HIS LAST WAS HIS BEST.

STONEWALL JACKSON'S GREAT EFFORT AT CHANCELLORSVILLE.

His Daughter and Having March Around Nearly Thousand Opponents—The True Story of the Union Disaster Under "Fighting Joe" Hooker.

[Copyright, 1891, by American Press Association. Book Publishers.]

MAY XIII, morning of April 30, 1863, a messenger from the Confederate outposts came in from a scouting expedition and hurry into headquarters camp at Fredericksburg, with the news that the advance guard of Gen. Lee's camp, on the Intermediate heights known as the Hagerstown road,