TRUTH AND LIBERTY.

NO. 220. SATURDAY, AUGUST 19, 1893. SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. VOL. XXVI

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Senate Unexpectedly Adjourns till Monday.

SILVER DEBATE IN THE HOUSE.

The Financial Situation Gradually Becoming Better, Says Senator Sherman.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The Senate will not be in session today. Rather unexpectedly and after refusing to adjourn over from Friday till Monday, early in the day yesterday the body reconsidered the action limited closed work in executive session, and consequently there will be no proceedings of interest today beyond speech making in the House.

In some quarters it is suggested that the torpedo thrown into the Senate by Butler, South Carolina, yesterday, in the shape of an amendment to the bank circulation bill, repealing the state bank tax, had alarmed senators who desired speedy action on that measure, and fearing that the amendment might carry, and thereby cripple the national bank system, unless full time were given to point out the dangers it involved, they postponed the adjournment.

Senator Sherman in a letter to an Ohio friend says he thinks it best for Congress to move slowly until something effective can be done. The financial situation is gradually becoming better, and the belief is becoming general that all that is wanted is to increase the currency of the national banks and the surplus of further purchase of silver. The latter he does not regard as important, except to dissipate the fears of capitalists that we are coming to a single silver standard.

THE HOUSE.

McCreary, Ky., opened the silver debate today, speaking of the repeal of the silver purchase clause. He would not hold that set as a hostage to free coinage. Free coinage should stand on its own merits. He saw the only path that should lead to the free coinage of silver was international agreement and the only way to reach that agreement was the repeal of the purchasing clause.

Catchings, Democrat, followed McCreary in favor of unconditional repeal.

Catchings was followed by Livingston of Georgia, in favor of free silver coinage.

Found Under an Engine.

Special Telegram to the NEWS.

LARAMIE, Wyo., Aug. 19.—An unknown young man about 18 years of age, was found under the engine of a freight train at the coal chutes at Medicine Bow last evening. The body presented an awful spectacle, both arms being cut off and the trunk terribly crushed. It is thought the boy was stealing a ride on the pilot of the engine and probably fell asleep. When the train slowed up he must have been thrown from his perch and before he had time to recover he was beneath the engine. The coroner of Carbon county was summoned and held an inquest this afternoon.

More Gold Coming.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Until in the amount of £110,000 were withdrawn today from the Bank of England for shipment to the United States.

The Cimbria sails from Liverpool today with $365,000 gold and the New York from Southampton with $500,000.

AT THE FAIR.

Englishmen's Day Celebrated Today.

WORLD'S FAIR, Aug. 19.—This is Englishmen's day at the Fair. The celebration of the day opened on the lake front at the statue of Columbus at 8:30 o'clock. The procession was formed by Captain Gordon, commandant of the British troops at the Fair, as grand marshal. The procession was made up of British troops, English societies, and coaches filled with royal and colonial commissioners, and natives of Vienna and the East Indies. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon another parade will be made from the Viennese House to Festival Hall where speeches will be made and a corps of a thousand voices will be heard. Next Tuesday evening will be a great fete night. At the north end of the grounds the state building will be brilliantly illuminated and the trees hung with colored lights and Chinese lanterns. At many buildings there will be dancing and music. The fete will be in honor of the West Point cadets.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The Marine hospital service has received a cablegram from Berlin stating that there are no further cases of cholera there. The disease was introduced through carcasses imported from the infected districts in Russian Poland.

A Relief Plan.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The City Board of Relief has devised a new scheme for temporary relief of the financial stringency. Briefly stated, the plan is for the city rank in New York crafts in uniform sums of $1, $2, $5 and $10, payable to the bearer, and let them be passed from hand to hand as cash. It will be more convenient to redeem them in government currency. Being drawn to the bearer, no endorsement will be needed in pass the bills and being drawn on New York, they will save both their collectors deposited with the local bankers' association and the money on deposit in New York to secure the holder against loss.

To Call Business Men Together.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—An officer of the board of trade states that a call for a meeting of the business men of the country at Washington for the purpose of demanding the immediate and unconditional repeal of the purchase clause of the Sherman silver act will probably be issued by the board within a few days. It is believed thousands of representative business men will attend the convention and it will be a demonstration on the part of the business interests of the country without parallel in the history of the United States.

A SILVER STATUE OF SUNOL

Mr. C. E. Dallin, of Salt Lake City, the Sculptor.

