FOR THE GRAVITY SEWER.

"Bustler" Makes a Strong Plea in Favor of the Proposition.

POLLUTED RIVER AND CANAL.

The Lake Should Not be Used as a Catch Basin for the City's Filth. —A Sewage Farm.

The gravity sewer scheme is still agitating the minds of the city councilmen. An expert engineer from New York is here looking over the field with City Engineer Doremus, and, although he has made no official report, it is generally understood that he will recommend the construction of the gravity sewer. The council is somewhat divided, and those who oppose it declare that when the matter comes before them again they will "knock it out" and order the purchase of another pump so as all the sewage can be conveyed across the river.

A gentleman who claims to have given the question a good deal of consideration writes to the NEWS over the nom de plume of "Bustler:"

For the benefit of the public I have made a tour of inspection, carefully looking into the sanitary methods of taking care of the sewage of our beautiful city.

First, I visited the old sewer dump on the bank of the river Jordan and investigated the capacity of the pump. I found it wholly inadequate to handle the sewage of the city. Even now—and there is only a very limited number of our population connected with the present system, compared with what there will be if our city fathers don't stop the extension of sewers of the city—the pump is only able to handle about one-third of the sewage. The other two-thirds—where does it go? Into the river. Think of it and its effects.

I also went to the present terminus of the system where it empties into the surplus canal. Then I followed it down to where it goes under the North Point Irrigation company's canal near Mr. Glen's farm. There it spreads out and covers considerable land, forming quite a small sized lake, then it comes a little closer together on Mr. Church's farm, which it flows sluggishly through to the north end. Then it runs rapidly for some distance, until a level stretch of country is reached causing it to sluggishly find its way into the lake.

So you see that if the city fathers increase the pumping plant, that the sewage of a population of 50,000 people will soon contaminate the river and land to that extent that it will be impossible for people to reside any where on their banks, and the city itself will certainly get the odors from this vast tenement of pestilence breeding filth and, furthermore, the waters of the Great Salt Lake will, ere long become so befouled that it will destroy the salt industries which now amount to thousands of dollars annually. Again, the fair name and fame this mighty inland sea has attained as a bathing and health resort will be forever blasted and untold damage will result to the surrounding country.

"Therefore you can see at once that the pumping system should be abandoned as it is impracticable as well as expensive and wholly undesirable.

"Now the proposed gravity sewer system is the only way to dispose of the sewage of the city and settle this vexed question forever. Let the City Council purchase, say one hundred and fifty acres of land and start a sewage farm; and I will guarantee that in less than two years they will have a dozen propositions from moneyed men to purchase sewage for irrigation and fertilizing the arid lands along the Jordan. The profits from such sales will entirely pay the interest on the outlay in contracting the sewer, and pay all running expenses of the system."

The Council Meets.—Legal.—The Slayer of Lewis Romaine Silent.

[Ogden Standard.]

At the meeting of the city council last night the most important business transacted was the passage of the ordinance which prescribes the qualifications of applicants for office and a resolution providing that the sidewalk ordinance be enforced and the citizens residing in districts which have already been created be required to at once conform to the provisions of the same. The committee on laws recommended that Browning Brothers' powder house, near the Reform school, be removed, in accordance with a petition from citizens residing in that vicinity. Adopted. The committee on licenses recommended that liquor licenses be issued hereafter in three classes as follows: Retail, $224 per quarter; family dealers who sell by the bottle, $175, and wholesale dealers $100. The committee further recommended that hereafter pawn shops, hack drivers and many other classes of business not heretofore licensed, be licensed. City Attorney Kimball stated that the council had no right, under the territorial statutes, to make the liquor license less than $200 per quarter nor more than $1,200. The entire matter was referred back to the committee.

No changes in the food for the city prisoners nor the abolishment of the chain gang were favored by the police commissioners, but the committee recommended that hereafter the prisoners be not worked on the public streets except when absolutely necessary, but that immediately upon the reopening of the tramway the gang be employed there exclusively. The report was adopted. Recorder Rapp was authorized to draw a warrant for $1259 to pay the interest on sewer bonds. Auditor Stanley reported that the board of education was after the money due it from the city for tax sales of 1890 and 1891 with a sharp stick, and had submitted a proposition looking to the settlement of the claim by which the city would save fully $100. The matter was referred to the committee on finance. There is now due the schools from the city about $1300.

Throughout yesterday Eugene Borel, the Frenchman who shot and killed George Lewis on Sunday morning, maintained a dogged silence and talked to no one except Architect de Bousemart, who is a French scholar and was called to translate some writing found on the person of Borel. The diary plainly showed that he had contemplated the dreadful deed for some time and had thought out the entire details, even to his own suicide. It was also evident he intended including Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Allison among his victims, had the opportunity been afforded. One of the quotations taken from a little book on law was as follows: "Ubi jus incertum ibi jus nullum," "where the law is uncertain there is no law."

