Reservoirs for Stock in South Dakota—The Mexican Railway—Heavy Damages Awarded.

The Hessian fly is ravaging wheat fields in Sonoma county, Cal.

The Wyoming Democratic state convention will be held at Laramie May 21.

The California state fair will be held at Sacramento this year from Sept. 1 to 19, inclusive.

Arthur B. Bradford, a carpenter 45 years of age, was struck by a Los Angeles, Cal., electric car on Monday and fatally injured.

Oakland, Cal., now fines every cyclist who rides on the sidewalk $[illegible]. As a result the city took in $[illegible] on Monday.

Garfield county, Colorado, farmers are asking each other the question, through the local press: Why cannot we make sugar here as well as in Utah?

Wm. McGuik was killed near Haywards, Cal., on Sunday, by Richard McGhee, who had been released recently from the asylum under the supposition that he was cured of his insanity. McGuik gave no cause for the shooting.

Deming, New Mexico, Headlight: Max Heymann, formerly one of Deming's most [illegible] business men, is now in London, but expects shortly to return to the United States. He writes that he received a new John W. Young, who expressed himself as confident in the success of the railroad into Mexico.

In a very short time a company with the necessary capital will be organized in Mojave county, A. T., to build electrical lines of road north and south. The power house will be located in Kingman. It is estimated that the roadbed and equipment will not cost over $[illegible] per mile, and the line to White Hills will not cost $150,000. The line will handle freight and passengers, and will make the run between the two towns in a little over two hours.

Charles Haber, Charles J. Lantry, James Farrington and 14 other cattlemen in Lyon, Chase and other counties in that section of Kansas, who joined together to prosecute the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railway company, Home Bros. and Brogan & Sons, for shipping Texas cattle into their growing country and spreading disease among their stock, have won their case in the supreme court. The case was tried in the district court of Lyon county, where the cattlemen obtained a verdict for $[illegible] damages, including interest. The defendants appealed to the supreme court on the ground that the state law under which the case was brought was in conflict with the federal statute, and that the proceedings were irregular. The supreme court sustained the decision of the lower court.

Glenwood Springs, Col., Avalanche: The district court has been busy Monday and Tuesday hearing the Nuckolls-Buck case. This case was allowed to rest for a few moments Monday while the judge pronounced sentence upon the two boys who stole the watches and other things from the post house. The boys gave their names as Frank Williams and Charlie Holt, and they said that they were on their way home to Salt Lake, from a trip east. They landed in Glenwood broke and concluding to make a haul somewhere, they got into the dressing rooms of the pool and took what they could find and hid it under the platform of the D. & R. G. depot. The judge said he would send them to the industrial school provided by the state and that they will learn to work. Williams said "I know how to work," and Charlie said "I don't want to be a farmer." Three years in the reform school was the limit.

In the present term of the district court at Evanston, Wyoming, the following case is on the docket, says the News-Register: Hong Ah Kom vs Mark Hong. This is a mixed up case in which money is involved. Apparently a company was formed for the purchase of two Chinese women, who were to be brought to this country. The purchase price was $[illegible] each. Everything went very smoothly in the formation of the company, and enough money was sent to China to pay the expenses of the women to this country. Traveling on water was easily accomplished, but the immigration commissioners at San Francisco refused the fair daughters of the flowery kingdom admission to the American soil. They were sent back, are [illegible] by [illegible] feelings. Kom claims he was not a member of the company, but merely a [illegible] [illegible] party who loaned money. Hence the suit.

Northwestern Stockman: [illegible] Chamberlain was in Rapid City, South Dakota, a few days ago purchasing supplies and [illegible] his grading outfit preparatory to work on reservoirs for the Eldorado along the route followed by cattle to their shipping pens at Belle Fourche. These reservoirs are calculated to catch and store the water resulting from the spring thaws and rains for use of the beef cattle while en route to the point of shipment. The shipping season commences in July and lasts until snow flies. While there is an abundance of water in the streams, they are some distance apart, hence these reservoirs are built in low places between the creeks, thus supplying very important watering places. The first of these reservoirs was built three years ago. They have been such a success that the railroad has built more every year and again they have fully demonstrated the practicability of their reservoir system of irrigation in this section and encouraged the [illegible] and northmen to put them in use with marked success.