A Fine Piece of Statuary Moulded from Silver Dollars and Weighing 331 Ounces.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 19.—The Ames Manufacturing company, Chicopee, has completed a solid silver statue of the noted trotter Sunol, hitched to a sulky, upon which is seated her equally noted driver, Charles Marvin. The piece of statuary is one-fifth life size and is mounted upon a bronze standard. The sculptor is C. E. Dallin of Salt Lake City. The whole piece is moulded from silver dollars. It required 331 ounces of silver. The sculpture is an exact facsimile of the one in which the mare made her record 2:08¼. The piece will be presented at the coming banquet in New York.

AN ANARCHISTIC SCHEME.

To Monter a Mob and Intimidate Congress.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Speaking of a movement said to have been inaugurated in St. Louis of organizing all unemployed from the West to move on to Washington, Herman Schalls, a prominent member of the local federation of labor and a member of the immigration committee sent to Europe by the government not long ago, says: "I know of this movement, since I signed it, in fact I was called to a consultation regarding the feasibility of the project. I did not then and do not now approve of the scheme, and my best earnest endeavors were exerted in the direction of discouraging it. It was originally proposed to muster at least 50,000, and if possible, half a million of unemployed and force Congress by means of a tremendous demonstration to provide relief for the needy citizens. I do not believe, however, the federation of labor is at the bottom of the movement. It is the direct result of an agitation of a lot of tanks, socialists, and anarchists, some who are in this city today, strenuously endeavoring to create trouble. It may be added that if any movement such as that foreshadowed is attempted on a large scale there is no city on the continent where such prompt and vigorous measures could be taken to repress any unlawful demonstration. There would be no red tape and intervention of the mayor of Governor, from whom the action must be had before the strong arm of the national government could interfere. A move of anarchists to Washington would be a move against the government of the United States and there are abundant national forces at hand promptly to repress it."

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

Allegiance to the Omaha Platform.

SYLVAN BEACH, N. Y., Aug. 19.—The People's party convention this morning adopted a platform reiterating allegiance to the three basic planks of the Omaha platform: Safe and sound, flexible national money, which shall be full legal tender with free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at 16 to 1; an increase in the circulating medium of $50 per cent per capita; the establishment of postal savings banks and government ownership of telegraph, railroads and telephone. The platform declares the present distress is due to lost confidence induced by the wail of the capitalists over the exportation of gold and the urgent demand of the bankers for the issuance of more government bonds. The platform furthermore demands the enforcement of public works in the hands of employes, that an eight-hour law be enforced; state and municipal ownership of railroads, and gas and electric lighting plants. The platform adopted, the convention adjourned to the adjoining room to hear Mrs. Lease.

BOOK STOLEN.

Great Indignation Among the Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 19.—The check book, cash book and private memoranda were stolen from the committee room of the Republican city committee about midnight last night. There is great indignation on the part of the Republicans.

MINES AND BUSINESS

The Rich Body of Ore in the Ballion-Beck.

THE BUSINESS MEN'S CIRCULAR.

Steam Laundry Sale.—Land Office.—Counterfeit Currency.—Copper Strike.—Various Items.

The resumption of work at the Ballion-Beck mine, as announced in the NEWS a few days ago, is due to a rich strike in ore that has been made. The managers decline to talk on the details of their good luck, passing it over with the remark "it isn't much." Notwithstanding this statement, however, it may be definitely announced that the discovery just made in the Ballion-Beck is the richest for its extent that has ever been met with in the mine. There is said to be a vast quantity of ore that is almost phenomenal for the proportion of silver which it carries, and if the present prospect of an increase in the price of the white metal holds good, the mine will be actually operated for some time to come.

THAT CIRCULAR.

The circular of the Business Men's association of this city has done a good deal toward awaking business men to the fact to a realization of the situation out here. Tony Wendell Benson, president of the association, received copies of letters brought out by the circular. One is from a leading manufacturing establishment in Chicago which does a big business in the West. They say:

"We have carefully read the circular prepared by the Business Men's Association of your city, and can and will conform to your request to use our influence with our representative in Congress to do that which you ask, believing as we do that the request is reasonable and just. We sincerely hope that Congress will quickly and intelligently act so as to afford the relief so urgently demanded."

The following come in response to the action taken by the firm referred to:

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 15, 1893.