The ordinance presented at the last meeting of the council by Mr. Stone, which provides that hereafter no person shall be eligible to any appointive city office except he be a resident of Ogden and a taxpayer, was so amended as to read that no person shall be eligible for appointment unless he be at the time of appointment and has been for six months next prior thereto a freeholder and taxpayer of Ogden, and providing that the measure shall not affect any officer heretofore appointed and confirmed. The measure was then passed.

The judge made an order that hereafter the clerk shall place no motion on the motion calendar of the court for hearing until an affidavit of service of notice on which the motion is based or an admission of such service is filed with the clerk, showing that five days previous notice of such motion has been served on the opposite party or his attorney, unless such time is shortened by the court or consent in writing from the opposite party is obtained and filed.

An ordinance granting a franchise to the Ogden Street Railway company to string wires along all streets upon which there are tracks of the electric street railway, for the purpose of supplying the inhabitants of the city with light and motive power, was introduced and referred to the committee on laws, with the city attorney added.

Isabel M. Anderson has commenced suit for divorce against her husband, Lars Anderson, the grounds being cruelty, failure to provide and adultery alleged to have been committed with Mrs. Sina W. Johnson of Bear River City. The interested parties are all residents of Box Elder county.

The bonds of J. C. Jones, ex-missionary man, who was held to await hearing on the charge of adultery, alleged to have been committed with Mrs. Minnie Tracing, were declared forfeited and a bench warrant was issued for the defendant.

The Fourth district court had a busy day yesterday and considerable business of importance was transacted. The grand jury made its first report and filed indictments against two persons and reported having ignored eight cases.

The stockholders of the Ogden Gas Light and Fuel company yesterday held a meeting and unanimously approved the action of the board of directors in selling the plant to the English syndicate. The company will be dis-incorporated.

PROVO LETTER.

In Court and Council Circles.—A Big Mining Suit.

Special Correspondence of the News.

PROVO, Feb. 28.—At yesterday's session of the First district court the grand jury returned six indictments and ignored the charge of fornication preferred against Elmer May.

Pleas of not guilty were entered by the following persons: John McClain, to the charge of placing obstructions on the Rio Grande Western track in Grand county; Albert E. Watson to the charge of fornication, alleged to have been committed with Josephine Steggell; Hector Green charged with stealing horses; Peter S. Nielsen charged with the murder of his father, Soren J. Nielsen, by shooting him on December 19th, 1892, from the effects of wounds then received he died January 15th, 1893; John Furman, Joseph Horrocks and Alfred Carlisle on the charge of unlawfully cutting timber on the Uintah Indian reservation. Nielsen's trial was set for hearing April 3rd. The other cases will be heard in regular order.

The case now being tried in the First district court is V. L. Thomas and W. S. Pullion vs. F. K. Morris, trustee for the Gladstone Mining Co. But as the Bullion-Beck & Champion Mining Co. has purchased the interests in the mining property in dispute, they are virtually the defendants. The suit is brought to determine the ownership of a mining claim on the opposite side of the gulch from the Bullion-Beck mine, known by the plaintiffs as the "Alma" and by the defendants as the "Michigan." Kellogg & Corfman and P. L. Williams represent the plaintiffs and W. H. Dickson the defendants.

At last night's session of the city council the following items of business were considered:

The petition of Daniel Vincent et al. for a new street between First and Seventh streets, half a mile west of plat A, was referred to the committee on streets and alleys.

The committee on streets and alleys submitted a resolution granting a street railway franchise to C. E. Loose et al., which passed its first reading.

The appointment by the mayor of Selby Jones to the office of superintendent of waterworks was confirmed.

NOTES.

Lon. Hyde is in the city attending the First district court.

The B. Y. A. Choral society have been urged to repeat their excellent festival performance, and will probably do so in the near future.

J. D. Miller of Pueblo is in the city conferring with our merchants in relation to purchasing a number of carloads of potatoes and onions.

Since the moving out of the First district court from the county court house there has been a general changing around of city and county offices in the building.

A Wall Street Millionaire.

Russell Sage, the great financier, is a tall-built, gaunt-looking, keen-eyed man of nervous manner, with a long, clean-shaven face, formerly fringed by a scraggy iron-gray chin beard. He was born thrifty. This accident of birth happened to him some seventy-odd years ago, and he has not since recovered from it. He once kept a grocery store at Troy, and invested his surplus funds in a bank, of which in the fulness of time he became a director. It is said that he has now more ready money than any individual in Wall street, and that he could draw his check for twenty millions and get it cashed. He is the soul of frugality.—Lippincott's.

MINING AND REAL ESTATE.

The Salt Works Likely to Go to Bountiful.

NEW COAL PROSPECT IN SANPETE.

Copper Find in Colorado—Realty Transfers, Etc.

It is probable that the efforts of real estate men, combined with railway advantages, will locate the proposed salt and vault works of Messrs. Hearn & Wyse at South Bountiful. The tract of 60 acres offered them, with a likelihood of a bonus in the way of enough brick to erect the contemplated structure, the unexcelled railway facilities in that section, and the nearness of the copper refinery in North Salt Lake, form a combination that is difficult to improve upon.

