THE VERMONT STRUCK

An Unknown Steamer Tears a Hole in Her Bow and Steams Off.

GEN. WHEATON'S TESTIMONY IN THE CATLEY CASE.

The Famous Lilla Hoyle Murder Mystery Explained by Alice Hoyle.

By Telegraph to the NEWS.

THE U. S. "VERMONT"

Struck by an Unknown Ocean Bound Steamer.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Just before dawn this morning the United States receiving ship Vermont, lying off Cob dock at Brooklyn navy yard, was run into by an unknown steamer, seaworthy. The Vermont at this writing is full of water, and it is feared she will sink. The crash tore a hole twelve feet square in her bow. The colliding steamer, reconnoitered again crashing into the Vermont, tore her side along the water mark, ripping her open. There was a lively panic on board. The sailors were seen planning from their hammocks and officers from their banks. Nobody was injured, but much of the interior furnishing was damaged. The unknown steamer veered around and made with all possible speed for the lower bay. As soon as the marines got their senses together they fired hatchets at those who started out to carve off, with the sailors armed for duty. The steamer had a start of twenty minutes and upward, writing nothing was either heard of nor of the assailant.

When the collision occurred the steamer was hailed by the officer of the Vermont, but the crew of the vessel replied to pitchers her name.

THE CATLEY CASE.

Wheaton Thinks Him Incapable of Commanding Under Fire.

OMAHA, Neb., March 19.—The first witness called in the court martial of Captain Catley this morning was General Wheaton. He testified that witness did not accompany his command into the fight from Pine Ridge, and witness did not believe him capable of commanding under fire. The captain had been once court martialed for cowardice in the face of Indians in Idaho and found guilty, but the finding of the court was reversed by President Hayes and Catley reinstated. The accused cross-examined General Wheaton, and asked him if he (Wheaton) had not been once court martialed. After objections and a lively wrangle, General Wheaton replied that he had never been arrested and tried. Captain Catley then asked the court to send for witnesses, by which he said he could impeach General Wheaton's testimony, and show that they would not believe him under oath, but the court refused to comply with the request. Lieutenant Tiffner testified that the officers of the Second Horse did believed Catley unreliable, and not capable of commanding a company of the parade ground.

THE LILLA HOYLE MURDER.

A Mystery Explained Through Confession.

ROCHESTER, Mass., March 19.—The famous Lilla Hoyle murder mystery of September, 1887, is explained through a confession made by Alice Hoyle to her aunt and by the latter given to the police. The two girls were sisters and both loved the same man. This man, Thomas McQuaid seemed to show a preference for Lilla, and this made Alice mad. Alice said in her confession that McQuaid had told her he would marry her if he could get Lilla, who was in a delicate condition, out of the way. This was done by the girl, her uncle, McQuaid and another man, as the confession goes, and the body disposed of. After the deed was committed Alice lived with her uncle and aunt who committed the crime. Some time after the girl eloped with her uncle, and the aunt, in revenge for that, made the details of the crime public.

A Woman Who Keeps a Secret.

BOONTOWN, N. Y., March 19.—Mrs. Quigley, colored, of Lake Water Bay, who was hanged at Welland, Ont., December 18th for the murder of his wife, whom he pushed over a precipice near Niagara Falls, died here today. On her deathbed she confessed to inciting Arthur to the murder, and helped him pass his wife over.

An Anti-Trust Bill.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 19.—The State Legislature has passed an anti-trust bill, making it a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $100 for each day that any corporation is a member of a trust which has in view the raising of prices.

No Traces of Arsenic or Sugar of Lead.

CHICAGO, March 19.—The chemist who analyzed the port wine used by Mrs. A. J. Snell, supposed to contain poison, has been unable to find traces either of arsenic or sugar of lead.

Mrs. Snell's symptoms indicated one of three poisons. The chances of poisoning have been brought against the maid. The crystals found in her trunk are now said to be alum.

He Was Not Tascott.