Hon. George H. Ferrill, 33 River street, Chicago:

Dear Sir:—I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of circular issued by the Business Men's association of Salt Lake City, Utah, referred to me by yourself. I have read the circular over carefully, and I believe I thoroughly understand and appreciate its contents. Thanking you for the attention, I remain, very truly yours,

AYLAR C. DUNSMOW JR.

COPPER STRIKE.

A rich copper strike is reported in Big Cottonwood canyon, in a mine owned by the Mountain Lake Mining company. Details of the discovery are not at hand, but enough has been learned by the owners to cause them to feel highly elated at their prospect. A great deal of money has been spent in development work.

LAND OFFICE.

A land patent was received at the land office yesterday for Alvin L. Robinson, probate judge of Wayne county, in trust and for the benefit of the township of Loa, in Wayne county. The patent conveys to Judge Robinson, in trust for the citizens of Loa, 280 acres of land, comprising the southwest quarter of the northwest quarter, the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter, the east half of the southwest quarter, the west half of the southeast quarter and the lot numbered 2, section 1, township 28 south, range 2 east, on which the township is located.

William T. H. Reid, has filed homestead entry on southwest quarter of northwest quarter and northwest quarter of southwest quarter of section 8, township 15 south, range 11 east.

BROUGHT UP AGAIN.

The French Steam laundry was sold yesterday afternoon, on an execution in a suit against John Beck. There were several bidders, and the property was taken in by Henry Dinwoodey, for $900.

SUITS.

Five hundred counterfeit $5 bills, so near perfect as to be difficult for even experts to detect, have been found in the possession of two Italians in Denver. The men were arrested and are now in jail.

Rock Springs Issue: The Wyoming division of the U. P. Railway is today doing a better business than it did a year ago at this time. Both passenger and freight traffic is largely on the increase. Two additional crews had to be put on this week. Let the good work go on.

It is to be Opened to Market on September 15th.

The extension of the Sanpete Valley Railway toward Manti is being pushed rapidly forward, and its completion to the county seat of Sanpete is now only a matter of a few days.

JUDGE ZANE'S COURT

Doctor O. H. Dodge Goes After Utah's Board of Medical Examiners.

THE CITY AND ITS CHARTER.

The Court Declines to Express an Opinion.—Criminal Calendar.—Whitmore's Reappearance.

Chief Justice Zane found a large mass of business awaiting him when he took his seat on the bench at ten o'clock this morning, and up to 12:30, when an adjournment was taken, the following matters had been sprung:

THE MEDICAL BOARD IN COURT.

Attorney Dodge, on behalf of Dr. O. H. Dodge, applied to the court for an alternative writ of mandamus against the Board of Medical Examiners of Utah Territory. The affidavit, he said, showed that his client had fully complied with the law, and yet the Board had refused to issue him a license.

Dr. Dodge holds a diploma from the Missouri Medical College of St. Louis, which he received on March 6th, 1893. He has resided in Salt Lake city since December 23d, 1893, and has continuously practiced here during the interim.

Dr. Dodge states that he was the fifteenth applicant for a certificate to practice medicine under the law, but that she has never been heard to ask as required by the statute, nor has any reason ever been given for the failure to grant the application.)

The court ordered the writ returnable on Saturday next.

THE JUDGE DECLINES.

District Attorney Judd said he desired the advice of the court with reference to a case of hard, the point in dispute between counsel for the prosecution and defense being the construction of the territorial statute. The case—that of Harry Hammond—was referred by his Honor to Commissioner Pratt to take the defendant's bail, but in view of the offensive of opinion the Commissioner declined to go further until the opinion of this court had been taken. Counsel intimated that we doubt had arisen upon section 2[illegible], sub-section 2, from which he read. His own construction before the Commissioner was that whenever the bail was fixed, it did not matter how many sureties were offered so that the amount required was made up, but each surety must be worth the full penalty of the bond, so that each one should be answerable to the people of the government for the full amount, and that, as between themselves, the court might allow them to contribute for a less amount than the penalty bond.

Attorney Waite was about to reply when Judge Zane declined to express an opinion at this time. He referred the case to Commissioner Pratt, he said, to take the bond, and he should not now attempt to decide to him. He would, however, consider the point when the case came before this court in regular order. His Honor did not wish to have objections brought up there in this irregular way.

A NEW CITIZEN.

Martin Pearson, a Swede, now a resident of Salt Lake, was admitted to citizenship.

