LOGAN AGGIES PLAY GOOD GAME

Coach Walker Surprises Local Team and Its Supporters With Showing.

MADDOCK'S MEN INTERESTED.

Were Busy All the Time to Keep Victory Bird Perched on Their Banners.

Never since the Logan Aggies won their football fight with the University of Utah four years ago have the visitors from the north come so near to waging successful battle against the University eleven as Saturday on Cummings field.

Coach Walker of Logan has done wonders with his men. Their brand of football surprised both the University team and its friends in the bleachers, and if promises for next year are in order, it is a safe guess that Utah has a hard game ahead within the state's own borders.

The final score Saturday was 10 to 6, and once Logan came very close to making it at least 10 to 5. The new football, with its opportunities for speedy work on the part of the ends found Utah faster than usual in these positions, and Logan could get little advantage in this department. Utah scored two touchdowns, and failed on several tries for field goal. Logan once got the ball on a forward pass, and Andrews had a clear field for a touchdown. He was going under a full head of steam for the goal posts when young Grant, Utah's speedy quarterback from the High School, overhauled him from the rear and downed him 10 yards from the goal posts. Logan lost the ball on downs, which is an easy thing for new players to do, especially when tasting the excitement of scoring on a big opponent for the first time.

PLAYING IS EVEN.

Outside of these three instances the game as a whole was evenly played, with little advantage on either side. Egbert for Logan, at quarterback, was easily the start of the day. His football genius is unmistakable and the manner in which he sped past heavy tacklers, accustomed to taking in slower and less clever runners, was a thing to compel the admiration of every spectator.

Russell, Utah's captain, was called on too many times to talk for his team in small wrangles, and wrangling is a thing very common in unsophisticated players, but rare in teams of experience. Maddock's men have been trained past the point, and the Aggies' principal fault in this direction seems to be a disposition not to trust the officials, but to match their knowledge of the rules against that of the officials, and start a talkfest over each decision that proved to the spectators to be the games most disappointing feature.

FIRST TOUCHDOWN.

The play opened with a punting duel in which Conville lived up to his training reputation as a ball booster, and then Utah bewildered the Aggies with a constantly successful series of forward passes, just as St. Vincent's bewildered Utah the week previous with a high quarterback kick, so accurately placed that a St. Vincent's runner was on hand wherever it dropped to down a Utah catcher in his tracks or recover it if lost by the Utah man. Cuddy Russell was on the receiving end of a forward pass that all but brought the first touchdown. Richardson followed him after he had been downed in a line buck which netted 10 yards and the first score.

RICHARDSON,
Former High School Man, One of Stars in Saturday's Game.

The Aggies showed familiarity with the game enough to rally, and after that Utah had hard sledding with the forward pass and the general march to the goal line. The second score was gamely fought off at the goal line, Utah being downed only a few inches from the line, when the Aggie line, holding fiercely, threw Utah back. A second attack sent Richardson over the lost distance and enough more to make a touchdown, the last secured during the game.

SECOND HALF.

In the second half the Agriculturalists were on their mettle and played Utah to a standstill. The forward passes were still tried, but with the Aggies more skillful in intercepting them, and getting the 15-yard penalties for Utah to their credit. Russell, by holding in the line, gave still more penalties, and Egbert's brilliant work kept the ball out of dangerous A. C. territory. The game was called with the ball in Utah territory, the Aggies advancing it towards the goal from the 20-yard line.

"CONNIE" MACK A VISITOR.

Player-Manager of Philadelphia National League Team in Salt Lake.

"Connie" Mack, a particular star in the national baseball firmament, was a visitor in Salt Lake yesterday. "Connie" Mack is the player-manager of the Philadelphia National league team and is known the country over as one of the most successful baseball managers in the world.

Mack is on his way to California and the trip is one of pleasure and business combined. The wise manager has his critical eye on two young stars, left handers, and he is determined to land them on his team for next season.

One of the twirlers is a young man named Krause of San Francisco. The other is a Los Angeles pitcher named Hartman. According to "Connie," both are first class men in the box and he predicts a great future for them.

The man from Quakertown declares that in the future eastern managers will look to the west for their diamond stars. "If they turn 'em out in the future as they have done in the past, there will be nothing to it," said he.

In speaking of Johnson, the Idaho twirler, Mack said: "Johnson is a good boy and there is not a pitcher on the Washington team that can beat him." "Connie" expects to be in California until the latter part of February.

