HAND CART VETS TO GATHER HERE

Reunion of Historic Band to Be Held in the Assembly Hall.

LIST OF ALL THE SURVIVORS.

Arrangements Are Now Under Way For Special Program During the Coming Conference Week.

Arrangements are now under way for the annual re-union of the handcart veterans which is scheduled to be held at the Assembly hall on Thursday October 3, the day preceding the general conference.

At the jubilee gathering of the handcart veterans in Salt Lake City a year ago, it was desired by the assemblage to continue the reunion annually.

The first meeting will take place at 2 p. m. promptly followed by another at 7 o'clock in the evening. The doors of the Assembly hall, however, will be thrown open after 10:30 in the morning so as to afford a place of meeting and rest for the veterans and their descendants in order that they may be able to meet and visit with their old comrades from different parts of the state. In addition the committee in charge will endeavor to obtain one room for this purpose during conference.

The committee extends a cordial welcome to all the survivors who took part in that novel mode of crossing the plains of the West at a time when towns and hostelries on the line of march were unknown and even camping places were scarcely recognizable.

A general invitation issued over the signatures of Langley A. Bailey, Thomas Dobson and S. S. Jones, members of the committee, has been issued containing the above information together with the following:

"Gen. Robert T. Burton who led the last company of rescuers out to help in the emigrants is expected to address the meeting in the afternoon. His experiences in regard to this end of the journey will be of great interest to those who will be present.

"Other brotheren of noteworthy experience will speak at intervals during the meetings.

"The committee have ordered a certain number of suitable and attractive badges that can be obtained from the secretary or treasurer."

NEW TELEPHONE LINES.

The new long-distance circuit of the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company between Salt Lake and Provo will be completed in a few days. Two gangs are now at work on the gap between Thistle and Price, which will probably be closed in six weeks or less. Through connections with the system of the Eastern Utah Telephone company at Price, the new line of the Bell company will bring Carbon county and the Uintah country in touch with Salt Lake and the rest of the territory reached by the Rocky Mountain lines.

RECRUITS ARE SCARCE.

Some Reasons Given Why Men Do Not Care to Enlist.

Captain O. B. Meyer of the Fourteenth cavalry is the recruiting officer at the Salt Lake recruiting station. He says the reasons why the army is so distasteful to the average eligible American, is because the pay of $13 per month is entirely insufficient, particularly as out of this must come his laundry and shaving expenses. Then the rations are by no means equal to the eating one can get outside of the army commissary. Nothing is fresh except the vegetables. Then the army cooks are none of the best, as the demand for good cooks on the outside is too steady at better pay, for them to get into the military service. The absence of the canteen is a source of discontent, and being compelld to wear uniform in times of peace is disliked. However, there is a bill now before Congress equalizing the pay of soldiers which may help the situation.

Along the same line, Col. J. G. Galbraith, acting inspector general of the army, says in his annual report:

"There is a crying need of making the army more attractive to the private soldier." The report discusses the grievances of the soldier: concerning small pay, insufficient rations, faulty uniform, conditions attending enlistments and causes of desertions. Some of the causes of desertions and changes suggested follow: Lack of permanency of commanders of companies; shifting commanding personnel with the regiment and the deterioration of the regimental spirit, tyrannical sergeatns and lack of home interest and encouragement, which sustains the volunteer regiments.

The report says that if the first enlistment were for one year, desertions would almost disanpear and recruiting would be facilitated. It is suggested that if the enlisted man were allowed to wear the dress instead of service uniform in theaters and public places, discrimination against him might be lessened. A more expensive, better-fitting uniform should be provided.

"The American people refuse to be scared over the possibility of war, and the gospel of preparedness receives scant attention. When we contemplate the humiliating shocks that may be inflicted on our national pride in the first clashes of arms with the land forces of any first-class power, we would wish that more heed were given to the lessons of the past and the warnings of the future. A strong first line of defense would gain time for the mustering of our latent forces, but we find ourselves unable to fill the ranks of the first line."

Ten more infantry regiments are needed, according to Col. Galbraith. He shows that the burden of foreign service falls with undue severity on the infantrymen and that their periods of enjoyment of home stations are extremely limited, compared with other branches of the service.

According to a Washington dispatch, there is every prospect that the army officers who are interested in legislation relating to the infantry and cavalry arms will try, sooner or later, probably during the coming session of Congress, to seek to have enacted a law which will create a chief of infantry and a chief of cavalry, officers with the rank of brigadier general, to be stationed in Washington. In that event, those officers would be ex-officio members of the general staff, after the manner of the chief of artillery. They would have to do exclusively with the affairs of their respective branches, as does the chief of artillery, and would afford a representative at the war department, as well as the Capitol, whenever there were presented questions which concerned the infantry and cavalry, either exclusively or in relation to other branches of the army.

