

LONDON IN MIDST OF REJOICINGS.

PRaise for Lord Roberts

Kitchener is Hardhearted—Dilatory at the War Office—Peculiar Joseph Cowen's Career.

London, Feb. 24.—Special London cable letter, Copyright, 1900, the Associated Press.—The fierce fighting that has made the week memorable in the history of Great Britain has, in the eyes of the heavy casualties that accompanied it, acted as an exhilarating tonic upon the nation. It is almost with cheerfulness that the people of Great Britain are taking their punishment, for now there is something to show for it in pleasing contrast to the weeks of waiting and suspense that scarcely ever passed without largely adding to the death roll, and never seemed to bring Great Britain's forces nearer to the goal.

Hand in hand with the relief of Kimbrell and the daily expected relief of Ladysmith has come the relief of London. With the fate of those beleaguered places off their minds, with the nation's heart free once more to take its chances in the fighting field, London has pulled itself from the depressing gloom that for months overhung it. There is now talk of balls, dinners and entertainments, there are brighter looks in the faces of the crowds that throng the streets and even the women have seemed to have brought out gayer gowns.

There is to be something of a season after all, and "Little Bob" is the hero of the hour, even at this stage of the war which can scarcely be considered much more than initial from the British point of view. He would be granted every honor in the people's power to give him the public opinion and gratitude he has so justly earned. Above every other man and every other circumstance he stands out from those grim happenings in South Africa clothed in the halo of victory. Loudly he is hailed as giving the living life to those who had felt that the pluck and brains that made Great Britain victorious in the Crimea, in India, and in Afghanistan, had passed away from her. The circumstances of his hurried departure when he was subordinated the greatest personal sorrow to the needs of the country, his feats on the battlefields of old, his tremendous personal magnetism and his surprising kindness and simplicity are all brought into rapid review by means of conversation or the newspapers, before the average Englishman, until it is small wonder that the hero of Kandahar has reached that point where his country would deny him nothing.

General Kitchener's automatic way of doing things and his hardness of heart have been so much paraded before the public since he first achieved greatness that he has lost much of his popularity, and while he possesses the national confidence to an almost unequalled extent it is patent that the nation as a whole would rather that the opportunity be left to "Bob" than to his iron chief of staff.

A curious instance of the utter lack of system that prevails in the British war office occurred this week. Immediately after the queen's proclamation calling for the patriotism of her soldiers and asking them to re-enlist under the government's new plan to strengthen the army, was published, there followed to headquarters large numbers of men anxious to answer the queen's appeal. They were all turned away because the war office has not yet issued any detailed instructions regarding the acceptance of such offers, nor formulated any specific plan for putting into effect the general proposals adopted by parliament.

The criticism current is that either the queen's letter was premature or the war office as dilatory. The latter is generally accepted as correct and not without bitter comment. The fact of Mr. Joseph Cowen, of parliament and proprietor of the Newcastle Chronicle, has removed one of the most remarkable figures in English life, and one of the most extraordinary men in Europe. His whole life and personality seemed with vivid contrasts. He was a millionaire, yet dressed in slouchy clothes, and as brilliant an orator as he was a man of common sense. He was a student of all sorts of literature, and he spoke with a Northumberland burr. A supporter of Lord Beaconsfield in his schemes for imperial expansion, yet Mr. Cowen was the friend of every conspirator from Moscow to Madrid, and financed revolutions in Spain, Italy and elsewhere. He was a millionaire by steam yachts. At the risk of his own life and through hundreds of agents he carried secret instructions to agents in Italy from that anti-conspirator Mazzini. It was at Mr. Cowen's house that Orsini threw a bomb at the carriage of Napoleon III and was guillotined for so doing. He spent weeks prior to the perpetration of the deed, with such an intense democratic tendency, Mr. Cowen was naturally a home ruler, and none more potent or often quoted in circles furnished in favor of the present than the sentences penned by him when he declared that Great Britain was fighting to "prevent the flow of British blood from being treated as helots."

Many years ago he retired from active politics and to his independent life, devoting his attention to his paper, the Newcastle Chronicle, which wielded such a power of political influence in the north country as Mr. Cowen did when he was pointed to him in the house of commons as the next liberal prime minister. He lived as a recluse, yet he has become one of the most profitable men in the country. In Northumberland, they say Mr. Cowen had gypsy blood, and they thus account for all that was erratic in his career.

POLYGAMOUS POSTMASTERS.

Congressional Committee Will Make Two Reports.

Washington, Feb. 23.—There are likely to be two reports on the investigation of charges against certain federal appointees in Utah are polygamists. The House committee on postoffices and pensions took the testimony of Messrs. McPherson and Brownlow have drawn a report.

But the Democratic members of the committee are not disposed to accept too far in dismissing the charges, and at a meeting today it was decided to ask that the report be modified. In case this is not done a minority report will probably be submitted.

ROBERT BROMLEY, HONORARY ATTACHE OF BRITISH EMBASSY.

One of the most brilliant social events of the season in Washington took place today, February 24th, in St. John's church where Miss Lillian Pauncefote, third daughter of the British Ambassador, became Mrs. Robert Bromley. Representatives of the exclusive sets of English and American society were present.