ABERDEEN, J. D., March 19.—Barnes, the alleged Tascott, was confronted this morning by Clark, the Chicago witness, who said the resemblance was remarkable but that he was positive Barnes was not Tascott. Barnes was discharged.

Buried to Death.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Two lives were lost and twenty-two families made homeless by a fire tonight, which gutted the six story double tenement at 215 East Twenty-ninth Street. The dead are Peter Cryan, aged 52, and his sister, Mary Cryan, aged 55.

Fright and confusion prevailed among the tenants in the house, which was blindly hither and thither in their efforts to escape. The fire was extinguished about 9 p. m. and the firemen began to search the ruins in the burned buildings, and on the top floor found the two bodies. Death was caused by suffocation. From the agonized expression on both there it was evident that death was attended with great torture. Mrs. Mary Bailey, in trying to get out had her limbs slightly burned and was driven back. She was taken down on a ladder.

Trains Abandoned.

ST. LOUIS, March 19.—Dispatches from Texas say, owing to the rain recent by floods, the Southern Pacific has been compelled to abandon its passenger and mine freight trains. The Texas Transportation Company's line to Clinton, eight miles from Houston, is being gotten in readiness, and the Morgan steamers will take all the through California freight around by way of the gulf to Clinton from New Orleans and then by rail. Business by the regular route will not be resumed for three months.

The Prizefight Between McAuliffe and Daly.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 19.—The much anticipated prizefight between Joe McAuliffe of New York and Jim Daly of Philadelphia took place in the vicinity of this city tonight. Nearly three hundred people witnessed the mill. The terms of the fight were that Daly should stay six rounds for a purse of $1000. This he managed to do, and although receiving lots of punishment, was about as fresh as his party opponent at the finish. It is only fair to McAuliffe, however, to state that he broke his left knuckle at his left hand in the fourth round, and was incapacitated from hitting the Quaker City man as hard as he might otherwise have done. McAuliffe weighed 211 pounds and Daly 162. Two ounce gloves were used.

Round 1—McAuliffe minted with his left and drove his right into Daly's wind, the latter retaliating with a worked uppercut, which just missed. An uppercut from the New Yorker fell short, and then Daly rushed, swinging into his neck.

Round 2—The Quaker boy cleverly dodged his opponent's uppercut and fell to the face. Both started for wind and then Joe drove his man to the ropes. McAuliffe came—Sending his right he smashed Daly's nose and drew blood.

Round 3—McAuliffe gave his opponent a rib-roaster, smashing him down. It was even up and the round ended in a clinch.

Round 4—The hot fighting was beginning to tell, although each continued to shoot. McAuliffe knocked Daly squarely off his feet.

Round 5—McAuliffe drove Daly to the ropes, where each caught a couple of hot rounds. Daly being knocked down.

Round 6—Daly hit McAuliffe a hard one in the neck, the New Yorker almost thing two terrific swings, which were heard all over the house. Daly made a smash over the heart, and was knocked down, but got up again. Another clinch, after which McAuliffe tried to jump his man off his feet, but failed, time being called soon after.

Under the terms of the meeting Daly was declared winner. Neither man was much damaged. Daly showing the most punishment.

The Nebraska Legislature.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 19.—A little over a week remains of the time allotted for the legislative session. A vast amount of work remains undone, and a resolution was introduced in the house today providing for night sessions. The farmers promptly voted this down, but passed in its stead a resolution providing that the house shall hereafter meet at 10 a. m.

The house passed a bill appropriating $25,000 for the World's Fair. It will probably get through the senate without change.

Mrs. Jackson Should Be Restored to Liberty.

LINCOLN, March 19.—The verdict of the Court of appeals was that the wife of Mr. Jackson should be restored to her full liberty, and that she should be allowed to choose her own residence.

THE PARNELL AGENTS

Address their First Meeting to Raise Money for the Cause of their Leader.

THE NATIONAL CONVENTION OF COLORED EDITORS.

A Suggestion to Remedy the Delivery of the Number of Men Employed in the Navy.

By Telegraph to the NEWS.

THE AGENTS OF PARNELL

Their Work of Bringing Commenced in Ireland.

