Newly Invented Scale.

Fred Lundberg, of this city, has just received from his brother, Gus Lundberg, one of the new "Lundberg computing scales," invented by the latter. For time, money and brain saving this scale has no equal. In general appearance it is similar to ordinary scales used in grocery stores, but it possesses this advantage: By means of a cylinder that is covered with figures graduated from 1 of an ounce to 16 ounces or one pound, and turned at the operator's will to figures identical in size accompanying index plate in showing prices from five cents up to $1, the amount and the price of the article desired is at once ascertained. The machine will also compute fractions with great rapidity and accuracy. The inventor, Mr. Gus Lundberg, is a Logan man, and is now in Troy, N. Y., where he is at the head of a company engaged in the manufacture of these scales.

House and Granary Burned.

Last week the fire fiend destroyed a house and granary in Clarkston, the property of Bishop Dunn. The granary contained in the neighborhood of 600 bushels of grain, the results of the Bishop's toil for the past year, all of which was consumed by the flames. The Bishop is a poor man, and it is understood a petition is being circulated for his benefit.

Two Accidents.

Two painful accidents occurred last week, the victim in each instance being a young man. Mohr, of Hyrum, in trying to stop a runaway team, was struck by the carriage tongue and knocked down, the vehicle passing over him. He was quite severely injured.

An Unfortunate Man.

James Horsey, of Millville, has been battling with such a season of misfortune the last year as seldom falls to the lot of one man in so short a time. Accident, sickness, disappointment have been his constant attendants for many months, and last week the climax was added. His little 5-year-old son was run over by a harvester while standing on the street watching a political procession. He was stricken unconscious and never regained his senses up to his death, which occurred the day after the accident. Mr. Horsey and family have the sympathy of the community.