WEDDING OF BRITISH AMBASSADOR'S DAUGHTER.

Here is a photograph of the Miss Lillian Pauncefote, daughter of Lord Pauncefote, the British ambassador, whose marriage to Robert Bromley, honorary attaché of the British embassy, which took place today in Washington. About three hundred guests attended the wedding breakfast at the embassy. A large number of English society people came over to attend the ceremonies.

Washington to relieve Captain Narita as naval attaché. He was reticent on the subject of international politics, but declared emphatically that there was at present no trouble between Japan and Russia. The United States and Japan, he said, were now neighbors in the east and on the friendliest terms.

Reforms in Puerto Rico.

New York, Feb. 24.—The committee appointed by the Central Federated union to urge reforms in Puerto Rico met last night and appointed a sub-committee to prepare a circular to all trade and labor organizations in the United States asking them to urge their respective congressmen to use their influence for fair conditions in Puerto Rico. Among the reforms demanded are universal suffrage, uniform rate of wages for mechanics employed in public works, and a public school system.

Santiago Iglesias and Eduardo Conde, the friend of every conspirator from Moscow to Madrid, and financed revolutions in Spain, Italy and elsewhere. He was a millionaire by steam yachts. At the risk of his own life and through hundreds of agents he carried secret instructions to agents in Italy from that anti-conspirator Mazzini. It was at Mr. Cowen's house that Orsini threw a bomb at the carriage of Napoleon III and was guillotined for so doing. ## Helps Over the hill.

Got lots of Brain Work?

Use GRAPE-NUTS.

"I find Grape-Nuts very helpful to a man troubled with the cares and worry of business," says Louis Fink, Jr., of 59 S. 4th Street, Philadelphia.

"At the time I commenced using the food I was very weak from want of properly selected food. The help I received from the powerful food elements in Grape-Nuts was indeed wonderful. I have come to use the food regularly and do not think a breakfast complete without it."

"I suggest you mention in your advertisements that Grape-Nuts are nothing like Oatmeal, for many of my friends express themselves as weary of the mushes and such will find a delightful change in taste and results by using Grape-Nuts."

There's a reason why this food gives one the feeling of new vitality and vigor. Actual use proves the proposition. All grocers sell Grape-Nuts, and the pure-food factories of the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., at Battle Creek, Mich., produce them.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

One of the pretty events of the week was the wedding of Miss Alice Britt Simmons and Mr. Daniel H. Kimball on Thursday evening. The marriage took place in the Temple at high noon, and in the evening a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother in the Hooper and Eldridge block. The rooms were prettily decorated with evergreen branches, palms, roses and carnations, the chandeliers being festooned with plumosa, and the window banked with palms and evergreen, making a bower in which the bride and groom received their friends.

Miss Annie Clark played a wedding march, and an enjoyable program of songs and recitations made a feature of the pleasant affair, consisting of a piano solo by Miss Agnes Dalquist, a song by Miss Julia Jones, a recitation by Miss Nellie Boyer, song by Ernest Kimball, recitation by Mr. Barlow, duet Mrs. Millie Kimball and Miss Maggie Summerhays. The bride was crowned in white orrandle trimmed with lace and white satin ribbons and wore orange blossoms. She had no attendants. Dainty refreshments were served after the program.

Many pretty and valuable presents were bestowed upon the couple in evidence of the esteem in which they are held. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. J. K. Britt, both having been residents of Salt Lake during the past three years, during which time they have gained many friends. The groom is the son of the late Heber C. ## CANNON BALL PILLS

Big Balls of Poison Given as Medicine.

Thousands Are Suffering From Mercurial Poison Taken in Youth—Days of the Pills Are Past.

Do you want health? Then keep your bowels clean and your liver lively.

It has always been known that constipation is the cause of nearly all disease, but the way of treating it has been a matter of guesswork. The old way was to make up a sickening "black draught" or still worse, an explosive "shot-gun" cartridge of calomel, aloes, jalap, gamboge, croton oil, blue mass, colocynth—the larger the bullet the better—and after the patient had swallowed the dose, thrown the bowels into spasms and turned the liver inside out, he was settled for a few days—frequently forever.

The most dangerous "medicine" of all was the mercurial pill—poison which lodged in the blood and joints producing life-long disease, thrown the bowels into spasms and turned the liver inside out, he was settled for a few days—frequently forever.

Force is folly. If you have any regard for your well being, when it becomes necessary to stir up your liver and have a general internal cleaning up, take CASCARET. It is a nice, gentle, quiet positive way. Cascarets are up to date, antiseptic, taste good, never grip nor gripe, mild and effective.

Buy and try Cascarets to-day. You'll find that it's what they do not want what they say they'll do, that proves their merit. All druggists—5c, 25c, 50c, or by mail for price. See wrapper for full directions. Address the Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago, Montreal, Can., or New York.

This is the CASCARET tablet. Every tablet of the only genuine "C-C-C" Look at the tablet before you buy, and beware of frauds, imitations and substitutes.