NEW YORK, March 19.—O'Kelly, Redmond and Harrison, agents of Parnell, tonight addressed their first meeting to raise money for the Parnellites. Twenty-five hundred to three thousand persons attended the meeting, which was held at Cooper Union. Michael Breslin presided at the meeting. John Dwyer was also upon the platform.

O'Kelly, in his speech, attributed the necessity of the appeal for money to the fact of Parnell's dispute with the majority of the Irish party and the consequent cutting up of the $250,000 fund in Paris. He quoted his leaders to contribute if they wished an independent Irish party, and Parnellites, believing to the Irish party differences, he said when the question came to be settled in Ireland, some facts not known to the public will be developed and he did not fear that the people will relent Parnell and his associates.

Redmond and Harrison spoke briefly. The mention of Healy's and McCarthy's names were greeted with cries of "Judas," and hisses. Resolutions condemning Parnell were unanimously adopted. Branch No. 8 of the Irish National League turned over the $50 in its treasury. Other subscriptions were announced. Baskets were passed around among the people present, asking them to contribute. A statement was subsequently made that the collections of the evening were $4700, of which $1450 were for admission. At the first Dillon and O'Brien meeting here but fall the sum of $93, which was for admission.

LONDON, March 19.—It is stated in the lobby of the Commons today that Parnell has decided to resign his seat in Parliament, in accordance with his challenge to Healy.

THE COLORED EDITORS.

A Committee Appointed to Visit President Harrison.

CINCINNATI, March 19.—The national convention of colored editors, having elected officers, adjourned until next year in Philadelphia. A committee was appointed to visit President Harrison and urge him to appoint colored men on the Columbian Exposition commission; also to urge the claims of colored men for one of the judges of the nine judicial districts recently created.

A committee was appointed to organize a plan for a colored press association, for the dissemination of news. The committee on ways and means reported against any idea of expatriation, but favors emigration from the overcrowded districts of the South to the Western and Southwestern States. Regret is expressed at the failure of Congress to pass the Blair educational bill and the elections bill. The "Jim Crow" cars on Southern roads and all place of discrimination at places of public resort and amusement were denounced as outrageous. The penal system of the South is severely criticised and the ballot laws of Florida, South Carolina, Tennessee and Mississippi condemned.

A CONVICT'S SUGGESTION.

To Enlist Penitentiary Inmates in the Navy.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—A life convict in Wisconsin penitentiary has written to the secretary of the Navy suggesting, in view of the deficiency of the number of enlisted men in the navy, the department might find a large amount of material for its needs in the penitentiaries of the country, where there are many young men who would be pleased to serve their country on shipboard, instead of remaining in prison. The writer suggest the barbarity of these men might be assured by the provision that they shall be discharged at the end of their terms of enlistment if their record is good.

Italian Drilling.

PITTSBURG, March 19.—A special to the Times from Wheeling, W. Va., says: News has reached there that about 200 Italians working on the Pittsburg, Ohio Valley and Cincinnati Railroad a few miles below Bellaire, Ohio, and below Bellaire, are organized and drilling in companies. They are also receiving guns. It is said they have made threats to secure all orders issued from Chicago. People in the vicinity are considerably alarmed.

The Missouri Pacific Dividend.

NEW YORK, March 19.—The Missouri Pacific directory today declared the regular quarterly dividend of one per cent.

Where the Responsibility Rests.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The report of Lieutenant-Commander Bickford upon the loss of the United States steamer Galena places the responsibility for the loss of the Galena on Commodore Jouett, the officers of the ship who failed to respond to orders from the Galena when the breakers were seen. High praise is awarded to Ensign Reed for energetic and courageous service, and to the crew for the discipline maintained under trying conditions.

World's Fair Matters.

CHICAGO, March 19.—Louis Hyam, connected with the Inter Ocean, has been appointed to the foreign department of the bureau of promotion and publicity of the World's Fair, vice Dr. Weston, deceased. It now transpires that neither the Government nor local directory has money to constitute a plot for the proposed line-of-battle-ship for the naval exhibition, and in all probability the vessel will have to be built on shore.