The Peruna Tablets.

Special Telegram.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 14.—The interesting announcement is made to the drug trade and to the people generally, that Dr. Hartman and his assistants, after two years' experimentation, have succeeded in devising a Peruna Tablet. This tablet contains all the curative virtues of the liquid Peruna. Dr. Hartman will still continue to manufacture liquid Peruna as before. The Peruna Tablet is therefore not intended to supplant liquid Peruna, but is to be furnished the drug trade so that those who prefer to take Peruna in tablet form can have the privilege of doing so. The menstruum of the liquid Peruna has been replaced by hypophosphites and pepsin.

The Peruna Tablets will be of especial interest to hundreds of thousands of people who have used Peruna for many years. The fact that Peruna can now be used in tablet form will be especially gratifying to people who are subjected to constant exposure and catarrhal ailments, and who find it difficult if not impossible to carry with them the liquid Peruna. A package of the Peruna Tablets carried in the pocket by people whose business exposes them to climatic changes will be the means of saving a great many people from catarrhal troubles which are the bane of American civilization.

SUDDEN ATTACK OF DYSENTERY CURED.

A prominent lady at Brooklyn, N. Y., writes to inquire where she can obtain Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. She says: "While stopping at a ranch in South Dakota I was taken ill of what seemed to be cholera. They gave me some of this medicine and it cured me. I brought a bottle home and have just used the last of it today. Mother was taken suddenly ill of dysentery and it helped her immediately." For sale by all druggists.

After leaving Utah, Mr. Riggs studied medicine in the east, and married Miss Truboff of New York, who, with one little girl, survives him. Dr. Riggs became one of the leading physicians of Kansas City, and had lately been the host of Mr. and Mrs. Meadin on their eastern trip. SUBSTITUTE FOR OLD FRANCHISE

Entire Time of City Council Taken Up With Reading New Proposition

STREET SPRINKLING CLAUSE.

Quite a Drop from the $1,000,000 Originally Asked by Black—Matter Goes Over Until Tuesday.

When Councilman Hobday secured the floor in the council chamber last night it was to refer the proposed franchises of the Utah Light & Railway company to the committee of the whole to be acted upon by that committee Tuesday afternoon and by the council the same evening. Thus the matter is further delayed and the reason Hobday made the motion was seen in the fact that the "Americans" had only seven votes in the chamber, Councilmen Carter and O'Donnell being present only in spirit. Two ordinances were before the council, both of which will be acted upon by the council Tuesday. One is from the railway company and the other is from Councilman Mulvey, representing the "American" caucus.

The entire time of the council was taken up last night with the reading of the substitute franchise. The reading was upon the request of minority members who had not been fully advised of the provisions of the new proposals.

CAUCUS SUBSTITUTE.

The caucus substitute for the original ordinance introduced April 22 provides for the granting of the extensions, rights and confirms the 50-year franchise granted in 1905, and upon the conditions which follow:

1.—That the company relinquish all restrictions as to the use of water power by the city where the water drops down from Big Cottonwood into Parley's.

2.—That the company permit interurban lines, five miles or more in length to enter the city over its tracks, provided that no such road shall be permitted to use more than eight blocks of such tracks.

3.—That the company must sprinkle or flush the paved streets later to be named free of charge and at least once a day, beginning with the year 1909. The streets are: South Temple from O. S. L. depot to the military reservation; First South from O. S. L. tracks as far as the tracks of the street railway company are now laid, Main from South Temple to Fourth South, West Temple from South Temple to Second South, and State from South Temple to Second South.

SAVES CITY $15,000 A YEAR.

It is estimated that the saving to the city by requiring this sprinkling by the company would amount to at least $15,000 a year. This being the only consideration asked by the city, the drop from the $1,000,000 asked by Councilman Black to $15,000 was received with a smile when the caucus substitute was read.

The principal difference between the franchise proposed by the caucus and that proposed by the company is in the fact that the company franchise makes no mention of the sprinkling. It is not known whether the company will accept this proposition or not. The company is willing to forfeit its rights to power waters, but this seems to be the only concession that is agreeable to it.

AGREES TO WITHDRAW.

Allen T. Sanford, on behalf of Thomas Homer, has agreed to withdraw his suit, wherein Thomas Homer, acting for the people of Salt Lake City, seeks to nullify the franchise granted by the council in 1905. The promise to withdraw is made on the condition that the company accept a franchise providing for a forfeiture clause similar to that contained in previous franchises, that the city have the unrestricted use of water power where the water from the Big Cottonwood conduit drops down into Parley's, that the company's tracks may be used by other lines entering the city, that conductors sell six street car tickets for 25 cents and that the amendments be so drafted as to compel the confirmation of the old franchises. It is also provided that the company pay the attorney's fees in the Homer suit, amounting to about $150.