CARLISLE INDIANS WIN FROM HARVARD.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 8.—The memory of previous defeats was forgotten today in the victory of Lue Carlisle Indians over Harvard by a score of 23 to 17. For versatility of plays the Indian team has not been equalled on Soldiers' field since the new rules went into effect. Forward delayed kicks and cross tapped followed each other in rapid succession until the 15-yard players became bewildered and seemed utterly unable to stop the march of the Indians toward their goal. The visitors scored twice in the first half and twice in the second, and the four times on brilliant rushing. The Harvard points were made on two touchdowns and a goal from placement by Captain Parke. Each of the touchdowns was made on fumbles by the Indians directly in front of their own goal line, so that it was comparatively easy for the Crimson players to push the ball over for a score. One of the Harvard goals from touchdown was missed, but little Mount Pleasant the Indian quarter, kicked three out of four attempts.

Mount Pleasant ran with speed and his selection of plays was well varied. His most brilliant effort was his dash of seventy-five yards through the end of the Harvard eleven for a touchdown shortly after the beginning of the second half. The play was one of the most sensational seen on Soldiers' field for many years. The Indians' quarter caught a Harvard punt on his own thirty-five-yard line and darned straight for the assembling players. It seemed a hazardous play, but he proved too slippery for the Crimson men and went through the greater portion of the Harvard eleven like a greased pig, and then, shaking himself clear, he eluded Newhall, who stood between him and the goal and then dashed for the line.

The other three Indian touchdowns were made through their success in carrying off the forward pass.

The first Harvard score came through a fumble by Carlisle on their own seven-yard line and two Crimson rushes. Here brilliant plays followed for the next few minutes on the part of Carlisle, during which there was a futile attempt at a goal from the field. Finally the Indians secured the ball on Crimson's forty-yard line and rushed it to the twenty-five yard line on a delayed pass. Another forward pass sent it to the ten-yard line, and after two plunges in the center Mount Pleasant again signaled for the new play and the ball was tossed directly to the goal line, far out of reach of any Harvard player, none of whom was anticipating such a play. Captain Parker's goal from the field came soon after and brought the score up to 12 to 10 at the end of the first half.

In the second half after Mount Pleasant's sensational dash for a touchdown soon came the only Harvard rally in the game. From Carlisle's fifty-yard line Harvard rushed the Indians steadily back twenty-five yards where a forward pass was attempted and muffed by a Carlisle player. Harvard recovered the ball on the Indian's five-yard line and rushed it across in three plays. After this the Indian goal was never in danger. This was followed by another Carlisle forward run.

WOLVERINES TO MAKE TRIP TO THE WEST.

Ann Arbor, Nov. 10.—Speaking of the Athletic association, Manager Baird announced, semi-officially, today that if Michigan defeated Pennsylvania in Ann Arbor, November 16, for the championship of the country, the Wolverine squad will be taken on a western tour during the Christmas holidays. If the tour is made at least two games probably will be played with a California squad and the other with the championship team of Colorado or Utah.

Whether or not the trip will be made depends upon the results in the Pennsylvania game. As yet neither Manager Baird nor Coach Yost has any western teams in mind, but the chances are that the game in Denver, if one is played there, will be between the State university or the School of Mines. The California game will be played in Los Angeles, and the opposing team will be either the University of Southern California or St. Vincent's college. The possibilities of a game with Maddock's Utah squad is also being considered.

The terms under which Manager Baird is willing to make the trip is that the expenses of the squad, which will amount to about $5,000, will be guaranteed by the opposing teams.

Manager Baird received a telegram from Coach Hempel of St. Vincent's college today, in which the coach said that he would join with another western college in making a reasonable guarantee. Manager Baird said this offer would be considered favorably.

Because of a large alumni in Colorado, a game in Denver is desired, and this preferably with the State university, but if this team does not win the state championship it will be played with the winning team. California St. Vincint's is looked upon most favorably, because it has defeated Denver university and Utah. If the trip is made and two games are played, three weeks will be given to the tour. This will give the squad a week's rest before each game.

MORGAN WILL SELL HIS HIGH-BRED COLLIES.

New York, Nov. 11.—According to a report here, J. Pierpont Morgan has decided to give up his Cragston kennels at Highland Falls, N. Y., and to part with his collection of high bred collies. This is said to be due to Mrs. Morgan's wish. Mr. Morgan, the report has it, having given his wife the beautiful Highland Falls estate, she decided to spend most of the year there, but found the barking of the dogs and the flocking to the kennels of unwelcome sightseers too annoying. It is further said that the financier would not sell his pets, but turned them all over to Alfred Blewitt, manager of the kennels for the past five years. Mr. Morgan has collected collies for 18 years and has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars on the Cragston kennels. The dogs will not be moved from their quarters, however, until next spring. There are now at the kennels some 80 collies, among them a number of champions, notably Wishaw Clinkers, which is said to have cost Mr. Morgan $4,000. This collie has never been beaten at a bench show in this country and is the holder of 300 European prizes. Other champions there are Parbold Purity and Cragston Blue Prince, the latter said to be the finest bitte Merle in America.

