M'KINLEY OVATION.

Four Thousand People Cheer the Governor at Minneapolis.

HIGH REPUBLICAN PATRIOTISM.

An Attack on Democratic Measures and a Plea for Protection.—General Election Desired.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 28.—Governor William McKinley and party reached Minneapolis from Chicago this morning. Upon arrival here they were met by the students of the state university, to the number of 800, and the University Republican club. The party was escorted to the West hotel, where 4,000 people had assembled.

The governor's reception at the hotel was such as only 4,000 strong Northwestern throats could give. The North star quartette sang "All Hail," expressing the sentiment, "McKinley leads; we follow," after which the governor ascended the staircase and was introduced by President Goodnow. He directed his remarks particularly to the students, and declared it was to the young men of the country that all parties must look.

Later the governor was driven to the exposition building, where the state league of Republican clubs was in session. Later in the day he was driven under the guidance of Bishop Fowler, Governor Nelson and Mayor Ames, to several state institutions, and made a specialty address to the pupils of the Central High school.

In the evening he was escorted to the Exposition building, which was packed to overflowing with people from all parts of the Northwest, to hear the leading address of the day.

Harmonia Hall the meeting place of the state league of Republican clubs, was packed to suffocation when President Goodnow called the assemblage to order.

After a brief speech by the president Governor McKinley's well known form advanced to the stage. The vast assembly rose to cheer, and the band played "My country, 'tis of thee."

In introducing his remarks Governor McKinley said:

"The platform and candidate of the great convention assembled in 1892, wherever they were, were rejected by the people at the election following, but the people had not cause to mourn them they realized their great mistake—a mistake which they now feel more sensibly and regret more deeply. The principles enunciated at that convention were true then; they are true now. They are as dear to Republicans now; they are better understood and more steadily supported by the great body of the people in the year 1894 than they were in the year 1892. While the Republican party failed to carry the election, the cause for which it contended did not fail. It survived the awful disaster and shines more gloriously than ever."

He maintained that the victory of the Democrats was bought about by promises and glittering promises, and that it now stands demoralized on the field of performance, having signally failed to redeem a single pledge it made to the people.

Governor McKinley said he had reviewed the Wilson bill and found nothing but irritation and aggravation to the great industries of the country, no interest gaining by it.

"I am not here to discuss rates or schedules. These are subject to change, up or down, as new conditions require it, but my testimony is that those changes must ever be governed by the protective principle, and within that principle rates must be, should be and will be amended as time, new processes of manufacture and changes in commercial conditions require."

In closing, the governor said a general election was never before so much desired as now, and never so much needed. The altogether too common idea that there is in fact little difference between the two parties, and that the country will prosper equally whoever may be in power, has been completely exploded by one year's trial of the Democratic party.

George Tichnor Curtis Dead.

NEW YORK, March 28.—George Tichnor Curtis, the lawyer and writer of political economy, died today of pneumonia, aged 82.

More Money for the Courts.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Acting Secretary Curtis of the treasury department has sent to the House a communication from the attorney general, calling attention to the immediate necessity for additional appropriations for the fiscal year of 1894, for the expenses of United States courts, as follows: Fees of witnesses, $200,000; fees of jurors, $50,000, and support of prisoners, $75,000. The United States marshals, the attorney general says, are warned the judges will adjourn the courts unless money is furnished for jurors and witnesses.

The Chinese Treaty.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—It transpired that the Senate committee on foreign relations took action upon the Chinese treaty today, and later while the Senate was in executive session, reported it for ratification. A motion to make the treaty public was objected to and was not passed.

Engaged to a Gentile.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The statement that Howard Gould, a third son of the late Jay Gould, and Miss Odette Tyler, the young actress, were engaged to be married, was confirmed today by Mr. Gould and Miss Tyler herself.

THE SORRY ARMY.

Hard Straggling and Jeering Greet the Weary Wanderers.

GARFIELD, O., March 28.—The weary commonweal straggled into Beloit or Nile, five miles out of Alliance and seventy-two from Pittsburg. The union was broken at Nile Junction, where Marshal Brown called a halt for half an hour. Horse blowing and stuffing from the villagers greeted the wonderous army. Some of the boys had several bushels of snowballs prepared for the army, but the appearance of the men was so forlorn that they were allowed to pass through unmolested. Several have deserted, and there is much grumbling. The army, sixty-seven strong, passed through Damascus at 1:30 p.m., and was jeered by the people at the village. Owing to the hard roads the marshal has not been able to make schedule time today.

DENVER'S CONTINGENT.