REPRESENTATION FOR SOUTH DAKOTA.

YANKTON, S. D., March 19.—The Commercial Club of this city has decided to make a vigorous effort to induce all the principal cities of South Dakota to join in a move to have the State represented at the World's Fair in 1893. The Legislature having failed to make an appropriation, the progressive men of the State will make the matter a private enterprise.

Character Indicated in Eyes.

Long, almond-shaped eyes, with thick eyelined eyelids that cover half the pupil are indicative of genius when they are found in conjunction with a head which is full over the eyebrows and which has one deep perpendicular line between the eyebrows. I have frequently noticed this combination, each in the case of the Boston Pool, in the faces of distinguished literary men and artists. The almond-shaped eye, however, even without this peculiar line of caution, also denotes a conceptive, impressionable nature. Eyes which are large, open and very transparent, and which impart with a rapid motion under well defined eyelids, denote eloquence in tone, somewhat susceptible temper and great interest in the opposite sex. Eyes with wrinkles or pouches above them, and with thinly growing eyelashes which are complete without any upward curve, denote a fickle disposition and a vacillating disposition. Deep-sunken and small blue eyes under a bony, almost a perpendicular forehead are indicative of subtlety and deceitfulness. Eyes which show not only the white of the iris, but also some of the white, both above and below, denote a restless, uncertain nature, impulsive of opinion or concentrated thought on any subject. The eyes of a voluptuary move slowly under heavy lids. Round-shaped eyes are very common in the face of a highly intellectual person, but they denote a kindly, truthful and innocent nature. Eyes which when seen in profile, are so prominent as to rim almost parallel with the profile of the nose show a weak organization of body and mind. Eyes, or rather close-set eyes, which come together, denote cunning and an untruthful disposition. Eyes rather far apart show an honest and guileless nature. Eyes which are very far apart are very far apart they denote stupidity. Eyes with sharply-defined angles, sinking at the corners, show stupidity and a vicious disposition. The angle and the more it sinks the greater the deficiency of perception it denotes, but when very much developed it shows also craftiness combined with stupidity. Wide opened eyes with smooth eyelids and somewhat fleshy glands, denote sincerity. Lines running along the eyelids, from side to side, and passing out under the temples denote habitual laughter—a cheerful temperament, or, at any rate, one in which the sense of fun is strong.—Ex.

Young Couples Should Keep House.

"The great increase in the number of divorce cases in recent years," said an old lawyer, who scores of times had asked divorce from his wife, "is due in great part to the tendency of the middle classes of society to live in boarding houses and family hotels. Without any control, or, at least, without any control, or even the care of her own apartments, young wives and middle-aged wives also find themselves with no occupation to fill their time. To vary the monotony of such a life practice shopping excursions, street promenades and frequent theater matinees are resorted to.

"My advice to the newly married couples," continued the venerable vender of legal lore, "is to settle down in housekeeping, no matter on how modest a scale it may be. Even if the bride has to sell her white blinds with housework, she will be happier than if exposed to the dangers which lurk in the social life of a boarding house existence.—Ex.

A Good Looking Face.

We like to look at it. Yet Erysipelas disfigures the features and the disease is as dangerous as it is repulsive. It is sometimes called St. Anthony's Fire," and leaves ends in sudden death. S. B. TREASURER HUSTON

Said to be in Bad Health and Anxious to Relinquish the Treasuryship.

SUICIDE OF AVELING, A WELL-KNOWN ACTOR.

England Must Choose Between Abolishing Canada or Agreeing to an Imperial Tariff.

By Telegraph to the NEWS.

Huston's Retirement from the Treasuryship.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—A special dispatch from Madison, Ind., today, said that, contrary to all previous rumors, he will remain in office. Treasurer Huston has written to a friend in that city that he expects soon to return to Indiana "for good and all." Huston refused to confirm or deny the statement in the telegram. Mr. Huston is said to be in bad health and very anxious to relinquish the treasuryship.