WESTON STILL AT IT.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Edward Payson Weston, the veteran pedestrian, who is walking from Portland, Me., to Chicago, over the same route he covered forty years ago, spent a quiet Sunday at his hotel in this city and is greatly refreshed as a result of his long rest. He spent most of the morning in bed, attending to correspondence, writing about fifty letters. He did not leave the hotel during the day. The blister on his foot has practically disappeared.

At 6 a. m. Weston retired and slept until 11 and resumed his western trip at midnight.

According to his schedule, Weston is due to reach Palmyra Monday night, but he expects to do eighty-one miles and reach Rochester.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

From observations made at the New York shows it seems likely that the financial stringency will not affect the sales of the highest priced cars, nor of the lowest priced so much as it will those of medium price. The argument is that those of great wealth will still be able to buy what they please, while the buyers of cheap cars, being as a rule not investors, but persons of moderate though certain incomes, will not be seriously affected. The cancellations of orders have been generally for cars of neither extreme in price, bought by that large class of persons who make much money, but whose earnings vary and who live up to their incomes and almost never have a surplus.

Never before has tire competition been keener and the public interest in this subject is aroused proportionately. At the New York show a mild sensation was caused by the announcement of a 10-per cent cut in the retail price of Fisk tires, which will put these goods nearer to the competitive basis of the ordinary high grades, although still a trifle higher. There was sharp rivalry at the New York show between several makers to see which firm by supplying tires free, could have the most cars equipped with their tires. Now that they have pretty well mastered car mechanism, motorists seem to have more time to study the true inwardness of tires, which will probably help them.

Every motorist who has used "buss" words because of having to take out different licenses in different states, should lend his support to the congressional bill prepared by the American Automobile association requiring uniform laws for motor vehicles in all states. The first step toward lending support to the bill is for those who are not members of A. A. A. to join the national body. Information about the law and other matters of the organization may be had from Secretary F. H. Elliott, 437 Fifth avenue, New York.

It was because of admiration for the remarkably compound character of the most interesting little woman in the automobile sport, that the participants of the Glidden tour subscribed at the finish for a cup for Mrs. Joan Cuneo, the only woman driver in the contest. Knowing her to be a devoted wife and mother, and listened to her quiet talk, it is difficult that this fair motorist has unlimited ambition and nerve. At the New York show she ordered a new 50-horsepower Rainier, and when questioned said that she hoped to be in most every contest going next season, now that she had a high powered car of quality. Asked if she included track races, she replied: "O, yes. I suppose I'm foolish to risk my neck, but I can't help it; I just love the excitement."

A man in the Matteawan asylum for the criminal insane, who has read of so many futile attempts on the part of automobiles to climb trees, is now at work on a device to enable motor cars to creep right up trees or telegraph poles.

In years past most of the imported and other highest priced cars have been sold in New York and other big cities of the east, but according to recent experience the western cities are increasing their patronage of the highest class of cars remarkably. James Joyce, general manager of the American Locomotive Automobile company, which has had a show of its Berliet cars in the Waldorf-Astoria for two weeks, says that the number from the west who are taking an interest in even this highest priced distinctive car and are willing to pay for it is astonishing. He says that the visitors from a hundred miles beyond New York made light of all panic talk and seemed prepared to indulge themselves in the best things to be had even more freely than usual.

Severe Pains

When a prominent nerve is affected, the pain is severe. It is called neuralgia. It may be in either the head or body. Relief comes only when this nerve trouble is overcome. By its soothing and strengthening influence upon the nervous system Dr. Miles' Nervine removes the cause.

"It was about two years ago that I was taken down with what the doctors claimed was neuralgia, and some called it lightning rheumatism. Sharp pains would go from one place to another, mostly in my head, and they would last two or three days before I could get relief. During these spells I would be so nervous that I hardly knew what I was doing. The pains were so severe and exhausting that my husband would have to steady me when walking across the room. I would have fever, and my heart would palpitate, and in a day or two I would feel better. Just as soon as I would expose myself the very least I was sure to have a spell of neuralgia. I have taken lots of doctor's medicine, but I might just as well take water. My aunt kept writing me to just try Dr. Miles' Nervine, and I am thankful that I was persuaded to do so, for the Nervine has cured me—has driven it out of my system."
