OGDEN.

OGDEN, UTAH, - SEPT. 14, 1894.

Notes and Personal.

Yesterday F. J. Cannon and Judge Bishop were passengers on the eastern train. The judge will be absent about three weeks. Mr. Cannon goes east in the interest of the Pioneer Electric Power company and will be absent one week. On his return he will immediately commence the canvass of the Territory.

Visiting and located at the Reed are Mr. A. C. Beckwith, wife of Senator Beckwith, of Wyoming, also Mrs. D. G. Riccardon and Mrs. Urquhart, of New Orleans. The latter lady is the mother of Mrs. James Brown-Potter, the celebrated actress.

A considerable amount of snow fell in the mountains during the late storm which caused many to fear for the safety of the tomato crop, but their hearts were made glad this morning upon finding that Jack Frost's expected visit was delayed. The tomato canning industry of Ogden has grown to such proportions that the loss of the crop could be regarded as nothing short of a calamity to Weber county.

PROVO.

PROVO, UTAH, SEPT. 14, 1894.

Notes From the Garden City.

A. O. Smoot has commenced suit in the First district court against the Provo Milling and Manufacturing Co. for $10,412.19 and interest. The amount claimed is for money due on several notes. Thurman and Wedgwood are attorneys for plaintiff.

Cards are out announcing the wedding of Mr. Dermont H. Roberts and Miss Emma Bennett. The happy event will take place on the 17th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bennett. The groom is the son of Postmaster Roberts, of this city, and the bride is the daughter of Superintendent Bennett of Z. C. M. I., at Idaho Falls, Idaho. The silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Bennett will be celebrated at the same time.

County Clerk Halliday has issued marriage licenses to the following candidates for matrimony. Herman Martin and Edith Beck, Christian Thompson and Florence M. Johnson, all of Provo.

There is some talk of organizing another company of the C. N. G. under the captaincy of Mr. J. H. Dredhaller. The company now organized expects to get their equipments from Washington in about six weeks.

A tent was erected on the court house block yesterday afternoon. Many believed that Enoch Davis would be executed at that place, but the general impression is that the tent was put up in order to create that impression so that people would not go to the place of execution, which is expected to be in the north end of the county.

Utah Stake Sabbath Schools.

Sabbath school conference of Utah Stake commenced at 10 o'clock Saturday, September 8, 1894, in the Stake tabernacle at Provo. Supt. Eggerton presided. Assistant W. S. Rawlings, Secretary James Hardy, Elder George Reynolds and Dr. R.O. Mason, and a large number of superintendents, teachers and officers were present.

After the opening exercises Supt. Eggerton explained the business of the meeting, which was to receive instruction and hear reports.

James Whitehead, of Springville; James T. Williams, of Mapleton South; William Yates, of Lehi, each reported their schools as being in a very flourishing condition. The schools were graded and the pupils increasing in number. Remarks were made by Supt. Eggerton, Professor Wolfe, Elder George Reynolds and Dr. R. O. Mason, a great deal of instruction being given on Sunday school subjects.

At 2 p.m. Supt. Warren Smith, of American Fork, and D. M. Smith, of Pleasant Grove, 1st ward, reported their schools in good condition; the grading system was being carried out, and in good working order, was increasing.

Elder Edward Partridge, of the Stake presidency, made a few remarks on the important labor of the Sabbath schools.

A recitation was given by the Pleasant View school, and John D. Dixon, superintendent of the third ward, Provo, and Ezra T. Clark of Oakland school reported their schools, which were doing well.

A song by the Second ward, Provo, Primary department, followed, another a First ward, Provo, intermediate department exercise, life and incidents of the Prophet Joseph Smith.

Elder George Reynolds advised parents to teach their children the ways of the Lord. The world was increasing, but the Saints are increasing in the knowledge of the Lord and the principles of the Gospel. The children should be taught to keep the Sabbath day holy and be obedient to their parents and their teachers.

A concert was given in the evening, led by Professor B. K. Giles. It was a grand success.

10 a.m. Sunday. On the stand L. E. Eggertsen and W. S. Rawlings, of the Stake superintendency, Secretary James Hardy, Elders George Goddard and J. M. Whitaker, The Stake Presidency, A. O. Smoot, D. John and E. Partridge, Dr. Maeser, President William Paxman, of Juab Stake, Elder Sugmiller, President of Sevier stake, Elders L. J. Nuttall and a great many Bishops and superintendents.

Superintendent Eggertsen briefly referred to the first organization of Sabbath schools, contrasting their growth to the present time, and stated the schools of the Stake, 54 in number, being in good working condition.

Payson Second ward theological class rendered in an excellent manner the subject, creation, 1st chapter of Genesis. This was followed by a recitation by the Springville ward, and William Jex, superintendent of Spanish Fork school, S. P. Eggertsen Jr., of Provo Second ward, reported their schools in excellent condition.

Elders J. M. Whitaker and George Reynolds gave some excellent instructions.

In the afternoon Sacrament was administered.

Superintendent William S. Wansworth, of Payson First ward, reported his school doing well. It is graded, and the teachers punctual and energetic.

Prof. H. Cluff made a few remarks on the proper manner and aims of those engaged in the Sabbath school work.

Elder A. O. Smoot, president of the Stake, contrasted the attitude of today with those in early days, and explained a desire for them to continue to prosper.

Elder Wm. Paxman, president of Juab Stake, also encouraged all to continue their labors in the school work.

The general authorities of the Sabbath schools were unanimously sustained, as also the Stake authorities.

Elder George Goddard spoke on prayer being observed in the school and the necessity of taking advantage of teaching the children to observe the Sabbath day; be honest and seek the Lord. He sang the song, "Who's on the Lord's side?" all joining in the chorus.

Elder J. M. Whitaker made a few remarks, and Dr. R. O. Mason, in a brief address, drew attention to the importance of the mission of the Latter-day Saints having a testimony of the truth of the Gospel within their own hearts.

Conference adjourned for one year.

The meetings throughout were crowded and it is a time that will be long remembered.

JAMES HARDY, Stake Secretary.
