 50,000 miles of completed railroads in this country before the end of 1870.

An Englishman, resident in London, boasts of having killed 25 elephants in the last two years.

About the only person that we ever heard of that wasn't spoiled by being lionized, was a Jew named Daniel.

Steinfurth, Prussia, boasts of a child, who, at the tender age of six years, stands 4 feet high, and weighs 226 pounds.

The London Lancet thinks many of the hair "washes" and "restorers" now in use may be a source of serious disease.

Murderers are moderate in their demands in St. Louis. Mrs. Stiegel lately hired one to make away with her husband for $15.

Negro washerwomen of New Orleans have an unpleasant way of selling out their stock on hand unclaimed by Saturday night.

Remarkable skill in imitating the wild turkey's call was the cause of a Kentuckian being shot the other day. He was game to the last.

An aged couple in North Carolina have 108 descendents, all rebels, not one of whom swears or drinks.

A Frenchman in Nashville, Tenn., began a game of billiards with the remark, "Billiards is the last and only enjoyment I expect in this world." When it was finished he went out and shot himself.

A lank horse for a race and a lank man for a lively one. Flesh is a good thing to warm the bones, but it adds very little to the brain.

It is said that grapes will keep fresh until spring if cut with a piece of vine on each side of the stem, one end coated with wax, and the other inserted in a vial of water, all kept in a cool place.

A Danish brig, which recently arrived at New York, from Porto Cabello, reports having passed in the ocean a large tree standing perpendicular, about ten feet of which was out of water.

A dandy at White Sulphur Springs carries his wardrobe in seven large Saratoga trunks, which contain 65 full suits of clothing, 12 dozen shirts, 25 gold and diamond shirt-sleeve buttons, 10 breastpins, and rings innumerable.

"My son, hold up your head and tell me who was the strongest man?" "Jonah." "Why so?" "Cause the whale couldn't hold him after he got him down."

The Belle's Companion is the title of a projected newspaper to be published in New York, to be entirely devoted to the ladies of the bon ton.

Ireland pays seven millions a year more than it is worth to England. All its earnings are drained off to England, in the shape of taxes and absentee rents. Ireland lost 69,000 inhabitants last year by emigration.

A highway robber near St. Joseph, happened to call the man whom he was going through a liar, whereupon the chivalrous instincts of the victim were aroused and he pitched into the highwayman and routed him.

A remarkable evidence of presence of mind was recently given in France. Monsieur [illegible] was talking with his mother-in-law at her country chateau, when a streak of lightning almost literally reduced her to ashes. The domestic ran into the room, when, without moving a muscle, Monsieur [illegible] said, "John, sweep up my mother-in-law."

When the women in the Madrid cigar factories recently mutinied, they went in a mob to the office of one of the directors, demanding to be heard. He agreed to admit a committee of them, adding that they must be the three oldest and ugliest of the lot. The deputation was never sent.

A hard drinking man in one of the New England [illegible] defended his conduct by quoting General Washington's example. "General Washington!" said one of his friends, "where did you ever hear he drank?" "Sparks says so in his life of him," answered the man: "he says the General used to go into the woods to run interference an hour."