Suicide of an Actor.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Henry Aveling, an actor well-known in the vaudeville theaters, committed suicide in Gilsey House yesterday. He left some letters, in one of which he bequeathed everything he died possessed of to William Gillette, of the "Jim the Penman" company. He asks Sheldon to prevent Miss Milton Willetts from appearing in any of his disciples. He left another letter addressed to an actress named Clara Thompson, saying, "We could not live as we wished, and I go now into the great futurity; meet me there, my dear, and love me." A letter was found among his effects signed by Marguerite Benson, demanding that he make some provision for her child, which he said was hers when he came to this country with from England in 1879, and they passed as man and wife. In 1881 Aveling married Miss Milly Willetts, and they lived together until within a year, when she began divorce proceedings on the grounds of insufficient support and incompatibility of temper. Miss Clara Thompson referred to said she had no knowledge of the intended suicide.

THE "UTOPIA."

Her Captain Arrested on the Charge of Mismanagement.

GIBRALTAR, March 19.—The funeral of the two British men-of-war men drowned Tuesday while helping to rescue passengers of the steamer Utopia, occurred today. They were buried with military honors.

Captain McHenzie of the Utopia has been arrested for wrongful acts, improper conduct, negligence and mismanagement. He was released on bail. The wounds given by the divers who are engaged in work on the wrecked steamer of the British eights they will cause a loss of sight in one eye, increase the appalling character of the catastrophe. These men say they found the hatches and chartroom of the Utopia closely packed with the bodies of the unfortunate passengers who had become wedged into an almost solid mass in their frantic rush to reach the decks. Owing to the lack of accommodation in the Naval hospital here, many of the crew and emigrants who were rescued have been compelled to camp on the glacis.

Canada and Guiana.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 19.—In regard to the dispatch from Washington to the effect that the government of British Guiana has declined to enter into a reciprocity treaty with Canada it may be stated that the government has received no intimation of the kind from Guiana. It is regarded as altogether unlikely that the government of that colony has yet decided upon the reciprocity proposals from Canada.

A Swindler's Office Closed.

OMAHA, Neb., March 19.—The firm of G. M. Baldwin & Co., who opened an office in this city some time ago and secured many local victims by advertising for men to go to Seattle, Tacoma and other Washington points to take up timber claims, evidently did an extensive business outside. An attorney from Osage, Ohio, by the name of Day visited Omaha, investigated the matter and said thirty men from that town had each invested $25 with the firm. Baldwin's office has been closed since the government agents got after them.

Change of Management.

LANSING, Mich., March 19.—The dissatisfaction existing in the Supreme Organization of the Patrons of Industry caused a change of management and the election of an entirely new set of supreme officers today. C. H. Lake of Michigan is supreme president. The constitution of independent political action will be adopted and a union of all non-political with each State organization.

England's Choice in Regard to Canada.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 19.—Prof. Weldon, M. Pace, one of the most prominent men in the conservative party, in a speech here last evening, when asked the future conservative policy, replied: "Tis impossible to make overtures to the Imperial government for a large trade with the British colonies is the party's duty. I do not think the British people appreciate the significance of the recent elections. The time has now come when England must choose between abandoning Canada, or agreeing to an imperial tariff that will give Canadian products preference in British markets in return for preference to British manufactures in Canadian markets.

The Shipment of Gold.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Director of the Mint Leech was at the assay office today, and had a long consultation with Superintendent Mason, but nothing could be obtained in regard to the subject of the conference, or whether it would result in any further attempt to prevent gold exports. After leaving Superintendent Mason Leech had an informal conference with bank officials in regard to selling gold bars for export. Some of the bankers are understood to have supported the action, but others, who were in favor with Secretary Windom, condemn it. It is generally believed a large amount of gold coin will be taken tomorrow for shipment on Saturday.

Memorial Services.