THE JUDGE DIDN'T KNOW OF IT.

In a damage suit for personal injuries, Charles Roberts vs Salt Lake City et al. Judge Hogg, the city attorney, demurred to the complaint on the ground that it does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action, inasmuch as the city, he said, is exempt from liability under its charter. The provision of the charter is that in case railroads do not keep their tracks in repair the railways shall be liable and the city exempt from such liability.

Attorney Barlow Ferguson appeared for the plaintiff.

Judge Zane was surprised to hear that there was any such provision, and requested the attorneys to present their authorities.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

Upon application of Assistant District Attorney Howat, the following cases were set for the trial of the prisoners named at the coming September term:

STILL THE WHITMORE CASE.

This was the day set for sentence upon Baxter George C. Whitmore, recently adjudged guilty of contempt of court in regard to the removal of the water bar, about which so much has already been said and written. The defendant was present, as also were Attorney Varian, representing the complainant, L. G. Scott Elliott, and Attorney Arthur Brown, his defendant's counsel. Owing, however, to the absence of a witness (Professor Brooks) whom the defense desired to call, the case went over by consent till Monday morning, when it will come before Judge Zane in chambers.

"SHE SEVEN CATS RAN."

John S. Cox, who sought a divorce from his wife, Elizabeth, on the ground of desertion, had a very brief experience of matrimonial life, according to the short and simple story which he told upon the witness stand this morning. The parties were married in this city on January 1, 1893, the plaintiff being a laboring man.

"How long did you live with her?" asked his attorney, C. W. Morse.

"Seven weeks," replied Cox, "and then she left me. She said she wanted to go home to New Zealand to see her parents; and she went. She returned to this country about two and a half years ago, but never came back to me, and I haven't seen her since."

"What was your treatment towards her?" asked Mr. Morse.

"All that was becoming a husband," answered Cox, "and she gave no reason for leaving me."

There are no children.

Corroborative testimony as to the desertion having been given by neighbors of the parties, the court granted the decree as prayed.

A Welcome Little Stranger.

There is unusual happiness in the quiet home of Librarian George Q. Cotey, of the Utah University, in the Twenty-first ward today. The cause of the increased felicity is a lusty due recently ushered into the sphere of notice this morning of the Redeemer of the family. The little stranger is a daughter, and with its lachrymal mother is doing nicely. In the meantime congratulations are being extended from admiring friends on all sides.

UNIVERSITY OF UTAH.

Important Additions to Its Forces.—All the Departments Strengthened.

The University of Utah is now in a most excellent condition. It has been a continued effort on the part of the regents to put the university on equal standing with the majority of other like institutions in the United States and they have now succeeded in doing so.

Important additions to its forces have been made for the coming school year. Dr. James E. Talmage, a graduate of Lehigh University and a well known educator of our Territory, has been appointed professor of metallurgy and biology; Joseph F. Merrill, a graduate of Ann Arbor and a student in chemistry at Cornell University, whose chemical laboratories are the finest in the United States, is to do part of the work in chemistry as assistant professor. Byron Cummings, a graduate of the Oswego normal school and also of Rutgers college, and who has been a successful teacher for a number of years, is to assist in Latin and English. William D. Neal, who has been doing postgraduate work at Cornell university, is to assist in geology and mineralogy. Joseph F. White, who has been doing post-graduate work at Cornell university in physics and mathematics, will give some of his time in doing work for the mathematical department besides carrying on the work he has heretofore done in physics.

All of the departments will be greatly strengthened by these accessions, as each man named has been selected on account of his unusual fitness for the position to which he has been appointed.

The faculty of the university has thus been increased and its standard has been raised to a position that must command the respect of all intelligent persons. No degree in any course is given except for two years of actual work. It is the purpose of the university authorities to exert all influence toward elevating the standard of work done in our Territory, for which degree may be issued, and it is sincerely hoped that all students willing—people is promoting an object of such great importance.

The university will open September 18th. During the first two or three days, commencing at 9 a.m., entrance examinations will take place. The prospects are that the university will be crowded with earnest, industrious students from all parts of the Territory.

WHO WAS EARLIER?

Levi W. Kendall Says He Turned the First Sod in Utah.

HE DID IT ON JULY 23, 1847.

John S. Eldredge Was His Companion.—Who Should Hold the Gold Medal?