DENVER, March 28.—The Denver contingent for Coxey's army met today and decided to take up the march for Washington Saturday morning. They number about 175 men, and expect to be reinforced at Colorado Springs and Pueblo. They will not walk, but expect to capture an eastbound freight train.

Many of the men have no idea of going to the National capital, but will desert the first time they have an opportunity of securing work.

PROVISIONS FOR ERY.

EL PASO, Texas, March 28.—"General" Fry, who is still at Sierra Blanca, about miles east of here, with 400 men, wires A. L. Whiteside, of this city: "We need provisions and better transportation to San Antonio. Can anything be done for us?"

This afternoon $200 worth of provisions for the hungry men was forwarded by express.

ALBERT MASON'S EXPECTATIONS.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Coxey's Chicago lieutenant, Albert Mason, claims he will leave for the East Saturday with 5,000 men. At present the 5,000 are represented by the unsightly shadow, consisting of two-score men.

SECRETS COMING.

PITTSBURG, March 28.—The steamer Hudson, which arrived from Cincinnati today, has on board a small detachment of Coxey's army. It consisted of ten men, seventeen horses and eight wagons. They will their horses and wagons were taken at Bellaire, O. They expect to join the army at East Pawnee or Beaver Falls. A large military band is being organized here in the interest of Coxey.

Crocker Wants No Excitement.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—Charles F. Crocker, first vice president of the Southern Pacific, was seen today regarding the two factions of C. C. Huntington. H. E. Huntington and himself from the stockholders of the Central Pacific.

"There is no great significance to be attached to the matter," he said. "There is no occasion to it, and no surprising developments may be expected. There is nothing in it to excite the interest of the public. So far as I know none of the stockholders are disaffected. If there are any dissatisfied they will wait for the regular time of the annual meeting, which takes place in April 1895. Until the meeting is held it is impossible to say what will be done."

Constitutional Amendments.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Representative Bryan today made a speech in the house on the resolution in relation to President and Vice President and representatives in Congress on both of the proposed amendments to the Constitution, providing for the election of Senators by direct vote of the people whenever they make provision for the same by statute or otherwise. The committee expects to reach a decision on the question at its next meeting.

BECKINRIDGE'S DEFENSE.

An Old-Time Lover of Madeline Pollard on the Stand.

Repetitions of Various Trash Charges.—The Defendant Ready to Testify.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—At the opening of the trial today, E. H. Hay, the expert in handwriting, was subjected to a long and searching cross-examination to determine the value of his testimony as an expert. When this ended, a young man named Worthington, a clerk in the office of Breckinridge & Beatty, at Lexington, Ky., testified that he made a search among the latter's business letters in his office and found the letter which Miss Pollard disputed the authorship of.

Then a stir was created in the courtroom by calling of the name of E. F. Roeseile, the young Kentuckian who was engaged to Miss Pollard at one time. He told of his doings as salesman, teacher, superintendent county schools and deputy county clerk. Asked if he knew Madeline Pollard, he answered in the affirmative.

In response to a question as to the circumstances of his first meeting with Miss Pollard, Roeseile said it was in October or November, 1889.

"I was at that time on the fifth floor. A messenger boy came and announced that a lady wanted to see me. I went out to see who she was. It was Madeline Pollard. She introduced herself to me and said she had heard of me often and wanted to see me. She said she desired to go to Wesleyan college, and asked me if I would go with her, which I did.

"We were received in the office of the college by Dr. Brown. I was not acquainted with him, but I introduced myself and Miss Pollard. She stated her intention of entering the school, said she had a guardian, Mr. Rhodes, who would be along next day to complete the arrangements. She referred to Dr. Brown that I was a personal friend of hers, and asked him to grant me the privilege of calling upon her whenever I wanted. From that time on I called very regularly for the purpose of seeing her, sometimes twice a week, and sometimes three times."

"Did you see her alone or with other persons?"

"Most frequently alone. Sometimes other young ladies came in."

"Did your visits lead to intimacy?"

Roeseile (briskly)—At first I had an admiration for the young lady. My admiration led to love, and love to an engagement. We became engaged about the Christmas holidays.

Roeseile testified that during their engagement Miss Pollard exhibited great affection for him, frequently kissed and caressed him, and sat on his lap. He added that to act, when Rhodes was present, as though he was not engaged to her first.

Miss Pollard gave testimony to him a mock marriage between herself and Julian.

As to the reason why he let the engagement with pistol drop, he said, it was because she allowed him to kiss and hug her in a way to jill sex not consistent with her.

At the afternoon session Roeseile testified Miss Pollard was a mature woman at the time. Last April he made application for the position of gauger in the internal revenue service, but when his friends presented him to Fair for superintendent of schools he withdrew his application. He did not know Colonel Breckinridge when he applied for the revenue position.