BOSTON, March 19.—Under the auspices of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion Memorial service in memory of General Charles Devens was held in Music Hall tonight. Ex-President Hayes, Commander-in-Chief of the Loyal Legion; Major-General Coxe, Governor Russell, Speaker Reed and many other prominent people were present. A musical programme was rendered and an eloquent tribute paid to Judge Devens by Ex-President Hayes.

Strike of Cloth and Cap Makers.

NEW YORK, March 19.—A general strike of union cloth and cap makers took place today and about 500 men are out of work. There seems to be a misunderstanding as to the cause.

A Purse of $5000 for a Glove Contest.

NEW ORLEANS, March 19.—The Olympic Club has offered a purse of $5000 to McAuliffe and Myers for a glove contest, to take place in about six weeks. McAuliffe is answer within four days. Kennedy, Myers' backer, is here.

Will Run for the Championship of the World.

NEW YORK, March 19.—A cable dispatch from Sydney to the Herald says Jack Kilrain and Frank Slavin, Stanbury will run for the championship of the world and $500 a side, on the Paramatta course, March 24th. Stanbury will go to Australia after the race, to row William Cooper.

Thurman Resigns.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 19.—A. W. Thurman, president of the National Baseball Board of Control, has tendered his resignation as a member of that board. Thurman says his resignation is given because he feels he would close the United States ports against certain classes of German imports. The President could not be seen this evening, but Private Secretary Halford said he had not heard of any such letter. First Assistant Secretary of State Wharton said he knew nothing about the matter, and didn't believe such a step was contemplated. Secretary Blaine, when seen late evening, was not quite sure that the President proposed to take any such action.

THE NATIONAL MUSICIANS.

President Wolstedler Urges Caution in Politics.

MILWAUKEE, March 19.—Nearly the entire day was occupied in the convention of the National League of Musicians in discussing the proposed affiliation of the League with the American Federation of Labor. President Wolstedler urged caution. He said it is a serious question, and the advisability of the affiliation of uniting the League to either side of the questions at issue between capital and labor should receive most earnest consideration."

Delegate Carrier spoke at length, favoring the proposition as a needful step for the accomplishment of the objects of the League. He was seconded by Delegate Davis, who said the San Francisco local had instructed him to vote for the proposition, also by the delegates from Chicago and Omaha.

Manager F. A. Schwab of New York is about to start for Europe to engage musicians for service in this country, in the hope of forwarding the objects of the project. The New York delegates secured the adoption of a set of resolutions protesting against the importation of foreign musicians for any purpose whatever, and declared that there is no need in America of capable performers on any instrument. A paper was read by a member advocating the thanks of the National League to Mrs. Jessie Bartlett Thurber for her efforts to elevate the musical profession in this country.

The case of Theodore Thomas and his contract with the Chicago Orchestra Association came up, and after discussion it was decided to have a special set of resolutions submitted. The Musicians' Protective Union of Kansas City has been suspended from connection with the National League on account of the demoralized condition of its affairs.

THE SACRAMENTO ELECTION.

Fulton Elected U. S. Senator on the First Ballot.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 19.—Charles N. Felton was elected United States Senator on the first ballot today. The ballot stood as follows: Felton, 134; Felton, 76; Johnston, 11; Hearst, 4; White, (dem.), 24. The joint session adjourned sine die.

Senator Felton, the new United States Senator, was born in Erie County, N. Y., in 1815. He received an academic education, and removed to California when he was twenty-one. He was assistant treasurer of the mint at San Francisco for six years. He was elected to the legislature of California in 1860, and was re-elected in the Forty-ninth and Fifteenth sessions.

An investigation of the evidence on which the rumors of attempted bribery was started was begun today. Two scraps of paper bearing the names were carefully examined, but nothing was developed having a bearing on the membership fight. The cashier of the Greene bank will be subpoenaed.

Supposed to Have Gone to the Bottom

SAN FRANCISCO, March 19.—The British ship Argonaut, bound August 6th for Queenstown for orders, has been posted as missing, and it is believed to have gone to the bottom with all on board—28 men.

Perished in the Flames.

