SALT LAKE ACADEMY.

The Salt Lake academy, located at Nephi, of which J. D. Cazier is principal, commenced its fourth semester Tuesday, August 29th, and has an enrollment of 64. Besides the branches taught in district schools, the following are now taught: Vocal and instrumental music, drawing, painting, elocution, stenography, algebra and bookkeeping. The primary department is under the management of Miss Mattie Nelson, formerly of Salt Lake City. The academy employs the only graduate in music work now pursuing.

L. D. S. COLLEGE.

The News representative paid a brief visit to the Latter-day Saints' college on First North street on Friday, and listened to recitations in Greek, English literature and algebra conducted by Professor Hart, Principal Dunn and Professor Nebeker, respectively. While the visit was very brief, an impression was given of earnest and thorough preparation on the part of the teachers and its inevitable result upon the student. This institution is fully and satisfactorily fulfilling its mission.

KINDERGARTEN SCHOOLS.

The Eighteenth ward kindergarten school opened Sept. 18, with an enrollment of sixteen. Miss Emeline Wells, temporarily connected with Miss Gardrich, in the primary, and is assisting up in excellent school.

Miss Scott and Woodmansee opened a kindergarten school on Monday, Sept. 18, in the vestry of the Twelfth ward meeting house, corner of Second and D streets, and have twenty-three little folks in attendance, with prospect of thirteen more.

The Kindergarten department of Horseman's Business University opened Sept. 18th; Miss Robinson, graduate of the Kindergarten Department, Teacher, teacher. Miss Robinson is assisted by Miss Donnell; twenty-three pupils in the school at the register. The room was ready scissors with stables made up the entities, scissors in design and requiring much skill and application in execution.

The two kindergarten school under the supervision of Mr. Marx's church opened Sept. 5 h, and now has an enrollment of twenty-seven. It is in charge of Miss Dorsey, who is assisted by Miss Mott. Miss Dorsey is a graduate of the Ohio Free-ness training school, and Miss Mott is a student qualifications in her new position.

The first kindergarten school under the auspices of the Salt Lake Kindergarten association was organized in January, 1891, with an enrollment of thirty-seven pupils. Miss Brooks, a pupil of Miss Traill's training school at Grand Rapids, Mich., was engaged as teacher, and is continuing the school the present year. She is assisted in her work by Mrs. Brunton, parlor, and by Miss Briggs.

The kindergarten department of the Utah Normal college was opened September 5th, and now numbers twenty-pupils. The school is in charge of Miss Jeannette Smith, of Salt Lake.

THE SAINT MARY'S ACADEMY.

This school is under the order of Sisters of the Holy Cross, and is beautifully situated on First West street, with the structure and grounds being among the finest in the city. The present attendance is fourteen and only students is upwards of one hundred and fifty. Twenty teachers are employed. The curriculum: Primary, preparatory and secondary, the school being for girls only.

A parochial school under the supervision of the Sisters is connected at the Holy Cross hospital, and has fifty pupils.

ORPHANAGE ASYLUM.

St. Ann's Orphanage Asylum was established in October, 1891, and is now under the auspices of sisters of the Holy Cross. Thirty pupils are now enrolled. A large appropriation is expected for the maintenance of the asylum, when more commodious quarters will be erected.

ALL HALLOWS COLLEGE.

This was founded in 1886, by Right Reverend Bishop Scanlan, and is under the patronage of that gentleman. There are three courses, collegiate, commercial and preparatory, each embracing studies usually included in other college courses. There are now eighty students enrolled, which is nearly the limit of the number that can be accommodated.

The faculty and college officials are as follows:

Very Rev. Thomas Henry, president, professor of philosophy.

Rev. Thos. J. Larkin, vice-president, professor of humanities.

Rev. B. Mader, M. A., prefect of discipline, professor of music, singing and drawing.

Rev. John Grimes, treasurer, professor of third English and first commercial classes.

Rev. Jas. Byrne, professor of practical course and arithmetic.

Rev. Chas. Degnan, professor of arithmetic.

Rev. Th. Rosecz, B. S. C., professor of science, classics, mathematics and modern languages.

Rev. H. Rapetz, B. A., prefect of discipline, professor of fourth English.

Rev. Mc Lynch, B. A., professor of Latin and fifth English.

Dr. A. Fowler and Dr. S. Pinkerton attending physicians.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

The following report of the Agricultural College of Utah is furnished by President Sanborn:

At the close of the first week of the present school year there was a small increase number enrolled over the close of the first week of 1892. The entire enrollment for last year was 336. It is believed that the present condition of business would restrict the number attending. Probably the number expected before the general resumption prosperity, 500, will not be reached. One reason for our opening is very pleasing to the faculty, namely, the very large number of old students returned, many of whom come more and substantial resources. This fact not always or because it becomes the very best investment of their interest in education and the best the conditions has an item. Another noticeable feature of the opening is the perfect character of students that attend. It is a year of selection of survival of the fittest. The younger people's parents feel they could keep work both another year, those to whom they look for such course have been kept at home. Hence the number of those who come is a little over two-thirds in time. The present return has not all. Altogether the situation is pleasing and only equal to our just expectations.

In relation to the general affairs of the college, I may state that we now have a faculty of thoroughness, of methodity is employed faculty, except as increasing attendance demands additional members. We have entered upon our fourth year, hence all our classes are in practice. The college will graduate in the first graduating class from its course of four years such as obtains, and a number more from a course of two years. Of the two years' course, of students is twenty to all.

The new building which was to have been completed in August is now nearly finished over our occupancy, indeed, most of it, excepting the new chapel. The additions have a seating capacity of something like 1500, and under pressure 2000. In the present condition the building is all feet long and upwards of 100 feet deep. Apparatus for all the laboratories and working rooms have been either set or is on the way and will be here as soon as the rooms are entirely completed, which will be within some two weeks. The new quarters for the practical work of the students's course are very ample and roomy, and are all sure to be finely equipped. The new chemical laboratory is unusually well equipped. The new shop for work in iron and wood are in a condition to journal journeyman work to assign.

A's equipment for the new and ample grounds have been purchased and dairy exercises are taken by the young women under the charge of a member of prepondering. Take all whose venue where the young men are at work.

There is one department that I would invite special attention to, for that it is believed it will be of very great economic interest and value to the people of Utah. I speak of the dairy department. I compare space to 44 by 50 feet, in which the young men and young women will come to meet. The Evening school. Attendance here is not taken by exercises theory, but by actual practice, with a very complete equipment for the making of the finest cheese of dairy products. A class in this especially enhance Utah has a very heavy tax of the best cheese of butter and cheese from eastern states. No policy could be more satisfactory to our farmers, because there are the finest products at the farm, and, moreover, in these self-feed, this business gives for a given amount of effort. We hope to send from this department this every year a dozen young men and young women who will be skilled in the art of butter and cheese making, and have had the opinion of their knowledge will soon be increasing our economy cheap and by the time the Board and higher pillar, greatest of the land, this is setting out to work towards and giving to our agriculture a point in position in the direction superior to that which they now receive from the new product as now opened of.

Without putting into further detail, I will say that in its faculty, in its buildings, in its laboratories and their equipment, the character and course of its students, the Agricultural College of Utah is in a most hopeful and encouraging condition of prosperity. I will take this occasion to state that members of the family of the agricultural experiment are prepared to feed farmers' institute meetings at several points upon the out of a course only that will furnish data and science.