He admitted that his application was withdrawn the same day the deposition was sent.

The deposition of Hiram Kauffman, a banker, was taken up after the cross-examination of Roeseile was finished. Mr. Kauffman testified he knew Miss Pollard when she was living in Lexington, in 1883. He said she was always at a place between an emigrantin house and a lonely house.

Once he had visited the emigrantin house with Jim Rhodes. Jim was asked "I want you to see my girl." Miss Pollard was there and she set on Rhodes's lap, and Rhodes had hugged and kissed her. On another occasion Miss Pollard has called to a room in that house with one John Brandt, and had remained three quarters of an hour, and when they came out he had noticed there was another woman. Miss Pollard had now asked him to go into the room with her, but he had refused, because he was a friend of Rhodes.

DID YOU NOTICE IT?

Everybody Else Did—The Difference Between the Testimonials Published by Drs. Shores & Shores and that of Would-be Competitors.

Drs. Shores & Shores Do Not Employ Advertising Men to Write Up Cures in Order to Deceive the Sick and Put Money in Their Pockets.

They Publish the Exact Words of Grateful Patients Who Have Been Cured By This New Treatment.

In all lines of business there are a few firms who stand head and shoulders above the rest, and who, by their honesty and fair dealing, not only are most successful and thrown into the shade.

What the public want is the best, and nothing but the best. They want the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. Nothing will do so much to help those who need it best, and that is what some the little folks to make a very big square.

Drs. Shores and Shores are in such business—they are physicians and surgeons, and their success is due to skill in the treatment of such various specialties. They do not publish the same statements from one month's end to another, NOTICE THE DIFFERENCE between the testimonials published by them and those of Drs. Shores & Shores. Live patients, not fictitious, and their testimonials are given entirely in the public at stake in doing the good.

Dr. Shores' methods are lowest, most successful and most skillful physicians, their patients express their personal attention, and their cures, which are on point for the world to see, are permanent. Dr. A. G. Smith & Co. is a statement that they are THE VERY BEST, and wonderful proof enough that their cures are thoroughly cured.

Old advertising dodges and old methods are stale and old. The new, novel, most scientific and up-to-date is what the people of this present day appreciate.

You would not go out in the rain to get a water car when you can ride in the electric and get dry in half the time and comfort. So it is with the old and new treatment of disease. There is always something new, and Drs. Shores & Shores are the ones who are not strangers in Utah having practiced medicine six years in the territory. They are reliable doctors, but young men, and have the success and confidence of every resident of the city.

Enough has been said. Make the public be the judges as to WHO ARE THE PEOPLE, who are the PEOPLE'S DOCTORS and who are using their patients.

A personal invitation is extended to the public to visit the offices of Drs. Shores & Shores and inspect their NEW TREATMENT for the cure of catarrh and all chronic diseases, which is different from any ever used in the city. Drs. O. W. and J. J. Shores is a recent visit to New York City attended the latest scientific treatment for catarrh, and is prepared to well known to the readers of this paper.

Stays for one month's treatment, examination, all medicine and local treatment inclusive a week. Don't let Sunny advertisements the adoption of some diseased mind, but inquire of our certificate doctors, to whom the people go, to where they cure you. Go to the only reliable medical and surgical institute in the city.

Read the new evidence of the skill of the medical profession of Salt Lake City Drs. Shores & Shores.

Everybody in Salt Lake City has heard something about the wonderful treatment of Drs. Shores & Shores, but it is only those who have had some personal experience of their skill in some desperate and dangerous cases relieved who really know how much they owe them. "For my part," says Miss Rose Smith, "I only think that my lovelid whose who has ever seen their treatment could say the same in praise of their admirable system. They cured me of a very bad case of catarrh, deafness and distressing headache, for which I thought nothing could do me good. My symptoms are such that it is neither easy nor pleasant to describe, there was such a composition of them. First there was a chronic catarrh of the head and throat, there was a miserable suppurating condition of the throat and lungs, with an abundance dropping of the nasal matter into the throat, causing the throat to ache and irritated, and constantly hawking and spitting. It had been so bad that I COULD NOT HEAR ING. My eyes were weak and watery, and were stopping over and aching quickly. I would become tired and dizzy. "Now, let me say to the public that I cannot say too much in praise of Drs. Shores & Shores, for from I was every bit of HEARING, and I'M AS GOOD AS EVER, and I feel as though I never was sick. Hoping my testimony will be of benefit to others who are suffering, I beg to remain, yours very truly,