DAVIS COUNTY EXCHANGE.

A meeting of property owners was held at Bountiful yesterday, at which a number of those interested in North Salt Lake realty were present. It was decided to proceed with an effort to organize a real estate and property owner's association in Davis county, with a view to bringing manufactories into that section.

SOME SANPETE COAL.

Mt. Pleasant Pyramid: A. A. Cahoon made a visit last Saturday to the coal mine of Cahoon & Jones east of Fairview. Mr. Jones is superintending operations at the mine, and is greatly encouraged at the result of development work. The tunnel is now in about sixty-five feet on the vein, which keeps increasing in width and getting harder and brightening up. The vein is now three feet thick, lies between strata of clay and sand rock, and is nearly level. Mr. Cahoon and his partner feel very confident that they have struck a true coal vein, and are pushing operations with great zeal. Sanpete people are watching the development of this property with much interest, as its success will prove the existence of good coal on this side of the ridge, and insure a cheaper article in the market. A well-beaten road now leads to the mine.

UNPROFITABLE ANGER.

At Central City, Colorado, last Saturday, John Thomas was badly injured while working in the Ironton mine. In cleaning out a hole that had missed he got mad, and driving away with a striking hammer on a drill, explosives that clung to the drill hole exploded. He got the full force of the explosives in his face and eyes, the latter being very seriously injured, so much so that it is doubtful whether he will ever regain his eyesight. Thomas is a married man, having a wife and six children living in Cornwall, England, who are depending on him for support.

COPPER FIND.

A Grand Junction, Colorado dispatch says: John J. Lumsden of this city has just returned from the Sierra La Sal mountains in the vicinity of Sinbad valley. He brought with him on pack animals 200 pounds of copper ore which assayed from $75 to $100 per ton in silver and from 57 to 65 per cent in copper. Mr. Lumsden represents a Grand Junction syndicate composed of N. J. Kruse, Dr. Eldridge, Joseph Beiser and Samuel H. Gleason. The company is now developing eight claims. T. K. Ketchum and George Barton have returned from the Henry mountains and Green river districts and report that active prospecting is being done in the gravel bars at different points with apparent good success.

HOPEFUL FOR SILVER.

The last current circular issued by A. R. Chisholm & Co., bankers and brokers, New York city, has the following significant language: The great reaction is coming against the contraction of the single gold basis and the consequent shrinkage in values, stocks and the price of wage labor. The goldbugs want the Sherman bill repealed now, because they want to be in a position to demand a compromise with the free coinage party in the coming extra session of Congress, but Mr. Bland will insist that before the Sherman act is repealed the silver bullion in the treasury shall be coined and paid out for pensions, and that at least $5,000,000 a month be coined thereafter. The new administration, being obliged to face a deficit in the treasury, must coin that silver or tax whisky. As the market is already glutted with whisky, not a dollar could be raised on high wines for six months to come. It will thus be seen that everything points to the coinage of silver, and the further restoration of the equilibrium between silver and gold. The "strain" on gold, if not relieved by the coinage of silver, promises to result in a gold famine, as the great powers are hoarding gold, not only for war purposes, but to reserve against the thirty-five billions of debts payable in less than four billions of gold. It is therefore evident this country is returning once more to the silver basis as well as the gold basis, and this means a great rise in values and stocks, which have been shrunken up in John Sherman's fiery furnace of contraction consequent on the scarcity and increased purchasing power of gold. We expect to see wheat back to a dollar, and all the satellites of silver twenty-five per cent higher with the coming rise in silver on its recoinage and enlarged use as money.

A MINING SUIT.

The case of V. L. Thomas vs. F. K. Morris, trustee, now on trial at Provo, involves the ownership of the Alma mine, adjoining the Bullion-Beck, and now held by that company. The plaintiff claims to be entitled to the property by reason of prior location.

NOTES.

Last Saturday a man named Michaels shot and killed two Mexicans at the placer district on the Hassayampa river, Arizona. Michaels says the Mexicans were attempting to jump his mining claim and had threatened to kill him.

Attorney General Engley, of Colorado, has decided that mining stock is not assessable for taxes in that state, as where the output of the mine is taxed the stock of the company owning the mine cannot be assessed.

Ferguson (Nev.) Lode: Thursday news came to town of a rich gold find somewhere in the vicinity of Red Rock spring, about ten miles north of here. It seems that a man fishing at Panaca was working on the road between here and Pioche. One day he came across a ledge which he thought looked pretty good and knocked off a small piece of the rock, putting it in his pocket. While in Panaca a short time ago he was exhibiting the rock to some friends, asking their opinion of its worth. Upon close examination it was declared to contain gold, and to satisfy himself one of the parties had it assayed, the returns of which, it is said, gave sixty ounces of gold, or $1,200.