Andrew Jensen of this city, who has been on the Old Folks' committee for a long time, and who is engaged in obtaining historical information relating to Utah and her people, writes to the NEWS as follows upon a very interesting subject:

A few years ago the Old Folks' committee, of Salt Lake City, offered as a prize a gold medal to the man who did the first plowing in Utah. According to the best information then at hand the medal was awarded to Mr. William Carter, of St. George, one of the Pioneers of 1847. Since then, however, several others—the pioneers of 1847—have claimed to be the first to plow in the valley of the Great Salt Lake; and in the number of the claimants is now added Mr. Levi N. Kendall, of Mapleton, Utah county, who during my recent visit to that place elicited the following affidavit:

MAPLETON, Utah Co., Utah, August 1, 1893.

I, Levi Newell Kendall, one of the Utah Pioneers of 1847, and now a resident of Mapleton precinct, county of Utah, Territory of Utah, being first duly sworn do positively say that I arrived on the ground site of Salt Lake City on the 23rd day of July, 1847, in what is generally known to be known as Orson Pratt's advance company, and the one after having turned our encampment on or near what was subsequently known as the Eighth ward square, preparations were made to plow some land in order to plant potatoes and late vegetables. I joined up three yoke of oxen which belonged to the first plow team which was made ready for service, and drove a short distance north of our encampment, where I turned the team eastward, and John S. Eldredge took the plow in the ground, and held it while I drove the team, plowing the east side of the first furrow which was ever made by white men on the present site of Salt Lake City. After going about one hundred yards we turned our team into the encircling or pull through a patch of wild grass. I am positive that this was the very first plowing made by any of the pioneers to plow, as the grass and weeds stood in it, but I remember that one or more teams started to plow directly after we had commenced.

LEVI N. KENDALL.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, Aaron Johnson, a justice of the peace in and for Hopeton precinct, Utah county, Utah Territory, this 1st day of August, 1893, in presence of the following named witnesses.

AARON JOHNSON.

Witnesses—Leonard I. Whitney, Elizabeth C. Packard, Elizabeth M. Bird, Charles M. Bird, Edwin L. Whitney, S. D. Fullmer, William P. Fullmer, Edward L. Woodward, Herbert Hawkins, John Macdonald, A. S. Fullmer, Eva Bird, Gertrude Perry, Andrew Jensen.

In the interest of accurate history I would suggest that all the other pioneers of 1847 who are yet alive and acquainted with the facts in the case furnish a written statement, similar to the one given by Mr. Kendall, in order that due credit may be given to the proper parties. The question having once been sprung and partly ventilated, it seems, and should be thoroughly investigated until a plain and definite answer can be given—an answer that will leave the historian without doubt as to which of the 143 men who first pioneered the way in these valleys belongs the honor of turning the first sod in what is now the Territory of Utah.

PROBABLY FIGHT AT OGDEN.

Henry Williams and Frank Fitzgerald Expected to Meet in the Junction City Next Month.

Local sporting circles are somewhat agog over the prospective mill between Henry Williams, brother of the Utah champion, and Frank Fitzgerald. Williams' challenge that he would meet Fitzgerald here or in Ogden in a finish fight for $250 was promptly accepted by the latter who has a forfeit of $25 up pending the completion of negotiations. Up to noon Williams had not covered the amount but it was stated this afternoon that he would do so this evening and the fight will in all probability come off at Ogden next month, the exact date to be hereafter fixed.

Sunday School Union.

The officers and teachers of the Sunday schools of this Stake will hold their meeting in the Fourteenth ward assembly hall, Monday evening, Aug. 21, at 8 o'clock. Superintendents will please give notice to their schools. The Twenty-first ward choir will furnish the musical exercises for the evening.

A lecture has been arranged for, on the subject of "Sunday School Incentives," to be delivered by Prof. Wm. M. Stewart, of the Utah University. Every superintendent and teacher should make it a point to attend this lecture, as it will be specially interesting to them.

Off to California.

Governor West will start this evening for San Francisco, and will be absent from the city about ten days. It is the Governor's first visit to California, and the trip is purely one of pleasure. When there he expects to pay a visit to several of the cities in the state.

At the Tabernacle Tomorrow.

Dr. J. Baldwin, of Austin, Texas, an educator, lecturer and author of note, will speak at the Tabernacle tomorrow afternoon at the regular services. He has been lecturing in Provo for two weeks to interested audiences.