PATERSON, N. J., March 19.—The fears that Adam Arbuthnot, an aged man, perished in the flames of the Hillsdale Cottage Worsted Mills fire are confirmed by the discovery of his bones in the ruins. Superintendent Williams estimates the loss at $200,000. The company was fully insured. Williams said the company would be probably rebuilt.

AMERICAN PORK.

President Harrison Demands That Germany Admit it.

NEW YORK, March 19.—A Washington special to the Mail and Express says President Harrison has determined upon summary measures to relieve American pork, which is the subject of so much German opposition. Minister Phelps has been notified by the State Department, at the request of President Harrison, to demand of the German authorities that the embargo be at once removed, else the President will proceed to exercise the authority given him by last Congress and by proclamation close our ports against German imports. The announcement is said to be nothing less than a threat, and the result may be interesting. The State Department officials refuse to discuss the matter this morning. There is no doubt that a communication has been sent to Minister Phelps, for the President is informed a member who called upon him this morning.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—A report was current here today to the effect that President Harrison had sent a communication to Minister Phelps at Berlin, informing him that unless the German government removed the embargo on American pork he would close the United States ports against certain classes of German imports. The President could not be seen this evening, but Private Secretary Halford said he had not heard of any such letter. First Assistant Secretary of State Wharton said he knew nothing about the matter, and didn't believe such a step was contemplated. Secretary Blaine, when seen late evening, was not quite sure that the President proposed to take any such action.

MILWAUKEE, March 19.—Nearly the entire day was occupied in the convention of the National League of Musicians in discussing the proposed affiliation of the League with the American Federation of Labor. President Wolstedler urged caution. He said it is a serious question, and the advisability of uniting the League to either side of the questions at issue between capital and labor should receive most earnest consideration."

Delegate Carrier spoke at length, favoring the proposition as a needful step for the accomplishment of the objects of the League. He was seconded by Delegate Davis, who said the San Francisco local had instructed him to vote for the proposition, also by the delegates from Chicago and Omaha.

Manager F. A. Schwab of New York is about to start for Europe to engage musicians for service in this country, in the hope of forwarding the objects of the project. The New York delegates secured the adoption of a set of resolutions protesting against the importation of foreign musicians for any purpose whatever, and declared that there is no need in America of capable performers on any instrument. A paper was read by a member advocating the thanks of the National League to Mrs. Jessie Bartlett Thurber for her efforts to elevate the musical profession in this country.

The case of Theodore Thomas and his contract with the Chicago Orchestra Association came up, and after discussion it was decided to have a special set of resolutions submitted. The Musicians' Protective Union of Kansas City has been suspended from connection with the National League on account of the demoralized condition of its affairs.

THE SACRAMENTO ELECTION.

Fulton Elected U. S. Senator on the First Ballot.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 19.—Charles N. Felton was elected United States Senator on the first ballot today. The ballot stood as follows: Felton, 134; Felton, 76; Johnston, 11; Hearst, 4; White, (dem.), 24. The joint session adjourned sine die.

Senator Felton, the new United States Senator, was born in Erie County, N. Y., in 1815. He received an academic education, and removed to California when he was twenty-one. He was assistant treasurer of the mint at San Francisco for six years. He was elected to the legislature of California in 1860, and was re-elected in the Forty-ninth and Fifteenth sessions.

An investigation of the evidence on which the rumors of attempted bribery was started was begun today. Two scraps of paper bearing the names were carefully examined, but nothing was developed having a bearing on the membership fight. The cashier of the Greene bank will be subpoenaed.

Supposed to Have Gone to the Bottom

SAN FRANCISCO, March 19.—The British ship Argonaut, bound August 6th for Queenstown for orders, has been posted as missing, and it is believed to have gone to the bottom with all on board—28 men.

Perished in the Flames.

PATERSON, N. J., March 19.—The fears that Adam Arbuthnot, an aged man, perished in the flames of the Hillsdale Cottage Worsted Mills fire are confirmed by the discovery of his bones in the ruins. Superintendent Williams estimates the loss at $200,000. The company was fully insured. Williams said the company would be probably rebuilt.
